[Endorsed]: No. ——. United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Ninth Circuit. United States of America vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Co. et al. Citation. Wm. Singer, Jr., rooms 61-2, Union Trust Building, San Francisco, Cal., Att'y for Defendants.

Filed June 11, 1898. Wm. Van Dyke, Clerk.

In the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiffs,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS and GERRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, and the CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Defendants.

Bill of Complaint

To the Judges of the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Southern District of California:

The United States of America, by the attorney-general thereof, and George J. Denis, United States attorney, and Joseph H. Call, special assistant United States attorney, bring this, their bill of complaint against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, D. O. Mills and Gerrit L. Lansing, trustees, each a resident and citizen of the State of California, residing at San Francisco in said State, the Central Trust Company of New York, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of New York:

I.

And thereupon your orators allege that since the year 1846 the United States have been, and still are, the absolute owners by title in fee simple, and in the possession of, the lands described in plaintiffs' exhibit "A," hereto annexed and made a part hereof.

II.

Your orators further show: That by the act of Congress approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," Congress incorporated the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and granted to said company, to aid in the construction of said railroad, a large amount of lands in the State of California and other States and Territories, and to the whole of which said act your orators refer. (See United States Statutes, Vol. 14, p. 292.)

Your orators further show that by section 18 of said act, Congress authorized the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation claiming to be organized under the laws of the State of California, to connect with said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, and to aid in its construction, and upon the condition that it would make such connection, agreed to make to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company a grant of lands upon the same terms, conditions and limitations as were granted to the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

III.

Your orators further show unto the Court, and allege that by the act of Congress approved March 3, 1871, entitled "An act to incorporate the Texas Pacific Railroad Company and to aid in the construction of its road, and for other purposes" (see U. S. Stats., Vol. 16, pp. 573-9), Congress incorporated and created the Texas Pacific Railroad Company and granted to said company, to aid in the construction of said railroad a large amount of land in the State of California, and other states and territories, and to the whole of which said act your orators refer.

Your orators further show that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company duly accepted said grant, and the terms and conditons of said act, of July 27, 1866, within the time therein required, and did designate upon plats or maps the whole of its line of route under said act, definitely locating the same from Springfield, Missouri, by way of the points and places named in said act, in the time and manner provided in said act, to the Pacific Ocean at San Buenaventura, in the State of California, and did file such plats or maps designating said line of route in the office of the commissioner of the general land office within the time and in the manner provided in said act, definitely establishing the whole thereof.

That said company filed maps of definite location designating that part of its said line in the State of California in said office of the commissioner of the general land office in the year 1872, and as said plats or maps were so filed in the interior department they were each then approved by the secretary of the interior, and upon the filing of such maps or plats as aforesaid the United States withdrew from market and reserved all the odd numbered sections of land in California within thirty (30) miles of said line of route, including the lands hereinafter described, and in pursuance of orders of the secretary of the interior and commissioner of the general land office, said withdrawal and reservation of said lands was made then of record in the general land office and United States district land offices in California by proper plats, diagrams and maps, to all of which your orators refer.

Your orators further show to the Court that by section 23 of said act of Congress, approved March 3, 1871, it was provided as follows: "That for the purpose of connecting the Texas Pacific Railroad with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California), to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachipa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, with the same rights, grants and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions and conditions, as were granted to the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California by the act of July 27, 1866, provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company."

IV.

Your orators allege that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company did not, within the time or manner required by said act of Congress of July 27, 1866, nor at all, construct or complete any railroad or telegraph line, in whole or in part, within the State of California, and that by the act of Congress of July 6, 1886 (24 Stats., p. 123), all lands and rights to lands granted to and conferred upon said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and situated within the State of California, were forfeited and resumed to the United States, and said lands were restored to the public domain, including all the odd numbered sections of land for thirty (30) miles on each side of said line of route of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company definitely fixed as aforesaid, between the eastern boundary of California and the Pacific Ocean at San Buenaventura, which lands are still owned by your orators.

Your orators further show unto the court and allege that all the lands above described were granted by Congress to said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company by said act of Congress making said grant to said company, and from the date of said grant to said company as aforesaid until said lands and rights to lands were forfeited as aforesaid, said company claimed to own said lands, and had a prospective as well as present right to said lands; and during all of that time said lands were reserved by the United States for the benefit of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

V.

Your orators are informed and believe that the defendants herein claim that a line of railroad and telegraph from Tehachipa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Colorado river, has been constructed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company within the time and in the manner provided by said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, above referred to, and that said company did accept said grant and the terms and conditions thereof, and did, in the year 1874, designate its line by a plat thereof filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and the defendants claim that the lands herein described were granted to said company by said act, and defendants further claim that commissioners appointed by the President of the United States have reported that said railroad was constructed in all respects in compliance with said act; but your orators allege that all of said claims and pretenses are false and unfounded; and your orators show that said Southern Pacific Railroad Company named in said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, has not located or constructed any railroad or telegraph line, or any portion thereof, between the points named in section 23 of said act of March 3, 1871, within the time or manner provided by said act, or at all, nor filed any plat in the land office, nor has any connection ever been made with said Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, or at any other point.

VI.

And your orators further allege that none of said lands were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company or any of the other defendants by said act of March 3, 1871, and that said lands were not of the category or of the character of lands described in said act of March 3, 1871, to be granted to the company therein named; but, on the contrary, they were lands reserved and otherwise claimed, and are still owned, by the United States.

VII.

Your orators further allege that on March 3, 1871, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, named in said act of Congress of that date, was not authorized by its charter to construct or operate the line of railroad from Tehachipa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Colorado river, and thereafter and before any part of any railroad or telegraph line was located or plat definitely fixing the line filed in the interior department, or any railroad constructed between the points named in said section 23 of said act of March 3, 1871, and before said grant took effect, and on August 12, 1873, said Southern Pacific Railroad Company did, without any authority from the United States or from the Congress of the United States, enter into certain articles of incorporation and consolidation with the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, a corporation, thereby creating a new corporation and taking new powers under such new charter from the State of California, and thereby surrendering to the United States all the grants, rights, franchises and privileges theretofore conferred upon the first said Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

VIII.

And your orators further allege that in the year 1874, and before any part of the railroad between the points named in said section 23 of said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, had been constructed or completed, and before said grant took effect, said Southern Pacific Railroad Company created by said articles of incorporation and consolidation, on August 12, 1873, consolidated with other railroad companies, corporations, creating another and new corporation without any authority from the United States, and taking its new charter from the State of California, and thereby surrendering to the United States all the franchises, grants, rights and privileges, if any then remained, which had been conferred by the Congress of the United States under said act of Congress of March 3, 1871.

IX.

Your orators further show and allege that the officers of the interior department have erroneously and without any authority of law caused to be issued to defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company patents of the United States, in due form of law, for the tracts of land described in plaintiffs' exhibit "A," hereto attached and made a part hereof. That more than ninety days prior to the commencement of this suit the secretary of the interior demanded in writing of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company a relinquishment and reconveyance of said lands to the United States, which demand was refused and not complied with by said company.

X.

Your orators further allege that the defendants herein, and each of them, claim some interest in the said lands under and by virtue of the said act of March 3, 1871, and not otherwise. The nature and extent of such claims are unknown to your orators, but your orators allege that such claims are not based upon any legal or equitable right to such lands or any thereof.

Your orators further show that said adverse claims of said defendants hinder and embarrass your orators, and prevent the department of the interior from selling and otherwise disposing of said lands under the laws of the United States.

XI.

Your orators further allege that defendants herein, while claiming and pretending to own some interest in said lands, are now unlawfully removing from said lands wood, timber, minerals and other valuable deposits, and unlawfully threatening to chop down other trees on said lands and remove other minerals and valuable deposits thereon, and unless enjoined will do so, to the great and irreparable injury of your orators.

XII.

Your orators further allege that the amount in controversy in this suit, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds the sum or value of five thousand (5,000) dollars.

In tender consideration whereof, and forasmuch as your orators are remediless at and by the strict rules of the common law, and can only be relieved in a court of equity, your orators pray that their title to said lands described in said exhibit "A" hereto annexed may be quieted; that said pretended patents be vacated and decreed to be void, and that the defendants and each of them be forever enjoined from asserting or claiming any right, or title, to said lands adverse to your orators, and that the defendants be forever enjoined from chopping down or carrying away any wood, trees or timber upon said land, and from removing any minerals or other valuable deposits thereon.

Your orators further pray that the Court will define and determine the rights of your orators to the odd numbered sections of land in California within the thirty mile limits of the said line of route of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, as shown by the maps of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company on file and of record in the general land office, and will decree that the United States are the owners in fee of said lands, as against all rights and claims of the defendants based upon or through said grants made by the United States by said acts of Congress, approved July 27, 1866, and March 3, 1871, except the lands embraced in pending suits of your orators, against said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, described as follows:

"All of the sections of land designated by odd numbers in townships three (3) and four (4) north, ranges five (5), six (6), and seven (7) west; township one (1) north, ranges sixteen (16), seventeen (17), and eighteen (18) west; townships six (6) and south three-fourths of township seven (7) north, ranges eleven (11), twelve (12), thirteen (13), fourteen (14), fifteen (15), sixteen (16) seventeen (17), eighteen (18) and nineteen (19) west; also townships from number two (2) north to number five (5) north, both numbers included, and ranges from number eight (8) west to number eighteen (18) west, both numbers included, San Bernardino base and meridian, California," as to which lands no relief is sought by this bill.

Your orators pray for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem equitable, and for costs of this suit, and your orators will ever pray.

May it please your honors to grant unto your orators a writ of subpoena issuing out of and under the seal of this honorable Court, to be directed to the above-named defendants, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, D. O. Mills and Gerrit L. Lansing, trustees, the Central Trust Company of New York, and to each of the other defendants above-named, commanding them on a certain day, and under a certain penalty therein to be inserted, to be and appear before your Honors, and then and there to answer the premises, and further to stand to and abide such order and decree therein as shall be agreeable to equity and to good conscience, and your orators will ever pray.

Your orators expressly waive answer under oath by the defendants and each of them.

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS and GERRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, and the CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Defendants.

No. 600.

Plea in Abatement of Southern Pacific R. R. Co.

Now comes the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants named in the above-entitled cause, and appears specially in this cause for the purpose of objecting to the jurisdiction of the Court, and sets forth as a plea in abatement in this cause the following facts:

I.

The defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, by protestation, not confessing or acknowledging all or any parts of the matters or things in the said bill of complaint mentioned to be true in such manner and form as the same are therein set forth and alleged, does plead thereto and for plea says: that it is a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California.

II.

That, nevertheless, while it admits that it owns a line of railway through the county where this suit is pending and through the Southern Judicial District of the Ninth Circuit, State of California, yet the said defendant is not an inhabitant of the Judicial District in which the suit is pending.

III.

That it is a corporation duly incorporated and existing as aforesaid, having its principal office, habitat and domicile in the city and county of San Francisco, State of California, and beyond and not within this judicial district, but within the Northern Judicial District of the Ninth Circuit, State of California, and is an inhabitant of the said Northern Judicial District, Ninth Circuit, State of California.

IV.

This defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, further states that the other defendants in this action are D. O. Mills and Gerrit L. Lansing, trustees, and the Central Trust Company of New York; that no one of the said other defendants is an inhabitant of the Southern Judicial District of the Ninth Circuit, State of California; but, on the contrary, the said defendant D. O. Mills is a resident, citizen and an inhabitant of the State of New York; that the said defendant Gerrit L. Lansing is a resident, citizen and an inhabitant of the Northern Judicial District of the Ninth Circuit, State of California, and that the said defendant, the Central Trust Company of New York, is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of New York, and is a resident, citizen and an inhabitant of said State of New York.

All which matters and things it avers to be true and pleads the same to the said bill and humbly craves the judgment of this honorable Court whether it ought to be compelled to make any further or other answer to the said bill, and furthermore prays this honorable Court that this defendant and the above-entitled suit against it may be dismissed for want of jurisdiction of this honorable Court in the premises, and that the defendant may go hence without day.

JOSEPH D. REDDING,

Solicitor and of counsel for the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Co., 35 Chronicle building, San Francisco.

I hereby certify that the foregoing plea is in my opinion well founded in point of law.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiff,
vs.
THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS AND GERRIT L. LANSING, TRUSTEES, AND THE CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Defendants.
No. 600.

Answer to Bill of Complaint.

The joint and several answer of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, D. O. Mills and Gerrit L. Lansing, trustees, and the Central Trust Company of New York, to the bill of complaint of the United States, plaintiff.

These defendants respectively, now and at all times saving to themselves all and all manner of benefit and advantage of exception or otherwise that can or may be had or taken to the many errors, uncertainties and imperfections in the said bill of complaint contained, for answer thereto, or to so much thereof as these defendants are advised that it is material or necessary for them to make answer to, severally answering, say:

I.

The defendants deny that since the year 1846, the United States have been and still are the absolute owners by title in fee simple, or by any title whatsoever, or in anywise or at all, or as alleged in the said bill of complaint, or have been or still are in the possession of the land described in plaintiff's "Exhibit A" annexed to the complaint and made a part thereof.

On the contrary, defendants allege that from the year 1846, continuously and until July 27, 1866, the plaintiff was the owner in fee simple absolute, in possession, and entitled to the possession of all the lands described in "Exhibit A" annexed to the plaintiff's bill of complaint; that on the said last mentioned date the Congress of the United States granted a portion of said lands to the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as is hereinafter, with a description of the portion of said land so granted, particularly set forth; that as to said portion of said lands hereinafter described and particularly set forth, the defendants deny that the plaintiff is, or at any time since July 27, 1866, has been the owner in fee simple absolute or otherwise, or in any manner or at all, or in possession or entitled to the possession thereof.

The defendants allege that from the year 1846 continuously and until March 3, 1871, the plaintiff was the owner in fee simple absolute, and in possession and entitled to the possession of all the lands described in "Exhibit A" other than such thereof as were granted to the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company on July 26, 1866, as aforesaid; that on March 3, 1871, the Congress of the United States granted all the lands described in the said "Exhibit A" to the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which had not theretofore been granted to the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, and the lands so granted to the said defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company on March 3, 1871, are hereinafter particularly set forth and described.

Defendants deny that the plaintiff is, or at any time since March 3, 1871, has been the owner in fee simple absolute, or otherwise, or in possession or entitled to the possession of any of the lands described in plaintiff's "Exhibit A."

II.

The defendants admit that by an act of Congress approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," Congress incorporated the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company and granted to said company to aid in the construction of said railroad a large quantity of public lands; but they aver that such grant was made and subject to the conditions and the limitations in said act mentioned, to which said act of Congress reference is hereby made (United States Statutes, Volume 14, page 292) and the defendants refer to the whole of said act of Congress.

The said defendants aver that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants herein, is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, as hereinafter stated, and is a resident and inhabitant of the Northern District of said State and a citizen thereof.

The defendants deny that by section 18 of the said act of Congress, the United States or Congress agreed to make a grant of lands to the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company upon the same terms, conditions and limitations as were granted to the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, or upon the condition that the Southern Pacific Company would make connection with the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company. On the contrary, said defendants allege that by section 18 of said act of Congress of July 27, 1866, Congress authorized the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to connect with the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company at such point, near the boundary line of the State of California, as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company should deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and did in direct terms make a grant of lands in the State of California to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and subject to the conditions and limitations therein provided.

III.

Said defendants admit that by the act of Congress approved March 3, 1871, entitled "An act to incorporate the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road and for other purposes" (United States Statutes, Volume 16, pages 573-579), Congress incorporated the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and granted to said company, to aid in the construction of said railroad, a large quantity of public lands; but said defendants deny that said grant ever attached to or affected any lands within the State of California, and they aver that such grant was made subject to the conditions and limitations in the said act last mentioned, to which said act of Congress reference is hereby made, and these defendants refer to the whole of said act of Congress.

That said defendants deny that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company duly or in anywise accepted said grant.

Said defendants deny that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company did within the time required, or in any manner or at all, designate upon plats or maps, the whole of its line or any part of its line of route under said act of July 25, 1866, or did definitely locate the same from Springfield, Missouri, by the way of the points and places named in the said act in the time and manner provided in said act, to the Pacific Ocean at San Buenaventura, in the State of California, or to any point on the Pacific Ocean.

Said defendants further deny that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company did file plats or maps designating said line of route in the office of the Commissioner of the general land office in the time and in the manner provided in the said act, definitely establishing the whole or any part thereof; and the said defendants further deny that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company did designate or locate any of its line or route in the State of California, between any points therein, and deny that it ever located or adopted or designated any part of said line in the State of California, or in any manner provided in the said act, or at all.

Said defendants deny that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company filed maps of definite location, designating part of its said line in the State of California, in the said office of the commissioner of the general land office in the year 1872, or at any time or at all; and deny that as said plats or maps were so filed in the interior department, they were each then approved by the secretary of the interior; and deny that upon the filing of such maps or plats as aforesaid, the United States withdrew from market and reserved all or any of the odd numbered sections of land in California, within thirty miles of said line of route, or including the lands hereinafter described; and deny that in pursuance of orders of the secretary of the interior, and the commissioner of the General land office, said withdrawal or reservations of said lands was made then of record in the general land office and the United States district land office in California, by proper plats, documents and maps, or in any manner or at all; the said defendants further deny that any lands in suit herein fell within the thirty-mile limits of any such line, or were ever withdrawn from market, or reserved for or for the benefit of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company; and deny that the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company ever designated a line of railroad between the Colorado river and the Pacific Ocean by by a map or maps thereof filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, or made or filed a map or maps of definite location of route or designation of route from the Colorado river to the Pacific Ocean, whether by the most practicable and eligible route or otherwise howsoever.

Said defendants aver that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company never made any actual or general or definite or any location whatsoever of its line or route of railroad in California.

Said defendants further aver that the pretended location of a route by said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in California never was or became an actual or a definite location or designation of a general route for a railroad from San Francisco to the Needles or from the Needles to the Pacific Ocean, or from the point of crossing the Colorado river selected by said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, to the Pacific Ocean; and further aver that such pretended location or designation of route was a colorable and fraudulent location or designation of a route, and that such route was also upon an unauthorized and impracticable line; that the maps filed by the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in the interior department and in the office of the secretary of the interior, and in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, purporting to show a designation of route in the State of California, and embracing the lands in controversy, were fraudulent, spurious and manufactured, and deceived the officers of the government and were intended so to do.

Defendants further aver that the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company transmitted to the office of the secretary of the interior on March 8, 1872, four maps purporting to show the location of portions of the line of railroad of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company; first, from San Francisco to San Miguel Mission, California; second, from a point on the western boundary line of Los Angeles, California, to a point in township seven north, range seven east, of San Bernardino base and meridian, in said State; third, from the eastern boundary of Arizona, to the Colorado river, and fourth, from the western boundary of Texas to the western boundary of New Mexico. That these maps and all four of them were described upon their face and by endorsements thereon, to be maps of definite location over the territory described thereon, and named therein; that the said maps above mentioned as "third" and "fourth" are the result of actual surveys and are made and prepared to a certain extent in conformity with the rules and regulations of the interior department issued and provided for the location of lines of route of railroads receiving land grants from the United States.

Said defendants aver that the said map of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company above mentioned as "first," from San Francisco to San Miguel Mission, California, and said map above mentioned as "second" from a point on the western boundary line of Los Angeles, California, to the point in township seven north, range seven east, to San Bernardino base and meridian, in said State of California, purporting to include the lands in controversy, were not and are not the result of actual surveys made for the purpose of locating the line of railroad of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in said State; but on the contrary are spurious and fraudulent, and depict an impracticable, unsurveyed and unauthorized line of proposed railroad entirely ignoring the topography of the earth's surface, and are without reference thereto,

That the said last mentioned map was on or about the eighth day of March, 1872, tendered to the secretary of the interior, by one C. J. Hillyer as attorney for the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, as a "map designating the line or route of said railroad from a point on the western boundary line of Los Angeles county in the State of California, to a point in township seven north, and range seven east of San Bernardino base and meridian in said State." That the said map or plat bears on the face thereof an affirmation by one J. Blickensderfer, Jr., purporting to be the chief engineer of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, to the effect that one E. N. Robinson, during the period since the first day of June, 1871, and previous to said first day of June, 1871, had been employed as deputy or division engineer under said Blickensderfer, and that the said deputy or division engineer as shown by his fieldnotes did actually survey and mark upon the ground the line or route of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad from a point on the westerly boundary line of Los Angeles county, to a point in township seven north and range seven east of San Bernardino base and meridian, State of California, in the sections and at the times respectively designated by dates included between the flagstaffs upon and along the alleged line of route of said railroad, as delineated on said map, and the said map purported to show the lines of the public surveys in connection with the surveyed line of the route; that such statements, embodied in the said affirmation upon the face of said map, were made with the intent and purpose of thereby securing the acceptance of such map by the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of the general land office and a withdrawal of lands thereunder, but such statements were and are wholly and willfully false. That the said Robinson never did, as shown by his fieldnotes, or otherwise, survey or mark upon the ground any line or route of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad as delineated upon said map, and the said map does not show the lines of public surveys in connection with any surveyed lineof route of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. That the said map or plat bears on the face thereof a certificate of one Uriel Crocker, as president, and said J. Blickensderfer, Jr., as chief engineer, of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, certifying that the said map shows the line or route of said railroad from a point on the western boundary of the county of Los Angeles, to a point in township seven north, range seven east of San Bernardino base and meridian, in the State of California, as definitely fixed in compliance with said act of Congress, and that the date of the fieldnotes thereof are truly indicated along the line from station to station upon said map. Such statements so embodied in the said certificate upon the face of said map, were made with the like intent and purposes as the statements in the affirmation aforesaid, but were also wholly and willfully false. The said map did not show any line of route which has been definitely fixed in compliance with said act of Congress, and did not truly indicate the dates of any field work of or on any such line or route.

The said map did not and does not show any practicable or eligible route for any railroad, but was and is a mere sham.

Said defendants further aver that the said four maps being so received together by the interior department upon said date, deceived the officers of the interior department, who, acting under said deception and believing said four maps to be similar in character and each and all of them to display properly and in conformity with the regulations of the interior department, the true and definite location of the proposed line of railroad of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, caused a letter to be issued from the general land office on April 22, 1872, which letter is in the words and figures, following, towit:

"Department of the Interior,

"General Land Office, April 22, 1872.

"Registrar and Receiver, Los Angeles, Cal.

"Gentlemen:

"I transmit herewith a diagram showing the definite location of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad under act of July 27, 1866, Stat.———, Vol. 14, p. 292, from a point on the western boundary of Los Angeles county, to a point in township seven north, range seven east, on the San Bernardino in your district, showing also the twenty and thirty mile limits of the land grant under said act; and you are hereby directed to withhold from preemption or homestead entry, private sale or location, all the odd-numbered sections falling within those limits, both surveyed and unsurveyed, not reserved, sold, granted or otherwise appropriated, and free from preemption or other claims or rights at the time the line of said road was designated by filing a plat thereof in this office, which was March 12, 1872. The even-numbered sections within the twenty-mile limit you will increase in price to $2.50 per acre and dispose of them at that ratability and only under the preemption and homestead laws. The even sections outside of the twenty-mile limits are not affected by this withdrawal. Claims initiated by settlers under the preemption laws prior to the right of the road attaching March 12, 1872, are not affected by this order.

"Be pleased to acknowledge the receipt of this letter without delay.

"Very respectfully,
"WILLIS DRUMMOND,
"Commissioner."

Said defendants aver that said maps "first" and "second," last above referred to, are not maps showing the definite location of the line of railroad of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in the State of California, or in reference to any portions thereof; that they are not maps showing the general route of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in the State of California, and were not intended so to be; that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company intended that said maps should be taken and accepted as proper and sufficient maps of the definite location of the line of railroad of the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in certain portions of the State of California, and embracing territory which includes the lands in controversy in this cause. That the said interior department accepted the four maps last above mentioned unaware of the fraud and deception being perpetrated upon it, or the officers thereof; and therefore caused the letter above quoted to be sent by the commissioner of the general land office to the registrar and receiver at Los Angeles.

The said defendants further aver that said letter, in view of said deception and said fraud, and of the true character of the said maps "first" and "second," did not and cannot operate as an order of withdrawal of any lands in the State of California for the benefit of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company. The said defendants further allege that no lands ever were withdrawn in the State of California or reserved or in anywise taken out of the public domain for the benefit of the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, or against the rights of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants herein, or against the rights of the other defendants.

That no rights to or interest in any public lands were or could be acquired by said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company by reason of any such attempted location or designation, or any act of acceptance thereof, on the part of the interior department.

Said defendants further aver that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company transmitted on the fifteenth of August, 1872, to the interior department, two other maps, purporting to designate the line of its railroad in the county of San Bernardino, State of California: First, from a point in township seven north, range seven east, to the Colorado river, and second, from a point between the San Miguel Mission and the Los Angeles county line. That said maps are likewise spurious, fraudulent and manufactured, and do not depict or show any surveyed route or line of road between the points named of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Compay in the State of California. That said maps depict a route wholly impracticable, igoring the topography of the earth's surface, and not upon a route that was ever surveyed by said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company in the State of California and not upon a line or route which was intended to be or could be the definite location or location of general route of the line of railroad of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company; that no rights to or interest in any public lands were or could be acquired by said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company by reason of said maps, or attempted location or designation, or by the acceptance of any of the said maps by the interior department.

IV.

Said defendants further allege that in the year 1869, the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company filed a map in the Interior Department purporting to show the definite location of its line of road in the State of California, from its point of crossing the Colorado river to the Pacific ocean, which definite line of location passes through the said State of California far to the north of the lands in controversy, and did not embrace any thereof. That from said year 1869, and down to the year 1885, said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company continuously reiterated its claim before the interior department that its line of definite location in the State of California was located by said map of 1869.

Said defendants deny that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company was authorized by said act, or any other act of Congress, to locate or construct a line of railroad from the point of crossing of the Colorado river to San Francisco. They are advised and believe, and therefore aver, that, under the said act of Congress, the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company alone was authorized to construct a line of railroad from the point of crossing of the Colorado river to San Francisco, and to acquire lands under said act of Congress along and opposite to said line, and that the only right which the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company ever acquired to locate or construct any line of railroad in the State of California was the right to locate and construct a road from the crossing of the Colorado river by the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific ocean, which route was not on the line pretended to be designated by the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

V.

And these defendants further aver that on July 27, 1866, all the lands described in the said "Exhibit A" were vacant and unappropriated public lands, to which the United States had full title; and none of said lands had theretofore been granted, sold or otherwise disposed of, nor were any of said lands reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or preempted, nor were any of said lands mineral lands, and all of said lands were then free from preemption or other claims or rights; and all of the said lands have ever since so remained, except as is hereinafter set forth and stated.

That by the said act of Congress, approved July 27, 1866, the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, was authorized to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad at such point near the boundary line of the State of California, as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company should select, and construct a railroad from such point to the city of San Francisco; and to aid in the construction thereof, the said act made a grant of lands to the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to the amount of ten odd-numbered sections per mile on each side of the line of railroad which it should adopt.

That within two years after the passage of the said act, the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed in the office of the secretary of the interior its acceptance of the terms, conditions and impositions of the said act; which acceptance was in writing, under the corporate seal of the said company, and was duly executed in pursuance of the direction of its board of directors, theretofore made.

That prior to January 3, 1867, the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company duly established the general route of the entire railroad, which it was authorized by the said act to construct, and on the said date filed in the office of its commissioner of the general land office, a plat or map designating the said general route, and the entire line of the railroad, which map was thereupon duly accepted and approved by the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior, and on March 22, 1867, the said officers withdrew all the odd numbered sections within thirty miles of the railroad line shown upon the said plat from preemption and homestead entry, sales and other disposition by the United States; and that all the odd numbered sections within thirty miles of the said railroad line have remained so withdrawn and reserved from preemption and homestead entry, sales and other disposition continuously since January 3, 1867, and down to the present time. That the said company commenced the construction of its said railroad within the time allowed therefor, and definitely located and constructed those portions thereof of more than twenty-five miles each, extending from San Francisco to Mojave, in ten several sections, prior to February 1, 1878, except that section of portion between Tres Pinos and Alcalde, and definitely fixed and actually constructed that portion thereof extending from Mojave to its connection with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad at Needles, on the Colorado river, in several sections, prior to December, 1884; and all of said railroad was so completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, and in all respects as required by the said act and acts amendatory thereof. That on August 7, 1871, the said company filed in the general land office and department of the interior a plat, duly showing the section of its railroad extending from the said commencement point to Gilroy, as the same had been definitely located and constructed, and at various different dates intermediate August 7, 1871, and December 1, 1884, filed similar plats showing all the other sections of its entire railroad from San Francisco to the Needles, as the same had been definitely located and constructed; each and all of which plats were accepted and approved by the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior.

That commissioners duly appointed by the President of the United States for that purpose, examined the said railroad as it was completed in sections, and prior to December 27, 1884, duly reported to the President of the United States that all of the said railroad had been completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, and in all respects as required by the said act.

That at the times aforesaid and when the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed its said map designating the line of route of its railroad, many of the odd sections within the twenty miles of the railroad line shown thereon, were granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, preempted and otherwise disposed of by the United States; and the aggregate quantity of such lands, in lieu of which the said company was granted other lands by said act, was and is more than equal to the aggregate quantity of all the odd numbered sections beyond twenty miles and within thirty miles of the said railroad line; and all of the odd sections which were not otherwise disposed of on January 3, 1867, situated within thirty miles of the said railroad line, were granted to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the said act. And at all the times when the said railroad was definitely fixed and the plats thereof filed as aforesaid, the aggregate quantity of the odd sections within twenty miles of the definitely fixed line of railroad, which were granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, preempted or otherwise disposed of by the United States, and in lieu of which the said company was granted other lands, was and is more than equal to the aggregate quantity of all the undisposed of odd sections beyond twenty miles and within thirty miles of the said definitely fixed railroad line; and all of the odd sections which were not otherwise disposed of on January 3, 1867, situated within thirty miles from the said definitely fixed railroad line, were granted to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the said act of Congress.

That the said company is, and for a long time prior to the commencement of this suit was entitled to have patents issued by the government of the United States to it for all the lands granted to it as aforesaid, within thirty miles on each side of its said railroad line; and prior to the commencement of this suit patents were duly issued to the said company for twelve thousand three hundred and eighteen and seventy-seven one-hundredths acres of the lands described in "Exhibit A," annexed to the plaintiff's bill of complaint.

That prior to the commencement of this suit the Southern Pacific Railroad Company duly selected in lists, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, one hundred and fif thousand and eighty-three and twenty-eight one-hundredths acres of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill of complaint, lying within twenty miles of the said railroad line, and paid for costs and fees thereon, exacted and collected of it by the United States, the sum of seven thousand dollars. That no part of the said sums has been tendered or repaid to the said company by the United States.

That all the lands granted to the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the said act of July 27, Opposite matter in stars appears the following: "Aug. 31, 1896. Wm. V. D., Clk.

1866, are particularly described and shown by defendant's "Exhibit A," annexed to and made a part of this answer.

VI.

And these defendants further aver that on March 3, 1871, all the lands described in the "Exhibit A," annexed to the plaintiff's bill of complaint, and not granted to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the said act of July 27, 1866, were vacant and unappropriated public lands to which the United States had full title.

That by section 23 of the act of Congress, approved March 3, 1871, entitled "An act to incorporate the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road, and for other purposes," the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company was authorized to construct a railroad from a point at or near Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to a point on the Colorado river, at or near the southeastern boundary of the State of California, along such line as the said company should adopt; and to aid in the construction thereof, the said section 23 made a grant of land to the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company to the amount of ten sections per mile on each side of the line of railroad which it should adopt, not mineral in character, to which the United States had full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from preemption or other claims and rights at the time the said company filed a plat in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, designating the line of its said railroad. And the said section further provided that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company should select other lands, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, from the odd sections within ten miles beyond the limits of the said granted sections, in lieu of such of the said granted sections as were granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or otherwise disposed of at the date the said plat designating the line of railroad was filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office.

That the said section 23 did not, nor did the said land grant, defeat or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, or of any other railroad company; except that the land grant made by it to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company conflicted with and overlapped the land grant made to the same company by the act approved July 27, 1866, hereinbefore set forth, as is particularly shown by "Exhibit A," annexed hereto.

That in April, 1871, the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed in the office of the secretary of the interior its acceptance of the terms, conditions and impositions of the said act of March 3, 1871; which acceptance was in writing under the corporate seal of the company, and was duly executed in pursuance of the direction of its board of directors, theretofore made.

That prior to April 3, 1871, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company duly established the general route of the entire railroad, which it was authorized by the said act of March 3, 1871, to construct, and on the said date filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, a plat or map designating the general route and line of said railroad from Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to Yuma; which map was thereupon duly accepted and approved by the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior, and on April 21, 1871, the said officers withdrew all the odd numbered sections within thirty miles of the railroad line shown upon the said plat, from preemption and homestead entry, sales and other dispositions by the United States, and including that portion of the lands in controversy hereinafter described; and all of said lands which lie within thirty miles of the said railroad line, have remained so withdrawn and reserved from preemption and homestead entry, sales and other disposition continuously since April 21, 1871, and down to the present time.

That the said company commenced the construction of its said railroad in the year 1871, and prior to December 28, 1877, definitely located and constructed its entire railroad from Tehachapi Pass by way of Los Angeles to Yuma, along the line of route designated by its said plat filed April 3, 1871; and all of said railroad was so completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, and in all respects as required by the said act. That the said railroad was completed in five several sections, and plats showing the line thereof as the same was definitely located and constructed, were filed in the general land office and the interior department at various different dates after the year 1871, and prior to December 28, 1877; each and all of which plats were accepted and approved by the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior.

That commissioners duly appointed by the President of the United States for that purpose, examined the said railroad as it was completed in sections, and prior to December 28, 1877, duly reported to the President of the United States that all of the said railroad had been completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, and in all respects as required by the said act.

That at all the times aforesaid when the Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed its map designating the line of route of its railroad and the said railroad was definitely fixed, many of the odd sections within twenty miles of the railroad line shown thereon, were granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, preempted and otherwise disposed of by the United States, and the aggregate quantity of such lands in lieu of which the said company was granted other lands as aforesaid, was and is more than equal to the aggregate quantity of all the undisposed of odd sections beyond twenty miles and within thirty miles of the said railroad line; and all of the odd sections which were not otherwise disposed of, on April 3, 1871, situated within thirty miles from the said railroad line, were granted to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the act of March 3, 1871.

That said company is, and for a long time prior to the commencement of this suit, was entitled to have patents issued by the government of the United States to it, for all the lands granted to it as aforesaid, within thirty miles on each side of its said railroad; and prior to the commencement of this suit patents were duly issued to the said company for thirty thousand four hundred and twenty and eight one-hundredths acres of lands described in "Exhibit A," annexed to the plaintiff's bill of complaint.

That prior to the commencement of this suit the Southern Pacific Railroad Company duly selected in lists under the direction of the secretary of the interior sixty-six thousand and eighty-one and forty-two one-hundredths acres of lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill of complaint, lying within twenty miles of the said railroad line, and eighty-eight thousand nine hundred and fifty-seven and six one-hundredths acres of the lands described in the said "Exhibit A" lying within thirty miles of the said railroad line, and paid for costs and fees thereon exacted and collected of it by the United States the sum of nine thousand dollars. That no part of the said sum has been tendered or repaid the said company by the United States.

VII.

Said defendants admit that by the act of Congress approved July 6, 1886, entitled "An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, et cetera" (24 Stats. p. 123) all the lands and rights to lands in California theretofore granted or conferred upon said Alantic & Pacific Railroad Company were declared forfeited and restored to the public domain; but they deny that any lands in controversy were ever granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or were ever forfeited or resumed, or restored to the public domain by any act of forfeiture or by said act of forfeiture. They admit and aver that no part of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad had at the time of the passage of said act of 1886, or has at any time since, been constructed in the State of California.

Said defendants deny that all of the lands above described, or any of them, or any of the lands in controversy herein, were granted by Congress to said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, by said act of Congress of July 27, 1866; and they furthermore deny that from the date of said act as aforesaid, up to any period of time, or until said act of forfeiture, said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company claimed to own said lands or any thereof.

Said defendants deny that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company had or claimed to have a prospective right or a present right or a prospective as well as a present right to said lands in controversy. Said defendants furthermore deny that during all of said times or during any of said time, or between any of the dates mentioned, said lands were reserved by the United States for the benefit of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

VIII.

These defendants admit that they make the claims as are set forth in subdivision V of plaintiff's bill of complaint, except that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company designated the line and filed the plat therein mentioned in the year 1871 instead of 1874; but they deny that such claims in whole or in part, are a pretense, false or unfounded, and aver that said claims are in each and every particular sincere, true, well founded and valid. And these defendants deny that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company named in the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, has not located and constructed the railroad and telegraph line between the points named in section 23 of the said act, within the time and manner provided in said act; and deny that the said company has not filed a plat in the land office, nor made a connection with the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river; and deny that none of the said lands were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company or to any of the other defendants by said act of March 3, 1871, or that said lands are not of the category or of the character of the lands described in said act of March 3, 1871, to be granted to the company therein named; and deny that said lands were lands reserved or otherwise claimed or still owned by the United States; on the contrary, said defendants allege that the said lands were granted by said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, to the said defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and were earned by the said defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, by the construction of its road within the time and manner required by law, and as hereinbefore stated.

The defendants further deny that their claim or claims to the said lands hinder or embarrass the plaintiff or prevent the department of the interior from selling or otherwise disposing of said lands, or any part thereof; on the contrary, the defendants allege that the plaintiff has no right, title or interest whatsoever in or to said lands or any part thereof; that all of the said lands were granted to and are owned by these defendants as is hereinbefore particularly set forth, and that the department of the interior has no authority or power to sell or in anywise dispose of said lands.

IX.

Answering paragraph VII of the plaintiff's complaint, the defendants deny the same and all thereof.

Furthermore, said defendants allege that on or about the second day of December, 1865, a corporation was organized under the laws of the State of California, under the corporate name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and under a general law of said State, approved May 20, 1861, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof, and other matters relating thereto," which act is printed in the Statutes of California, 1861, p. 601, and pray to refer thereto; that said corporation was formed for the purpose and with the corporate power, as stated in the articles of incorporation, of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Ibispo, Tulare, Los Angeles and San Diego, to the town of San Diego, in said State; thence eastward through said county of San Diego to the eastern line of the State of California, there to connect with a contemplated railroad to the Mississippi river; and they refer to said articles of incorporation for the precise contents, purport and effect thereof.

The defendants furthermore allege that on or about the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1870, under and by virtue of the general laws of the State of California in that behalf, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, corporations organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, entered into articles of consolidation and amalgamation, consolidating and amalgamating their capital stocks, debts, property, assets and franchises under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, in the manner provided by the laws of California, and such articles were signed, published and filed as provided by the laws of California, and they pray leave to refer to such articles of consolidation and amalgamation material to any purposes of this suit, and to the laws of California authorizing the same, and to the laws of California affecting the corporations aforesaid, or any of them, and to the amendatory articles of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed.

The defendants furthermore allege that on or about the twelfth day of August, 1873, under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, on that behalf the said Southern Pacific Railroad, as it existed after the said consolidation and amalgamation of 1870 and composed of the consolidated and amalgamated companies above referred to, and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, a corporation organized and then existing under the laws of California, formed for the purpose and with the corporate powers stated in its articles of incorporation, of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad within the State of California, did consolidate and amalgamate their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and entered into articles of consolidation and amalgamation, which said articles were duly signed, published and filed as required by the laws of California, and they pray leave to refer to such articles so far as material to this suit, and to the laws of California authorizing the same. They aver that such consolidation and amalgamation and such articles of consolidation and amalgamation were real and not pretended; they deny that said articles of incorporation and consolidation were entered into without any authority from the United States or from the Congress of the United States; and they deny that by such articles of agreement of consolidation and amalgamation, or by any consolidation and amalgamation, a new capital stock or a new or different corporation was created, or purported to be created; but they aver that the corporation thereafter existing was a consolidation and amalgamation of the theretofore existing corporations, and not a newly created corporation. As to the contents, purport and effect of the articles of incorporation of the consolidated companies, they pray leave to refer to the same if in anywise material to this suit; and they pray leave to refer to the laws of the State of California, as existing prior to 1873, authorizing the consolidation and amalgamation of railroad companies incorporated under the laws of the State. The defendants furthermore deny that by said articles of incorporation and amalgamation the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company surrendered to the United States all or any of the grants, rights, franchises or privileges theretofore conferred upon it, or upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as it existed prior thereto.

Answering paragraph VIII of the plaintiff's complaint, the defendants deny each and all thereof, and allege that on or about the eighteenth day of December, 1874, under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, on that behalf, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as it existed after the said consolidation and amalgamation of 1873, and composed of the consolidating and amalgamating companies above referred to, did consolidate and amalgamate its capital stock, its property and assets and franchises, under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and entered into articles of consolidation and amalgamation; and that said articles were duly signed, published and filed as required by the laws of the State of California. They pray leave to refer to said articles, so far as material to this suit, and to the laws of California authorizing the same. They aver that such consolidation and amalgamation and such articles of consolidation and amalgamation, were real and not pretended; they deny that said articles of incorporation and consolidation were entered into without any authority from the United States or from the Congress of the United States; and they deny that by such articles of agreement of consolidation and amalgamation, or by any consolidation and amalgamation, a new capital stock or a new or different corporation was created or purported to be created, but they aver that the corporation thereafter existing was a consolidation and amalgamation of the theretofore existing corporations, and not a newly created corporation. As to the contents, purport and effect of the articles of incorporation of the consolidated companies, they pray leave to refer to the same, if anywise material to this suit; and they pray leave to refer to the laws of the State of California, as existing prior to 1873, authorizing the consolidation and amalgamation of railroad companies incorporated under the laws of the State; the defendants furthermore deny that by said articles of incorporation and amalgamation the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company surrendered to the United States all or any of the grants, rights, franchises or privileges theretofore conferred upon it, or upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as it existed prior thereto.

These defendants deny that such articles of consolidation and amalgamation were illegal or void or unauthorized or prohibited by the laws of the State of California, or were unauthorized or prohibited by the laws of the United States, or were entered into without authority from the Congress of the United States, or without other competent authority; but on the contrary they allege that the consolidation and amalgamation of said railroad companies were made in conformity with the laws of the State of California, whose action in that behalf was fully authorized and recognized by the Congress of the United States, and that such amalgamation and consolidation were and are in all respects valid.

XI.

Answering paragraph IX of plaintiff's complaint, the defendants deny the same and all thereof; and allege that in due course of law, and with proper authority, the interior department has issued and caused to be issued to the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, patents of the United States in due form, for the certain tracts of land described in plaintiff's "Exhibit A," attached to plaintiff's bill of complaint. They aver that such patents were real and not pretended, and were duly recorded in the general land office before they were delivered to said company, and still remain so of record, and did convey and confirm to said company a portion of the lands in suit herein, and since the delivery thereof the same have been recorded in the counties of Los Angeles and San Bernardino and Kern in the State of California.

XII.

Answering paragraph X of the plaintiff's bill of complaint, the defendants allege that the defendants D. O. Mills and Gerrit L. Lansing, trustees, claim to be and are trustees of certain mortgage to secure the payment of certain negotiable bonds, and claim that such bonds have been sold, issued and delivered to various persons for value, and without notice of any claims or ownership of the complainant to said lands, and they deny that such claims are unfounded, or are not based upon any legal or equitable right to such lands, but, on the contrary, allege that such claims are well founded and valid.

And these defendants, further answering, say that heretofore, and on or about the first day of April, 1875, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company executed to the defendant D. O. Mills and one Lloyd Tevis a mortgage bearing date of that day, and covering all the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's complaint here, to secure the proposed issue of negotiable mortgage bonds of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company therein referred to, a copy of which mortgage is filed herewith and marked defendants' "Exhibit B," and pray to be taken as a part of this answer. That negotiable mortgage bonds to very large amounts were from time to time, between said first day of April, 1875, and October 1, 1888, duly issued thereunder and sold to persons who purchased the same in good faith and for full and valuable consideration, and that of such bonds there are now outstanding in the hands of bona fide holders thereof, for value, bonds to the amount of their par value of $31,293,500. That said Gerrit L. Lansing, named as defendant in this suit, has been duly substituted a mortgage trustee thereunder, in place and stead of said Lloyd Tevis, named as trustee in said original mortgage.

XIII.

The defendants further allege that heretofore and on or about the twenty-fifth day of August, 1888, and before the institution of this suit, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company executed to the Central Trust Company of New York, a corporation created, organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of New York, and one of the defendants named in said bill, a further mortgage or deed of trust, covering all the lands mentioned in plaintiff's complaint herein, bearing date on said twenty-fifth day of August, 1888, to secure a proposed issue of negotiable mortgage bonds of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company therein referred to, a copy of which mortgage is filed herewith and marked "Exhibit C," and prayed to be taken as a part of this answer. That negotiable mortgage bonds to large amounts were from time to time subsequent to said twenty-fifth day of August, 1888, and prior to the commencement of this suit, duly issued thereunder and sold to persons who purchased the same in good faith and for full value and valuable consideration, and that of such bonds so issued, prior to the institution of this suit, bonds to the amount of upwards of $10,497,000 are now outstanding in the hands of bona fide holders thereof for value.

XIV.

Answering paragraph XI of plaintiff's bill of complaint, these defendants deny that they are unlawfully removing from any of the land in suit, or from said lands, any wood or timber or minerals or other valuable deposits, or are unlawfully threatening to chop down other trees or any trees on said lands, or unlawfully to remove other minerals or valuable deposits thereon, and deny that unless enjoined will do so in any manner or at all, or to the great or irreparable injury of the plaintiff.

These defendants further aver that they and each of them are not residents or inhabitants of the Southern District of California, and that none of the defendants in this action are residents of or inhabitants of the Southern District of California. On the contrary, the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is a resident and inhabitant of the Northern District of California; the defendant D. O. Mills is a resident and inhabitant of the State of New York and of the Southern District of New York; the defendant Gerrit L. Lansing is a resident and inhabitant of the Northern District of California.

These defendants and each of them herewith reiterate their pleas to the jurisdiction of this Court heretofore entered and against said jurisdiction.

And these defendants deny all and all manner of matter, cause or thing in the plaintiff's bill of complaint contained, material or necessary for these defendants to make answer to, and not herein well and sufficiently answered, confessed, traversed, and avoided or denied, is true to the knowledge or belief of any of the defendants. All of which matters and things these defendants are ready and willing to aver, maintain and prove, as this honorable Court may direct; and these defendants pray to be hence dismissed with their reasonable costs and charges in this behalf most wrongfully sustained.

Whereas, by an act of Congress of the United States of America, approved on the twenty-seventh day of July, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-six, entitled, "An act granting lands to aid in the con-

Francisco, State of California, as trustees for the holders of said bonds; and

Whereas, said board of directors, at the meeting aforesaid, and in the manner and form, and by the vote aforesaid, did further direct that a Sinking Fund should be created for the redemption and payment of said bonds, by setting apart the sum of one hundred thousand dollars of the net income of said road in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-two and each year thereafter until all of said bonds, principal and interest, shall have been redeemed or paid in trust to be loaned out at interest, upon good securities, or otherwise invested under the order and direction of said board of directors, or used to redeem said bonds as often as one hundred thousand dollars shall come into the sinking fund, in which case notice shall be published in one paper in the city of San Francisco and two papers in New York City, that bonds will be redeemed at a price not exceeding their par value, and inviting bids for the surrender thereof at prices to be named, not exceeding the par value of said bonds; the lowest bids less than par to be accepted, and bonds redeemed, to the extent of the money in the sinking fund.

Provided, always, and these presents are upon the express condition that if the said party of the first part, or its successors, shall well and truly pay, or cause or procure to be paid unto the holders, from time to time, of said bonds, and each and every one of them, the said sums of money secured to be paid by the said bonds, and the interest coupons attached thereto, at the places and times, and in the manner set forth in the said bonds, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, then these presents, and all the property, estate, right, franchises and privileges herein and hereby granted and conveyed, shall cease, determine and be void.

Proceedings in event of default in payment.

But if default shall be made in the payment of the said sums of money specified in said bonds, or in the payment of said interest coupons, or either of them, or any part thereof, and if the same shall remain unpaid for the period of six months from and after the time when the same should have been paid, according to the terms of said bonds, then the said parties of the second part, or either of them, upon the refusal of the other, or their successors in said trust, by themselves, or their agents, or servants, in that behalf, may, upon request of the holder or holders of not less than one-fourth of said bonds, on which the interest or principal shall so be and have so remained in default, as aforesaid, enter into and upon and take possession of all, or in their or his discretion, any part of the said premises and property hereinbefore described, and work and operate the said railroad, and receive the income, receipts and profits thereof, and out of the same pay: First. The expense of running and operating the same, including therein such reasonable compensation as they or he may allow to the several persons employed or engaged in the running and superintendence of the same, and a reasonable compensation to the parties

The costs, and charges, and expenses of the foreclosure and sale, including therein reasonable counsel fees for conducting said proceedings to be allowed and fixed by the Court, but not exceeding thirty thousand dollars. Second. Any expenses, costs and charges of the execution of the trust previously incurred and remaining unpaid. Third. A reasonable compensation to the trustees, or one of them, who may act, for their or his care, trouble and service in completing the execution of his trust and the distribution of the proceeds of sale, to be fixed by the Court, but not exceeding twenty thousand dollars. And, Fourth. To distribute the residue of said proceeds among the holders of said bonds, in proportion to their several interests, until all have been paid in full, principal and accrued interests.

Proceeds from sale of Depot Lands etc., not needed for such purpose, may be sold and proceeds applied to redemption of Bonds.

And the said party of the first part hereby covenants and agrees that if, at any time, any lands now used for depot or shop purposes, or right of way, or water, or any lands not now used, but which may be hereafter used for such purposes, shall, for any cause, cease to be needed or used by said party of the first part for such purposes, the said parties of the second part may sell the same at the price to be agreed upon by the parties of the first and second parts, and apply the money realized from such sale or sales to the redemption of said bonds in the manner hereinafter provided in the case of money realized from the sale of lands granted by the United States to the said party of the first part.

And the said party of the first part hereby agrees and covenants to and with the said parties of the second part, and their successors in said trust, that it will pay all ordinary and extraordinary taxes, assessments, and other public burdens and charges which shall or may be imposed upon the property herein described and hereby mortgaged, and every part thereof, and the said parties of the second part, the survivor of them, or their successors in said trust, or any one or more of the holders of said bonds, may, in case of default of the said party of the first part in this behalf, pay and discharge the same, and any other lien of incumbrance upon said property, which may in any way, either in law or equity, be or become in effect a charge or lien thereon, prior to these presents, or to which this mortgage may be subject or subordinate, and for all payments thus made the parties so making the same shall be allowed interest thereon at the rate of seven per centum per annum, and such payments, with the interest thereon, shall be and are hereby secured to them by these presents, and declared to be payable and collectible in the same sort of currency or money wherein they shall have been paid, and the same shall be payable by said party of the first part to said parties of the second part, upon demand in trust for the party or parties paying the same, and may be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of said property and franchises hereinbefore provided.

Will execute any further conveyances required.

And the said party of the first part hereby further covenants and agrees to and with the said parties of the second part, and their successors in said trust, that they will at any and all times hereafter, upon the request of the said parties of the second part, execute, acknowledge and deliver to the said parties of the second part, all and every such further, necessary, and reasonable conveyances and assurances of the said premises or any part thereof, as may by the parties of the second part, or the survivor of them, or his or their successors in the trust hereby created, be reasonably advised or required for more fully carrying into effect the objects of this conveyance, and the said parties of the second part, and their successors in said trust, shall be entitled to receive a just and proper compensation for all services rendered by them in the discharge of said trust, and the same shall be deemed to be secured hereby.

Compensation to Trustees.

And it is hereby stipulated and agreed that the said parties of the second part, and their successors in said trust, shall not be responsible for the acts or omissions of any agent or agents employed by him or them, in any manner, in and about the execution of the trust hereby created when such agent or agents are selected with reasonable discretion; or with the approbation, or with the knowledge and without the express disapprobation of said party of the first part, nor shall either of the said parties of the second part be responsible for any act or omission of the other in the execution of said trust.

Agents of Trustees.

And, therefore, this indenture further witnesseth: That the said party of the first part, for the purpose of securing the payment of the sums of money mentioned in said bonds, and the interest thereon, and in consideration of the premises, and also for and in consideration of the sum of one dollar to the said party of the first part in hand paid by the parties of the second part, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, has granted, bargained, sold, released, enfeoffed, conveyed and confirmed, and by these presents does grant, bargain, sell, release, enfeoff, convey and confirm unto the said parties of the second part, as trustees, and to their successors and survivor, and their assigns forever.

All and singular the said several sections of land so as aforesaid granted by said acts of Congress; and also all the estate, right, title, interest, claim and demand whatsover, at law or in equity, of, in, or to the same or any part or parcel thereof, which the said party of the first part now has, holds, owns, or is entitled to, or hereafter may or shall acquire, have, hold, own, or be or become entitled to by force or virtue of the said acts of Congress; saving, excepting, and reserving all parts and parcels of said lands which have been sold or contracted to be sold or disposed of heretofore, or which are or shall be included in the right of way of the said railroads and telegraph lines of the said company, as defined and granted by the acts of Congress aforesaid, or used for the construction or operation thereof, or for the track, yards, depot grounds, buildings or erections thereof, to have and to hold all and singular the lands hereby granted or intended to be granted, and each and every part and parcel thereof, with the appurtenances thereunto belonging, unto the said parties of the second part, and their successors and survivor, and their assigns forever, as trustees, for the uses and purposes, and upon the trusts, terms, conditions and agreements in this indenture set forth and declared.

Reserved Land.

Provided, always, and these presents are upon the express condition, that if the said party of the first part shall well and truly pay, or cause to be paid, to the holders of said bonds, and every of them, the principal sums of money therein mentioned according to the tenor thereof, with interest thereon, at the times and in the manner hereinbefore provided, according to the true intent and meaning of these presents, then and from thenceforth this indenture and the estate hereby granted shall cease and determine, and all the right, title and interest in any and all property hereby conveyed to the parties of the second part, not then disposed of under the powers hereby conferred, shall revert to and vest in the said party of the first part.

This indenture further witnesseth, that these presents, and the said bonds are made, executed and delivered upon the trusts, terms, conditions and agreements following, that is to say: That all the lands herein above conveyed and mortgaged shall be under the sole and exclusive management and control of the said party of the first part, who shall have full power and authority to make contracts for the sale of the same at such price, on such credit or terms of payment, and such other conditions as shall be agreed on by the said parties of the first and second parts, and as shall seem to them best calculated to secure the payment in full of all the bonds issued as hereinbefore provided, until entry or foreclosure by the trustees, as hereinafter provided. But no title to any tract of land, contracted to be sold by the said party of the first part, shall be given until the whole of the purchase money of said tract shall be paid to said parties of the second part, or their successors or survivor, in cash or in said bonds, or overdue coupons thereof. And for this purpose it is agreed that the said party of the first part and said trustees shall cause all such lands, as they shall from time to time become subject to sale, to be carefully examined, and surveyed, and shall affix to each tract or parcel such price as in their judgment shall be most judicious, having in view the interests of all parties; and said lands shall be and remain at all times thereafter open for sale to any person who may desire to purchase and pay therefor; the prices being, nevertheless, at all times subject to revision and alteration by the said parties; and the party of the first part may reserve from sale any lands necessary for depot grounds, or other purposes connected with the construction or operation of the said railroad or telegraph.

Payments to be made to Trustees.

Land to be graded, etc.

The purchaser of any such land shall be at liberty to pay for the same in the aforesaid bonds or overdue coupons at par; and when any tract or parcel of said lands shall have been purchased and paid for, either in bonds, coupons, or cash, as hereinbefore provided, the same shall be conveyed by the said parties of the first and second parts to the purchaser, in fee simple, and shall by such conveyance be absolutely and forever released from any and all lien or incumbrance, for or on account of said bonds, or any other debt or obligation of the said party of the first part.

Trustees may convey land by power of attorney.

Provided, that for the sake of convenience in making said conveyances, the said trustees shall have power to act by attorney, duly nominated and appointed, by them, jointly, by letter of attorney, which shall be duly acknowledged and recorded in each and all of the counties in which said lands or any part thereof are situated; and all deeds made in their names by such attorneys shall have the same force and effect as if made by them in person.

Residence of such Attorney.

Provided, further, that the attorney so appointed shall be a resident of the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, and shall reside within convenient reach of the party of the first part.

The said trustees shall and will cancel and discharge each and every bond and the coupons thereon, and all overdue coupons, which they may receive in payment for land, or by purchase, by defacing the seal of the corporation, perforating the signatures of the president and secretary and drawing lines across each of the interest coupons, on receipt thereof; and all bonds and coupons received in payment for lands, as aforesaid, shall, when so cancelled, be delivered to the said party of the first part.

Trustees to cancel Bonds and coupons.

Proceeds of sales of lands applied to the purchase of bonds.

The said trustees shall apply the proceeds of the sales made by them of lands hereby conveyed, to the sole and exclusive purpose of the payment of the bonds provided for in, and issued in conformity to the terms of this indenture.

And for such purpose all such avails shall, from time to time, as the same are realized, be used in the purchase of such bonds in the market, to be cancelled, so long as purchases thereof can be made at par; and whenever such bonds cannot be purchased at that rate, said trustees shall advertise for proposals to sell such bonds to them in two newspapers published in the city of New York, and one newspaper published in the city of San Francisco; and after receiving such proposals they shall have power to purchase such bonds at the lowest terms so offered.

How Bonds shall be purchased

The said party of the first part does hereby covenant and agree to pay to the holders of said bonds, respectively, the said principal sums of money therein mentioned and the interest thereof as aforesaid.

If any default shall be made in the payment either of principal or interest on any of said bonds for six months, after demand at the place of payment when the same shall become due, then the said trustees may, on being requested by the holders of at least one hundred thousand dollars of such bonds enter into and take possession of any of the lands above conveyed, and foreclose this mortgage, and may sell, at public auction so much of said lands as may be necessary to discharge all arrears of such interest, and apply the proceeds, after deducting the costs, charges, and expenses of such entry, foreclosure and sale, to the payment of such arrears of interest. If any such default shall continue for one year from the time of such demand and refusal, the principal sum of all bonds then outstanding shall become due and payable, and the said trustees may enter into and take possession of all the lands above by these presents mortgaged or conveyed, foreclose this mortgage and sell at public auction all said lands, or so much thereof as may be necessary, first giving at least six months' previous notice of the time and place of sale in at least one newspaper published in the city of New York, and in one published in each of the cities of San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Diego; and they shall apply the proceeds thereof, after deducting the costs, charges and expenses of such last-mentioned entry, foreclosure and sale, to the payment of all said bonds, then outstanding, and the interest accrued thereon, rendering the surplus, if any there shall be, unto the said party of the first part. In case of any sale upon any such foreclosure, or at any public auction, the said trustees shall make, execute and deliver a conveyance of the lands so sold, which shall convey to the purchasers all the rights and privileges of the said party of the first part, in and to the property so sold, to the same extent as the same shall have been previously enjoyed and held by the said party of the first part.

Foreclosure proceedings for interest to cease if interest is subsequently paid.

If after any such entry shall be made or any such foreclosure proceedings shall be commenced for the satisfying of interest only, as above provided, and before the lands are sold thereon, the said party of the first part shall pay and discharge such interest and deliver the coupons therefor to the said trustees, and pay all the costs, charges and expenses incurred in such entry and foreclosure and the proceedings thereon; then and in every such case the said trustees shall discontinue their proceedings thereon, and restore to the said party of the first part all of such lands to be held subject to the above conveyance and nortgage and subject to all the provisions, terms and conditions of these presents, in like manner as if such entry had not been made, nor such foreclosure proceedings commenced. In case a vacancy shall happen in the number of trustees hereinbefore mentioned as parties of the second part in this indenture, or if one of them shall be temporarily absent, the remaining trustee shall, while said vacancy or absence exists, have all the rights, exercise all the powers and discharge all the duties devolving on the said trustee by said instrument. But as soon as it conveniently may be done, such vacancy shall be filled by the nomination by the remaining trustee of some proper person to fill such vacancy, which nomination shall be submitted to the board of directors of said company, and if approved by them, the person so nominated and approved, immediately shall become a trustee under this instrument. If said nomination is not approved, another person shall be nominated by said remaining trustee, and in like manner submitted for approval, and so on till three nominations shall have been made. But if three successive nominations shall be made and none of them shall be approved by said board, said vacancy shall be filled by a committee of three persons, selected, one by said remaining trustee, one by said board of directors, and a third by the two thus selected, and the person appointed trustee by a majority of the committee shall be and remain a trustee under this instrument. And the person regularly appointed a trustee to fill a vacancy in either of the forms above specified, shall, from and after his said appointment, and his acceptance of the appointment, become vested with the same estates, powers, rights and interests, and charged with the same duties and responsibilities as if he had been one of the original trustees, parties of the second part, named in and executing this instrument; and the prior remaining trustee may and shall execute such conveyances and instruments as may be proper or necessary to vest the same in the new trustee jointly with himself, or to furnish evidence of such vesting. If at any time either of the said trustees shall resign his place as trustee by a proper deed in writing to that effect, and such resignation shall be accepted by the said party of the first part, then, and in every such case, the place of such resigning trustee thereupon shall become and be vacant.

Reconveyance by Trustees upon payment of bonds and interest.

Whenever all the bonds which shall have been made and issued by the said party of the first part under and in conformity to the provisions of this indenture, with the interest thereon, together with all the expenses incurred by the said trustees in the execution of the trust herein and hereby created shall have been fully paid or satisfied, the said trustees shall reconvey to the said party of the first part all and singular the said lands then in the hands of the said trustees, and not before that time sold or disposed of, in the execution of the trust hereby created. In case the said trustees shall at any time have any trust moneys on hand, received from the sale of the lands hereby conveyed which will not be required to meet any immediate liabilities of the company, to which said moneys are by these presents devoted, the said moneys shall be loaned on interest, or deposited on interest, with some bank or trust company in the city of San Francisco or Sacramento, subject to be drawn by checks signed by the trustees or such one of them as they may designate. All of the books of the said company, and of the trustees, relating to the lands hereby conveyed, shall be mutually open to the inspection of said company and said trustees. It shall be the duty of the said trustees to certify and deliver to the said party of the first part the said bonds, as the same from time to time shall be demanded, issued or used by the said party of the first part.

Deposit of surplus monies by Trustees.

And it is hereby mutually agreed by and between the parties hereto, that the said parties of the second part, and their survivor and successors, and their heirs, executors and administrators, shall not be answerable for the acts, omissions or defaults of each other, nor for anything short of their own gross negligence or wilful misfeasance.

Responsibility of Trustees.

Provisions of Acts of Congress to be observed.

It is hereby declared by the parties to this indenture, that all the provisions of said acts of Congress, so far as they are applicable, are hereby made and shall be deemed and taken to be a part of this instrument; and the said provisions in all that concerns the sale and disposal of the said lands hereby conveyed to the parties of the second part are to be observed and strictly and faithfully carried out and fulfilled.

Will execute further instruments if necessary to secure payments of Bonds.

And the said party of the first part covenants and agrees to and with the said parties of the second part, that the said party of the first part shall and will, at any and all times hereafter, and from time to time, execute, acknowledge and deliver, under its corporate seal, to the said parties of the second part, and their survivors or successors, all such other or further assurances, deeds, mortgages, obligations, transfers, indentures and instruments in writing, and shall and will do and perform all such other or further acts or things, as shall or may be necessary or proper, or as their counsel, learned in the law, shall deem necessary, proper or expedient for the better or more effectually securing upon the above conveyed and mortgaged premises the payment of the said bonds so to be issued, and the interest due and to grow due thereon in manner aforesaid, or for carrying into effect the true intent, design, objects and purposes of these presents. And the said parties of the second part hereby accept the trust created and declared by this instrument, and agree to discharge the same pursuant to the provisions in that behalf herein contained.

In witness whereof, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company has here caused these presents to be signed by its president and secretary, and sealed with its corporate seal, and the above parties of the second part have hereunto set their hands and seal, the day and year first above written.

CHARLES CROCKER,
President Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Provided, always, and these presents are upon the express condition that if the said party of the first part, or its successors, shall well and truly pay or cause or procure to be paid unto the holders, from time to time, of said bonds and each and every one of them, the said sums of money secured to be paid by the said bonds, and the interest coupons attached thereto, at the places and times, and in the manner set forth in the said bonds, according to the true intent and meaning thereof, then these presents, and the property, estate, rights, franchises and privileges herein and hereby granted and conveyed shall cease, determine and be void.

Until default shall be made by the said party of the first part, its successors and assigns, in the payment of the principal or interest of the said bonds or some of them or some part thereof, as hereinafter provided, the said party of the first part, its successors and assigns, shall be suffered and permitted to possess and enjoy the said premises, with their appurtenances and all and singular the rights and franchises hereinbefore described, and to receive, take and use the tolls, income, earnings and profits thereof, and the trustee or trustees hereunder shall have full power in its or their discretion, upon written request of the party of the first part, its successors or assigns, to convey, by way of release or otherwise, and fully release from the lien of this mortgage, any lands or other property of any description (except only the lands granted by acts of Congress, as hereinbefore described) which in its or their judgment shall not be necessary for or for use in connection with the said railroads, and to consent to such changes in the location of tracks, depots and other buildings as in its or their judgment may be expedient, and to make and deliver the releases and conveyances necessary to carry the same into effect, but any lands or other property which may be acquired for permanent use in substitution for any so released or conveyed, shall thereupon become subject to the lien of this mortgage, and upon request of the trustee or trustees hereunder shall be conveyed to it or them by the party of the first part, its successors or assigns, upon the trusts of these presents.

But if default shall be made in the payment of the said sums of money specified in said bonds, or in the payment of said interest coupons, or either of them, or any part thereof, and if the same shall remain unpaid for the period of six months from and after the time when the same should have been paid according to the terms of said bonds, then the said party of the third part, or its successor in said trust, by itself or its agents or servants, in that behalf, may, upon request of the holder or holders of not less than one-fourth of said bonds then outstanding, on which the interest or principal shall be and have so remained in default as aforesaid, enter into and upon and take possession of all, or in its or their discretion, any part of, the said constituent lines of railroad hereby mortgaged, and work and operate the said constituent lines of railroad, and receive the income, receipts and profits thereof and out of the same pay,

First, the expense of running and operating the same, including therein reasonable counsel fees and such reasonable compensation as it may allow to the several persons employed or engaged in the running and superintendence of the same.

Second, the expense of keeping the said roads, the appurtenances, the locomotives and the rolling stock thereof in good and sufficient repair to prevent deterioration in the value thereof, and all other reasonable and proper charges and expenses of the care and management thereof.

And, third, pay, as far as the same will suffice, all interest and principal, if any, which may be due on said bonds, and in case of any deficiency apply the said receipts, after the payment of all said charges and expenses, to the payment thereof, ratably, without preference of any kind.

Or the said party of the third part may, in case of default as aforesaid, and upon request as aforesaid, foreclose this mortgage and sell and dispose of, according to law, all of the constituent lines of railroad hereby mortgaged, together with all of the rights, property, privileges, franchises, real and personal, connected therewith or pertaining thereto that are subject to this mortgage, with the appurtenances herein and hereby granted, or so much as may be necessary, and out of the money arising from said sale, pay:

First, The cost and charges and expenses of the foreclosure and sale.

Second, Any expenses, costs and charges of the execution of the trust, previously incurred and remaining unpaid.

And, third, distribute the residue of said proceeds among the holders of said bonds and coupons in proportion to their several interests, until all have been paid in full, principal and accrued interest.

If any default shall be made in the payment of interest on any of said bonds for six months, after demand at the place of payment, when the same shall become due, then the said trustee may, on being requested by the holders of at least one hundred thousand dollars of such bonds, enter into and take possession of any of the lands above conveyed, and foreclose this mortgage thereon, and may sell at public auction upon like notice as hereinafter prescribed so much of said lands as may be necessary to discharge all arrears of such interest, and apply the proceeds, after deducting the costs, charges and expenses of such entry, foreclosure and sale, to the payment of such arrears of interest. If any such default shall continue for one year from the time of such demand and refusal, the principal sum of all bonds then outstanding shall become due and payable, and thereupon or upon default in the payment of the principal of such bonds at their maturity, the said trustee may enter into and take possession of all the lands above by these presents mortgaged or conveyed, foreclose this mortgage thereon and sell at public auction all said lands or so much thereof as may be necessary, first giving at least six months' previous notice of the time and place of sale in at least one newspaper published in the city of New York, and in one published in each of the cities of San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles and San Diego; and they shall apply the proceeds thereof, after deducting the costs, charges and expenses of such last-mentioned entry, foreclosure and sale, to the payment of all said bonds, then outstanding, and the interest accrued thereon, rendering the surplus, if any there shall be, unto the said party of the first part.

In case of any sale upon any such foreclosure or at any such public auction, the said trustee shall make, execute, and deliver a conveyance of the said lands so sold, which shall convey to the purchasers all the rights and privileges of the said party of the first part, in and to the property so sold, to the same extent as the same shall have been previously enjoyed and held by the said party of the first part.

If after any such entry shall be made or any foreclosure proceedings shall be commenced, for the satisfying of interest only, as above provided, and before the lands are sold thereon, the said party of the first part shall pay and discharge such interest and deliver the coupons therefor to the said trustee, and pay all the costs, charges and expenses incurred in such entry and foreclosure and the proceedings thereon; then and in every such case the said trustee shall discontinue its proceedings thereon, and restore to said party of the first part all of such lands to be held subject to the above conveyance and mortgage, and subject to all the provisions, terms and conditions of these presents, in like manner as if such entry had not been made, nor such foreclosure proceedings commenced.

All lands granted or conveyed under the acts of Congress hereinbefore referred to and in anywise covered or affected by the provisions hereof shall be subject to the express provision that if and so long as the bonds issued under and secured by the said indenture of mortgage to D. O. Mills and Lloyd Tevis, dated April 1, 1875, or any thereof, shall remain outstanding, any and all sales made in the manner in said last-mentioned indenture of mortgage prescribed, shall absolutely and forever release the said lands from any and all lien or encumbrance of, under or in respect of this mortgage or the bonds issued thereunder; and if and when all the bonds issued under said indenture of mortgage of April 1, 1875, shall have been fully satisfied and discharged, and the lien of such last-mentioned indenture of mortgage upon such lands fully released, then the said lands so far as they remain unsold at that time shall be subject to the like provisions in respect to sale and conveyance, and release from the lien of this mortgage as are in said mortgage of April 1,

This indenture further witnesseth: That said party of the first part hereby agrees and covenants to and with said party of the third part that it will create a sinking fund for the redemption and payment of said bonds, by setting apart the sum of twenty thousand dollars of the net income derived by it from the constituent lines of railroad herein mortgaged, in the year 1898, and in each year thereafter, until all of said bonds, principal and interest, shall be redeemed or paid, in trust, to be loaned out at interest upon good securities, or otherwise invested under the order and direction of the board of directors of the party of the first part, or used to redeem said bonds as often as twenty thousand dollars shall come into the sinking fund; in which case notice shall be published in one daily paper in the city of New York, and one daily paper in the city of San Francisco for such length of time as said board of directors may order, that said bonds will be redeemed, and inviting bids for the surrender thereof, at prices to be named, the lowest bids to be accepted, and bonds redeemed to the extent of the money in the sinking fund.

And this indenture further witnesseth: That the said party of the first part hereby agrees and covenants to and with the said party of the third part, and its successors in said trust, that it will pay all ordinary and extraordinary taxes, assessments, and other public burdens and charges which shall or may be legally imposed upon the property herein described and hereby mortgaged, and every part thereof, and the said party of the third part, or its successors in said trust, or any one or more of the holders of said bonds, may in case of default of the said party of the first part in this behalf, pay and discharge the same, or any other lien or encumbrance upon said property which may in any way, either in law or equity, be or become in effect a charge or lien thereon prior to these presents, or to which this mortgage may be subject or subordinate, and for all payments thus made, the parties so making the same shall be allowed interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum, and such payments, with the interest thereon, shall be and are hereby secured to them by these presents, and declared to be payable and collectible in the same sort of currency or money wherein they shall have been paid, and the same shall be payable by said party of the first part to said party of the third part, upon demand, in trust for the party or parties paying the same, and may be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of said property and franchises hereinbefore provided.

And this indenture further witnesseth: That the said party of the first part further covenants and agrees to and with the said party of the third part, and its successors in said trust, that it will at any and all times hereafter upon the request of the said party of the third part, execute, acknowledge, and deliver to the said party of the third part, and its successors in said trust, all and every such further necessary and reasonable conveyances and assurances of the said premises, or any part thereof as may by the party of the third part or its successors in the trust hereby created, be reasonably advised or required for more fully carrying into effect the objects of this conveyance.

And the said party of the third part and its successors in said trust, shall be entitled to receive a just and proper compensation for all services rendered by it or them in the discharge of said trust, and the same shall be deemed to be secured thereby, and it is hereby stipulated and agreed, that the said party of the third part and its successors in said trust, shall not be responsible for the acts or omissions of any agent or agents employed by it or them in any manner in and about the execution of the trust hereby created, when such agent or agents are selected with reasonable discretion, or with the approbation or with the knowledge and without the express disapprobation of said party of the first part.

This indenture further witnesseth: That should the said party of the third part for any reason fail, refuse or become incompetent to discharge the duties or trusts herein conveyed to, imposed on and accepted by it, then and in that event the board of directors of the party of the first part shall nominate and appoint a successor or successors to said party of the third part, which said successor or successors shall be vested with the same properties and clothed with the same powers, rights and duties, and be subject to the same obligations as the said party of the third part named herein, as fully as though he, they or it had been named herein as such trustee or trustees.

And this indenture further witnesseth: That the party of the first part hereby agrees to take up, pay off, discharge and retire the outstanding bonds of the Pajaro & Santa Cruz Railroad Company in the sum of five hundred and thirty thousand dollars ($530,000), the outstanding bonds of the Monterey Railroad Company, in the sum of two hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($220,000); the outstanding bonds of the San Pablo & Tulare Railroad Company, in the sum of one million and twenty-three thousand $1,023,000) dollars; and the outstanding bonds of the Los Angeles & San Diego Railroad Company, in the sum of five hundred and fifty-six thousand ($556,000) dollars, and to destroy, cancel and retire all of said bonds unissued and in its hands, and cause said existing mortgages to be satisfied of record and canceled, and to take up said outstanding bonds with the new fifty-year five per cent bonds to be issued under this mortgage, upon such terms as may be agreed upon, said redemption and cancellation and satisfaction to be made without unnecessary delay.

Petition for Leave to File Supplemental Answer.

To the Judges of the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Southern District of California:

Your petitioners, the defendants above named, by Wm. Singer, Jr., their attorney, respectfully show as follows:

This suit was brought in behalf of the plaintiffs on May 14, 1894, to quiet title to lands described in "Exhibit A," attached to and made part of the plaintiff's bill of complaint, and to obtain the decree of this Court vacating and annulling all patents issued by the United States conveying to the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company any of the said lands; but the bill of complaint does not, in any way, describe the patents which it seeks to have vacated and annulled, nor the particular lands conveyed by such patents.

Prior to the time the said bill of complaint was filed, patents had been issued by the United States conveying to the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company, about thirty thousand acres of lands described in the said "Exhibit A"; and thereafter, on July 10, 1894, but before your petitioners, the defendants, made answer to the bill of complaint, a patent was issued by the United States conveying to the said defendant company about thirteen thousand acres of the lands described in the said "Exhibit A," not included in any former patent.

On January 10, 1895, your petitioners, as defendants, filed their joint and several answer to the plaintiff's bill of complaint, and admitted and alleged therein that the United States had theretofore issued patents conveying to the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company about forty-three thousand acres of the lands described in the said "Exhibit A"; and thereafter they offered and filed all of said patents in this court, as evidence in this suit.

Since the issuance of the hereinbefore mentioned patents, and during the months of December, 1894, January and August, 1895, three several patents were received by the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company, in which the United States conveyed to it twenty-seven thousand one hundred and thirty-six acres of the lands described in the said "Exhibit A," in addition to the lands conveyed by the other patents mentioned.

After your petitioners', the defendants', answer was filed, and all the said patents had issued, the Congress of the United States passed an act entitled (Public, No. 35)

"An act to provide for the extension of the time within which suits may be brought to vacate and annul land patents, and for other purposes"; which act was approved on March 2, 1896. A copy of the said act is hereto attached, marked "Exhibit No. 1," and made part of this petition, the first section of which act provides, among other things, that "no patent to any lands held by a bona fide purchaser shall be vacated or annulled." Your petitioners beg leave to exhibit a properly certified copy of the said act at the hearing of this petition.

Before this suit was brought, or demand made for reconveyance of any of the lands described in the said "Exhibit A," your petitioners sold fifty-seven thousand seven hundred and eleven and seventeen one-hundredths acres of the lands described in the said "Exhibit A," and conveyed to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the hereinbefore mentioned patents. The quantity, fifty-seven thousand seven hundred and eleven and seventeen one-hundredths acres, is the aggregate area of the lands so sold in three hundred and thirty-seven several and separate sales; each of which sales was for a valuable consideration paid, and made to a person whom your petitioners are informed and believe purchased the lands of such sale in good faith and sincerity, believing in the validity of the title so purchased. Your petitioners are informed and believe, and so say, that at all the times when a demand for reconveyance to the United States was made, when this suit was brought, and when the said act of Congress was passed, each of said purchasers was, and still is, a bona fide purchaser and holder of the said lands of their respective purchases.

Your petitioners are advised and believe that by force and virtue of the said act of March 2, 1896, no patent issued to the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company for land held by a bona fide purchaser, can be properly annulled or vacated; and that as to all such patents the matter in litigation has been settled by the force and effect of the said act. Your petitioners show that they could not have set up the matter of defense arising out of the said act in their answer, because the said act was passed long after they were required to and did file their answer; and great hardship will result to them, and to their said purchasers, unless your petitioners are permitted to file their supplemental answer, for which leave is herein prayed.

Wherefore your petitioners pray leave of this Court to file their supplemental answer showing the said patents received by the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company during the months of December, 1894, January and August, 1896, conveying to it twenty-seven thousand one hundred and thirty-six acres as aforesaid; and showing, with the dates and full particulars thereof, all sales made by your petitioners of lands described in the said "Exhibit A," patented by the United States to the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and held by the bona fide purchase aforesaid.

Your petitioners beg leave to exhibit the patents conveying to the Southern Pacific Railroad Companythe said twenty-seven thousand one hundred and thirty-six acres, at the hearing of this petition; and to exhibit, at the same time, a tabular statement made by the land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, showing the sales made by your petitioners of lands patented by the United States to the said company.

WM. SINGER, Jr.,
Attorney for the Defendants.

WM. F. HERRIN,
Counsel for the Defendants.

J. L. Willcutt, being duly sworn, deposes and says: that he is the Secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the petitioners to the foregoing petition; that the foregoing petition is true of his own knowledge, except as to the matters as things therein stated on information or belief, and as to such matters he believes it to be true; and that the foregoing petition is not interposed for delay.

EXHIBIT NO. 1.

(Public—No. 35.)

An act to provide for the extension of the time within which suits may be brought to vacate and annul land patents, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that suits by the United States to vacate and annul any patent to lands heretofore erroneously issued under a railroad or wagon road grant shall only be brought within five years from the passage of this act, and suits to vacate and annul patents hereafter issued shall only be brought within six years after the date of the issuance of such patents, and the limitation of section eight of chapter five hundred and sixty-one of the acts of the second session of the Fifty-first Congress and amendments thereto is extended accordingly as to the patents herein referred to. But no patent to any lands held by a bona fide purchaser shall be vacated or annulled, but the right and title of such purchaser is hereby confirmed: provided, that no suit shall be brought or maintained, nor shall recovery be had for lands or the value thereof, that were certified or patented in lieu of other lands covered by a grant which were lost or relinquished by the grantee in consequence of the failure of the government or its officers to withdraw the same from sale or entry.

Sec. 2. That if any person claiming to be a bona fide purchaser of any lands erroneously patented or certified shall present his claim to the secretary of the interior prior to the institution of a suit to cancel a patent or certification, and if it shall appear that he is a bona fide purchaser, the secretary of the interior shall request that suit be brought in such case against the patentee, or the corporation, company, person, or association of persons for whose benefit the certification was made, for the value of said land, which in no case shall be more than the minimum government price thereof, and the title of such claimant shall stand confirmed. An adverse decision by the secretary of the interior on the bona fides of such claimant shall not be conclusive of his rights, and if such claimant, or one claiming to be a bona fide purchaser, but who has not submitted his claim to the secretary of the interior, is made a party to such suit, and if found by the court to be a bona fide purchaser, the Court shall decree a confirmation of the title, and shall render a decree in behalf of the United States against the patentee, corporation, company, person, or association of persons for whose benefit the certification was made for the value of the lands as hereinbefore provided. Any bona fide purchaser of lands patented or certified to a railroad company, and who is not made a party to such suit, and submitted his claim to the secretary of the interior, may establish his right as such bona fide purchaser in any United States court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, or at his option, as prescribed in sections three and four of chapter three hundred and seventy-six of the acts of the second session of the Forty-ninth Congress.

Sec. 3. That if at any time prior to the institution of suit by the attorney-general to cancel any patent or certification of lands erroneously patented or certified, a claim or statement is presented to the secretary of the interior by or on behalf of any person or persons, corporation or corporations, claiming that such person or persons, corporation or corporations, is a bona fide purchaser or are bona fide purchasers of any patented or certified land by deed or contract, or otherwise, from or through the original patentee or corporation to which patent or certification was issued, no suit or action shall be brought to cancel or annul the patent or certification for said land until such claim is investigated in said department of the interior; and if it shall appear that such person or corporation is a bona fide purchaser as aforesaid, or that such persons or corporations are such bona fide purchasers, then no such suit shall be instituted and the title of such claimant or claimants shall stand confirmed; but the secretary of the interior shall request that suit be brought in such case against the patentee, or the corporation, company, person, or association of persons for whose benefit the patent was issued or certification was made for the value of the land as hereinbefore specified.

[Endorsed]: No. 600. United States Circuit Court, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California. The United States of America vs. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al. Certified copy order allowing defendants to file a supplemental answer and that complainants' replication now on file stand as a replication to the supplemental answer. Filed June 6, 1898. Wm. M. Van Dyke, Clerk.

In the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiffs,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS and GERRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, and THE CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Defendants.

No. 600.

Supplemental Answer.

The joint and several supplemental answer of the defendants the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, D. O. Mills, trustee, and the Central Trust Company of New York, filed by leave of the Court, to the plaintiffs' bill of complaint as amended.

These defendants, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, D. O. Mills, trustee, and the Central Trust Company of New York, respectively, by leave of the Court, file this their joint and several answer to the plaintiffs' bill of complaint as amended, and say:

First. That on February 4, 1896, and since the answer of the defendants was filed, the defendant Gerrit L. Lansing died, and on March 21, 1896, one Homer S. King was duly substituted for the said Lansing, as a trustee under the mortgage set forth in subdivision XII of the defendant's answer herein.

Second. Prior to the time plaintiffs' bill of complaint was filed, the United States duly issued its patents conveying to the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Com-pany the legal title to certain of the lands described in the plaintiffs' bill of complaint; and since the said bill was filed the United States duly issued its patents conveying to the said company the legal title to certain other lands described in the said bill of complaint, which other lands contain thirty-nine thousand nine hundred and forty-four acres.

All the lands so patented are within the limits of the land grants made to the defendant the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the acts of Congress set forth in the defendants' original answer, and none of the said lands were, or are, excepted from the said grants by any cause; and all of those lands were granted to the said company by the acts of Congress mentioned. Before the said patents, or any of them, issued, the said company duly selected the lands in such patent described, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, and paid all the costs of selecting, surveying, and patenting the same; and the said company was in all respects entitled thereto, at the time the said patents were respectively issued. Each of the said patents issued in proper form, after the commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior had duly examined, ascertained, and adjudged that the lands therein described constituted and were part and parcel of the land grant made by the said acts, not included by any exception thereto, and after the said officers had duly examined, ascertained, and adjudged that such lands had been duly selected by the said company, that all costs of selecting, surveying, and patenting had been paid, and that the said company was fully entitled to the issue of such patent; and each of the said patents was so issued in pursuance of the order and direction of the secretary of the interior and the President of the United States. Some of the said lands are within the primary limits, and the remainder thereof are within the indemnity limits of the said land grants to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Before this suit was commenced, or demand made for reconveyance to the United States of any of the lands patented as aforesaid, the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company sold, and issued contracts and deeds of conveyance for, fifty-seven thousand seven hundred and eleven acres of the lands conveyed to it by the said patents; the full particulars of which sales, contracts and deeds, and short particulars of the patents conveying to the said company the lands so sold, are set forth in "Exhibit A," attached to and made a part of this supplemental answer. Such sales were made, and contracts and deeds issued, to bona fide purchasers, each of whom purchased in good faith, for a valuable consideration paid, without notice or knowledge that the United States had, or claimed to have, any right, title, or interest in or to the lands so purchased, or any part thereof; and each of the said purchasers believed, sincerely and in good faith, that in making such purchase he was acquiring the perfect and true title to the lands purchased. All of the lands shown on "Exhibit A," hereto attched, to have been sold, or contracted for sale are, at the time this suit was brought, and on March 2nd, 1896, were, held by bona fide purchasers.

By its act approved March 2, 1896, entitled "An act to provide for the extension of the time within which suits may be brought to annul land patents, and for other purposes," Congress provided that no patent to any land held by a bona fide purchaser should be vacated or annulled, and confirmed the right and title conveyed by such patents; and these defendants are advised and believe, and so say, that if it were in any wise true (which it is not) that the lands patented and sold as aforesaid were reserved from the lands granted to the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the said acts of Congress, as in the plaintiffs' bill of complaint alleged, still this suit cannot be maintained but is barred as to all such patented and sold lands, by the provisions of the first section of the said act of March 2, 1896.

Third. Prior to the commencement of this suit the plaintiffs demanded of it, and the defendant Southern Pacific Railroad Company paid to the plaintiffs, the sum of three thousand five hundred dollars for the costs of surveying and patenting the said lands patented to it as aforesaid; which sum the plaintiffs have retained and appropriated, and they have not at any time requested a reconveyance to the United States of any of the said patented lands.

Wherefore these defendants pray as in their original answer herein; and that this suit be abated as to all the lands described in "Exhibit A," attached hereto, and for general relief in respect of the matters herein set forth.

WM. SINGER, Jr.,
Attorney for the said defendants.

WM. F. HERRIN,
Counsel for the said defendants.

State of California. }

H. E. Huntington, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is the vice-president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants named in the foregoing supplemental answer; that the said supplemental answer is true of his own knowledge, except as to the matters and things therein stated on information or belief, and as to such matters that he believes it to be true.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Complainants,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS and GERRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, and the CENRTAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Defendants. } No. 600.

Opinion.

The main purpose of the bill in this suit is to obtain a decree quieting as against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and its mortgagees the complainants' alleged title to all of the odd numbered sections of land in California within the indemnity as well as the primary limits of the grant made by Congress to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company of date July 27, 1866 (14 Stats. 292), with the exception of certain specified subdivisions involved in previous litigation between the parties. The defendants assert title to and rights in the lands under and by virtue of the grants made by Congress to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the same act—

July 27, 1866—as well as by the joint resolution of Congress of June 28, 1870 (16 U. S. Stats. 382), and by the act of March 3, 1871 (16 Stats. 573).

These grants were the subjects of full consideration in cases heretofore brought in this Court and finally determined on appeal by the Supreme Court of the United States: United States v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company, 146 U. S. 570; United States v. Colton Marble & Lime Co., and United States v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company, 146 U. S. 615; and Southern Pacific Railroad Company v. United States, 168 U. S. 1. In my opinion, those decisions of the Supreme Court determined that the Southern Pacific Company by its grants acquired no interest or right in or to any of the odd-numbered sections of land embraced within the granted or indemnity limits of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and mortgaged none of its codefendants.

I am of opinion, further, that by the act of Congress of March 2, 1896 (29 Stats. 42), supplementing that of March 3, 1887 (24 Stats. 556), such of the lands described in the bill as have been patented by the authorities of the United States to, and were sold by, the defendant railroad company for value and in good faith were thereby confirmed to such purchasers, whether such patents were issued prior to the institution of this suit, or subsequent thereto for lands for which a contract of sale had been entered into in good faith and for value between the railroad company and the purchaser. For such lands no suit can be maintained by the government to disturb the title of the purchaser, for the reason that Congress by the legislation referred to has confirmed it. (United States v. Winona etc. R. R., 165 U. S. 463; Id. 483.)

The reasons for these conclusions will be found fully stated in the opinions in the cases cited, and it is deemed unnecessary to now do more than to refer to them. I do not understand that there is any dispute between the parties as to the lands for which patents have been issued, nor, as to the patents that were issued after the commencement of the suit, that it is disputed that they were for lands purchased of the railroad company in good faith and for value before the commencement of the suit.

A decree will be entered cancelling such of the patents as were issued to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for lands included in the bill and not sold by it to a purchaser in good faith and for value, and quieting the title of the complainant as against the defendant as to all such lands and as to all unpatented odd-numbered sections included in the bill situated within thirty miles on either side of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad as indicated by the map filed by it in 1872 in the general land office; and further decreeing that the complainant take nothing as to such of the said lands as have been patented and were sold by the defendant company to purchasers in good faith and for value.

Report of Special Examiner in Chancery.

Leo Longley, Special Examiner.

To the Honorable, the Judges of the Circuit Court of the United States in and for said District:

Pursuant to an order of reference made and entered in the above-entitled cause as of the eighth day of April, 1895, whereby it is ordered that the undersigned, as special examiner in chancery, shall take the evidence in the above-entitled cause and report the same to the Court, the said special examiner does now submit this his partial report, as follows:

That on the thirteenth day of April, 1895, the complainant appeared at the office of the clerk of the United States Circuit Court in the city of Los Angeles, California, by its solicitor, Joseph H. Call, Esquire, and the defendants appeared by their solicitor, Joseph D. Redding, Esquire; and thereupon the complainant produced as witnesses upon its behalf William M. Van Dyke and H. J. Stevens, and introduced in evidence exhibits numbered Plaintiff's exhibits 1 to 55, inclusive. And thereupon the further taking of testimony herein was adjourned to be resumed upon further notice and consent of counsel.

That on the eighteenth day of October, 1895, the complainant appeared in the office of the clerk of the United States Circuit Court, in the city of Los Angeles, California, by its solicitor, Joseph H. Call, Esquire, and the defendants by their solicitor, Wiliam Singer, Jr., Esquire, and it was thereupon stipulated that defendants should have to and including October 19, 1895, in which to complete the taking of their testimony. That on said eighteenth day of October, 1895, the defendants produced William H. Robinson as a witness upon their behalf, and introduced in evidence exhibits numbered Defendants' Exhibits 256 to 310, inclusive; also, numbers 31 A and 31 B; also, numbers 311 to 324, inclusive. That by consent of counsel the defendants withdrew the offer of evidence made by defendants on July 2, 1895, and known as Defendants' Exhibit No. 6, and that many of the exhibits offered by defendants on this hearing were offered in lieu of exhibits theretofore introduced by defendants in evidence herein.

That by stipulation of counsel the signature of each and every witness to his respective deposition was waived.

And thereupon the further taking of testimony herein was adjourned to be resumed upon further notice and consent of counsel.

That the undersigned submits this partial report for the purpose of returning to the Court the exhibits introduced in evidence before him, in order that the clerk of said Court may perform the conditions of the stipulation appearing at page 80 of said record and the provisions of said stipulation be carried into effect.

And the said record, accompanying this report, contains all of the evidence and exhibits introduced in said cause by the respective parties, together with the stipulations entered into, before me as special examiner, to the date of this report; all of which, with the exhibits introduced, is now herewith returned to the Court.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiff,

vs.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS, GARRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, THE CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, and the COLORADO RIVER IRRIGATION COMPANY, Defendants.

No. 600.

Testimony.

Testimony taken on behalf of the plaintiff, before Leo Longley, special examiner in chancery, duly appointed by the Court, in the above-entitled cause, by consent of the parties, at the office of the clerk of the United States Circuit Court, in the city of Los Angeles, California, this 13th day of April, 1905. Present: Joseph H. Call, Esq., special assistant United States attorney, for the plaintiff; Joseph D. Redding, Esq., solicitor and counselor, for the defendants.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy from the department of the interior, of a letter dated December 7, 1893, from the commissioner of the general land office to the President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, together with a list of lands attached thereto, requesting and demanding a reconveyance ad relinquishment to the United States of the lands therein described; and ask that the same be marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 1.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by defendants as incompetent, irelevant and immaterial. Furthermore, that a large portion of the lands mentioned in said exhibit are within the limits of the main line grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, of July 27, 1866, and opposite to and within the granted and indemnity limits of sections of the road constructed by the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company pursuant to said last-named grant.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy, from the department of the interior, of a letter dated January 17, 1894, from the commissioner of the general land office to the President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, together with a list of the lands attached thereto, requesting and demanding a reconveyance and relinquishment to the United States of the lands therein described; and ask that the same be marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 2.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

WILLIAM M. VAN DYKE, a witness produced on behalf of the plaintiff, being first duly cautioned and solemnly sworn to speak the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

Direct Examination.

By Mr. CALL.—Q. 1. State your name and official position.

A. William M. Van Dyke, Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, for the Southern District of California.

Q. 2. Have you in your official custody as such clerk the records and papers and documentary evidence in the cases of the United States against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others in the Southern District of California, Numbers 68, 177, 184 and 587?

A. Yes, sir. In 587 I have not, yet. In 587 there has been no report filed by the special examiner. Of course, I have got the files in that case.

Q. 3. Have you produced before the special examiner the documentary evidence requested by me?

A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Call.—I offer in evidence articles of consolidation dated August 12, 1873, between the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other railroads, marked "Master's Exhibit 125 in the case of the United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others," numbered 68 on the docket of this Court, and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 3.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants on the ground that the same is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, in that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company sued in this action is the Southern Pacific Railroad Company mentioned in the acts of Congress of July 27, 1866, and of March, 1871, and subsequent acts, and was recognized under the statement in said acts as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and its successors and assigns.

Mr. CALL.—It is understood that the exhibits belonging to the records of other cases and now offered in this case shall be returned to the custody of the clerk of this Court.

Mr. REDDING.—That is agreeable.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the articles of consolidation and incorporation of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other railroad companies, dated 1874, marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 12 in the case of the United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company, numbered 587 on the docket of this Court, and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 4.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of articles of consolidation and incorporation of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other railroad companies, dated 1888, marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 13 in the said case number 587, and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 5.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of articles of association and incorporation of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, dated November 29, 1865, marked "Master's Exhibit 195 in the case of the United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al.," numbered 68 on the docket of this Court, and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 6.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of articles of association and so forth, between the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other railroad companies, dated October 11, 1870, marked "Master's Exhibit 102 in said case No. 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 7.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection as made to Plaintiff's Exhibit 4.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy from the interior department, of a map showing the location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from Springfield, Missouri, to the western boundary of said State, marked "Master's Exhibit 180 in said case No. 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 8.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by defendants as being incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, not being relevant to any of the issues in this case, and that it refers to a portion of the proposed route of an unconstructed railroad, outside of the State of California, and east of the Colorado river, and that it has nothing whatever to do with the line of route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in California, as contemplated in the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, which reads to the effect that this route shall go in the most direct and eligible route from the Colorado river to the Pacific.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of map of location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from the Missouri State line to the mouth of Kingfisher creek, Indian Territory, marked "Master's Exhibit 181 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 9.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of map from interior department, of Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from the mouth of Kingfisher creek, Indian Territory, to western boundary of New Mexico, marked "Master's Exhibit 182 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 10.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of map of Atlantic & Pacific Railroad through the Territory of New Mexico, marked "Master's Exhibit 183 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 11.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of a map from the interior department, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad through the Territory of Arizona, marked "Master's Exhibit 184 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 12.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy from the general land office, of the map of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from San Miguel Mission in California to a point on the western boundary line of Los Angeles county, together with a map of said railroad attached to said last-mentioned map from a point in township seven north, range seven east, San Bernardino base and meridian, California, to the Colorado river, said two maps being marked "Master's Exhibit 131 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's 13.

Mr. REDDING.—The defendants object to the introduction of these two alleged maps, on the ground that the same are incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, in that neither of these maps is the first map filed by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in the State of California, nor is it the map or maps, nor are they the map or maps, relied upon by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company as designating or as locating their proposed line of route in the State of California; furthermore, that the same are impositions and frauds, and fictitious maps, and do not show the result of any surveys made or intended to be made, or designated or located or fixed by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in California.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a map, from the general land office, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from a point on the western boundary of Los Angeles county, California, to a point in township seven north, range seven east, San Bernardino base and meridian, marked "Master's Exhibit 127 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 14.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy, from the general land office, of a map of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from San Francisco to San Miguel Mission, California, marked "Master's Exhibit 126 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 15.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of a letter from O. H. Browning, secretary of the interior, dated December 15, 1866, to the commissioner of the general land office, marked "Master's Exhibit 186 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 16.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by defendants as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from Columbus Delano, secretary of the interior to C. J. Hillyer, attorney for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, dated February 6, 1872, marked "Master's Exhibit 187 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 17.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from Cowan, acting secretary of the interior, dated December 1, 1871, to the commissioner of the general land office, marked "Master's Exhibit 188 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 18.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from C. J. Hillyer, attorney for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, to Columbus Delano, secretary of the interior, dated February 3, 1871, marked Master's Exhibit 189 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 19.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from C. Delano, secretary of the interior, to the commissioner of the general land office, dated February 6, 1872, marked "Master's Exhibit 190 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 20.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from C. J. Hillyer, attorney for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, to the secretary of the interior, dated March 8, 1872, marked "Master's Exhibit 191 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 21.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection. Furthermore, objected to on the part of the defendants that it appears from this letter that the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company offers four different maps to the interior department on the same date: First, a map purporting to designate the line of the company from San Francisco to San Miguel Mission; second, a map purporting to designate the line of the company from the western boundary line of Los Angeles county to a point in seven north, seven east; third, a map purporting to show its line fom the eastern boundary of the territory of Arizona to the Colorado river; fourth, a map purporting to show the line of the company from the western boundary line of the State of Texas to the western boundary line of the State of New Mexico. That maps "3" and "4," transmitted by this letter, are differently constructed and show the evidences of a survey in the field, and plotting therefrom, and the designation of a line of route therefrom, while maps "1" and "2," transmitted by the said letter, are shown upon their face to be manufactured, fictitious, spurious, and fraudulent, and not showing the evidences of any survey whatever.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of a letter from the secretary of the interior, dated April 15, 1874, and attached thereto and as a part thereof, the opinion of the assistant attorney-general, dated March 16, 1874, together marked "Master's Exhibit 193 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 22.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of a letter dated April 16, 1872, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, and attached thereto and as a part of the same exhibit, a letter from the secretary of the interior to Francis B. Hayes, Esquire, president of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, dated April 10, 1872; and attached thereto also and as a part of the same exhibit, a letter from the secretary of the interior to Francis B. Hayes, president of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, dated April 11, 1872, the said three letters being marked "Master's Exhibit 194 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 23.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial. And the letter of April 11, 1872, from B. R. Cowan, acting secretary, to Francis B. Hayes, president of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, is objected to as showing any approval of the alleged location of a line of the proposed railroad from a point on the western boundary of Los Angeles county to a point in seven north, seven east, San Bernardino base and meridian.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, dated March 9, 1872, marked "Master's Exhibit 128 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 24.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as being incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and not being the exemplified copy of the letter on file in that department, or the letter transmitted from the secretary to the commissioner, but as the exemplification shows, it is an exemplification of the letter as it appears of record in this department.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, dated April 22, 1872, ordering a withdrawal of lands within the twenty and thirty mile limits of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad between the western boundary line of Los Angeles county and a point in township seven north, range seven east, and so forth, marked "Master's Exhibit 129 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 25.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, in that it purports to order a withdrawal of lands in 1872 which had already been withdrawn in 1867 for the benefit of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under the grant of July 27, 1866, and, as to a portion thereof, had already been withdrawn in 1871 for the benefit of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under the act of March 3, 1871. Furthermore objected to as being incompetent for any purpose whatever as showing a withdrawal of any lands.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, dated April 16, 1874, approving certain maps of definite location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, marked "Master's Exhibit 130 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 26.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as being incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial for any purpose whatsoever.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, dated April 21, 1871, marked "Master's Exhibit 132 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 27.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence certified copy of a letter dated March 23, 1886, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, marked "Master's Exhibit 175 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 28.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence, in connection with said letter just offered, and referred to therein, a copy of the letter, dated April 8, 1886, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, marked "Master's Exhibit 176 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 29.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—No objection is made to the sufficiency of authentication of either of the last two exhibits?

Mr. REDDING.—No.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a diagram from the general land office, and being a record therein, marked "Master's Exhibit 163 in said case 68," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 30.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the acceptance of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company of an act of Congress, approved March 27, 1866, and the terms and conditions thereof, dated November 23, 1866, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 30 in the case of the United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company," numbered 184 on the docket of this Court, and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 31.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the following pleadings and papers in the case of United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company, consolidated number 67-68-69, of this Court, namely: amended bill of complaint, answer of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others thereto, replication of the plaintiff, mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States, and final decree of this Court, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 31 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 32.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant, in that the issues in said prior case are not the same as in this case, and in that the plaintiff in this case has not pleaded any former judgments or proceedings, or any former suits, and in that the plaintiff in this case has offered testimony upon the issues in this case which it assumes to be the same as the issues in the former cases.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence the final record in the case of United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and others, numbered 177 on the docket of this Court, including therein the pleadings, process, mandate of the Supreme Court, and final decree, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 40 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 33.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence the opinion and decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others, numbered 863 on the docket of said Court, October term, 1892, and case numbered 68 on the docket of this Court, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 43 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 34.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the opinion and decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the United States against Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others, numbered 921 and 922, October term, 1892, of said Court, and being case numbered 177 on the docket of this Court, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 42 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 35.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the decision of the secretary of the interior in the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company against Milton McWharter, dated June 8, 1892, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 35 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 36.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the decision of the secretary of the interior, dated December 12, 1890, in the case of William C. Morgan against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 36 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 37.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter and decision of the commissioner of the general land office, dated January 29, 1876, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 37 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 38.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, and that the said withdrawal map was and is predicated upon a fraudulent and fictitious map tendered by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to the interior department.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter dated April 3, 1871, from the acting secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, and, attached to said letter, a map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the year 1871, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 45 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 40.

Mr. REDDING.—Is that map a certified copy?

Mr. CALL.—Yes, sir.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter dated April 22, 1872, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, and, attached to said letter and offered together therewith, a map showing the withdrawal limits of lands for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from the western boundary of Los Angeles county to a point in township 7 north, range 7 east, San Bernardino base and meridian, showing the twenty and thirty mile limits thereof, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 48 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 41.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial, in that said map and said letter of the commissioner of the general land office are predicated upon a fraudulent, spurious, and fictitious map of attempted location by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company tendered by said company on March 8, 1872, to the secretary of the interior, which in no wise conformed to the route selected and designated by said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company upon which it intended to locate its line in the State of California. Furthermore, that said lands embraced in said letter and said map had been withdrawn for the benefit of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in 1871 under the act of March 3, 1871, and, as to a portion thereof, had been withdrawn in 1867 under the act making a grant of lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of July 27, 1866.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter dated November 23, 1874, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at San Francisco, California, ordering a withdrawal of lands for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad in the San Francisco land district, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 54 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 42.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter dated November 23, 1874, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Visalia, California, ordering a withdrawal of lands for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad of lands within the Visalia land district, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 53 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 43.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter dated May 7, 1872, from the register of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, to the commissioner of the general land office, acknowledging receipt of map and order of withdrawal, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 56 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 45.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a decision of Carl Schurtz, secretary of the interior, dated October 18, 1877, confirming the definite location and withdrawal for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 57 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 46.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection. And the defendants furthermore object to the counsel for the government stating in his offer his legal conclusion as to what the contents of said letter may be, the same being misleading and confusing to the Court.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy, from the office of the secretary of the interior, of a letter dated March 9, 1872, from Delano to Drummond, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 52 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 47.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as being incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial. Defendants furthermore object that the same is not an exemplified copy of the original letter as the same appears on file in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, but it purports to be a copy of the original letter as it appears of record, that is to say, as the same has been recorded.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy, from the office of the secretary of the interior, of the said letter of March 9, 1872, as the same appears of record in the letter-press copy book in said office, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 51 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 48.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of said letter of March 9, 1872, from Delano to the commissioner of the general land office, being a tracing from the said letter as it now appears in said office, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 50 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 49.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Mr. CALL.—I now offer in evidence a certified copy of letter and decision, dated November 11, 1869, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 59 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 50.

Mr. REDDING.—Is that in reference to the map filed by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in 1869?

Mr. CALL.—Among other things the letter rejects that map.

Mr. REDDING.—It refers to that map, does it?

Mr. CALL.—Yes.

Mr. REDDING.—Before that exhibit is introduced, I call for the map of 1869, and I object to the letter as being incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial without it.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter of November 23, 1874, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, and, attached to said letter and now offered in connection therewith, a certified copy of a map showing the withdrawal limits for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from San Miguel Mission, in California, by way of San Buenaventura to the western boundary line of Los Angeles county, California, marked "Examiner's Exhibit 49 in said case 184," and now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 51.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection as heretofore offered to the letters and maps offered purporting to show the withdrawal limits of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company under the maps tendered by attorney Hillyer to the interior department under date of March 8, 1872.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a decision of the secretary of the interior, dated August 2, 1878, in the case of Samuel Tome and others against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and, attached thereto, an opinion of the attorney-general, the same being now marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 52.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of letter dated October 5, 1893, in the case of Mattie Moore against Kellogg, marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 53.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the letter and decision of the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, dated November 2, 1869, in reference tothe revocation of the order of withdrawal for the Southern Pacific Railroad main line, marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 54.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

H. J. STEPHENS, a witness produced on behalf of the plaintiff, being first duly cautioned and solemnly sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

Direct Examination.

By Mr. CALL.—Q. 1. What is your name and official position?

A. H. J. Stephens. Clerk in the United States land office, Los Angeles, California.

Q. 2. Have you in your custody as such clerk the map of the withdrawal for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from the Colorado river to a point in township 7 north, range 7 east, San Bernardino base and meridian?

A. Yes, sir; I have the map of withdrawal.

Q. 3. You will now produce the same before the examiner.

A. (Map produced.)

Q. 4. Is that the original map on record in your office?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 5. What filing marks are there upon the map?

A. Marked "Filed, Dec. 10, 1874." There are some other marks here.

Q. 6. And what other indorsement?

A. Indorsement in red, "Withdrawal to date from August"—

Q. 7. "15," ain't it?

A. It is "15," yes; but the "5" has been partly torn off. "1872."

Mr. CALL.—I offer this map in evidence, to be marked Plaintiff's Exhibit 55.

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to by the defendants as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.

Cross-Examination.

By. Mr. REDDING.—Q. 8. Mr. Stephens, do you know who wrote those marks on the bottom of this exhibit?

A. No, sir.

Q. 9. Do you know anything about their authenticity?

A. No, sir.

Q. 10. Is there any certificate attached to them of any register and receiver, or any official, as having made these marks?

A. No, sir; nor any signature. I know the map, however. I have known the map for nearly ten years.

Q. 11. Well, I am not asking you about the map; I am asking you about the writing on the map, at the bottom of it. Do you know anything about that?

A. No, I don't know who did that.

Mr. CALL.—Will you waive Mr. Stephens' signature to his deposition?

Mr. REDDING.—Yes, sir.

Mr. CALL.—And you will also waive the signature of the clerk, Mr. Van Dyke?

Mr. REDDING.—Yes, sir.

Mr. CALL.—It is stipulated that a copy of the said map now tendered by Mr. Call, having been compared by the solicitor for the defendants, may be substituted in lieu of the one produced by the clerk of the land office, with the eliminations and erasures therefrom which are made in blue pencil, and provided that the testimony of the clerk from the land office with reference to the exhibit tendered by him and the marks thereon shall apply to this copy with full force and effect.

Mr. REDDING.—It is so stipulated.

The further taking of testimony herein is now adjourned, to be resumed upon further notice.

In the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California.

Testimony taken on behalf of the defendants, before Leo Longley, special examiner in chancery, duly appointed by the Court, in the above-entitled cause, by consent of the parties, at the office of the Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, in the city of Los Angeles, California, this eighteenth day of October, 1895. Present: Wm. Singer, Jr., Esq., for the defendants; Joseph H. Call, Esq., special assistant United States attorney, for the plaintiff.

Mr. CALL.—It is stipulated that defendants shall have until October 19, 1895, inclusive, in which to complete the taking of their testimony. Is that correct?

Mr. SINGER.—That is agreeable.

Mr. SINGER.—If agreeable to you, Mr. Call, I will withdraw the offers of evidence made by us on July 2, 1895, known as Defendants' Exhibit No. 6.

Mr. CALL.—No objection. By stipulation, the defendants withdraw their Exhibit No. 6 heretofore offered.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of three several letters each from Joseph S. Wilson, commissioner of the general land office, each dated March 22, 1867, one addressed to the register and receiver at San Francisco, another to the register and receiver at Visalia, and the third to the register and receiver at Stockton, California, each of which letters transmits a map showing the twenty miles and thirty miles limits of the land grant made by the act of Congress July 27, 1866, to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and orders withdrawal of all the odd numbered section within such limits; together with a certified copy of the map, attached, which was transmitted with those letters. These copies are attached together, with one certificate, dated August 8, 1895, signed and sealed by E. F. Best, acting commissioner; and I offer them in evidence together, to be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 256.

Mr. CALL.—The plaintiff objects to the introduction of said map and each of said letters as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence together, as one exhibit, a certified copy of the following letters, attached together, with one certificate, dated August 3, 1895, and signed and sealed by S. W. Lamoreux, commissioner of the general land office: From O. H. Browning, secretary

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from J. D. Cox, secretary of the interior, dated July 22, 1870, and addressed to Messrs. William Sherman, Thomas B. Shannon, and Calvin Brown, notifying them of their appointment by the President of the United States as commissioners to examine and report upon the first completed section of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's road as constructed from San Jose to Gilroy under the provisions of the act of July 27, 1866; also a certified copy, attached, of a letter from C. Delano, secretary of the interior, dated November 25, 1870, and addressed to William Sherman, Calvin Brown and Thomas B. These copies are attached together, with one certificate, dated July 30, 1895, signed and sealed by John M. Reynolds, acting secretary of the interior, and I ask that they be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 258.

Mr. CALL.—Plaintiff objects to the introduction of said exhibit and to each of said documents as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant.

Mr. SINGER.—In lieu of offer heretofore made as defendants' exhibits numbers 7 and 8, I offer in evidence a certified copy of the report of William Sherman, Calvin Brown, and Thomas B. Shannon, as commissioners, of their examination and approval of the first constructed These copies are attached together, with one certificate, dated July 26, 1895, signed and sealed by John M. Reynolds, acting secretary of the interior, and I ask that they be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 259.

Mr. CALL.—Plaintiff objects to the introduction of said exhibit, and to each of the papers and documents specified, upon the ground that said exhibit and each of said documents is incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant to the issues.

Mr. SINGER.—In lieu of the defendants' offer of evidence as exhibit No. 243, I offer in evidence a certified copy of the map of the first constructed section of the railroad, main line, extending from San Jose to Gilroy, which map is attested by William Sherman, Calvin Brown and Thomas B. Shannon, as railroad commissioners, and endorsed as filed in the general land office on August 7, 1871. I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 260.

Mr. SINGER.—It may be so understood throughout the entire examinaion.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from W. H. Smith, acting secretary of the interior, dated July 23, 1872, and addressed to L. M. Foulke, Eugene Sullivan, and Calvin Brown, notifying them of their appointment by the President of the United States as commissioners to examine and report upon the third completed section of the Southern Railroad Company's main line road, commencing at a point in section 19, township 18 south, range 24 east, and running in a southeasterly direction for twenty miles to a point in section 30, township 21 south, range 25 east, Mount Diablo meridian, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 265.

Groff, commissioner of the general land office, dated April 5, 1890, and addressed to the register and receiver at Visalia, California, saying that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had filed its map of definite location and construction of an additional section of 20.559 miles of its road, extending from Huron, in section 11, township 20 south, range 17 east, in a southwesterly direction to a point in section 23, township 21 south, range 14 east, and transmitting a map showing that line, with the twenty and thirty miles limits of the land granted adjusted thereto; also, attached, a certified copy of a letter from Lewis A. A copy of each of the letters and of the map are attached together, with one certificate, dated August 8, 1895, and signed and sealed by E. F. Best, acting commissioner of the general land office. I ask that they be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 310.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from Charles Crocker, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, addressed to Hon. C. Delano, secretary of the interior, dated March 22, 1871, which accompanied the map designating the general route of the Southern Pacific branch line railroad, the map being Defendants' Exhibit No. 31 herein. I ask that this letter be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 31A.

Mr. CALL.—Objected to as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from Walter H. Smith, acting secretary of the interior, addressed to Hon. Willis Drummond, commissioner of the general land office, and dated April 3, 1871, transmitting a map filed by Charles Crocker, as president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, designating the general route of its branch line road, in which the secretary of the interior directed a withdrawal of the lands within twenty miles along the route designated, the map being Defendants' Exhibit No. 31. I ask that the letter be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 31B.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from Willis Drummond, commissioner of the general land office, dated April 21, 1871, addressed to the register and receiver at Visalia, California, transmitting a map showing the twenty and thirty miles limits of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's branch line grant, and ordering a withdrawal of all the odd numbered sections within such limits, which certified copy is attached to the map introduced herein as Defendants' Exhibit No. 256, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 311.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from Willis Drummond, commissioner of the general land office, dated April 21, 1871, addressed to the register and receiver of San Francisco, California, transmitting a map showing the twenty and thirty miles limits of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's branch line grant, and ordering a withdrawal of all the odd numbered sections within such limits, which certified copy is attached to the map introduced herein as Defendants' Exhibit No. 256. I ask that the copy of the letter now introduced be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 312.

Mr. CALL.—Mr. Singer, do you claim that the map marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 256, showing the main line and branch line of the Southern Pacific Railroad as claimed, was transmitted to the local land offices as one map, as would appear from the map itself, or do you understand that the map was sent in two parts, the first showing the withdrawal for the main line, as claimed, and in 1871 the other part showing the branch line?

Mr. SINGER.—My understanding is that the maps were transmitted separately, one showing in 1867 the main line withdrawals, and the other showing in 1871 the branch line withdrawals, and that the two have been consolidated there upon one map.

Mr. CALL.—As a matter of convenience.

Mr. SINGER.—Yes, sir; as a matter of convenience.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from C. Delano, secretary of the interior, dated February 17, 1874, and addressed to L. M. Foulke, Eugene L. Sullivan, and Calvin Brown, as commissioners of the Southern Pacific Railroad, notifying them of their appointment by the President of the United States as commissioners to examine and report upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's roads, and requesting them to examine and report upon the completed section of fifty miles of the branch line road, commencing at a point near Fernando, in section 3, township 2 north, range 15 west, and ending at a point in section 26, township 1 south, range 9 west, San Bernardino meridian, and I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 313.

Mr. CALL.—Objected to as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant; and upon the further ground that the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, made no grant of alternate sections of land in aid of the so-called Southern Pacific Railroad branch line; and upon the further ground that said Southern Pacific Railroad branch line made no connection with the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, or at any other point; and upon the further ground that the corporation, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as constituted in 1873 and 1874 and thereafter, by virtue of consolidations with other roads, was not authorized to construct a railroad from Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Colorado river; and upon the further ground that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company did not, within the time required by the act of Congress of 1871, or at all, file an acceptance in the office of the secretary of the interior of the terms and conditions of said act; and upon the further ground that the issues in this case, so far as concerns the lands claimed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under said act of 1871, have been previously adjudicated; and upon the further ground that the lands involved in this suit were granted and reserved by the United States before any right of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company attached thereto. And I make these same objections to the preceding offers of evidence.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from R. B. Cowen, acting secretary of the interior, dated October 1, 1875, and addressed to Messrs. Foulke, Brown and Sullivan, as commissioners of the Southern Pacific Railroad, requesting them to examine and report upon an additional fifty miles of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's branch line road, commencing at a point in section 27, township 1 south, range 9 west, and running in a southeasterly direction to a point in section 4, township 3 south, range 1 west, San Bernardino meridian, and I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 314.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Sullivan, as commissioners, requesting them to proceed with the examination of fifty additional miles of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's branch line road. I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 315.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from S. S. Burdett, commissioner of the general land office, dated September 17, 1874, and addressed to the register and receiver at Los Angeles, California, saying that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had filed its map of definite location and construction of five sections of ten miles each of its branch line road, commencing at a point in section 3, township 2 north, range 15 west, and ending at a point in section 27, township 1 south, range 9 west, San Bernardino meridian, and transmitting a map, attached, showing that line, with the twenty and thirty miles limits of the land grant adjusted thereto; also, attached, a certified copy of the map transmitted with that letter. I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 319.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Burdett, commissioner of the general land office, dated December 20, 1875, addressed to the register and receiver at Los Angeles, California, saying that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had filed its map of definite location and construction of the second section of fifty miles of its railroad, extending from a point in section 27, township 1 south, range 9 west, to a point in section 4, township 3 south, range 1 west, San Bernardino meridian, and transmitting a map showing that line, with the twenty and thirty miles limits of the land grant adjusted thereto; also, attached, a certified copy of the map transmitted with that letter. I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 320.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from U. J. Baxter, acting commissioner of the general land office, dated August 19, 1876, addressed to the register and receiver at Los Angeles, California, saying that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had filed its map of definite location and construction of the third section of fifty miles of its branch line road, extending from a point in section 4, township 3 south, range 1 west, to a point in section 24, township 5 south, range 7 east, San Bernardino meridian, and transmitting a map showing that line, with the twenty and thirty miles limits of the land grant adjusted thereto; also, attached, a certified copy of the map transmitted with that letter. I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 321.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of a letter from J. A. Williamson, commissioner of the general land office, dated March 27, 1877, addressed to the register and receiver at Los Angeles, California, saying that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had filed its map of definite location and construction of the fourth section of 78.59 miles of its branch line road, commencing at a point in section 3, township 2 north, range 15 west, and ending at a point in section 17, township 11 north, range 12 west, San Bernardino meridian, and transmitting a map showing that line, with the twenty and thirty miles limits of the land grant adjusted thereto; also, attached, a certified copy of the map transmitted with that letter. I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 322.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

I ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 323.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

Mr. SINGER.—I offer in evidence the printed report of the general land office for the year 1875, for the purpose of showing, by the items on page 409 thereof, that the estimated quantity of land embraced in the twenty and thirty miles limits of the Southern Pacific main line grant, is six million acres, and that the estimated quantity which the company will receive from the grant is three million seven hundred and fifty thousand acres, and that the estimated quantity embraced in the twenty and thirty miles limits of the Southern Pacific branch line grant is three million five hundred and twenty thousand acres, and the estimated quantity which the company will receive from such grant is three million acres. I ask that the examiner copy those items from page 409 of the report, introduced, and that such copy be attested and marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 324.

Mr. CALL.—Objected to as irrelevant and immaterial.

Mr. CALL.—I offer another part of the same report on pages 408 and 409, for the purpose of showing that the estimated quantity which the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company would receive under its grant is forty-two million acres, and the estimated quantity which it will receive within the limits of its grant is forty million acres.

Mr. SINGER.—I object to the offer as irrelevant and immaterial.

WILLIAM H. ROBINSON, a witness produced on behalf of the defendants, being first duly cautioned and solemnly sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

Direct Examination.

By Mr. SINGER.—Q. 1. Where do you reside, Mr. Robinson? A. San Francisco.

Q. 2. What is your occupation?

A. Surveyor and draftsman.

Q. 3. For how long have you been engaged as a surveyor and draftsman? A. Last nine years.

Q. 4. During that time have you been actively employed in projecting field notes, preparing maps and the like work? A. During the entire time.

Q. 5. I will show you a map, upon which is endorsed, "United States vs. S. P. R. R. Co., et al., No. 600, Exhibit A attached to answer, filed January 22, 1895, William M. Van Dyke, Clerk," and ask you if you have seen the map before. A. Yes, sir.

Q. 6. Do you know who prepared the map?

Mr. CALL.—Objected to as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant.

A. The original map of which that is a copy?

Q. 7. (By Mr. SINGER.) This map. Yes, the original from which this is a blue print.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 8. (By Mr. SINGER.) Who drew the map?

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. I did.

Q. 9. (By Mr. SINGER.) I will ask you from what data you projected on this map the solid yellow line marked "S. P. R. R., main line, constructed."

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. From the maps of constructed lines in the chief-engineer's office of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Q. 10. (By Mr. SINGER.) Have you since compared that line with any other maps?

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. With the tracings I saw today.

Q. 11. (By Mr. SINGER.) Shown you today.

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 12. (By Mr. SINGER.) In Court. Did you compare them with the profile maps marked Defendants' Exhibits Nos. 291, 292, 293, 295 and 296?

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 13. (By Mr. SINGER.) Is that yellow line marked "S. P. R. R., main line, constructed," correctly drawn upon this map according to the exhibits Nos. 291, 292, 293, 294, 295 and 296, with which you have today compared it?

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. As well as may be according to that scale.

Q. 14. (By Mr. SINGER.) Are the dotted lines which appear upon the map parallel with the solid yellow line marked "S. P. R. R., main line, constructed," which lines are marked respectively twenty mile limit and thirty mile limit, correctly placed upon the map according to its scale, distant respectively that far from the main line road as there placed?

Mr. CALL.—Same objection.

A. Yes, sir.

Mr. SINGER.—That is all.

Cross-Examination.

By Mr. CALL.—Q. 15. Upon what scale is this map drawn? A. Eighteen miles to one inch.

Q. 16. Eighteen miles to the inch. The squares marked on this map are then intended to be congressional townships? A. Yes, sir.

Q. 17. Then the scale would be three congressional townships to the inch? A. Yes, sir.

Q. 18. The twenty mile limit should then be three and one-third congressional townships from the line of road?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 19. Turning to the east line of range 14 east, state if the twenty mile limit is there not marked more than three and a third townships from the line of road.

A. Very slightly in excess; yes, sir.

Q. 20. You designed that map, then, only to indicate in a general way, as near as might be, the line and limits of the grant?

A. Remember that scale is never drawn for any other purpose.

Q. 21. Are you at present in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company? A. Yes, sir.

Q. 22. How long have you been in their employ, about?

A. Well, I don't know how to answer that question. I commenced with the railroad company nine years ago, and I have been with them nearly all that time since, with the exception of one year.

Mr. CALL.—That is all.

Mr. SINGER.—I will ask you, Mr. Call, if you will waive verification and signature by this witness.

Mr. CALL.—Yes, sir; that is agreeable.

Address only the commissioner of the general land office.

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C. Nov. 29, 1893.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office:

Sir:

In the matter of the conflict of grants made to aid in the construction of the Atlantic & Pacific, and the Southern Pacific (branch line) Railroads, the Supreme Court in the cases of the U. S. v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company (146 U. S. 570) and U. S. v. Colton Marble & Lime Company (146 U. S. 615) held that the lands within both the primary and indemnity limits of the grant for the Atlantic & Pacific R. R. Co., where they conflicted with the primary limits of the grant for the Southern Pacific R. R. Co. (branch line) were excepted from the grant made to the latter company.

Within said conflicts it appears, however, that many acres, about 90,000, have heretofore been erroneously patented to the Southern Pacific Railroad. Trespass suits are now pending involving about 900,000 acres of the lands within the conflicts referred to, which includes all of the patented lands in certain townships, but as to the patented lands outside of the townships named in said suits no steps seem to have been taken, as yet, by your office to recover title as contemplated by the act of March 3, 1887 (24 Stats. 556).

In his letter of August 21, 1893, Mr. Joseph H. Call, special assistant United States attorney, enclosed a list of the townships included in the overlap of the grants before described but not embraced in pending suits, and requested that demand be made for the reconveyance of all patented lands on account of the Southern Pacific grant within said townships.

Your office letter of September 19, 1893, reported thereon as follows:

"Following Mr. Call's suggestions, in which the honorable attorney general concurs, I have prepared a list of the patented lands of class No. 1 (embracing the lands in the conflict just referred to), and, if in the light of this report, you deem it necessary, a rule will be served on the Southern Pacific Company to show cause why proceedings should not be taken as contemplated by the act of March 3, 1887 (24 Stats., 556), for the recovery of these lands."

This report was not referred to the assistant attorney general, who had knowledge of the fact relative to the conflict between these grants, but was, with a simple letter of transmittal forwarded to the attorney general, by the acting secretary's letter of September 22, 1893.

In this way the request for instruction made by your letter has been overlooked and no further steps taken towards the recovery of these lands.

From a consideration of the matter I have now to direct that demand be made at once upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for the reconveyance of the patented lands within the townships covered by the overlap in the grants and not embraced in the pending suits, and that report be made of the action taken by the company at the earliest possible date.

The previous requirement made in cases of a like nature for the issue of a rule to show cause, preliminary to the demand for reconveyance, will be dispensed with in the present case.

Very respectfully,

HOKE SMITH,

Secretary.

C. P. Huntington, Esq., President Southern Pacific Company, New York City:

Sir:

Respectfully referring to my letter to you of the seventh ultimo, calling upon you, as President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to reconvey to the United States certain lands within the overlapping limits of the grant for the Southern Pacific Railroad (branch line), and that for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, in California, you are advised that the tracts described in the accompanying lists were inadvertently omitted from the lists of lands which accompanied said letter and should have been included therein, they being within the overlapping limits aforesaid (not involved in pending suits), and shown by the records to have been patented to the Southern Pacific Company.

These lists of lands are submitted as supplemental to those which accompanied said letter of the seventh ultimo; and are covered by departmental order of November 29, 1893 (copy enclosed with former letter), and in accordance with the instructions therein contained, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company is now called upon to reconvey these lands to the United States within ninety days.

Very respectfully,

S. W. LAMOREUX,
Commissioner.

Articles of Association, Amalgamation and Consolidation.

Witnesseth: That whereas the said party of the first part heretofore, towit, on the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1870, was duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California by the amalgamation and consolidation of the following railroad corporations theretofore existing under the laws under the laws of said State, towit, The San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, The Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, The Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and the California Southern Railroad Company, pursuant to articles of amalgamation and consolidation of that date by them agreed upon, which articles were subsequently amended, towit, on the eleventh day of April, A. D. 1871, by virtue of the laws of said State, whereby said corporation became duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining and operating a continuous line of railroad from the city of San Francisco in the State of California, through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kearn, San Bernardino and San Diego to some point on the Colorado river in the south-eastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehichepa Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara, in said State, passing through said county and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey to a point at or near Salinas City in said last named county, a distance of forty five miles, as near as may be; and also such branches to said lines as the board of directors of said corporation may consider advantageous to said corporation and direct to be established.

And whereas the said party of the second part was, heretofore, towit, on the twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1872, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining and operating a railroad from a point on the Southern Pacific Railroad (the railroad of the party of the first part) at or near Salinas City in the county of Monterey, southeasterly to a point in Kern county south of Tulare Lake, intersecting the San Joaquin valley division of the said Southern Pacific railroad; also from a point on the above-described line, at or near San Miguel in San Luis Obispo county, thence in a southerly direction to a point of intersection, in Los Angeles county with the line of the said Southern Pacific railroad running from Tehachipi Pass by way of Los Angeles to Fort Yuma, said road passing into or through the counties of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, and said roads, in the aggregate, being, as near as may be, four hundred and twenty-eight miles in length.

And whereas said parties believe a consolidation and amalgamation of their capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, land and franchises will be mutually advantageous,

And whereas more than three-fourths in value of all the stockholders in interest of each of said parties have consented in writing to such amalgamation and consolidation upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth;

Now, therefore, under and by virtue of the statute of the State of California, in such case made and provided, the said parties do hereby mutually covenant and agree, each with the other, to the following articles, to-wit,

Articles First: Said parties do hereby amalgamate and consolidate themselves into a new corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which new corporation shall continue in existence for the period of fifty years from the date of these articles; and they do further consolidate and amalgamate their several capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands, franchises, rights, titles, privileges, claims, and demands of every kind whatsoever as well in possession as in expectancy, at law or in equity, and do grant, convey and vest the same in the said new corporation, as fully as the same are now severally held and enjoyed by them respectively, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, incumbrances, judgments, claims and charges thereon or in any wise affecting the same or any part thereof.

Article Second: The object and purpose of said new corporation shall be to purchase, construct, own, maintain, and operate the several lines of railroads hereinbefore described, towit, a line of railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego to some point on the Colorado river in the southeastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehichipa Pass, by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, passing through the counties of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy in the county of Santa Clara in said State, passing through said county and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey to a point at or near Selinas City in said last-named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point on the line thirdly above described at or near Salinas City in the county of Monterey southeasterly through said county and into Kern county to a point south of Tulare Lake in said last-named county, intersecting at said point the line of railroad first above described, a distance of one hundred and eighty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point on the last above described line, at or near San Miguel, in the county of San Luis Obispo, thence in a southerly direction through said county, the county of Santa Barbara and into the county of Los Angeles to a point of intersection with the line of railroad secondly above described, towit, the line from Tehichipa Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, a distance of two hundred and forty miles as near as may be—making in all fifteen hundred and nine miles, as near as may be, and such branches to said lines as the board of directors of said new corporation may hereafter, from time to time, establish.

Article Third: The board of directors of said new corporation shall consist of seven persons and the following named persons shall act as such directors until their successors shall have been duly elected pursuant to the by-laws of said new corporation hereafter to be adopted, viz: C. P. Huntington, D. D. Colton, Robert Robinson, Charles Mayne, S. T. Gage, E. H. Miller, Jr., and J. L. Willcutt.

Article Fourth: The capital stock of said new corporation shall be ninety million dollars divided into nine hundred thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, that sum being the contemplated actual cost of said railroads, including telegraph lines, rolling stock, motive power, shops, depots, etc.

Article Fifth: Each stockholder of each of said parties shall have the same number of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation which he now owns and holds of the capital stock of his respective company, upon the sameterms and conditions, and shall be entitled to receive from said new corporation certificates therefor, where the same has been fully paid up, upon the surrender of the certificates now held by him, and where the same has not been fully paid up, he shall receive such other evidence of his ownership as the board of directors of said new corporation shall direct upon the surrender of such evidence of his ownership of such unpaid stock as he may now hold.

Article Sixth: And the said several parties of the first and second parts, each for its self, hereby sell-, assigns, transfers, grants, bargains, releases and conveys to the said new and consolidated company and corporation, its successors and assigns forever, all its property, real, personal and mixed of every kind and description; all its capital stock; all its interest in the shares of its capital stock subscribed but not fully paid for; all credits, effects, judgments, decrees, contracts, agreements, claims, dues, and demands, of every kind and description; and all rights, privileges and franchises, corporate and otherwise, held, owned, or claimed by said parties of the first part and second parts, or either of them, in possession or expectancy either at law or in equity, subject however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, incumbrances, claims and charges thereon, or in anywise affecting the same.

Article Seventh: The said new and consolidated company and corporation is to be liable for, and shall fulfill, perform, do and pay all and each of the contracts, and agreements, covenants, duties, obligations, liabilities, debts, dues, and demands of the said several parties of the first and second parts; but this amalgamation and consolidation shall not in any way relieve the said parties of the first and second parts, or the stockholders thereof, from any and all just liabilities.

In testimony whereof, the said party of the first —— has caused this instrument to be signed by its vice-president (the president being absent) and its secretary, and its corporate seal to be thereunto affixed, and the said party of the second part has caused this instrument to be signed by its president and secretary, and its corporate seal thereunto affixed in pursuance of orders and resolutions of their several boards of directors made on the twelfth day of August, 1873.

Nos. 67, 68 & 69. Consolidated by order of Court.

Wednesday, December 18, 1889.

Before Charles L. Batchelor, Master in Chancery.

J. L. WILLCUTT, first being duly sworn on behalf of the plaintiff, deposes and says:

MR. CALL.—Q. What is your occupation and residence?

A. Secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. Residence, Oakland.

Q. Have you been secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since the twelfth day of August, 1873?

A. Yes sir; I have.

Q. Will you state if you were secretary of any of the companies that have been amalgamated with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; any of the companies named in the amalgamation of August 12, 1873,—the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company?

A. Yes; I was.

Q. The California Southern Railroad Company?

A. Yes, sir; I was secretary of that corporation.

Q. MR. REDDING.—The respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, waives the evidence deduced from the answer of Mr. Willcutt on the ground that the information is secondary, and will concede that he is stating facts from the record as if the record itself spoke.

MR. CALL.—Q. Can you tell us what was the capital stock authorized, of the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company on the twelfth day of August, 1875?

A. The capital stock I find to be twenty million dollars.

Q. Will you state what was the capital stock of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company prior to that amalgamation in August, 1873?

A. Seventy million dollars.

Q. State what was the capital stock of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as amalgamated with the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company by the articles of August 12, 1873?

A. Ninety million dollars.

Q. It is stated in article 6 of the articles entitled "Article of amalgamation and consolidation," which is introduced in this case and marked Exhibit B, as follows: "And the said several parties of the first part and second parts each for itself hereby sells, assigns, transfers, grants, bargains, releases and conveys to the said new and consolidated company and corporation, its successors and assigns forever all its property, real, personal and mixed of every kind and description, all its capital stock, all its interest in the shares of its capital stock subscribed but not fully paid for, all credits, effects, judgments, decrees, contracts, agreements, claims, dues and demands of every kind and description and all releases, privileges, franchises corporate and otherwise held, owned, claimed by said parties of the first part and second parts or either of them in possession or expectancy either at law or in equity." Will you please state whether in carrying out this consolidation and amalgamation, any other or different assignment or deeds or transfers were made by either of the old companies to the new consolidated company which is there stated?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Upon these articles referred to being executed, published and filed, how did you proceed to carry on the business of the company, with respect to the property of the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as it existed prior to August 12, 1873?

A. Exactly as though it had always been the property of the Southern Pacific Railroad proper. It carried on the business of both companies under the one name.

Q. Did the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company as such carry on any railroad business or otherwise as an independent corporation after the consolidation of 1873, referred to? A. No, sir.

Q. Did the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the party of the first part, to the agreement of August 12, 1873, referred to, being a corporation with a capital of seventy million dollars, carry on any railroad business or otherwise as such?

A. The business carried on continued in the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. The amount of the capital stock not figuring in any of its transactions, conveyances, or otherwise. Everything was done in the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. Did any company by the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, having a capital of not more than seventy million dollars, do any railroad business or construct any railroad after the twelfth day of August, 1873?

A. No, sir. The corporations consolidated, after the date of the consolidation or practically did so they are not carrying on any business, it all being done under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. The companies or corporations which were parties to the contract entitled, "Articles of association, amalgamation and consolidation of October 12, 1870," which are referred to in the evidence before the Master as "Stipulated Exhibit A," were treated in the same way as being practically dead, or were they not. How were they treated?

A. As though they did not any longer exist with the exception of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Q. Now, will you please state, in conducting the affairs of the amalgamated company of October 12, 1870, whether or not you carried on the keeping of the books, and all other matters as a single company, and assumed that the property of the various companied were merged into one?

A. They were. The property of the different companies were transferred to a new set of books.

Cross-Examination.

MR. REDDING—Q. I understand that on the eleventh day of October, 1870, the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company, The Santa Clara and Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, with the California Southern Railroad Company, were consolidated and amalgamated under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. That is correct.

Q. Now, there was existing prior to the eleventh day of October, 1870, the corporation known as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And subsequently to the eleventh day of October, 1870, there was existing a corporation known as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. That received, and had in it, everything pertaining to the companies I have enumerated? A. Correct.

Q. To refresh your mind with reference to the date of several acts of Congress, you remember that on the twenty-seventh day of July, 1866, Congress passed an act entitled "An act granting land to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast." That act of Congress contains what is known as the grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of 1866. Have you made any reports to the interior department, or to the President of the United States, or to any person in authority with reference to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and that act of Congress, and the terms of that act of Congress? In other words, have any reports gone forth from this office to Washington?

Objected to as incompetent, immaterial and not best evidence.

A. I think various reports have gone forward. I shall have to refer to the files to answer you.

Q. There have been reports?

(Same objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is there not what is known as the annual report which goes forth stating the condition of affairs of the company called for by this act of Congress?

(Same objection.)

A. For some years there was an annual report sent forward.

(Same objection.)

Q. That was sent forward by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

(Same objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now on the twelfth of August, 1875, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which is the Southern Pacific Railroad Company that received that land grant, and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company amalgamated and consolidated. Do you know whether or not reports went to Congress, or to Washington, or to any person in authority after 1873, from this office with reference to the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, and also with reference to the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, which is known as the Southern Pacific Branch Line act from Tehachapa by way of Los Angeles, to Fort Yuma?

(Same objection.)

A. There were.

Q. For what years, and to whom were they sent?

(Same objection.)

A. From 1870, to June, 1877, to the secretary of the interior.

Q. Were they received by him?

(Same objection.)

A. They were sent on regularly to be filed.

MR. CALL.—I have no objection to the witness stating that they were received.

A. They were received at Washington.

MR. REDDING.—Q. What was the nature of these reports, and for what purpose were they sent?

(Same objection.)

A. It was the annual report of the company to the secretary of the interior as required by certain acts of Congress. They were all sworn statements.

Q. Have you been in constant communication with Washington and with the various authorities annually with reference to the affairs of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since the date of these acts of Congress that I have mentioned?

(Same objection.)

A. I have.

Q. Please continue and state further to whom those reports were made and what the nature of them was?

(Same objection.)

A. I answered, to June 30, 1877, to the secretary of the interior. To 1879, to the United States auditor of railroads accounts. Subsequently to that date, to the commissioner of railroads, department of the interior.

Q. Have there been annual reports made?

A. There have been annual reports made.

Q. And accepted?

(Same objection.)

A. And accepted.

(Same objection.)

Q. Have those reports been made by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

(Same objection.)

A. They have.

Q. Why is it since 1878, you have made the annual reports to the commissioner of railroads?

(Objected to by plaintiff as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, and not cross-examination.)

A. Under the act of Congress, approved June 19, 1878, entitled, "An act to create an auditor of railroad accounts, and for other purposes."

Q. Section 4 of that act reads: "That each and every railroad company aforesaid, which has received from the United States any bonds of the said United States, issued by way of loans, to aid in constructing or furnishing its road, or which has received from the United States any lands granted to it for similar purposes, shall make to the said auditor, any and all such reports as he may require from time to time, and shall submit its books and records to the inspection of said auditor, or any person acting in his place, or stead, at any time that said auditor may request, in the office where said books and records are usually kept, and the said auditor, or his authorized representative, shall make such transcript from the said books and records as he may desire." Have the books of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since July 27, 1866, down to the present time, been open in all respects for the inspection of officers, or proper authorities of the United States?

A. They have.

Q. Has there from time to time been any inspection made of the books of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since July 27, 1866?

(Same objection by the plaintiff as above stated.)

A. There has not.

Q. But there have been these statements sent on from this office to them?

(Same objection by the plaintiff as above stated.)

A. Yes, sir, regularly.

It is admitted that the testimony taken above has the same force and effect as if the witness was duly sworn by the Master in Chancery himself, and all objections to the manner of taking it are hereby waived, and the signature to deposition is also waived.

Counsel appearing:

(STEPHEN POTTER, Shorthand reporter, 325 Montgomery Street, Room 9, Telephone 1117.)

It is stipulated between the parties that the testimony taken before the notary public shall have the same force and effect as if taken before an examiner in chancery.

J. L. WILLCUTT, produced as a witness on behalf of the complainant, being first duly sworn, and cautioned, deposes and testifies as follows:

Direct Examination.

By MR. CALL. Q. Please state your present occupation?

A. Secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and other railroad corporations.

Q. State whether or not prior to October, 1870, you were secretary of the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company? A. I was.

Q. Were you also prior to that time secretary of the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company.

(Question objected to by the respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

A. I was.

Q. Were you also prior to that time secretary of the California Southern Railroad Company?

(Question objected to by the respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

A. I was.

Q. Were you also prior to that time secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. I was not.

Q. Have you been secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since the twelfth day of August, 1873? A. I have.

Q. Have you copies of the articles of incorporation of these railroad companies which we have mentioned which you can refer to?

A. I have all of them filed in my office.

Q. Will you be so good as to send and get them, if they are convenient, so that we can refer to them?

(Witness sends for the papers referred to.)

Q. Were you secretary of the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company prior to August 12, 1873?

(Question objected to by the respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as irrelevant, immaterial, and incompetent.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Will you state what your general duties were with respect to your position as secretary of the several railroad companies that I have mentioned?

A. I had general charge of the accounts of the company, attended all meetings of the directors, and kept a record of the proceedings of the various meetings, and fulfilled the general duties of a secretary otherwise.

Q. It has been shown in evidence in this case by other testimony that a line of railroad from Tehachapi Pass via Los Angeles to the Colorado river at or near Yuma, was constructed and is in operation; are you familiar with that line of road, have you been over it?

A. Only partially.

Q. Do you know that part of it north of Los Angeles?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What is the name of the railroad company that constructed that road?

A. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. The company that you have been secretary of since August 12, 1873, before mentioned? A. Yes, sir.

(Question objected to by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as leading, and not proper direct examination, and said respondent moves to strike out the answer.)

(Witness produces the papers heretofore sent for.)

Q. What was the capital stock of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which constructed that road from Tehachapi Pass to Los Angeles in the month of October, 1873?

(Question objected to by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as ambiguous, unintelligible, and uncertain, and also as irrelevant, immaterial, and incompetent.)

A. Ninety million dollars.

Q. In October, 1873, how long a time had that company yet to endure under its articles?

(Question objected to by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Forty-two years; the articles of incorporation are dated November 29, 1865.

Q. You are reading from those?

A. I have the articles of incorporation before me dated November 29, 1865.

Q. You read that from the articles of incorporation of 1865?

A. I take that from the articles of incorporation of 1865.

Q. How long a time had it to endure by the articles of August 12, 1873?

(Question objected to by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as ambiguous, uncertain, and unintelligible, and upon the further ground that it has not been stated that there were any articles of incorporation of that date last mentioned, nor has it been so shown.)

Q. I will ask the witness first if you have or can produce a copy of the articles of incorporation of August 12, 1873, being the articles of amalgamation of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company?

A. Articles of amalgamation and consolidation I can produce; I have them here.

Q. In order that you may understand this question, it has been shown in evidence that the line of road from Tehachapi Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Colorado river was constructed by a corporation by the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company between the years 1873 and 1878.

MR. REDDING. I would like to state that I think it has also been shown that that road was being constructed from 1871 until 1878, not from 1873. A map of the different locations was filed April 3, 1871, is not that so?

MR. CALL. I believe a map designating the route was filed on April 3, 1871.

Q. Please state what length of time the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which constructed that road, had to endure under its articles from and after October, 1873, as shown by the articles?

(Question objected to by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, and irrelevant, and also on the ground that the witness has answered the question.)

A. I am unable to answer it from the papers before me; I have only the time given in the articles of 1865, but nothing further.

Q. Have you the articles of 1873?

A. The articles of 1873 are the articles of association, amalgamation, and consolidation.

(Question objected to by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as incompetent, and also that the articles, if there are any, speak for themselves and are the best evidence.)

Q. Refer to article first of the articles of association of 1873.

A. The articles of association, amalgamation, and consolidation of the twelfth of August, 1873, provide for the existence of that corporation for the period of fifty years from the date of the articles.

Q. Will you attach a copy of those articles to your deposition? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Will you please do so at your convenience?

A. Yes, sir.

(Objection by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

Q. Can you produce a copy of the articles of incorporation of the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you a copy there? A. I have.

Q. Referring to those articles please state what was the capital stock of that company?

A. Twenty million dollars.

Q. Will you please attach a copy of those articles to your deposition? A. Yes, sir.

(Objection by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

Q. Can you produce a copy of the articles of incorporation and association of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which were entered into October 11, 1870?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You will please do so and make them a part of your deposition.

(Objection by the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

Q. Please state whether or not a corporation by the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, having a capital stock of seventy million dollars, and no more than that and no less, constructed any railroad between Tehachapi Pass and Los Angeles after the year 1873?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent, and as asking the opinion of the witness.)

A. I have known but one corporation, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, without regard to the capital stock; it has not figured at all upon my books; I have continued the business along with one corporation.

Q. What was the capital stock of that corporation in October, 1873?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company upon the same grounds as last stated.)

A. The capital stock by the articles of consolidation of August, 1873, was ninety million dollars.

Q. What was the capital stock in the year 1874 of that company?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company upon the same grounds as last stated.)

A. The same amount.

Q. Can you now state, having refreshed your memory, whether a corporation by the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, with a capital stock of seventy million dollars, constructed any railroad or did any railroad business after October, 1873?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as irrelevent, immaterial, and incompetent, and as asking for the opinion of the witness upon a legal conclusion.)

A. I think I have answered the question that as far as my accounts show and the records as taken from my books I have never distinguished between the amount of one capital stock and another; our accounts have been kept along in a continuous set of books, and it has been the Southern Pacific Railroad Company without regard to capital stock.

Q. Was it part of your duty as secretary to sign the certificates of stock, and would it be necessary for you to know the amount of the capital stock that would be authorized to be issued? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Can you not then state whether there was a company by the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company with a capital stock of seventy million dollars and no more,—whether such a company did business after October, 1873?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company on the same grounds as last stated, and also that the witness has answered the question.)

A. I have never drawn the lines of the business of the company upon the representation of the capital stock; the capital stock account has shown the capital standing at different times, but does not appear upon separate books, to have been reduced or increased in accordance with the consolidations which have been made, but the accounts have continued in one set of books, so that in doing any business I have never drawn any line as to whether it was a seventy million dollars capital or ninety million dollars capital, the company that was doing the business; the business was continued along in the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. Only one set of books?

A. One set of books being used, since the consolidation of 1870, when I found the old books were insufficient to carry on the business of the company as consolidated; I then got a new set of books; since that I have continued the accounts along in those books without regard to the capital stock or any difference in the corporation.

Q. At the time that the articles of association of August, 12, 1873, were entered into, it was provided in those articles by article fifth as follows, "Each stockholder of said parties shall have the same number of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation which he now owns and holds of the capital stock of his respective company, upon the same terms and conditions, and shall be entitled to receive from said new corporation certificates therefor, where the same has been fully paid up, upon the surrender of the certificates now held by him; and where the same has not been fully paid up he shall receive such other evidence of his ownership as the board of directors of said new corporation shall direct upon the surrender of such evidence of his ownership of such unpaid stock as he may now hold"; you will please state whether the stockholders of the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, or any of them, or all of them, surrendered their certificates and received new certificates?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

A. They did.

Q. Did the stockholders of the old Southern Pacific Railroad Company receive new certificates, or did they retain them?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant, and incompetent.)

A. They did not receive new ones.

Q. Did the stockholders who owned stock which was fully paid up and subscribed receive any other or different evidence of their holdings than what they originally held?

A. No change was made in the Southern Pacific.

Q. They simply retained those same certificates?

A. The same certificates.

Q. And an additional twenty million dollars was issued to the holders of the stock of the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company?

A. If that amount had been fully paid they received stock to the extent which they had paid, whatever it may have been; their certificates of stock or evidence of indebtedness were surrendered, and the certificates of stock or the evidence of ownership of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company were delivered to them and received by them in exchange for it.

Q. In the articles of association, amalgamation, and consolidation dated August 12, 1873, between the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, of the first part, and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, of the second part, it is stated in the articles that "the said party of the second part was heretofore, towit: on the twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1872, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California, for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining, and operating a railroad from a point on the Southern Pacific Railroad (the railroad of the party of the first part) at or near Salinas City, in the county of Monterey, southeasterly to a point in Kern county, south of Tulare lake, intersecting the San Joaquin Valley division of the said Southern Pacific Railroad, also from a point on the above described line at or near San Miguel, in San Luis Obispo county, thence in a southerly direction to a point of intersection in Los Angeles county, with a line of the Southern Pacific Railroad running from Tehachapi Pass by way of Los Angeles to Fort Yuma, said road passing into or through the counties of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Santa Barbara, and Los Angeles, and said roads in the aggregate being as near as may be four hundred and twenty-eight miles in length"; can you state whether the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as consolidated by these articles of 1873, the new company, went on and constructed any part of the railroads that it is here provided that the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company might construct?

(Question objected to by respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent.)

A. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has constructed a road along the line mentioned to San Miguel Station; the road has been constructed from Salinas to San Miguel.

Q. Running through what counties?

A. I answer without knowing the counties, that the line has been constructed from Salinas City to San Miguel.

Q. That line you say was constructed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. Constructed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. Do you know the year that that was constructed in?

A. I would have to refer to my books to give the different dates.

Q. About the year, about the time?

A. 1888 or 1889, I should say.

Mr. REDDING. Q. 1888? A. 1889.

Mr. CALL. Q. Was that road constructed in pursuance of these articles and the authority here set forth?

(Question objected to by respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant, and as leading, and as calling for the opinion of the witness in reference to matters to be proven from the records, if at all.)

A. I assume it to have been.

Q. I believe you stated that you had been secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since August, 1873? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Keeping one set of books for the different roads that have been amalgamated with the Southern Pacific and carrying on the business as one corporation?

A. Continuously.

Q. Can you state whether or not the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, as such, constructed any railroad after the articles were entered into of August 12, 1873? A. It did not.

Q. Did the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, that was consolidated with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company October 11, 1870, construct any railroad after the eleventh day of October, 1870?

(Question objected to by respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as immaterial, irrelevant, and calling for an incompetent answer and the opinion of the witness.)

A. It did not.

Q. Did the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, or the California Southern Railroad Company construct any railroad after that date?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. No, sir.

Q. But after the articles of consolidation of October 11th, 1870, and of August 11, 1873, I understand that the business was all done under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as one corporation, acting under the new articles?

(Question objected to by the respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as leading and suggestive, and as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.)

A. Correct; it was all done under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. I suppose it acted by authority of the articles of incorporation and association entered into from time to time as it was done, was it not?

(Question objected to by respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Co mpany, as leading and suggesting the answer, and calling for the opinion of the witness, and as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial.)

A. My answer heretofore has been that it was done in the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company without regard to its capital stock or any re-organization, it may be said, or consolidation, that I know of.

Q. But you carried on the business as one company, and only one corporation?

A. As the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and only one corporation that I know of.

Cross-examination.

By Mr. REDDING. Q. What was the name of the corporation that existed prior to the eleventh day of October, 1870, and with which you were connected—was it known as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. I was not connected with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company prior to October 11, 1870, but with three corporations that were consolidated with that company, namely, the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, and the California Southern Railroad Company.

Q. They were consolidated on that day, were they?

A. The eleventh of October, 1870.

Q. Did you become secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company then, or how soon thereafter?

A. Immediately on the organization; immediately after the filing of the articles of consolidation in the office of the secretary of state.

Q. Was there existing a corporation known as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company subsequent to the eleventh day of October, 1870? A. Yes, sir.

Q. To refresh your mind with reference to the date of the several acts of Congress, you will remember that on the twenty-seventh day of July, Congress passed an act entitled, "An act granting land to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast"; that act of Congress contains what is known as the grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of 1866; have you made any reports to the interior department, or to the President of the United States, or to any person in authority, with reference to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and that act of Congress and the terms of that act of Congress; in other words, have any reports gone forth from this office, or from your office, to Washington?

(Question objected to by complainant as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and not the best evidence.)

A. Annual reports have been made every year.

Q. What was the name of the company that sent those annual reports?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. Is that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of which you were secretary?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you continued to be secretary ever since and down to the present day?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you now are secretary of that company?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. On the twelfth day of August, 1873, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which is the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which received that land grant, and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, amalgamated and consolidated; do you know whether or not reports went to Congress, or to Washington, or to any person in authority, after 1873, from your office with reference to the act of Congress of July 27, 1886, and also with reference to the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, which is known as the Southern Pacific Branch Line act grant from Tehachapi by way of Los Angeles to Fort Yuma; do you know whether any reports have gone forth from your office to Washington, or any other place, with reference to those?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. A report has been sent forward every year.

Q. Do you know to whom they were sent?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. From 1870 to June, 1877, to the secretary of the interior.

Q. Were they received by him?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. They were; they were sent on regularly to be filed.

Mr. CALL. I have no objection to the witness stating that they were received.

A. They were received at Washington.

Mr. CALL. I object to the evidence for the reasons above stated.

Mr. REDDING. Q. What was the nature of the reports, and for what purpose were they sent?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. The annual report of the company to the secretary of the interior as required by certain acts of Congress; they were all sworn statements.

Q. Have you been in constant communication with Washington, and with the various authorities, annually, with reference to the affiairs of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since the date of these acts of Congress that I have mentioned?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. I have.

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. I answered to June 30, 1877, they were sent to the secretary of the interior; to 1879 they were sent to the United States auditor of railroad accounts; subsequently to that date to the commissioner of railroads, department of the interior.

Q. Have there been annual reports made?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. There have been.

Q. And accepted?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have those reports been made by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. They have.

Q. Are you the custodian of the affairs and books and correspondence of the corporation the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. I am, with the exception of the land department.

Q. I refer to the executive department; are you now testifying from your investigations of the files of your office? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And from your examination of the records?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And correspondence? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have these reports been made by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Why is it since 1878 you have made the annual reports to the commissioner of railroads?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Under the act of Congress approved June 19, 1878, entitled, "An act to create an auditor of railroad accounts, and for other purposes."

Q. Section IV of that act reads: "That each and every railroad company aforesaid, which has received from the United States any bonds of the said United States, issued by way of loans, to aid in constructing or furnishing its road, or which has received from the United States any lands granted to it for similar purposes, shall make to the said auditor any and all such reports as he may require from time to time, and shall submit its books and records to the inspection of said auditor, or any person acting in his place or stead, at any time that said auditor may request, in the office where said books and records are usually kept, and the said auditor, or his authorized representative, shall make such transcript from the said books and records as he may desire"; have the books of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since July 27, 1866, down to the present time, been open in all respects for the inspection of officers or proper authorities of the United States?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has there from time to time been any inspection made of the books of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since July 27, 1866?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. No, sir.

Q. But there have been these statements sent on from this office regularly?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you had papers served upon you as secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in suits brought against it by individuals, and companies, and corporations? A. Yes, sir.

Q. I mean acting as secretary for the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, in this suit; you are the secretary of the respondent in this suit, entitled case No. 68, now pending in the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you ever served with any papers in the tax suits brought by the State of California against this respondent?

(Question objected to by complainant as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. I now refer you to Volume 127 of the United States Supreme Court Reports, October Term, 1887, on the first page thereof, and from that page on several pages you will see a decision or decisions in the following entitled cases: "California vs. The Central Pacific Railroad Company," "California vs. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company," and other cases; do you know whether or not the corporation The Southern Pacific Railroad Company therein sued is the same corporation in fact as is sued in this case?

(Question objected to by complainant as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant.)

A. It is.

Q. Were you secretary of this corporation at the time it was sued in that suit?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Has there been any change of any nature made in the books of your office, or by resolution of the board of directors, or by meeting of the stockholders, as to the affairs of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company between 1885 and the present date?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. No, sir.

Q. If there had been would you know of it, and would the same have been entered on your books?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated.)

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you go over the road of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the course of its construction between Tehachapi and Los Angeles or between Tehachapi and Fort Yuma, or any portion of it; I refer now to the Branch line?

A. I passed over the road to Los Angeles and some points beyond there several times.

Q. Did any vouchers or bills for expenditure, or any of the amounts disbursed under your supervision, control, or inspection in the course of its construction?

A. In connection with its construction?

Q. Yes, or in connection with the expenses of the construction?

A. The bills for construction did.

Q. Have the bills for the maintenance since its construction come under your inspection or control since that time?

A. Up to the time of its being leased to the Central Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Company.

Q. That is to say up to the time that the Central Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Company assumed the lease of its working material?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is the company known as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company today,—is it a fact the same company that constructed and maintained the construction of the road that you went over from Tehachapi by the way of Los Angeles to Fort Yuma, or along any portion of the road?

(Question objected to by complainant as immaterial, incompetent, and irrelevant, and as calling for the opinion of the witness, and a conclusion of law, and as incompetent for the reason that it has been previously shown by the proper proofs what the facts were in that respect.)

A. I have already answered that I know but one company, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. And that is the same company that existed then, and now exists, so far as your knowledge extends?

(Question objected to by complainant on the same grounds as last stated, and the additional objection that the witness has on his direct and cross-examination fully answered the question and stated what the facts were.)

A. Yes, sir.

Corrections: In the first answer given on page 13 witness desires to correct same and answer as follows: "The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has constructed a road along the line mentioned to Santa Margarita; the road has been constructed from Salinas to Santa Margarita; also from Elwood, Santa Barbara county, to connect with the Los Angeles line at Saugus, in Los Angeles county."

In answer to question following last answer referred to on same page the witness desires to correct his answer so as to read as follows: "I answer, that without remembering whether there are any intervening counties, that the line has been constructed from Salinas city in Monterey county to Santa Margarita in San Luis Obispo county, and from Elwood to Saugus as aforestated."

In answer to third question of the cross-examination, the witness desires to strike out the answer given therein and answer the same as follows: "On the date of their consolidation, eleventh of October, 1870."

Articles of Association of
S. P. and S. P. Branch R. R. Companies.

through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego to some point on the Colorado river in the southeastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehichipa Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy in the county of Santa Clara, in said State, passing through said county and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey to a point at or near Salinas City in said last named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be, and also such branches to said lines as the board of directors of said corporation may consider advantageous to said corporation and direct to be established.

And whereas the said party of the second part was heretofore, towit: on the twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1872, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining and operating a railroad from a point on the Southern Pacific Railroad (the railroad of the party of the first part) at or near Salinas City in the county of Monterey, southeasterly to a point in Kern county south to Tulare Lake, intersecting the San Joaquin Valley division of the said Southern Pacific Railroad; also from a point on the above described line, at or near San Miguel in San Luis Obispo county, thence in a southerly direction to a point of intersection in Los Angeles county with the line of the said Southern Pacific Railroad running from Tehichipa Pass by way of Los Angeles to Fort Yuma—said roads passing into or through the counties of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, and said roads, in the aggregate being, as near as may be, four hundred and twenty-eight miles in length.

And whereas said parties believe a consolidation and amalgamation of their capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, land and franchises will be mutually advantageous;

And whereas more than three-fourths in value of all the stockholders in interest of each of said parties, have consented in writing to such amalgamation and consolidation upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth;

Now therefore, under and by virtue of the statutes of the State of California, in such case made and provided, the said parties do hereby mutually covenant and agree, each with the other, to the following articles, towit:

Article First. Said parties do hereby amalgamate and consolidate themselves into a new corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which new corporation shall continue in existence for the period of fifty years from the date of these articles; and they do further consolidate and amalgamate their several capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands, franchises, rights, titles, privileges, claims and demands of every kind whatsoever as well in possession as in expectancy at law or in equity, and do grant, convey and vest the same in the said new corporation, as fully as the same are now severally held and enjoyed by them respectively, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, incumbrances, judgments, claims and charges thereon or in anywise affecting the same, or any part thereof.

Article Second. The object and purpose of said new corporation shall be to purchase, construct, own, maintain and operate the several lines of railroad hereinbefore described, towit: a line of railroad from the city of San Francisco in the State of California through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego to some point on the Colorado river in the southeastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehichipa Pass, by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, passing through the counties of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles as near as may be; also a line or railroad from the town of Gilroy in the county of Santa Clara in said State, passing through said county and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey to a point at or near Salinas City in said last-named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point on the line thirdly above described at or near Salinas City in Article Third. The board of directors of said new corporation shall consist of seven persons, and the following named persons shall act as such directors until their successors shall have been duly elected pursuant to the by-laws of said new corporation hereafter to be adopted, viz: C. P. Huntington, D. D. Colton, Robert Robinson, Charles Mayne, S. T. Gage, E. H. Miller, Jr., and J. L. Willcutt.

Article Fourth. The capital stock of said new corporation shall be ninety million dollars divided into nine hundred thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, that sum being the contemplated actual cost of said railroads, including telegraph lines, rolling stock, motive power, shops, depots, etc.

Article Fifth. Each stockholder of each of said parties shall have the same number of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation, which he now owns and holds of the capital stock of his respective company, upon the same terms and conditions, and shall be entitled to receive from said new corporation certificates therefor where the same has been fully paid up, upon the surrender of the certificates now held by him, and where the same has not been fully paid up, he shall receive such other evidence of his ownership as the board of directors of said new corporation shall direct upon the surrender of such evidence of his ownership of such unpaid stock as he may now hold.

Article Sixth. And the said several parties of the first and second parts, each for itself, hereby sells, assigns, transfers, grants, bargains, releases and conveys to the said new consolidated company and corporation, its successors and assigns forever, all its property, real, personal and mixed of every kind and description, all its capital stock, all its interest in the shares of its capital stock subscribed, but not fully paid for, all credits, effects, judgments, decrees, contracts, agreements, claims, dues and demands of every kind and description, and all rights, privileges and franchises, corporate and otherwise, held, owned or claimed by said parties of the first and second parts, or either of them in possession or expectancy, either at law or in equity, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, incumbrances, claims and charges thereon or in anywise affecting the same.

Article Seventh. The said new and consolidated company and corporation is to be liable for, and shall fulfill, perform, do and pay all and each of the contracts and agreements, covenants, duties, obligations, liabilities, debts, dues and demands of the said several parties of the first and second parts, but this amalgamation and consolidation shall not in any way relieve the said parties of the first and second parts, or the stockholders thereof, from any and all just liabilities.

In testimony whereof, the said party of the first part has caused this instrument to be signed by its vice-president (the president being absent) and its secretary, and its corporate seal to be thereunto affixed, and the said party of the second part has caused this instrument to be signed by its president and secretary, and its corporate seal thereunto affixed, in pursuance of orders and resolutions of their several boards of directors made on the twelfth day of August, 1873.

Sir:

On behalf of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company I herewith transmit for filing in your department certain maps designating the line of the road of said company between the following points:

1st. Map of main line between the mouth of Kingfisher creek, in the Indian Territory, and the eastern boundary line of the territory of New Mexico.

2d. Map of branch line from a point on Canadian river, near ninety-sixth meridian, in Indian Territory, to intersection of said branch with main line.

I also transmit a map which is a duplicate of the map of a portion of the branch line heretofore filed, except that in the former map the parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude were by a clerical error incorrectly laid down, whereas the present map, a copy in other respects, shows the position of these parallels correctly.

I respectfully ask that these several maps may be filed in your department, in compliance with the requirements of the act, approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast"; and that the last mentioned map may be considered a substitute for the map already filed of the same portion of branch route.

I, Lewis A. Walter H. Smith, assistant attorney general, on the subject matter of such letter—are true and literal exemplifications of the same as they appear of record in this office.

LEWIS A. GROFF,

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C., 15th April, 1874.

Sir:

On the sixteenth April, 1872, there was transmitted to your office a copy of departmental letter of the eleventh of the same month to Frances B. Hayes, Esq., president of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, approving the maps filed by said company, showing the route of the main line of their road through the Indian Territory, Northern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and portions of California, to San Francisco.

On the twenty-first of June, 1872, Jas. H. Storrs, counsel of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, submitted, on behalf of said company, an appeal from the action of your office taken pursuant to said departmental letter of sixteenth April, 1872, in ordering a withdrawal of lands for said Atlantic & Pacific Company in California.

The appeal was supported by able and elaborate arguments, denying the right of the said Atlantic & Pacific Company to construct their road to San Francisco.

I deemed it a matter of sufficient importance to take the opinion thereon of the Hon. Walter H. Smith, assistant attorney general, a copy of which will be found herewith.

In view of the reasons assigned therein in favor of the company's having such right, I do not feel at liberty to say that San Francisco is not the most "eligible" point on the Pacific for the terminus of their road. I have, therefore, concluded to adopt the opinion of the assistant attorney general, and decline disturbing your action taken pursuant to said letter of eleventh April, 1872. Be pleased to cause the parties in interest to be furnished with a copy of this letter and of the opinion. I am, sir, very respectfully

Your ob't servant,

C. DELANO.

Secretary.

Hon. Willis Drummond,

Commr. Gen. Land Office.

Department of the Interior.

Office of Assistant Attorney General.

Washington, March 16, 1874.

I have considered the question of the right of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company to definitely locate the line of its road from the point where it crosses the Colorado river, near the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude, to San Francisco, by way of the Tehachopa Pass, and west of the Coast Range of mountains. The map of definite location was filed in the general land office on the twelfth of March, 1872, and the lands along the route ordered to be withdrawn on the twenty-second of April, 1872.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company have protested against the route selected by the Atlantic & Pacific Company, and asked for a revocation of the order withdrawing the lands. It claims that the act of July 27, 1866, does not authorize the Atlantic & Pacific to construct a railroad from the crossing of the Colorado river to San Francisco, but does authorize the construction of such a road by its company. It also claims that the question is res adjudicata, having once been before the department of the interior, and decided adversely to the Atlantic & Pacific Company. The original bill chartering the Atlantic & Pacific Company provided for a road from Springfield, Missouri, to Albuquerque, on the Del Norte, thence substantially along the thirty-fifth parallel to the Colorado river, and "thence by way of San Gorgonio Pass to San Diego, and by the Tijon Passes and the Tulare and San Joaquin, and their lateral valleys, to the bay of San Francisco." This gave the company the unquestioned right to build two roads from the Colorado river to the Pacific; one terminating at San Diego, and the other at San Francisco. The Senate, for reasons satisfactory to itself, struck out the words above, last quoted, authorizing two routes from the Colorado river, and inserted instead thereof the following: "Thence by the most practical and eligible route to the Pacific"; so that the route as finally adopted by Congress is described as follows: "Beginning at or near the town of Springfield, in the State of Missouri, thence to the western boundary line of said State, and thence by the most eligible railroad route, as shall be determined by said company, to a point on the Canadian river, thence to the town of Albuquerque, on the River Del Norte, and thence by way of Aqua Frio, or other suitable pass, to the headwaters of the Colorado Chiquito, and thence along the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude, as near as may be found most suitable for a railway route, to the Colorado river, at such point as may be selected by said company for crossing; thence by the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific."

This language, it seems to me, is free from ambiguity. It takes away the right to make two routes from the Colorado river to the Pacific, and gives the right to make one, and that one is left to the discretion of the company, with the sole qualification that it must be the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific. If it had stopped with the word practicable, it might be claimed with some plausibility that a route could only be taken which, upon full and careful survey, should be shown to be the most suitable for the construction of a railroad. But it did not stop there; it added the words "and eligible." Eligible means "proper to be chosen," "desirable," "preferable" (Webster); and the act should be construed as though it read, thence by the most practicable and the most desirable route for the company to the Pacific.

Although the route is thus left to the discretion of the company, I apprehend it was not intended that it should have the absolute right to go to the Pacific wherever it pleased, without regard to anything but its mere will and pleasure. It could not go to Puget Sound, or to a point on the Pacific Coast greatly outside of the general course of the line pointed out in the statute. It was given the right to exercise its discretion, but that exercise of discretion must be reasonable.

It must be such as the secretary of the interior can approve when called upon to file the map and withdraw the land, and issue patents. In the case under consideration, I think the company acted reasonably, and exercised the discretion reposed in it in a proper manner. It had to decide where its terminus on the Pacific should be. It was permitted to select the one that was most eligible. It did select San Francisco. Was there on the Coast, in the general direction of the route of this railroad, any other point equally desirable?

San Francisco is well known to be the great trading point on the Pacific in California. It is the point in which the trade with the East centers. It has a commerce with the world. It is acknowledged to be the best harbor on the coast south of Puget Sound. It has a large city built up by its trade with other sections. There is no other such harbor or city for the company to select.

San Diego is the only one that would suggest itself, and it is much smaller, and has comparatively but little trade, and although it was not, at the passage of the act, it is now the terminus of the Texas Pacific, a road running to the South of the Atlantic & Pacific.

I cannot subscribe to the construction which requires the route to run from the Colorado river "along the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude as near as may be found most suitable" to the Pacific. This qualification in the act relates to the route from the headwaters of the Colorado Chiquito to the Colorado River only. It does not relate to that portion of the route from the Colorado river to the Pacific. The two clauses are not connected with the copulative conjunction "and." They are separated by a semicolon, which, so far as punctuation is concerned, is an indication that they are not to be considered as having the same qualifying terms. In argument it is claimed that they should be so considered because the members of Congress in the debate on the bill so construed the act. The debate was very brief; only one member I believe expressed the opinion referred to. It is well settled that the language of individual members of Congress cannot be looked to in ascertaining the meaning of a law. In Aldridge v. Williams (3 How. 24) the Chief Justice said, "In expounding the law, the judgment of the Court cannot in any degree be influenced by the construction placed upon it by individual members of Congress in the debate which took place on its passage, nor by the motives or reasons assigned by them for supporting or opposing amendments that were offered. The law, as it passed, is the will of both houses, and the only mode in which that will is spoken is in the act itself, and we must gather their intention from the language there used, comparing it, when any ambiguity exists, with the laws upon the same subject, and looking, if necessary, to the public history of the times in which it was passed.

My conclusion is that by the terms of the first section of the act of July 27, 1866 (14 Stat. 292) which I have above quoted, the Atlantic and Pacific Company had the right to locate their line from the Colorado river so as to make its terminus on the Pacific at San Francisco, and that as a necessary consequence thereof, it was entitled to the land grant along this route given by the third section of the act in the following words:

" That there be and is hereby granted to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line to the Pacific Coast, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops and munitions of war and public stores over the route of said line of railway and its branches every alternate section of public land, nor mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile on each side of said railroad line as said company may adopt, through the territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each of said railroad whenever it passes through any States," etc.

It is claimed that although this might be so if the first section stood alone, yet the eighteenth section takes away that right and gives it to the Southern Pacific Railroad. That section is in these words: "That the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad formed under this act, at such point near the boundary line of the State of California, as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road; and in consideration thereof to aid in its construction shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

At the time of the passage of this act the Southern Pacific Railroad was, by the terms of its organization, which had been duly filed with the secretary of the State of California, authorized to build a road from some point on the Bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Los Angeles and San Diego, in said State; "thence eastward through the said county of San Diego to the eastern line of the State of California; thence to connect with the contemplated railroad from said eastern line of the State of California to the Mississippi river." When, therefore, the Southern Pacific Railroad is referred to in said eighteenth section, it means the road that was then required to start at San Francisco, and run thence down the Pacific Coast more than five hundred miles to San Diego. It is this road that is authorized, not required, to connect with the Atlantic and Pacific at such point near the State line as both companies should deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco.

It is optional with it whether to do it or not. If it is done it must be at such point as both companies shall agree upon. Now, was it intended by Congress that the right to go to the Pacific coast, expressly given to the Atlantic and Pacific Company, by the first section, should be taken away and limited to the State line by the eighteenth section of the same act, and that, too, when the Southern Pacific is not even required to connect with the Atlantic and Pacific?

I cannot so construe the law. In my opinion it was not intended that the Atlantic and Pacific should take the long and circuitous route to get to San Francisco that would have been required if it ran on the line of the Southern Pacific as then established. It is true that Congress afterwards, June 28, 1870, authorized a change in the route of the Southern Pacific (16 Stat., 382) and

March 3, 1871, authorized it to connect with the Texas Pacific (16 Stat. 579, sec. 23), but this was done long after the passage of the charter of the Atlantic and Pacific, and cannot be taken in account in ascertaining the meaning of that charter.

The Joint Resolution of June 28, 1870, is, however, material when we consider the question whether the land grant of the Southern Pacific is affected by the present location of the Atlantic and Pacific. The former was located by said Joint Resolution, which was long before the location of the latter, and, therefore, by a well settled rule in your department, will be entitled to the lands where they overlap, and cannot be injuriously affected in its right to the lands given to aid in its construction.

I think the eighteenth section does not take away the right of the Atlantic and Pacific to go to San Francisco and to receive such public lands along its route as may be found thereon of the character described in the third section of the act.

Has this right been taken away by the former action of your department?

In the fall of 1869, the Atlantic and Pacific Company asked to file a map of definite location of the route to San Francisco. On the eleventh of November, 1869, Secretary Cox, in addressing the commissioner of the general land office, said "I cannot recognize the claim of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company to a reservation of lands upon the route in question. The act already cited" (July 27, 1866), "upon which they rely does not, as I construe it, make them a grant of lands from the point at which the road shall strike the Colorado river to San Francisco. As this is the only point before me, I forbear to express an opinion upon their right to construct a railroad in California, or upon their existing status under the eighth and other sections of the act. I return the map."

I have quoted all that was said on this subject. It must be admitted that it was a very summary disposition of the matter, and it was made before the joint resolution of 1870, and when the Southern Pacific was required to run down the Coast to San Diego, and was simply authorized and not required to connect from the road with the Mississippi river.

Suppose it should never build its road? Can it be that "the act does not make a grant of lands" to the Atlantic and Pacific "from the point at which the road shall strike the Colorado river to San Francisco?" Must the latter company stop at the Colorado, or if it should go beyond, do so without the benefit of any donation in lands? I think not. I cannot therefore approve of the conclusion arrived at by Secretary Cox. That decision was made upon an application to file a map of definite location of a route which is not identical with the present route. The objection that the former action of the department makes the subject res adjudicata is an exceedingly technical one, and it is met with a technical answer. The routes are not identical, and therefore, the question is not conclusively settled. It is not res adjudicata. It is open for such decision as a proper construction of the act justifies.

In my opinion, the action of the department in approving the map, and of the commissioner of the general land office in withdrawing the lands, was just and right and proper, and I advise that it be affirmed.

Sir:

I transmit herewith for your information copies of letters of tenth and eleventh instant, to Francis B. Hayes

Esq:, president of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, relative to the withdrawal of lands for said road in compliance with law, and the construction of certain sections of the act of incorporation.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

B. R. COWEN,

Acting Secretary.

Hon. Willis Drummond, Commissioner General Land Office.

Department of the Interior,

Washington, D. C., tenth April, 1872.

Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of the eighth instant, in which you ask for a construction of the eighth and ninth sections of the act of twenty-seventh July, 1866, incorporating the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company.

I have considered the subject referred to, and am of opinion that your company was allowed to commence the work on its road at any time within two years from the passage of the act, but was required to commence within that time; that such commencement on the twenty-seventh of July, 1868, would be a compliance with the law; that the amount of road to be constructed within the two years next succeeding the twenty-seventh of July, 1868, was left optional with the company, but that after the expiration of said two years which would be after twenty-seventh July, 1870, you were required to build not less than fifty miles per year.

I think you may build more than fifty miles per year, and that the excess may properly be credited on the work required for the succeeding year or years. For example: If you had built one hundred miles in the year commencing twenty-seventh July, 1870, you would not have been required to construct any road within the year commencing twenty-seventh July, 1871.

The ninth section does practically enlarge your period of performance for one year, and does not impose any consequences unless the breach has continued "for upwards of one year." A breach continuing for less than a year or for just one year, would not subject the company to the right of the United States to "do any and all acts and things which may be needful and necessary to insure a speedy completion of the said road." Nevertheless, the company will doubtless consult their own interests by carefully taking care that the breach do not continue for the period of one year.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

B. R. COWEN,
Acting Secretary.

President of the Company,

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C., eleventh April, 1872.

Sir:

In answer to the request contained in your letter of the sixth instant, I have to state that the maps filed at different dates by the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company showing the route of the main line of their road through the Indian Territory, Northern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and portions of California to San Francisco, have been examined and approved, and the lands along the line indicated by the maps, will, so far as they are public lands, be withdrawn as soon as the necessary maps therefor can be completed in the general land office. The route to San Francisco, as delineated on the map filed, appears to me to be sanctioned by the terms of the charter of the company, and there is no doubt of their right to construct the road on that line.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

B. R. COWEN,

Acting Secretary.

Francis B. Hayes, Esq.,

President of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company. (Present.)

Department of the Interior.
Washington.

March 23, 1886.

To the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Sir:

On the first day of February, 1886, on special reports received from you, a rule was entered on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company "to show cause why so much of the orders of withdrawal, dated the twenty-second day of April, 1872, and the twenty-third of November, 1871, of public land on the alleged line of the railroad of said company from San Buenaventura on the Pacific ocean, to San Francisco, should not be revoked and the land embraced therein restored."

Returnable on the third day of March, 1886, at ten o' clock A. M.

On the fourth day of February, 1886, a copy of the rule was served on Messrs. Britton & Gray, attorneys for the railroad company. In response to which the said company, by its attorney, appeared, and, on the third, on request of the attorneys for the road, final determination of the rule was adjourned till the fourth of March, 1886, when, upon consideration of the law and the evidence, it appears: That the first section of the act of July, 1866, 14 U. S. Statutes, 292, provides for the construction of the railroad and

"Beginning at or near the town of Springfield in the State of Missouri, thence to the western boundary line of said state, and thence, by the most eligible railroad route—as shall be determined by said company—to a point on the Canadian river, thence to the town of Albuquerque on the river Del Norte, and thence, by way of the Agua Frio, or other suitable pass, to the headwaters of the Colorado Chiquito, and thence, along the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude, as near as may be found most suitable for a railway route, to the Colorado river, at such point as may be be selected by said company for crossing; thence by the most practicable and eligible route, to the Pacific."

By the third section of the act, a land grant was made to aid in the construction thereof of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of the railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the territories of the United States; and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad, whenever it passes through any state.

On the sixteenth day of April, 1874, twelfth day of March, 1872, and the sixteenth day of April, 1874, several respective maps of definite location, of different sections of the road, were filed, which carried the definite location thereof to San Buenaventura, on the Pacific.

3.

On the twelfth day of March, 1872, and the sixteenth day of April, 1874, maps of definite location of sections of the road, were filed, by which its line of definite location was carried from San Buenaventura to San Francisco. These maps were approved, and in pursuance thereof, the lands in the grant were withdrawn.

On the twenty-sixth day of October, 1869, the company filed a map of definite location, directly from the Colorado river to San Francisco, which the secretary of the interior declined to approve. No portion of the road between San Francisco and San Buenaventura has been built.

By the filing of the several maps of definite location two distinct routes from the Needles, a point near the eastern line of California, to the Pacific ocean, were selected by the company, the northern route reaching the Pacific ocean at San Francisco, the southern at San Buenaventura.

By the filing of maps of definite location on the twelfth day of March, 1872, and the sixteenth day of April, 1874, the line was intended to be established, connecting San Francisco and San Buenaventura. To this portion of the line the rule to show cause applies. The questions necessary to be determined [illegible]

Is there any land granted to the road on this portion of the line? And if there is no grant is the former action of the department, in accepting the maps of definite location and withdrawing the land from sale, such final action as to now preclude revocation by the department on the principle of res judicata.

On the determination of this rule it is not necessary to decide whether the route claimed by the company in 1869 to San Francisco, or that claimed in 1874 to San Buenaventura, is the legal route of the road, as in either event the same result would follow as both points are on the Pacific ocean. The language of the grant, "To the Colorado river at such point as may be determined by the company for crossing, thence by the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific."

While this legislation leaves the company, with the approval of the secretary of the interior, to determine what is an eligible and practicable route to the Pacific, it makes the Pacific, when reached, the terminus of the road; and when the Pacific was reached by a route which was selected by the company and approved by the secretary, the terminus was reached and it was beyond the power of either or both to extend the road about three hundred and eighty miles beyond the terminus fixed by law, and increase the grant of the lands by the government to that extent. The same assumption of power that could justify the extending of the line in this case, after the ocean was reached, could have carried it to the northern line of Washington territory or the southern line of California, which certainly was not the intent of the act of 1866. Hence, as there was no power in the officers of the government to thus extend the grant, after the legal terminus of the road had been reached at the Pacific ocean, the acceptance of the maps of definite location between the points described in the rule, was without power and void.

In answer to the principle of res judicata asserted in response to the rule, (with full recognition of the doctrine when applicable) it does not apply in this case.

The principle only exists when the tribunal which renders the decision has jurisdiction of or power over the subject decided. As the only power to approve maps of definite location in this case is conferred by the act of 1886, and that power only extended to the Pacific ocean, when that terminus was reached the power was exhausted, and the approval of all beyond was in excess of the authority of the departmental officers and could have no greater obligatory legal force than should have been accorded to like action by any other person who was not an officer of the department.

To the claim that the line included in the rule has been mortgaged and money raised on its credit, it is a sufficient reply that the mortgagees could have a lien upon no greater title than the mortgagor, and if, through negligence or a mistake they took a mortgage on that to which the mortgagor had no legal claim, and which reasonable diligence in the examination of the title would have shown them, the misfortune is their own and should not be borne by the nation.

Then, as the legal terminus of the road—whether at San Francisco or San Buenaventura—terminated the grant, there is no occasion longer to reserve the land included in the orders of withdrawal referred to in the rule.

The rule to show cause is made absolute, and, after the publication of the usual restoration notice—which you are hereby directed to give—the land withdrawn between San Buenaventura and San Francisco, will be restored to the public domain. All papers forwarded by you, and those subsequently filed, are herewith transmitted.

(Signed) L. Q. C. LAMAR,
Secretary.

And thereupon your orator complains and alleges: that on December 2, 1865, a corporation was organized under the laws of the State of California by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and under a general law thereof approved May 20, 1861, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof, and other matters relating thereto, with the corporate name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company." Said act is printed in the Statutes of California, 1861, at page 607, and sections 2, 3, 17 (divisions first, second and seventh) 18, 40 and 43, are as follows, towit:

Chapter DXXXII. "An act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof, and other matters relating thereto."

"The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

"Section 1. ——."

"Sec. 2. The said articles of association shall set forth the name of the incorporation, the number of years the same is to continue in existence, which shall not exceed fifty years, the amount of capital stock of the company, which shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, and which shall be the actual contemplated cost of constructing the road, together with the cost of the right of way, motive power, and every other appurtenance and thing for the completion and running of said road, as nearly as can be estimated by competent engineers, the names and number of the directors to manage the affairs of the company, who shall hold their office until others are elected, as shall be provided by the by-laws of the company, the place from and to which the proposed road is to be constructed, and the counties into and through which it is intended to pass, and its length as near as may be. Each subscriber to such articles of association shall personally subscribe thereto, his name, place of residence, and the number of shares of stock taken by him in such company, provided, that in case a person desirous of becoming a subscriber, but compelled to be absent from the State at the time of subscribing to such articles of association, he having paid the ten per cent required by law upon his subscription, may sign the same by written proxy or power of attorney, to that effect; and there shall be endorsed, or attached to the said articles so subscribed an affidavit, made by any three of the directors named therein, setting forth in substance that said amount of stock has been subscribed, and that ten per cent in cash thereon has actually and in good faith been paid in as aforesaid, and that the subscribers to said articles are all known by one or the other, of the said three directors to be subscribers thereto, and to be the persons so represented."

"Sec. 3. Articles of association formed in pursuance of the provisions of the foregoing sections shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and thereupon the persons who have, or may, subscribed the same, and all persons who may, from time to time, become stockholders in such company, shall be a body politic and corporate, by the name stated in such articles of association, and shall be capable in law to make all contracts, acquire real and personal property, purchase, hold, convey any and all real and personal property whatever necessary for the construction, completion, and maintenance of such railroad, and for the erection of all necessary buildings and yards, or places and appurtenances for the use of the same, and be capable of suing and being sued, and have a common, or corporate, seal, and make and alter the same at pleasure, and generally to possess all the powers and privileges for the purpose of carrying on the business of the corporation, that private individuals and natural persons now enjoy. A copy of any articles of association filed in pursuance of this act, and certified to be a copy by the secretary of state, or his deputy, shall, in all courts and places, be presumptive evidence of the incorporation of such company, and of the facts stated therein; and such a copy, so certified shall be kept in the office of the secretary of the corporation, subject to examination during office hours by any person."

"Sec. 17. Every railroad corporation shall have power:

"First. To cause such examinations and surveys for the proposed railroad to be made as may be necessary to the selection of the most advantageous route for the railroad, and for such purpose, by their officers, agents and employees, to enter upon the lands, or waters, of any person, but subject to responsibility for all damages which they shall do thereto.

"Second. To receive, hold, take, and convey, by deed, or otherwise, the same as a natural person might, or could, do, such voluntary grants, and donations of real estate, and other property of every description, as shall be made to it, to aid and encourage the construction, maintenance and accommodation of such railroad."

"Seventh: To purchase lands, timber, stone, gravel or other materials to be used in the construction and maintenance of its road, or take them in the manner provided by this act; may change the line of its road, in whole, or in part whenever a majority of the directors shall so determine, as is provided hereinafter; but no such change shall vary the general route of such road, as contemplated in the articles of association of such company."

"Sec. 18. If at any time after the location of the line of such railroad, in whole, or in part, and the filing of the map thereof, as provided by this act, it shall appear to the directors of such company that the same may be improved, such directors, may, from time to time, alter, or change, the line, in any manner they may think proper, and cause a new map to be filed in the office where the map showing the first location is filed, and may thereupon take possession of the land embraced in such new location, that may be required for the construction and maintenance of such new road on such new line, either by agreement with the owner, or owners, of such lands, or by such proceedings as are authorized under the provisions of this act, and use and enjoy the same in place of the line for which the new is substituted; but nothing into this act shall be so construed as to confer any powers on such companies to so change their road as to avoid any point named in articles of association, except as provided in section 17, subdivision 7, of this act."

"Sec. 40. It shall be lawful for two, or more, railroad companies to amalgamate and consolidate their capital stock, debts, property, assets, and franchises in such manner as may be agreed upon by the board of directors of such companies so desiring to amalgamate and consolidate their interests; but no such amalgamation, or consolidation, shall take place without the written consent of three-fourths of the value of all stockholders in interest of each company, and no such amalgamation, or consolidation, shall, in any way, relieve such companies, or the stockholders thereof, from any and all just liabilities; and in case of such amalgamation, or consolidation, due notice of the same shall be given, by advertising, for one month, in at least one newspaer in each county, if there shall be one published therein, into, or through, which such roads shall run, and also for the same length of time, in one paper published in Sacramento, and two papers published in San Francisco, and when the consolidation and amalgamation is completed, a copy of the new articles of association shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. It shall be the duty of the railroad company to make and maintain a good and sufficient fence on either, or both, sides of their property; and in case any company do not make and maintain such fence, if their engine, or cars, shall kill, maim, or destroy, any cattle or other domestic animals, when they stray upon their line of road, where it passes through, or alongside of, the property of the owner thereof, they shall pay to the owner, or owners, of such cattle, or other domestic animals, a fair market price for the same, unless the owner, or owners, of the animal, or animals, so killed, maimed or destroyed, shall be negligent, or at fault. In any case where the railroad company have heretofore, or may hereafter, pay to the owner, or owners, of the land through which, or alongside of which, their road is, or may be, located, an agreed price for making and maintaining such fence, or whenever the costs of such fence have been, or may be, included in the award of damages allowed and paid for the right of way for such railroad, such company shall be entirely relieved and exonorated from all claims, or awards, of damages arising out of the killing, or maiming, any animals as aforesaid, in favor of all persons, or their successors, or assigns, who shall thus fail to construct and maintain such fence. And the owner, or owners, of such animals shall become responsible to the railroad company for any damage, or loss, which may accrue to such company, from such animals being upon their railroad track, by reason of the non-construction of such fence by said owner, unless it can be proven that such loss, or damage, accrued by reason of the negligence of said company, its officers, agents, or employes."

"Sec. 43. Every railroad company in this State shall, within a reasonable time after their road shall be finally located, cause to be made a map and profile thereof, and the land taken and obtained for the use thereof, and the boundaries of the several counties through which said road may run, and file the same in the office of the secretary of state, and also, like maps of the parts thereof located in different counties, and file the same in the office of the clerk of the county in which said parts of said road shall be, there to remain as of record forever. The said maps and profiles shall be certified by the chief engineer, the acting president, and secretary of such company; and copies of the same so certified and filed as aforesaid, shall be kept in the office of the secretary of the company, subject to examination by all parties interested."

Said corporation was formed for the purpose and with the corporate power, as stated in its articles of incorporation, of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Los Angeles, and San Diego, to the town of San Diego, in said State; thence eastward, through said county of San Diego, to the eastern line of the State of California, there to connect with a contemplated railroad from the eastern line of the State of California to the Mississippi river.

Your orator further shows that on October 11, 1870, under and by virtue of the said general laws of the State of California, authorizing two or more railroad companies to consolidate and amalgamate their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises, said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company, a railroad corporation then organized and existing under the laws of California, and the Santa Clara and Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, also a railroad corporation then organized and existing under the laws of California, did pretend to consolidate and amalgamate their capital, stock, debts, property, assets, and franchises, making a different capital, issuing new *d*tock and creating a new and different corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

On the twenty-seventh day of July, 1866, Congress passed an act entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast by the Southern Route," which was approved on that day. The said act is printed in the fourteenth volume of the United States Statutes at Large, at page 292; and sections 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13, 17, 18 and 20 of said act are hereinafter set forth.

On the twenty-fourth day of November, 1866, the board of directors of the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, at a meeting held in the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, on that day, passed a resolution reciting the act last above entitled, and resolved to accept the same and the terms, conditions, and impositions contained in said act, and accordingly, on the thirtieth day of November, 1866, the secretary of said company transmitted to the secretary of the interior a certified copy of the said resolution of the board of directors, under the seal of the company, accepting the terms and conditions of said act of Congress of July 27, 1866, which certified copy was on the twenty-seventh day of December, 1866, duly filed with the secretary of the interior.

That on March 1, 1870, the legislature of California passed an act, entitled "An act relating to certificates of incorporation," which act was approved on said date; that said act is in the words and phrases as follows, towit:

"Section 1. Any corporation now or hereafter organized under the laws of this State, may amend its articles of association or certificate of incorporation, by a majority vote of the board of directors, or trustees, and by a vote or written assent of the stockholders representing at least two-thirds of the capital stock of such corporation; and a copy of the said articles of association or certificate of incorporation, as thus amended, duly certified to be correct by the president and secretary of the board of directors, or trustees of such corporation, shall be filed in the same office, or offices, where the original articles or certificate are required by law to be filed; and from the time of filing such copy of the amended article, or certificate, such corporation shall have the same powers, and it and the stockholders thereof shall be thereafter subject to the same liabilities as if such amendment had been embraced in the original articles or certificate; provided, that the time of the existence of such corporation shall not be thereby extended beyond the time fixed in the original articles or certificate; and provided further, that such original and amended articles or certificate shall, together, contain all the matters and things required by the law under which the original articles of association or certificate of incorporation were executed and filed; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to cure or amend any defect existing in any original certificate of incorporation heretofore filed, by reason of the failure of such certificate to set forth the matters required by law to make the same valid as a certificate of incorporation at the time of the filing thereof; also provided, that unless the vote or written assent of all the stockholders has been obtained, then a notice of the intention to make such amendment shall first be advertised for sixty days, in some newspaper published in the town or county in which the principal place of business of said company is located; and the written protest of any one of said stockholders, or his duly authorized agent or attorney, whose assent has not been obtained, filed with the secretary of the said company, shall, unless withdrawn, be effectual to prevent the adoption of such amendment; provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize any corporation to diminish its capital stock."

"Section 2. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage."

On April 4, 1870, the legislature of California passed an act as follows: "Whereas, by the provisions of a certain act of Congress of the United States of America, entitled 'An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from San Francisco to the eastern line of the State of California,' approved July 27, 1866, certain grants were made to and certain rights, privileges, powers, and authorities were vested in and conferred upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California; therefore, to enable the said company to more fully and completely comply with, and perform the requirements, provisions, and conditions of the said act of Congress, and all other acts of Congress now in force, or which may hereafter be enacted, the State of California hereby consents to said act; and the said company, its successors and assigns are hereby authorized and empowered to change the line of its railroad so as to reach the eastern boundary line of the State of California by such route as the company shall determine to be the most practicable, and to file new and amendatory articles of association, and the right, power, and privileges hereby granted to, conferred upon, and vested in them, to construct, maintain, and operate, by steam or other power the said railroad and telegraph line mentioned in said act of Congress, hereby confirming to and vesting in the said company, its successors and assigns, all the rights, privileges, and franchises, power and authority conferred upon, granted to, or vested in said company by the said acts of Congress, and any act of Congress which may be hereafter enacted."

That on April 15, 1871, in pursuance of the said general acts of the legislature of California, approved March 1, 1870, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed its amended articles of association in the same office where the originals are required by law to be filed, which articles are as follows:

"Whereas, by an act of the legislature of the State of California, entitled 'An act relating to certificates of incorporation,' approved March 1, 1870, any corporation then organized, or thereafter to be organized under the laws of the State of California, is authorized and empowered to amend its articles of association, or certificate of incorporation, by a majority vote of the board of directors or trustees, and by a vote or written assent of the stockholders representing, at least, two-thirds of the capital stock of such corporation.

"And whereas, by a certain other act of the legislature of the State of California, entitled 'An act to aid in giving effect to an act of Congress, relating to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company,' approved April the 4th, 1870, to enable the said company to more fully and completely comply with, and perform the provisions, requirements, and conditions of an act of Congress of the United States of America, entitled 'An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from San Francisco to the eastern line of the State of California,' approved July 27, 1866, and of all other acts of Congress then in force, or which might thereafter be enacted, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, were authorized and empowered to change the line of its railroad so as to reach the eastern boundary line of the State of California, by such route as said company might determine to be most practicable, and to file new and amendatory articles of association.

"And whereas, by an act of Congress of the United States of America, entitled 'An act to incorporate Texas Pacific Railroad Company and aid in the construction of its road, and for other purposes,' approved March 3, 1871."

"The said Southern Pacific Railroad Company was authorized, subject to the laws of California, to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Taheechaypah Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river, with the same grants, rights, and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions, and conditions as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company by an act of Congress entitled, 'An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast,' approved July 27, 1866."

"And whereas, said Southern Pacific Railroad Company desires to secure to itself the grants, rights, and privileges conferred upon it by said acts of the Congress of the United States, and to that end to amend and alter its articles of association, as provided in the foregoing acts of the legislaure of the State of California, so as to include in its line of railroad and telegraph the line or route designated in the aforesaid act of Congress of March 3, 1871, towit: The line from a point at or near Taheechaypah Pass, by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river."

"And whereas, on the eleventh day of April, 1871, at a meeting of the board of directors of said company, held at San Francisco, the principal place of business of said company, it was determined by a unanimous vote of said board that the articles of association of said company be amended as aforesaid."

"And whereas, at the same time and place, at a meeting of the stockholders of said company, at which stockholders of said company holding more than two-thirds of the capital stock of said company were present, and did vote unanimously in favor of amending the articles of association of said company as aforesaid, and did also unanimously vote to increase the capital stock of said company to the sum of seventy millions of dollars, to meet the increased cost of the construction and equipment of said railroad."

"Now, therefore, the board of directors of said Southern Pacific Railroad do ordered and direct that the articles of association of said company be amended so as to read as follows:"

"Articles of Association, Amalgamation, and Consolidation.

"Made and executed on this the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1870, by and between the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company, of the first part, the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, of the second part, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, of the third part, and the California Southern Railroad Company, of the fourth part, witnesseth:

"That whereas, the said party of the first part was heretofore, towit, on the eighteenth day of August, 1860, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California, for the purpose of constructing, owning, maintaining, and operating a railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the county of San Francisco, in said State, through said county and the counties of San Mateo and Santa Clara, to the city of San Jose, in said last-named county, a distance of forty-eight miles."

"And whereas, the said party of the second part was heretofore, towit, on the second day of January, 1868, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State, for the purpose of constructing, owning, maintaining, and operating a railroad from a point at or near the city of San Jose, in the county of Santa Clara and State aforesaid, connecting at said point with the railroad of the said party of the first part, and to pass thence to a point at or near the town of New Gilroy, in the same county, a distance of thirty miles."

"And whereas, the said party of the third part was heretofore, towit, on the second day of December, 1865, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State, for the purpose of constructing, owning, maintaining, and operating a railroad from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in said State, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Kern, Los Angeles, and San Diego, to the town of San Diego, in said State; thence eastward through the county of San Diego, to the eastern boundary line of said State, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be, there to connect wtih a contemplated railroad from said eastern boundary line of said State to the Mississippi river, and has received large grants of land from the government of the United States to aid in the construction and equipment of said road."

"And where— the said party of the fourth part was heretofore, towit, on the twenty-second day of January, 1870, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State, for the purpose of constructing, owning, and maintaining a railroad from a point at or near the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara, in said State, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, and Monterey, to a point at or near the town of Salinas City, in said last-named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be."

"And whereas, said parties believe a consolidation and amalgamation of their capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands, and franchises will be mutually advantageous."

"And whereas, more than three-fourths in value of all the stockholders in interest of each of said parties have consented, in writing, to such amalgamation and consolidation, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth."

"Now, therefore, under and by virtue of the statute of the State of California, in such case made and provided, the said parties do hereby mutually covenant and agree, each with each and all the others, to the following articles, towit:"

"Article 1. Said parties do hereby amalgamate and consolidate themselves into a new corporation, under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which new corporation shall continue in existence for the period of fifty years from the date of these articles; and they do further consolidate and amalgamate their several capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands, franchises, rights, titles, privileges, claims and demands of every kind whatsoever, as well in possession as in expectancy, at law or in equity, and do grant, convey, and vest the same in said new corporation, as fully as the same are now severally held and enjoyed by them, or either of them, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, encumbrances, claims and charges thereon, or in anywise affecting the same."

"Articles 2. The object and purpose of said new corporation shall be to purchase, construct, own, maintain, and operate a continuous line of railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego, to some point on the Colorado river, in the southeastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Taheechaypah Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara, in said State, passing through said county, and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey, to a point at or near Salinas City, in said last-named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be; also such branches to said lines as the board of directors of said new corporation may hereafter consider advantageous to said corporation, and direct to be established."

"Article 3. The board of directors of said new corporation shall consist of seven persons, and the following named persons shall act as such directors until their successors shall have been duly elected, pursuant to the by-laws of said new corporation hereafter to be adopted, viz., Lloyd Tevis, Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker, C. P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins, Charles Mayne, and Peter Donahue."

"Article 4. The capital stock of said new corporation shall be seventy million dollars, consisting of seven hundred thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, that sum being the contemplated actual cost of said railroads including telegraph lines, rolling stock, motive power, shops, depots, etc."

"Article 5. Each stockholder of each of said party shall have the same number of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation which he now owns and holds of the capital stock of his respective company, upon the same terms and conditions, and shall be entitled to receive from said new corporation certificates therefor, where the same has been fully paid up, upon the surrender of the certificates now held by him, and where the same has not been fully paid up, he shall receive such other evidence of his ownership as the board of directors of said new corporation shall direct, upon the surrender of such evidence of his ownership of such unpaid stock of his respective company as he may now hold."

"Article 6. Said new corporation shall assume and perform all the contracts, agreements, covenants, duties, and obligations of what kind soever, of each of said parties, and shall pay and discharge all debts, claims, and demands existing against either and all of said parties; but nothing herein contained shall release the said parties or either of them or their stockholders or any of them, from any of their just liabilities."

"In testimony whereof, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, by its board of directors, has caused these articles to be signed and countersigned by its president and and secretary, and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed, on this the eleventh (11) day of April, 1871."

"SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY,
By Charles Crocker, President.
J. L. Willcutt,
Secretary."

[Seal]

And your orator alleges that all the provisions of said law were fully complied with in order to give effect to said new articles of association and of said amendments.

Your orator further alleges that on the twelfth day of August, 1873, under and by virtue solely of the law of the State of California of May 20, 1861, before referred to authorizing the amalgamation and consolidation of two or more railroad companies, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company organized in 1870 as aforesaid, the California Southern Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, each organized and then existing railroad companies under and by virtue of the laws of California, did pretend to amalgamate and consolidate their capital stock, debts, property, assets, and franchises, creating a new capital stock and issuing new certificates of stock and canceling the old ones and creating a new and different corporation by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a copy of which new articles of association and incorporation are hereto attached marked "Exhibit A. B." and all the provisions of said law were fully complied with in order to give effect to said new articles of incorporation.

Your orator further shows the Court that on July 27, 1866, Congress passed an act entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, by the Southern route." To which said act your orator has heretofore referred, and that sections 3, 4, 6, 9, 11, 12, 17, 18, and 20 of said act are as follows:

"Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, that there be, and hereby is, granted to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, its successors, and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line to the Pacific Coast, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war, and public stores over the route of said line of railway and its branches, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of lands per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State; and whenever on the line thereof, the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from pre-emption or other claims or rights at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and whenever, prior to said time, any of said sections, or parts of sections, shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or pre-empted, or otherwise disposed of, other lands shall be selected by said company in lieu thereof, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, in alternate sections, and designated by odd numbers, not more than ten miles beyond the limits of said alternate sections, and not including the reserved numbers; provided, that if said route shall be found upon the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore been granted by the United States, as far as the routes are upon the same general line, the amount of land heretofore granted shall be deducted from the amount granted by this act; provided, further, that the railroad company receiving the previous grant of land may assign their interest to said "Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company," or may consolidate, confederate, and associate with said company, upon the terms named in the first and seventeenth sections of this act; provided, further, that all mineral lands be, and the same are hereby, excluded from the operations of this act, and in lieu thereof—a like quantity of unoccupied and unappropriated agricultural lands in odd-numbered sections nearest to the line of said road, and within twenty miles thereof, may be selected as above provided; and further provided, that the word "mineral," when it occurs in this act, shall not be held to include iron or coal; and provided, further: that no money shall be withdrawn from the treasury of the United States to aid in the construction of the said "Atlantic and Pacific Railroad."

"Sec. 4. And be it further enacted: That whenever said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company shall have twenty-five consecutive miles of any portion of said railroad and telegraph line ready for the service contemplated, the President of the United States shall appoint three commissioners to examine the same, who shall be paid a reasonable compensation for their services by the company, to be determined by the secretary of the interior, and if it shall appear that twenty-five consecutive miles of said road and telegraph line have been completed in a good, substantial, and workmanlike manner, as in all other respects required by this act, the commissioners shall so report, under oath, to the President of the United States, and patents of land, as aforesaid, shall be issued to said company, confirming to said company the right and title to said lands situated opposite to and coterminous with said completed section of said road. And from time to time, whenever twenty-five additional consecutive miles shall have been constructed, completed, and in readiness as aforesaid, and verified by said commissioners to the President of the United States, then patents shall be issued to said company, conveying the additional sections of lands as aforesaid, and so on as fast as every twenty-five miles of said road is completed as aforesaid."

"Sec. 6. And be it further enacted: That the President of the United States shall cause the lands to be surveyed for forty miles in width on both sides of the entire line of said road after the general route shall be fixed, and as fast as may be required by the construction of said railroad; and the odd sections of land hereby granted shall not be liable to sale or entry, or pre-emption, before or after they are surveyed, except by said company, as provided in this act, but the provisions of the act of September, 1841, granting pre-emption rights, and the acts amendatory thereof, and of the act entitled, 'An act to secure homesteads to actual settlers on the public domain,' approved May 20, 1862, shall be and the same are hereby extended to all other lands on the line of said road when surveyed, excepting those hereby granted to said company."

"Sec. 9. And be it further enacted: That the United States make the several conditional grants herein, and that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company accept the same, upon the further condition that if the said company make any breach of the conditions hereof, and allow the same to continue for upwards of one year, then, in such case, at any time thereafter, the United States may do any and all acts and things which may be needful and necessary to insure a speedy completion of the said road."

"Sec. 11. And be it further enacted: That said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, or any part thereof, shall be a post route and military road, subject to the use of the United States for postal, military, naval, and all other government service, and also subject to such regulations as Congress may impose restricting the charges for such government transportation."

"Sec. 12. And be it further enacted: That the acceptance of the terms, conditions, and impositions of this act by the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company shall be signified in writing, under the corporate seal of said company, duly executed pursuant to the direction of its board of directors first had and obtained, which acceptance shall be made within two years after the passage of this act, and not afterwards, and shall be deposited in the office of the secretary of the interior."

"Sec. 17. Be it further enacted: That the said company is authorized to accept to its own use any grant, donation, loan, power, franchise, aid or assistance which may be granted to, or conferred on, said company by the Congress of the United States by the legislature of any State, or by any corporation, person, or persons, or by any Indian tribe or nation, through whose reservation the road herein provided for may pass, and said corporation is authorized to hold and enjoy any such grant, donation, loan, power, franchise, aid, or assistance to its own use for the purpose aforesaid; provided, that any such grant or donation, power, aid or assistance from any Indian tribe or nation shall be subject to the approval of the President of the United States."

"Sec. 18. And be it further enacted: That the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, formed under this Act, at such point near the boundary line of the State of California as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco; and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road, and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided; and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

"Sec. 20. And be it further enacted: That the better to accomplish the object of this act, namely, to promote the public interest and welfare by the construction of said railroad and telegraph line, and keeping the same in working order, and to secure to the government at all times, but particularly in time of war, the use and benefits of the same, for postal, military, and other purposes, Congress may, at any time, having due regard for the rights of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, add to, alter, amend, or repeal this act."

"Approved July 27, 1866."

Your orator further alleges that by and pursuant to said act of Congress, the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company was created and duly organized, and on November 23, 1866, within the time and in the manner provided in said act, accepted said grant, and did designate the line of its route from Springfield, Missouri, to the Pacific by maps and plats thereof which it filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office in manner following, towit:

On or about March 9, 1872, said company filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office maps designating the line of its route and showing the general features of the country and vicinity as follows:

First: From San Francisco to San Miguel Mission in California.

Second: Map of its route from San Miguel Mission via Santa Barbara and San Buena Ventura to a point in township 2 south, range 17 west, San Bernardino base and meridian in California.

Third: Map of its route from said point last mentioned to a point in twonship 7 north, range 7 east, San Bernardino base and meridian in California.

Fourth: Map of its route from said point last named to the Colorado river, and thereafter, on or about March, 1872, said company filed in said office as aforesaid its several other maps, designating its route from said point last named to Springfield in the State of Missouri, making all together a continuous line designating its entire route and showing the general features of the country from said town of Springfield, Missouri, by way of the points named in said act of Congress of July 27, 1866, to the Pacific At San Buena Ventura, and from there to San Francisco, and in the manner provided in said act, and such designation was accepted by the United States.

Your orator alleges that said several parts of its map, filed as aforesaid, made and constituted the entire route or line of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company fully designating the whole thereof.

Your orator alleges that on March 9, 1872, and on April 22, 1872, the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of the general land office respectively ordered all the odd sections of land within thirty miles on each side of said designated route of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company reserved from sale and withdrawn.

Your orator alleges that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company did construct and complete a portion of its road west of Springfield, Missouri, in the time and manner required by said act, but did not at any time construct or complete any railroad west of the Colorado river.

Your orator further shows that by the act of Congress approved July 6, 1886, entitled: "An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, and to restore the same to settlement and for other purposes," all the lands and rights to lands in California theretofore granted and conferred upon said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company were forfeited, resumed, and restored to entry for non-completion of that portion of said railroad to have been constructed in California.

Your orator alleges that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which is defendant herein, is not the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company which was organized and incorporated under said articles of amalgamation and consolidation, dated October 11, 1870, and amended April 11, 1871, as heretofore set forth, but is the now existing Southern Pacific Railroad Company created as aforesaid.

Your orator further shows the Court that, by section 23 of an act of Congress approved March 3, 1871, entitled "An act to incorporate the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road and for other purposes," it was provided as follows:

"That for the purpose of connecting the Texas & Pacific Railroad with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California) to construct a line of railroad from a point at near Tehachapa pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, with the same rights, grants, and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions, and conditions as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California by the act of July 27, 1866."

"Provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company or any other railroad company."

Said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the corporation which existed on April 3, 1871, as heretofore shown, pretended to accept said grant on April 3, 1871, and did on that day designate the line of its said road by a plat thereof, which it filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and thereupon the secretary of the interior ordered all the public lands in odd sections within 30 miles of such route, to which no right or claim had attached, to be withdrawn from market and reserved.

And your orator alleges that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which was organized and created on August 12, 1873, by the pretended articles of amalgamation and consolidation of said several railroad companies as heretofore set forth did construct and complete a railroad from Tehachapa pass by way of Los Angeles to the Colorado river in the manner and within the time prescribed in said act of Congress, in which the Southern Pacific Railroad Company therein named was authorized and empowered to do; and thereafter the commissioners appointed under said act for that purpose did unlawfully make and file their alleged acceptance of the whole of said railroad by sections. And there was not, and is not now, any railroad or part thereof constructed or completed under said act or between said points otherwise than as aforesaid.

Your orator alleges that the lands hereinafter described were acquired from Mexico by your orator in 1846 and confirmed by the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848, and were then and at all times since have been public lands of the United States, not mineral, to which the United States have at all times had full title and have not been patented, reserved, sold, granted, appropriated, and —— free from all claims and rights and occupancy, except as shown in this bill of complaint.

The said tracts being described as follows, to wit: North of base line and west of San Bernardino meridian,

Los Angeles district, township one, range eight,——— west half of section thirty-one containing three hundred and twenty-one acres and sixty-hundredths of an acre. ——— All of section twenty-nine containing six hundred and forty acres. The south half of section thirty-three, containing three hundred and twenty acres. All of section thirty-five, containing six hundred and forty acres. North of base line and west of San Bernardino principal meridian, California, township one, range nine, and north half of the southwest quarter of section twenty-seven, containing eighty acres.

Your orator further shows that the general routes of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company and of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company under said Act of March 3, 1871, as said routes were located as aforesaid, cross each other in the State of California as will more particularly appear from the annexed map marked "Exhibit B. B."

Your orator further shows: that on the south side of said route of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company within thirty miles of said route but also within twenty miles of the pretended designated route of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, there was not on July 27, 1866, nor on March 12, 1872, nor on April 3, 1871, and is not now enough public land in the odd sections to equal in amount ten (10) alternate sections per mile of the line of road of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, within such limits, for that prior to said date of July 27, 1866, the Mexican government and the United States had sold, granted, reserved, and otherwise disposed of so great a quantity of land in those limits.

Your orator further alleges that all of the said lands before described are situated on the south side of the said designated route of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company more than twenty miles but less than thirty miles therefrom, but are less than twenty miles from the said pretended designated route of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Your orator further shows that on or about March 27, 1837, Ignacio Palomares and Ricardo Vejar presented a petition to Juan B. Alvarado, governor of Upper California, under the Mexican government, for a grant for the place known by the name of San Jose.

Thereupon said matter was properly investigated and such grant was duly made by Juan B. Alvarado, then governor ad interim of California, on April 15, 1837, to said Palomares and Vejar for the place called San Jose, in conformity with the plat attached to the petition and within the boundaries therein expressed.

Thereafter, and on or about December 16, 1839, one Louis Arenas and said Ignacio Palomares and Ricardo Vejar presented their petition to the prefect of the district for a grant of the land called San Jose, ceded by the decree of April 1, 1837, and one additional league of grazing land.

Thereupon, upon investigating such matter, and on March 14, 1840, Juan B. Alvarado, then constitutional governor of the department of the Californias, granted said land so petitioned for by Arenas, Palomares and Vejar, and as fully shown by the diseno referred to in their said petition; and thereafter said grant was duly confirmed by the Departmental Assembly of Upper California, and judicial possession was given for said land to the said Luis Arenas, Ignacio Palomares, and Ricardo Vejar; a copy of said grant and map being hereto attached marked "Exhibit C. C." and a translation marked "A. C."

Your orator further shows that on or about September, 1852, Henry Dalton, Ignacio Palomares, and Ricardo Vejar each severally filed his claim for confirmation of one-third of the place called San Jose, granted to them as aforesaid, with the board of land commissioners, pursuant to the Act of Congress of March 3, 1851, entitled "An act to ascertain and settle the private land claims in the State of California," and thereafter, on or about January 31, 1854, the said board of land commissioners rendered and entered its three several decrees therein, confirming to each of said claimants the land applied for and described as aforesaid.

Thereafter, the United States duly appealed from each of said decrees of confirmation to the United States District Court for the Southern District of California, which said court did, upon the trials and hearings of said appeals, and on or about December term, 1854, of said court, render and enter its separate decrees therein in each case and affirming the three said decrees of the board of land commissioners, confirming to said Henry Dalton, Ricardo Vejar, and Ignacio Palomares, and to each, "an equal undivided one-third part of the lands of San Jose granted by Juan B. Alvarado, governor of California, to Ignacio Palomares and Ricardo Vejar, on April 15, 1837, and regranted by said governor on March 14, 1840, to said Palomares and Vejar and to Louis Arenas, as described in the grant first mentioned and the map to which the same refer*d* and which boundaries fully appear from the —— Act of Judicial Possession" described as follows: "Commencing at the foot of a black willow tree which was taken for a corner, and between the limbs of which a dry stick was placed in the form of a cross; thence westerly nine thousand seven hundred (9,700) varas to the foot of the hills called 'Las Lomas de La Puente,' taking for a landmark a large walnut tree on the slope of a small hill on the side of the road which passes from the said 'San Jose' to the Puente, making a cut (caldure) on one of the limbs with a hatchet; thence northerly ten thousand four hundred (10,400) varas to the creek (arroyo) of San Jose *a*pposite a high hill where a large oak was taken as a boundary in which was placed the head of a beef and some of its limbs chopped; thence easterly ten thousand six hundred (10,600) varas to the creek (arroyo) of San Antonio, taking for a landmark two young cottonwoods which stand near each other, on the bark of which crosses were made; thence southerly nine thousand seven hundred (9,700) varas to the place of beginning."

Your orator further shows that each of said decrees of said district court become final, by the dismissal of the appeal which had been taken therefrom.

Your orator further shows that the surveyor general of the United States for California, having the power and authority under the law in that behalf to locate, to survey, to reserve, and to segregate from the public domain all Mexican grants, and sufficient lands to satisfy such grants, did in the year 1868, so locate, survey, and segregate said San Jose grant, and did so locate, survey, and seregate sufficient land to satisfy such grant, and included in such survey and Rancho as a part thereof all the lands in suit herein as hereafter set forth.

That pursuant to such authority and under the direction of and in behalf of said surveyor general, one George H. Thompson, deputy United States surveyor, did, in August, 1868, so survey, locate, and segregate such Ranch, including therein the amount of land to satisfy such Rancho, and including therein as a part thereof all the lands in suit herein; and thereafter, in the same year, such survey was duly approved by said surveyor general, and such survey was thereafter spread upon the records and plats of the general land office, and of the office of said surveyor general.

Your orator alleges that a certain alleged survey was made of said San Jose Rancho by Henry Hancock, a United States deputy surveyor, in October and November, 1858, which was approved by the United States surveyor general for California, J. W. Mandeville, January 4, 1860, but up to September 18, 1868, said Hancock survey had not become complete or final or effective because it had not been published nor advertised nor approved by the commissioner of the general land office and was wholly inoperative as a legal survey or segregation of the land.

In the meantime and before said Hancock survey had become operative or legal the Act of Congress approved

July 23, 1866, entitled "An act to quiet titles in California," had become operative, which said act provided as follows:

Sec. 8. "That in all cases where a claim to land by virtue of a right or title derived from the Mexican or Spanish authorities has been finally confirmed and a survey and plat thereof, shall not have been requested within ten months . . . . it shall be the duty of the surveyor general of the United States for California, as soon as practicable after the expiration of ten months from the passage of this act, ... to cause the lines of the public surveys to be extended over such land, and he shall set off in full satisfaction of such grant and according to the lines of the public surveys the quantity of land confirmed in such final decree as nearly as can be done in accordance with such decree, and all lands not included in such grant as so set off, shall be subject to the general land laws of the United States."

And your orator alleges that there was no such request by such claimants for a survey ever made or filed nor did they ever deposit in the United States District Court any money to pay for such survey nor for a plat thereof.

Your orator alleges that after the said surveyor general had approved said Thompson survey of August, 1868, under said Act of July 23, 1866, and after it had become final under said act without being advertised and without the approval of the commissioner of the general land office, and in the year 1869 the said surveyor general caused said Hancock survey to be advertised as provided in the act of Congress approved July 1, 1864, but said Hancock survey was never approved by the commissioner of the general land office as required by said Act of July 1, 1864, or any other act, and never became effective.

Your orator further shows that on or about November 13, 1869, the said surveyor general transmitted to the commissioner of the general land office the said alleged Hancock survey of 1858, and said Thompson survey of 1868, together with a report in reference thereto.

Your orator alleges that on June 17, 1871, the commissioner of the general land office duly considered said report and said Thompson survey and said alleged Hancock survey and did order both to set aside and a new survey made, and up to said date of June 17, 1871, said Thompson survey was sub judice and reserved the land therein, a certified copy of said commissioner's decision of June 17, 1871, being hereto attached marked "Exhibit B. C." and made a part hereof together with ten (10) papers referred to therein, each marked "D."

Your orator alleges that the lands in suit herein were not embraced in said alleged Hancock survey of 1858, but were all embraced in the boundaries to the grant of Alvarado, governor, to the said Palomares, Vejar, and Aranas of 1840, heretofore referred to, and were claimed as a part thereof.

Your orator further shows that subsequent to June 17, 1871, the said surveyor general for California made another survey of said San Jose Rancho and upon which the United States did, on January 20, 1875, issue its patent therefor to said Henry Dalton, Ricardo Vejar and Ignacio Palomares as so finally surveyed, which patent was duly accepted by said claimants, and which said

Your orator further shows that on March 29, 1876, April 4, 1879, and December 27, 1883, respectively, the commissioner of the general land office did, inadvertently and without any authority of law, issue three certain patents for the above described lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and did procure the signature of the president of the United States thereto and of the recorder of the general land office, who signed said patents without any authority of law. Copies of said pretended patents are hereto annexed and made a part hereof, being marked "Exhibits A, B, and C."

Your orator alleges upon information and belief that the defendants herein claim an interest in the lands in suit herein, described in said pretended patents under and through said pretended patents, and not otherwise, but the nature and extent of such claims are unknown to your orator, and your orator asks that defendants each answer fully disclosing the nature and extent thereof.

Your orator alleges that defendants and neither of them have any title or interest in or to said lands, legal or equitable, for that said pretended patents under which defendants solely claim title were issued inadvertently, without authority, and were at their inception and still are each void and inoperative to pass title, and that said lands were never granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, defendant herein, but are still owned by the plaintiff.

Your orator further shows that the amount in controversy herein exceeds the sum or value of $5,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

Your orator further shows that on the sixteenth day of August, 1887, the secretary of the interior of the United States, on behalf of the plaintiff and in accordance with law, did demand from the defendant, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a relinquishment to the United States of its claim to all the lands described in said pretended patents and a return of said patents, which the said railroad company refused and still refuses to so relinquish to the plaintiff and refuses to return said patents.

Your orator refers to the several acts of Congress relating to public lands and to private land claims, to the several acts and joint resolutions of Congress relating to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company, and to the surveys, plats, and public records of the office of the surveyor general for California, and of the general land office, relating to the several grants to said railroad companies, and to said Mexican grant of said San Jose rancho.

In tender consideration whereof, and for as much as the plaintiff is remediless at and by the strict rules of the common law, and can only be relieved in a court of equity, your orator prays that the defendants be required to bring said pretended patents into court, and that they may each be canceled by the court, and be decreed to be null and void and of no effect.

Your orator further prays that its title to said lands described in said pretended patents may be quieted, and that the defendants, and each of them, be forever enjoined fro from asserting or claiming any right or title thereto adverse to the plaintiff, and such other and further relief as the court may deem equitable in the premises.

May it please your Honors to grant unto your orator a writ of subpoena issuing out of and under the seal of this Honorable Court to be directed to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky, Lewis H. Bixby, H. J. Parks, Clara E. Cumberland; Thomas S. Oldham; O. Morgan; The Pomona Land and Water Company; L. L. Bradbury; H. M. Crampton; Carlton Seaves; Stoddard Jess; Elias Fink; Charles N. Peck; S. W. Moore; George D. Ripley; C. C. Johnson; William S. Henderson; Frank Johnson; George Rhores; Cassie L. Foss and Joseph Hinkell, commanding them each on a certain day and under a certain penalty therein to be inserted to be and appear before your Honors and then and there to answer the premises and further to stand and abide such order and decree therein as shall be agreeable to equity and good conscience, and your orator will ever pray.

W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney General of the United States.

JOSEPH H. CALL,
Special Assistant United States Attorney, Southern District of California, and of Counsel for plaintiff.

California. The United States of America vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al. Second Amended Bill. Filed November 22, 1889. Wm. M. Van Dyke, Clerk. Jos. H. Call, solicitor for plaintiff.

In the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY OF KENTUCKY, LEWIS H. BIXBY, H. J. PARKS, CLARA E. CUMBERLAND, THOMAS S. OLDHAM, O. MORGAN, THE POMONA LAND AND WATER COMPANY, L. L. BRADBURY, H. M. CRAMPTON, CARLTON SEAVES, STODDARD JESS, ELIAS FINK, CHARLES N. PECK, S. W. MOORE, GEORGE D. RIPLEY, C. C. JOHNSON, WILLIAM S. HENDERSON, FRANK JOHNSON, GEORGE RHORES, CASSIE L. FOSS and JOSEPH HINKELL, Defendants.

Nos. 67, 68 & 69. Consolidated by order of the Court.

ANSWER OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY IN CONSOLIDATED CASE NO. 68.

And now comes the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants in the above-entitled cause, and for answer to the second amended bill filed herein by W. H. H. Miller, attorney general of the United States, on leave of the Court on the twenty-second day of November, A. D. 1889, against it and the other defendants above-named, and making answer to said bill and to so much thereof, as it is advised is material, and now, and at all times hereafter, saving and reserving unto itself all benefit and advantage of exception which may be had or taken to the many errors, uncertainties, and other imperfections in the said bill contained, for answer thereunto or to so much and such parts thereof, as this defendant is advised is material or necessary for it to make answer unto, answering says:

I.

It admits that on or about the second day of December, 1865, a corporation was organized under the laws of the State of California, by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and under a general law of said State, approved May 20, 1861, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof, and other matters relating thereto," and this defendant admits the sections two (2), three (3), seventeen (17), eighteen (18), forty (40), and forty-three (43) as set forth in said bill.

This defendant admits that the said corporation, "The Southern Pacific Railroad Company," was formed for the purpose and with the corporate powers stated in said bill.

II.

This defendant admits that on the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1870, under and by virtue of the general laws of the State of California, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company, the Santa Clara and Pajaro Valley Railroad Company (with the California Southern Railroad Company), corporations organized under the laws of California, were consolidated and amalgamated under the name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

III.

This defendant admits that on the twenty-seventh day of July, 1866, Congress passed an act entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," which was approved on that day, and is found in the fourteenth volume of the United States Statutes, page 292, and following, and admits that the said corporation, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, accepted the terms, conditions, and imposition of said act, and filed a duly certified copy of said acceptance in the office of the secretary of the interior, at Washington city, within the time required by law.

IV.

This defendant admits that on March 1, 1870, the legislature of the State of California passed an act "relating to certificates of incorporation," which was approved on said date, and that the said act is correctly set forth in the plaintiff's bill.

And also admits that on the fourth day of April, 1870, the legislature of the State of California, passed "An Act to aid in giving effect to an Act of Congress relating to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company," and that said act is correctly quoted and set forth in the plaintiff's said bill.

And the defendant also admits that the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, in pursuance and under authority of said enactment of the legislature of the State of California, approved March 1, 1870, filed in the office of the secretary of State of said State of California, on the fifteenth day of April, A. D., 1871, amended articles of association and incorporation, which said amended articles it admits are correctly set forth in the plaintiff's said bill, and it also admits that the provisions of the laws were fully complied with in order to give effect to said amended articles of association.

V.

This defendant admits that on or about the twelfth day of August, A. D. 1873, under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, each organized and then existing as railroad corporations under the laws of California, did amalgamate and consolidate themselves into a corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and that a true copy of the articles of association and incorporation are found in exhibits A and B attached to said amended bill, and admits also that all the provisions of law have been complied with in order to give effect to said articles of amalgamation and consolidation.

VI.

This defendant admits that the Congress of the United States passed an act which was approved on the twenty-seventh day of July, A. D. 1866, entitled "An Act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," and that sections three (3), four (4), six (6), nine (9), eleven (11), twelve (12), seventeen (17), eighteen (18), and twenty (20) are correctly quoted and set forth in the said bill.

VII.

This defendant admits that by and under said last-mentioned Act of Congress, the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company was created and organized, and did duly accept the provisions of the said law within the time and in the manner provided in said act, but it denies that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company did designate the line of its route from Springfield, in the State of Missouri, to the Pacific Coast, as required by said act.

This defendant denies that on the ninth March, 1872, or at or about any such time, the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, maps designating the line of its route, or otherwise in accordance with law, and denies that on or about the ninth March, 1872, said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company filed four maps in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, as stated in said bill. Said company filed two maps and claimed that they were filed for the purpose of locating parts or fragments of a line for its road in the State of California, but the defendant denies that said maps constitute a valid location of said road in California. Certified copies of said maps are annexed to the answer heretofore filed in this suit by this defendant, and marked Exhibit "A," Nos. 1 and 2, which, with the indorsements thereon, are now herein referred to and made part of this answer; and this defendant says that said railroad was not located or attempted to be located on or about March 9, 1872, or at any such time in California, either in whole or in part otherwise than aforesaid by said maps. This defendant denies that the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, by or through the filing of said maps, acquired the right to any lands of the United States lying opposite to the lines or route marked on said maps, and denies that said company acquired the right to select any public lands along said routes or lines as "other lands" in lieu of sections within twenty miles that had "been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or pre-empted or otherwise disposed of" by the United States.

These maps were sent to the general land office by the secretary of the interior with a letter dated March 9, 1872, of which a certified copy is annexed to said answer heretofore filed, marked "Exhibit B."

This defendant says that the lands mentioned in the amended bill herein lie opposite to the line of route marked on the said map, designated in said letter as No. 2 of a portion of the proposed road of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, that is, a piece of road within the State of California. "From a point on the western boundary line of Los Angeles county, California, to a point in township seven (7) north, range seven (7) east, of San Bernardino meridian in said State."

Neither, when filed in March, 1872, nor at any such time, did it appear that said map represented any part of a line that was or was intended to be conjoined to any other part located before that time for the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad.

VIII.

Further answering, this defendant says that the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company afterwards, viz: on the thirteenth day of August, 1872, filed in the department of the interior, two other maps which it claimed were intended to designate the line of other fragments or portions of the railroad in California. Certified copies of said maps, and of the letter of the secretary of the interior of April 16, 1874, in respect thereto, are annexed to the answer filed heretofore in this suit by this defendant, marked Exhibit "C," Nos. 1 and 2, and are now herein referred to and made part of this answer. And this defendant denies that said maps constituted a valid location of the parts or fractions of road therein described, and denies that the four maps hereinbefore mentioned of four several parts of the road constituted a valid location of the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad in California. And it denies that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad was ever in any otherwise lawfully located in the State of California. The grant of lands by the said Act of Congress of July 27, 1866, hereinbefore mentioned was made to aid in the construction of a railroad "Beginning at or near the town of Springfield, in the State of Missouri, thence to the western boundary line of said State, and thence by the most eligible railroad route as shall be determined by said company to a point on the Canadian river; thence to the town of Albuquerque, on the river Del Norte, and thence by the way of the Agua Frio or other suitable pass, to the head waters of the Colorado Chiquito, and thence along the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude, as near as may be found most suitable for a railway route, to the Colorado river, at such point as may be selected by said company for crossing; thence, by the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific." (14 Stats., 292). And the defendant says that there is nothing in or upon said maps to identify the same as the line of road mentioned in the said Act of Congress.

And this defendant says, that it was further provided by said act as follows, that is to say:

"Sec. 18. And be it further enacted, that the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, formed under this act, at such point, near the boundary line of the State of California, as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road; and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

And that the construction of a railroad from the Colorado river to San Francisco was expressly relegated and appropriated to this defendant, and the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company was never authorized to construct any such line of railroad or to acquire any lands by reason of or in respect of the construction, or proposed construction, of any such line.

IX.

And this defendant denies that on or about March, 1872, the said Atlantic and Pacific Company filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, maps designating its route from the Colorado river to Springfield, in the State of Missouri, and denies that said maps made altogether the line of railroad from Springfield, in the State of Missouri, to the Pacific Coast, which was provided for and required by said act of Congress of July 27, 1866, to be constructed and completed by the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, and denies that the several parts of its map filed, made and constituted the whole of its line as provided for in said act of Congress. The said parts of its map, when taken together, showed a line terminating at San Francisco, which was not the terminus provided for by said act of Congress.

X.

This defendant denies that on March 9, 1872, and April 22, 1872, or at any such times the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of the general land office ordered all the odd sections of land within thirty miles on each side of the designated route of the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company reserved from sale and withdrawn.

About that time the commissioner of the general land office, viz., on the twenty-second of April, 1872, ordered lands withdrawn for 30 miles on each side of the parts of lines of route attempted to be located March 9, 1872, by the two maps hereinbefore mentioned as filed March 9, 1872. The orders of the commissioners were addressed to the register and receiver of the United States land office at San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Visalia, and were substantially as shown by the certified copy of the commissioner's letter of said date to the officers at Los Angeles, hereto annexed marked "Q" and made part of this answer. The defendant denies that said orders of April 22, 1872, had any effect whatever upon the rights and grants of this defendant, and here refers to the fact that they were intended only to take effect upon public lands not reserved, sold, granted or otherwise appropriated at the time of filing said maps, towit, March 12 (9th?) 1872.

This defendant avers that the lands involved in this suit had previously, on the third of April, 1871, by the filing of the map of definite location of the defendant's railroad, been duly reserved from sale by and under the said twenty-third section of the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, and the 6th section of the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, which said sections are quoted in the bill of complaint herein, and avers also that said lands had been duly withdrawn from market and appropriated for the use of this defendant by the order of the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, issued April 21, 1871, a copy of which is hereto annexed, marked "R," and made a part of this answer.

This defendant admits that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company did construct and complete a portion of its road west of Springfield, Missouri, in the time and manner required by said act, but did not at any time construct or complete any railroad west of the Colorado river.

XI.

This defendant admits the enactment of a law of the United States, approved July 6, 1886, entitled "An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, and to restore the same to settlement, and for other purposes," and that thereby the lands and rights to lands in California theretofore granted and conferred upon said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company were forfeited, but denied that they were thereby "resumed" and "restored to entry" and because of the manifest insufficiency of the statement of the provisions of said law in the bill of the plaintiff, the entire statute is now referred to by this defendant. Stat. at Large, Vol. 24, p. 123.

XII.

Traversing the allegation in the plaintiff's bill, that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the defendant herein, is not the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company which was organized and incorporated under articles of amalgamation and consolidation, dated October 11, 1870, and amended April 11, 1871, as in said bill set forth, this defendant says that it is the same company, and that the changes and amendments made from time to time in its articles and organization have been made in accordance with the laws of the State of California.

This defendant avers that it is the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company that is mentioned in the act of Congress of the twenty-fifth of June, 1868, 15th volume of Statutes, p. 79, and in the act of the twenty-fifth of July, 1868, volume of Statutes, 15th volume, p. 187, and in the Joint Resolution of Congress of June 28, 1870, tenth volume of United States Statutes, p. 382, and in the twenty-third section of the act of March 3, 1871, sixteenth United States Statutes, p. 579, which is as follows:

"Sec. 23. That for the purpose of connecting the Texas Pacific Railroad with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California) to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river, with the same rights, grants and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions and conditions as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California by the act of July 27, 1866. Provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company."

Approved March 3, 1871.

This defendant avers that on the third of April, 1871, it designated the line of its said railroad, as described in said section 23, by a map thereof filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and thereupon the said commissioner ordered all the public lands in odd sections within thirty miles of such route to be withdrawn from market. Certified copy of the map filed by this defendant in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, is annexed to the answer heretofore filed by this defendant, marked Exhibit D, and the same is now referred to and made part of this answer.

This defendant avers that it is the same railroad company that constructed the railroad provided for in said twenty-third section of said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, and that it fully constructed and completed its road according to said act, and the constructed and completed its road according to said act, and the construction thereof, has been accepted and approved by the President of the United States, construction of the last mile of said road having been accepted by President Hayes on the twenty-third of January, 1878.

This defendant hereto annexes, and makes part of this answer, certified copies of five several reports of the secretary of the interior to the President of the United States, and of the indorsements thereon made by the President upon the same, marked Exhibit S, No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 4, and No. 5, and this defendant denies that the commissioners appointed for that purpose did "unlawfully make and file their alleged acceptance of the whole of said railroad by sections."

The commissioners, in accordance with law, made and filed their reports, and the same were accepted by the secretary of the interior and the President of the United States, and this action of the secretary and President is binding upon the United States, and its validity cannot be called in question in this action.

This defendant denies that the following lands at all times since their acquisition from Mexico, "have been public lands of the United States," and denies that the United States has full title thereto at this time, said lands being described as follows: North of the base line and west of San Bernardino meridian in township one (1),

The west one-half of section 31,.....321.60 acres
All of section 29,.....640.00 acres
The south one-half of section 33,.....320.00 acres
All of section 35,.....640.00 acres

In township one (1).
Range nine (9).
The north one-half of the southwest one-quarter, section 27,..... 80.00 acres

2001.60

This defendant admits that the line attempted to be located for the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad in California, crosses the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, located under the act of March 3, 1871, but denied that the defendant's location was upon the same general line as that of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company; it denies that any valid location of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad was or could be on the same general line as the authorized and located and constructed line of this defendant. It denies that the lands involved in this suit are situated opposite to portions of said routes which are upon the same general line and, to support such denial, refers to the certified copy of the location of the route of the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, made under the act of March 3, 1871, and filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, April 3, 1871, with the letter of the acting secretary of the interior of that date, annexed to the answer heretofore filed, marked exhibit "D," Nos. 1 and 2, and now referred to and made part of this answer.

And this defendant alleges that when its line of route was located on the third day of April, 1871, it was demonstrated and found that said route was not upon the line of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, or upon the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands had been granted by the United States; and that under and by virtue of said act of March 3, 1871, and the map of location filed on the third day of April, 1871, the lands described in said patents were reserved for and appropriated to this defendant, whose title thereto has become perfect and complete by the construction of its road as prescribed in said act.

That the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company's pretended line was not located until subsequent to the year 1871; that when sought or pretended to be located, it was and was found to be on a wholly unauthorized route, not prescribed or permitted under any act of Congress in relation to or affecting said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company.

This defendant admits that on the south side of the pretended location of the Atlantic and Pacific road, and within 30 miles thereof, but also within 20 miles of the location of the Southern Pacific Railroad, there was not on April 3, 1871, and is not now, enough public land in the odd sections to equal ten (10) alternate sections per mile on each side of the pretended location of the line of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, within such limits, and this defendant admits that the above-described tracts of land are situated more than 20 miles, and less than 30 miles from the line of pretended location of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, and less than 20 miles from the said located line of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

This defendant avers that said tracts of land have been granted by the said twenty-third section of the act of March 3, 1871, to it, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

XIII.

Further answering, this defendant admits that on or about March 14, 1840, a grant of land was made by Juan B. Alvarado, the governor of the department of the Californias, to Louis Arenas, Ignacio Palomares and Ricardo Vejar for the place or land called San Jose, with an additional league of grazing land, and that under the act of Congress of March 3, 1851 (9 Stat. 633) said lands were duly confirmed by the United States District Court for the Southern District of California, in the years 1855, 1856 and 1857, one undivided third thereof to Henry Dalton, one undivided third part to Ignacio Palomares, and one-third part to Ricardo Vejar, by separated decrees in cases No. 121, 122 and 128 on the docket of said Court; and this defendant admits that said confirmations were entered with like terms and descriptions of said lands in the decrees of confirmation, and that the boundaries of the Rancho or place called San Jose, so confirmed, as stated in the amended bill of complaint, are substantially correct.

And this defendant admits that said decrees of confirmation became final, and alleges that the decree in No. 121 became final April 4, 1857, by dismissal of the appeal that had been taken therefrom.

XIV.

This defendant, further answering, denies that the surveyor general of the United States for California did, in the year 1868, "under the law in that behalf," locate, survey and segregate said San Jose grant so as to satisfy said grant and denies that said surveyor general had legal authority in 1868 to survey and set off said lands from the lands of the United States.

This defendant denies that a certain survey made by one George H. Thompson in August, 1868, was made with due authority of law, or under legal and valid instructions issued to him for that purpose by the United States surveyor general for California. And this defendant denies that the said survey by Thompson was "duly approved" by the surveyor general, and denies that the same was spread upon the records and plats of the general land office. The said survey, made by said Thompson, included a large quantity of public lands of the United States that had never been granted by the Mexican authorities to said Arenas, Palomares and Vejar, and, among other public lands, the tracts above-described were wrongfully included in said Thompson survey.

XV.

This defendant avers that a regular survey of said San Jose Rancho was made by Henry Hancock, United States deputy surveyor, in October and November, 1858, which was approved by the United States surveyor general for California, J. W. Mandeville, January 4, 1860; the plat of said survey was advertised, in accordance with section one of the act of Congress, approved June 14, 1860, in regard to the survey and location of confirmed private land claims in California (12 Stat. 33) as appears from the certified copy of the plat of said survey and indorsements thereon, which are annexed to the answer of this defendant, heretofore filed, marked Exhibit E, which are now referred to and made part of this answer; and the said survey as approved by said Surveyor General Mandeville had been officially transmitted to the commissioner of the general land office at Washington, and in August, 1868, was pending for examination by the said commissioner of the general land office, and for patent thereon, under said act of Congress of June 14, 1860, and the defendant says that the United States surveyor general for California had not jurisdiction under those circumstances to make another survey of said Rancho San Jose in August, 1868, when the pretended survey was made by George H. Thompson.

XVI.

This defendant says that the survey approved by J. W. Mandeville, surveyor general, was under examination by the commissioner of the general land office, with a view to the issuing of a patent thereon, when the surreptitious survey by said Thompson was made, without authority of law or instructions from the said commissioner. The plaintiff has had notice of the illegal character of Thompson's work, as appears by the letters of the commissioner of the general land office, addressed to the United States surveyor for California upon this subject, dated May 6, 1868, and May 8, 1869, of which certified copies are annexed to the previous answer of this defendant in this suit, marked Exhibit F, Nos. 1 and 2, and which are now referred to and made part of this answer. And it is shown by said letter of May 8, 1869, that a fraudulent attempt was made, in or through the surveyor general's office at San Francisco, to obtain a patent on said Thompson survey for 15,000 acres or more of lands of the United States, by annexing a false certificate to the Thompson plat, certifying that it had been advertised under the act of Congress of July 1, 1864 (11 Stat. 352), when in fact it was Hancock's plat of survey that had been advertised. The said Thompson survey was not authorized by law or instructions, and was a fraud upon the United States. It was not proper evidence of the out boundaries or the true boundaries of the San Jose Rancho. It was not the regular or authentic work of the United States officers; and to support these allegations this defendant refers to the certified copies of the letters of the commissioners of the general land office above-mentioned, dated May 6, 1868, and May 8, 1869.

The said survey made by Hancock and approved by the surveyor general on the fourth of January, 1860, did not include any, or any part, of the lands involved in this suit. Said survey was the existing segregation of the San Jose Rancho, from the public lands, made in accordance with the statutes of the United States, and was presumptively valid at the time the grant of public land was made to this defendant, March 3, 1871, and at the time the said grant was definitely located, viz., April 3, 1871.

The lands involved in this suit in township, situated in (1) north, range eight (8) west, San Bernardino meridian, were surveyed as public lands in the year 1865, as appears by the certified copy of the plat of survey marked Exhibit G, annexed to the answer heretofore filed by this defendant, which is now herein referred to and made part of this answer.

XVII.

This defendant denies that said plat of survey by Henry Hancock, approved January 4, 1860, had not become complete and final when said Thompson survey was made. Referring to the act of Congress of twenty-third of July, 1866, "To quiet land titles in California," United States Statutes, volume 14, p. 218, and to section eight (8) of said law cited in this amended bill, this decision says that said law had no application and has now no application to the San Jose Rancho, or the survey thereof. The said Thompson survey was not made under, or in conformity to, said act, but, as shown on the plat thereof was made in contravention thereof. Instead of setting off to the claimants the quantity of land confirmed (the decrees of confirmation, as shown in the bill of complaint, were by boundaries and not by quantity, according to the lines of the public surveys; as directed in said section 8, his survey extended to places and objects outside of the boundaries.

The Thompson survey was not sanctioned by the law of 1866. On the contrary, it appears from the letters of the commissioner of the general land office of May 6, 1868, and May 8, 1869, and the final decision of the secretary of the interior of September 20, 1872, that said survey was rejected as not authorized by any law, and that the final survey of the Rancho San Jose was made under the act of July 1, 1864.

This defendant denies that up to June 17, 1871, the Thompson survey was sub judice, and denies that the lands involved in this suit were embraced in the boundaries of the Mexican grant to Palomares, Vejar and Arenas.

This defendant admits that the final survey of the confirmations of the said San Jose Rancho did not include any of the tracts in controversy in this cause.

This defendant avers that the grant of San Jose was a grant for a tract by boundaries, and that said boundaries were finally determined and described by and in the said separate decrees confirming the said Rancho in undivided third parts to said Dalton, Palomares and Vejar; and when said decrees became final in the years 1857 and 1858, the boundaries were settled, and that thereafter the only duty of the surveyor general was to ascertain and survey these boundaries.

The final survey was made pursuant to a decision of the secretary of the interior upon the true boundaries of the grant, dated September 20, 1872, of which a certified copy is annexed to the answer of this defendant hereinbefore filed, marked Exhibit "H," and is now referred to and made part of this answer. This final survey did not include any of the lands involved in this suit, and after the decrees of confirmation became final, which was prior to the grant of lands by the United States to this defendant, there were no lands within the San Jose Rancho, except such as have been included in the final survey thereof.

XVIII.

This defendant admits that, under date of March 29, 1876, April 4, 1879, and December 27, 1883, the patents were issued to this defendant for the lands herein above described, but denied, the said patents were issued inadvertently or without authority. On the contrary, this defendant avers that said patents were issued with due deliberation and in strict conformity with the law, and that the signatures of the President of the United States and the recorder of the general land office thereto were affixed fairly and properly and under due authority of law. This defendant here refers to the Exhibits 1, Nos. 1 and 2, annexed to its answer heretofore filed, and makes the same part of this answer.

When the grant of lands was made to this defendant March 3, 1871, and its grant was located April 3, 1871, all the lands involved in this case were public lands of the United States.

XIX.

This defendant admits that the value of the lands demanded in this suit exceeds the sum of five thousand dollars and denies that the secretary of the interior of the United States demanded on the sixteenth of August, 1887, a relinquishment from this defendant of its claim to all the lands involved in this suit. Said demand related to and included only about fourteen hundred and one and sixty one-hundredths (1,401.60) acres of the lands hereinbefore mentioned, which will more fully appear from the certified copy of the letter making the demand annexed to the answer of the defendant heretofore filed, marked Exhibit K. and here referred to and made part of this answer.

The defendant admits that it has refused to comply with said demand.

The respondent denies all and all manner of unlawful combination and confederacy wherewith it is by the said bill charged without this, that any other matter, cause or thing in the complainant's said bill of complaint contained, material or necessary for this defendant to make answer unto, and not herein and hereby well and sufficiently answered, confessed, traversed, avoided or denied, is true to the knowledge or belief of this defendant; all of which matters and things this defendant is ready and willing to aver, maintain, and prove as this honorable Court shall direct; and prays to be hence dismissed with its reasonable costs and charges in this behalf most wrongfully sustained.

IN EQUITY.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Plaintiff,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY OF KENTUCKY, THE CITY BRICK COMPANY, THOMAS GOSS, EDWARD SIMMONS AND ALBERT A. HUBBARD, Defendants.

BILL OF COMPLAINT.

To the Judges of the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Southern District of California:

The United States of America, by the attorney-general thereof, brings this, its bill, against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California; the Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of Kentucky, and owning and operating a railroad in this judicial district.

City Brick Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of California, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons and Albert A. Hubbard, each a resident and a citizen of the State of California.

And thereupon your orator complains and says that the lands hereinafter described, situate and being in Los Angeles county, California, were acquired by the United States of America from Mexico in 1846, and confirmed by treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848; and were then, and at all times since have been, public land of the United States, not mineral, to which the United States have had full title, and have not been patented, reserved, sold, granted, appropriated, and have been free from all claims and rights and occupancy, except as affected by the acts of Congress and orders of withdrawals and routes of locations, as hereinafter fully set forth; said lands being described as follows, towit:

All of section 35, township 4 north, range 15 west and all of sections 1, 11 and 13, township 3 north, range 15 west, S. B. M.

Your orator further shows that, by act of Congress approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the states of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," Congress incorporated the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and granted to said company, in the State of California, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, to the amount of ten alternate sections of public land per mile on each side and along the line of route to be located by said company; and, by the same act of Congress, there was, upon the same terms, limitations and conditions, a similar grant made to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to aid in the construction of a line of road to San Francisco, a copy of the material parts of said act of Congress being hereto annexed and made a part hereof, marked Exhibit "A."

Your orator further shows that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company duly accepted said grant of July 27, 1866, on November 23, 1866, within the time and manner provided in said act, and did designate the line of its route by a plat thereof, which it filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office on or about March 12, 1872, and all the odd sections of public lands on each side of said road, for thirty miles, were then withdrawn from market and reserved from sale, by executive orders.

Your orator further shows the Court that, by section 23 of an act of Congress, approved March 3, 1871, entitled "An act to incorporate the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road, and for other purposes," it was provided as follows:

"That, for the purpose of connecting the Texas & Pacific Railroad with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California) to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, with the same rights, grants and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions and conditions as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California by the act of July 27, 1866.

Said Southern Pacific Railroad Company accepted said grant, and on April 3, 1871, did designate the line of its said road by a plat thereof, which it on that day filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and did construct and complete said road in the manner and within the time prescribed, except that it did not connect with the Texas & Pacific Railroad; and, on April 3, 1871, the odd sections of public land for thirty miles in width on each side of said route, to which the United States had full title, not reserved, sold, granted, appropriated, and free from all claims and rights, were, by the department of the interior, ordered withdrawn from sale and entry, and reserved.

Your orator further shows that, by the act of Congress approved July 6, 1886, entitled "An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the states of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, and to restore the same to settlement and for other purposes," all the lands and rights to lands in California theretofore granted and conferred upon said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company were forfeited, resumed and restored to entry for non-completion of that portion of said railroad to have been constructed in California.

Your orator further shows that the tracts of lands heretofore described lie and are situate in the county of Los Angeles and State of California, in odd numbered sections, within ten miles of the route of the road of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as shown by its designated route of location filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office pursuant to said grant and act of Congress of March 3, 1871, and said lands are also within twenty miles of the line of road as designated and filed by the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, under and pursuant to said grant of July 27, 1866, and are located in odd numbered sections within the so-called primary limits of the latter named railroad company, as designated and withdrawn by the interior department as aforesaid.

Your orator further shows that the United States, having the power and authority in that behalf, has elected, and does now elect, to hold, select, reserve and set apart all the said tracts of lands before described herein as a part of said twenty sections per mile granted to said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company by said act of Congress of July 27, 1866, and which were deducted and excluded from said grant to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company on account of said grant to said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

Your orator further shows that the route of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as designated by the plat thereof filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, as aforesaid, and as located and constructed, is, and it was necessary that it should be, upon the same general line as that of the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, as designated by the plat thereof filed by said company, as aforesaid; and all the lands in suit herein are situated opposite to that portion of said routes which are upon the same general line.

Your orator alleges, upon information and belief, that the defendants herein claim an interest in said lands in suit herein, described as aforesaid, under and through said grant of March 3, 1871, to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and not otherwise; but the nature and extent of such claims are unknown to your orator, and your orator asks that defendants each answer fully, disclosing the nature and extent thereof.

Your orator alleges that defendants and neither of them have any title or interest in or to said lands, legal or equitable, for that said lands to which defendants claim title, were excepted, reserved from and excluded from said grant of March 3, 1871, to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and are still owned by the plaintiff.

Your orator further alleges that the defendants, City Brick Company, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons and Albert A. Hubbard, unlawfully claiming to own said lands, and denying the plaintiff's right and title thereto, have, at many and diverse times to your orator unknown, during the past five years, unlawfully and without authority, entered upon, cut and removed from said land large quantities of wood and timber of great value, and which amount is unknown to your orator, but which it alleges, on information and belief, exceeds the value of $10,000.00.

Your orator further alleges that there are now on said land about 1,100 cords of wood which said defendants have so unlawfully cut therefrom, and are now wantonly and unlawfully cutting and destroying the natural timber on said lands without any license or authority, and to plaintiff's great and irreparable injury; and said defendants are now removing from said lands the wood cut thereon, and are threatening to remove all said wood, and cut and destroy the remaining trees on said land, and unless enjoined will do so to the great and irreparable injury of the plaintiff.

Your orator further shows the Court that the matter in dispute in this suit exceeds the sum and value of $5,000.00, exclusive of interest and costs.

In tender consideration whereof, and for as much as the plaintiff is remediless at and by the strict rules of the common law, and can only be relieved in a court of equity, your orator prays that its title to said lands may be quieted, and that the defendants and each of them be forever enjoined from asserting or claiming any right or title thereto adverse to the plaintiff, and your orator prays that the defendants each and their agents be forever enjoined from cutting any tree or wood upon said land, and from in any way injuring the trees growing thereon, and from removing or causing to be removed from said land any wood or timber now cut thereon, or hereafter cut thereon.

Your orator further prays for an accounting from the defendants, and each of them, and for the value of all said wood and timber cut, and all the money and profit realized therefrom, and for such other and further relief as the Court may deem equitable in the premises.

May it please your honors to grant unto your orator a writ of injunction issuing out of and under the seal of this honorable court, directed to defendants, The Southern Pacific Railroad Company, The Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky, City Brick Company, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons and Albert A. Hubbard, enjoining them and each of them from asserting any right, claim or title to said lands, and from denying plaintiff's title thereto, and enjoining them each from cutting any tree or wood now on said land, and from removing any wood or timber now cut on said land.

May it please your honors to grant unto your orator a writ of subpoena issuing out of and under the seal of this honorable court, to be directed to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, The Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky, City Brick Company, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons and Albert A. Hubbard, commending them each, on a certain day and under a certain penalty therein to be inserted, to be and appear before your honors, and then and there to answer the premises, and further to stand to and abide such order and decree therein as shall be agreeable to equity and good conscience; and your orator will ever pray.

Your orator expressly waives answer under oath by the defendants, and each of them.

W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General.
JOSEPH H. CALL,
Special Assistant United States Attorney.
W. COLE,
United States Attorney, Southern District of California.

"Exhibit A."

"An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the states of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, by the southern route.

"Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, that there be, and hereby is, granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line to the Pacific Coast, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war, and public stores over the route of said line of railway and its branches, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State; and whenever on the line thereof, the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted or otherwise appropriated, and free from pre-emption or other claims or rights, at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and whenever, prior to said time, any of said sections, or parts of sections, shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or pre-empted, or otherwise disposed of, other land shall be selected by said company, in lieu thereof; under the directions of the secretary of the interior in alternate sections, and designated by odd numbers, not more than ten miles beyond the limits of said alternate sections, and not including the reserved numbers. Provided, that if said route shall be found upon the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore been granted by the United States, as far as the routes are upon the same general line, the amount of land heretofore granted shall be deducted from the amount granted by this act. Provided further, that the railroad company receiving the previous grant of land may assign their interest to said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or may consolidate, confederate and associate with said company, upon the terms named in the first and seventeenth sections of this act. Provided further, that all mineral lands be, and the same are hereby excluded from the operations of this act, and in lieu thereof a like quantity of unoccupied and unappropriated agricultural lands in odd numbered sections nearest to the line of said road, and within twenty miles thereof, may be selected as above provided. And provided further, that the word 'mineral,' when it occurs in this act, shall not be held to include iron or coal. And provided further, that no money shall be drawn from the treasury of the United States to aid in the construction of the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

"Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, that whenever said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company shall have twenty-five consecutive miles of any portion of said railroad and telegraph line ready for the service contemplated, the President of the United States shall appoint three commissioners to examine the same, who shall be paid a reasonable compensation for their services by the company, to be determined by the secretary of the interior, and if it shall appear that twenty-five consecutive miles of said road and telegraph line have been completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, as in all other respects required by this act, the commissioners shall so report, under oath, to the President of the United States, and patents of land, as aforesaid, shall be issued to said company, confirming to said company the right and title to said lands situated opposite to and coterminous with said completed section of said road. And from time to time, whenever twenty-five additional consecutive miles shall have been constructed, completed and in readiness as aforesaid, and verified by said commissioners to the President of the United States, then patents shall be issued to said company, conveying the additional sections of lands as aforesaid, and so on as fast as every twenty-five miles of said road is completed as aforesaid."

"Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That the President of the United States shall cause the lands to be surveyed for forty miles in width on both sides of the entire line of said road after the general route shall be fixed, and as fast as may be required by the construction of said railroad; and the odd sections of land hereby granted shall not be liable to sale or entry, or pre-emption before or after they are surveyed, except by said company, as provided in this act, but the provisions of the act of September, 1841, granting pre-emption rights, and the acts amendatory thereof, and of the act entitled 'An act to secure homesteads to actual settlers on the public domain,' approved May 20, 1862, shall be and the same are hereby extended to all other lands on the line of said road when surveyed, excepting those hereby granted to said company."

"Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, that the United States make the several conditional grants herein, and that the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company accept the same, upon the further condition that if the said company make any breach of the conditions hereof, and allow the same to continue for upwards of one year, then, in such case, at any time thereafter, the United States may do any and all acts and things which may be needful and necessary to insure a speedy completion of the said road."

"Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, or any part thereof, shall be a post route and military road, subject to the use of the United States for postal, military, naval and all other government service, and also subject to such regulations as Congress may impose restricting the charges for such government transportation."

"Sec. 12. And be it further enacted, that the acceptance of the terms, conditions and impositions of this act, by the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company shall be signified in writing, under the corporate seal of said company, duly executed pursuant to the direction of its board of directors first had and obtained, which acceptance shall be made within two years after the passage of this act, and not afterward, and shall be deposited in the office of the secretary of the interior."

"Sec. 17. Be it further enacted, that the said company is authorized to accept to its own use any grant, donation, loan, power, franchise, aid or assistance which may be granted to, or conferred on, said company by the Congress of the United States, by the legislature of any State, or by any corporation, person, or persons, or by any Indian tribe or nation, through whose reservation the road herein provided for may pass, and said corporation is authorized to hold and enjoy any such grant, donation, loan, power, franchise, aid or assistance, to its own use for the purpose aforesaid; provided, that any such grant or donation, power, aid or assistance, from any Indian tribe or nation, shall be subject to the approval of the President of the United States."

"Sec. 18. And be it further enacted, that the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, formed under this act, at such point—near the boundary line of the State of California—as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco; and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road; and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided; and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

public interest and welfare by the construction of said railroad and telegraph line, and keeping the same in working order, and to secure to the government at all times, but particularly in time of war, the use and benefits of the same for postal, military and other purposes, Congress may at any time, having due regard for the rights of said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, add to, alter, amend, or repeal this act."

"Approved July 27, 1866."

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Plaintiff, vs. THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS and GARRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, and THE CITY BRICK COMPANY, THOMAS GOSS, EDWARD SIMMONS and ALBERT A. HUBBARD, Defendants.	No. 177.

AMENDED BILL.

To the Judges of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of California:

The United States of America, by the attorney general thereof, brings this its amended bill against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a corporation, organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, D. O. Mills and Garrit L. Lansing, trustees, and the City Brick Company, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons, and Albert A. Hubbard, each citizens of the State of California, and thereupon your orator shows that the following described land situate in Los Angeles county, California, towit, all of sections 1, 11 and 13, township 3 north, range 15 west, S. B. M., and section 35, township 4 north, range 15 west, S. B. M., was acquired by the United States of America from Mexico in 1846, and confirmed by treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848, and was then public land of the United States, not mineral.

Your orator further shows that by the act of Congress, approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," Congress incorporated the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and granted to said company in aid of the construction of such railroad, a large amount of lands in the State of California and other States and Territories, and to which said act your orator refers. (See U. S. Statutes, Vol. 14, page 292.)

Section 3 of said act provides as follows:

"That there be and hereby is granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line to the Pacific Coast, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of mails, troops, munitions of war and public stores, over the route of said line of railway and its branches, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the Territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State, and whenever on the line thereof the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted or otherwise appropriated, and free from preemption or other claims, or rights, at the time the line of said road is designated, by a plat thereof filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and whenever prior to said time any of said sections or parts of sections shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or preempted, or otherwise disposed of, other lands shall be selected by said company in lieu thereof, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, in alternate sections, and designated by odd numbers, not more than ten miles beyond the limits of said alternate sections, and not including the reserved numbers; provided, that if said route shall be found upon the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have been heretofore granted by the United States, as far as the routes are upon the same general line, the amount of land heretofore granted shall be deducted from the amount granted by this act."

And section 18 provides as follows:

"Section 18. That the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, formed under this act, at such point near the boundary line of the State of California as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road, and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations as to time and manner with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

Your orator further shows that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company duly accepted said grant and proceeded to construct said road, and did locate on the ground and designate upon a plat or map the whole of said line of railroad under said act, from Springfield, Missouri, by way of the points and places named in said act, and in the time and manner provided in said act, to the Pacific ocean, and on or about ————————, 1866, did file such plat in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, and which designation and location was approved by the secretary of the interior at that time, and all the odd sections of public lands on each side of said road, for thirty miles, were thereupon withdrawn from market and reserved from sale.

Your orator further shows the Court that, by section 23 of an act of Congress approved March 3, 1871 (see U. S.

Stats. Vol. 16, p. 573), entitled "An act to incorporate the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road, and for other purposes," it was provided as follows:

"That for the purpose of connecting the Texas & Pacific Railroad with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California) to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river, with the same rights, grants and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions and conditions as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, by the act of July 27, 1866."

"Provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company."

Said Southern Pacific Railroad Company which then existed, accepted this grant, and on April 3, 1871, did designate the line of its said road by a plat thereof, which it on that day filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office.

Your orator further shows that by the act of Congress approved July 6, 1866, entitled "An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, and to restore the same to settlement and for other purposes," all the lands and rights to lands in California theretofore granted and conferred upon said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company were forfeited, resumed and restored to the public domain for noncompletion of that portion of said railroad to have been completed in California, no part of said road having been constructed in California.

Your orator alleges that on December 2, 1865, a corporation was organized under the laws of the State of California by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and under a general law thereof, approved May 20, 1861, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof, and other matters relating thereto," with the corporate name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. Said act is printed in the Statutes of California, 1861, at page 607, and to which said act your orator refers.

Your orator further shows that on October 11, 1870, under and by virtue solely of the said general laws of the State of California, authorizing two or more railroad companies to consolidate and amalgamate their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises, said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, a railroad corporation then organized and existing under the laws of California, and the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, also a railroad corporation then organized and existing under the laws of California, did, without any authority from the United States, by a contract in writing, agree to consolidate and amalgamate their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises, making a different capital, issuing new stock, and creating a new and different corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which contract was signed, published and filed, as provided by the laws of California.

Your orator further alleges that on the twelfth day of August, 1873, under and by virtue solely of the law of the State of California of May 20, 1861, before referred to, authorizing the amalgamation and consolidation of two or more railroad companies, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, pretended to be organized in 1870 as aforesaid, and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company, each organized and then existing railroad companies, under and by virtue of the laws of California, did, by a contract in writing, without authority from the United States, agree to amalgamate and consolidate their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises, creating a new capital stock and issuing new certificates of stock and canceling the old ones, and creating a new and different corporation by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, a copy of which new articles of association and incorporation are hereto attached, marked "Exhibit A B," and did duly publish and file such new articles as required by the laws of California.

And your orator alleges that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which was organized and created on August 12, 1873, by the said pretended articles of amalgamation and consolidation of said several railroad companies as heretofore set forth, did construct and complete a railroad from the Tehachapi Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Colorado river, in the manner and within the time prescribed in said act of Congress, in which the Southern Pacific Railroad Company therein named was authorized and empowered to do, and there was not, and is not now, any railroad or part thereof constructed or completed under said act or between said points otherwise than as aforesaid.

Your orator further shows that the general routes of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, under said act of March 3, 1871, as said routes were located as aforesaid, cross each other in the State of California.

Your orator further alleges that said lands in suit hereinbefore described, are situated on the general line of the said designated route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, less than twenty miles therefrom, and are less than twenty miles from said designated route of said

Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and in such overlapping limits on the general route of each of said lines of road.

Your orator further shows that said lands have never been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, preempted, or otherwise disposed of by the United States, or by the Mexican or Spanish Governments, or any other government or authority, in whole or in part, or any estate or interest therein, otherwise than as set forth herein, and are not mineral lands.

Your orator alleges that said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to which corporation said grant was made by said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, did not build or construct any portion of said railroad.

Your orator alleges upon information and belief that the defendants herein have pretended conveyances executed in due form of law from said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the corporation organized in the year 1870, as aforesaid, to which company said grant of March 3, 1871, was made, and from said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, organized on August 12, 1873, as aforesaid, purporting to sell and convey to them, the said defendants, the said land described as aforesaid.

Your orator alleges that defendants now claim to own said lands and deny the plaintiff's right and title thereto, and have been during the past five years at many and diverse times to your orator unknown, and are now, wantonly and unlawfully cutting and destroying the natural timber on said lands without any license or authority, and to the plaintiff's great and irreparable injury.

Your orator further shows that there is now on said lands a large amount of wood which the defendants have unlawfully chopped from trees on said lands, and at diverse times during the past five years the defendants have unlawfully entered upon said lands, chopped down the timber and trees thereon, then the property of your orator, carried away such timber and used and converted the same to their own use, the amount and value of which is unknown to your orator; and are now removing from said lands wood cut thereon, and are threatening to chop down other trees on said land, remove all said wood, and unless enjoined will do so, to the great and irreparable injury of the plaintiff.

Your orator further shows that the amount in controversy herein exceeds the sum or value of $5,000, exclusive of interest and costs.

Your orator alleges that by reason of the premises, the defendants herein have surrendered and released to the United States all rights and franchises and lands, if they had any such, granted by said acts of Congress aforesaid, and which the plaintiff prays may be enforced as to the land in suit herein, without prejudice to other rights of the United States.

In tender consideration whereof, and for as much as the plaintiff is remidless at and by strict rules of the common law, and can only be relieved in a court of equity, your orator prays that its title to said lands may be quieted, and that the defendants and each of them be forever enjoined from asserting or claiming any right or title thereto adverse to the plaintiff, and your orator prays that the defendants each and their agents be forever enjoined from cutting any tree or wood upon said land and from in any way injuring the trees growing thereon, and from removing, or causing to be removed, from said land any wood or timber now cut thereon or hereafter cut thereon.

Your orator further prays for an accounting from the defendants for all wood sold by them and each of them, and for all the money and profit realized therefrom, and for such other and further relief as the Court may deem equitable in the premises.

May it please your Honors to grant unto your orator a writ of injunction, issuing out of and under the seal of this honorable Court, directed to defendants, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, D. O. Mills and Garrit L. Lansing, trustees, and ————————, the City Brick Company, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons, and Albert A. Hubbard, enjoining them, and each of them, from asserting any right, claim or title to said lands, and from denying plaintiff's title thereto, and enjoining them each from cutting any tree or wood now on said land, and from removing any wood or timber now cut on said land.

May it please your Honors to grant unto your orator a writ of subpoena issuing out of and under the seal of this honorable court, to be directed to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, D. O. Mills and Garrit L. Lansing, trustees, and the City Brick Company, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons, and Albert A. Hubbard, commanding them each, on a certain day and under a certain penalty therein to be inserted, to be and appear before your Honors, and then and there answer the premises, and further to stand to and abide such order and decree therein as shall be agreeable to equity and good conscience, and your orator will ever pray.

Your orator waives answer under oath.

"Exhibit A B."

Witnesseth: That whereas, the said party of the first part heretofore, towit: on the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1870, was duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California, by the amalgamation and consolidation of the following railroad corporations theretofore existing under the laws of said State, towit: The San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and the California Southern Railroad Company, pursuant to articles of amalgamation and consolidation of that date by them agreed upon, which articles were subsequently amended, towit: on the eleventh day of April, A. D. 1871, by virtue of the laws of said State, whereby said corporation became duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining and operating a continuous line of railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego, to some point on the Colorado river, in the southwestern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be, also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara, in said State, passing through said county and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey, to a point at or near Salinas City, in said last named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be; and also such branches to said lines as the board of directors of said corporation may consider advantageous to said corporation and direct to be established.

And whereas, the said party of the second part was, heretofore, towit: on the twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1872, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California, for the purpose of purchasing, constructing, owning, maintaining, and operating a railroad from a point on the Southern Pacific Railroad (the railroad of the party of the first part) at or near Salinas City, in the county of Monterey, southeasterly to a point in Kern county, south of Tulare lake, intersecting the San Joaquin Valley division of the said Southern Pacific Railroad; also from a point on the above described line, at or near San Miguel, in San Luis Obispo county; thence in a southerly direction to a point of intersection in Los Angeles county, with the line of the said Southern Pacific Railroad running from Tehachapi Pass by way of Los Angeles to Fort Yuma, said road passing into or through the counties of Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, and said roads, in the aggregate, being, as near as may be, four hundred and twenty-eight miles in length.

And whereas, said parties believe a consolidation and amalgamation of their capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, land, and franchises will be mutually advantageous:

And whereas, more than three-fourths in value of all the stockholders in interest of each of said parties, have consented in writing to such amalgamation and consolidation upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth:

Now, therefore, under and by virtue of the statute of the State of California in such case made and provided, the said parties do hereby mutually covenant and agree, each with the other, to the following articles, towit:

Article First: Said parties do hereby amalgamate and consolidate themselves into a new corporation, under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which new corporation shall continue in existence for the period of fifty years from the date of these articles;

And they do further consolidate and amalgamate their several capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands, franchises, rights, titles, privileges, claims and demands of every kind whatsoever, as well in possession as in expectancy, at law or in equity, and do grant, convey and vest the same in the said new corporation, as fully as the same are now severally held and enjoyed by them respectively, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, incumbrances, judgments, claims and charges thereon or in anywise affecting the same or any part thereof.

Article Second: The object and purpose of said new corporation shall be to purchase, construct, own, maintain and operate the several lines of railroad hereinbefore described, towit: a line of railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego, to some point on the Colorado river, in the southeastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, passing through the counties of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and San Diego, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara, in the same State, passing through said county and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey, to a point at or near Salinas City, in said last named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point on the line thirdly above described, at or near Salinas City, county of Monterey, southeasterly through said county and into Kern county, to a point south of Tulare lake, in said last named county, intersecting at said point the line of railroad first above described, a distance of one hundred and eighty miles as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point on the last above described line, at or near San Miguel, in the county of San Luis Obispo; thence in a southerly direction through said county, the county of Santa Barbara and into the county of Los Angeles, to a point of intersection with the line of railroad secondly above described, towit: the line from Tehachapi Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river, a distance of two hundred and fifty miles, as near as may be; making in all fifteen hundred and nine miles, as near as may be, and such brnches to said lines as the board of directors of said new corporation may hereafter from time to time establish.

Article Third: The board of directors of said new corporation shall consist of seven persons and the following named persons shall act as such directors until their successors shall have been duly elected pursuant to the by-laws of said new corporation, hereafter to be adopted, viz.: C. P. Huntington, D. D. Colton, Robert Robinson, Charles Mayne, S. T. Gage, E. N. Miller, Jr., and J. L. Willcutt.

Article Fourth: The capital stock of said new corporation shall be ninety million dollars, divided into nine hundred thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, that sum being the contemplated actual cost of said railroads, including telegraph lines, rolling stock, motive power, shops, depots, et cetera.

Article Fifth: Each stockholder of each said parties shall have the same number of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation which he now owns and holds of the capital stock of his respective company, upon the same terms and conditions, and shall be entitled to receive from said new corporation certificates therefor, where the same has been fully paid up, upon the surrender of the certificates now held by him, and where the same has not been fully paid up, he shall receive such other evidence of his ownership as the board of directors of said new corporation shall direct upon the surrender of such evidence of his ownership of such unpaid stock as he may now hold.

Article Sixth: And the said several parties of the first and second parts, each for itself, hereby sells, assigns, transfers, grants, bargains, releases and conveys to the said new and consolidated company and corporation, its successors and assigns forever all its property, real, personal and mixed, of every kind and description; all its capital stock, all its interest in the shares of its capital stock subscribed, but not fully paid for; all credits, effects, judgments, decrees, contracts, agreements, claims, dues and demands of every kind and description, and all rights, privileges and franchises, corporate and otherwise, held, owned or claimed by said parties of the first and second parts, or either of them, in possesison or expectancy, either at law or in equity, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, incumbrances, claims and charges thereon, or in anywise affecting the same.

Article Seventh: The said new and consolidated company and corporation is to be liable for and shall fulfill, perform, do and pay all and each of the contracts and agreements, covenants, duties, obligations, liabilities, debts, dues and demands of the said several parties of the first and second parts, but this amalgamation and consolidation shall not in any way relieve the said parties of the first and second parts, or the stockholders thereof from any and all just liabilities.

In testimony whereof, the said party of the first has caused this instrument to be signed by its vice-president (the president being absent) and its secretary, and its corporate seal to be thereunto affixed, and the said party of the second part has caused this instrument to be signed by its president and secretary, and its corporate seal thereunto affixed, in pursuance of orders and resolutions of their several boards of directors, made on the twelfth day of August, 1873.

The defendants, further answering, deny that they, or either, or any of them now claim or ever did claim to own the said lands or any portion thereof, or ever denied the plaintiff's right or title thereto, and these defendants do, and each of them does disclaim all manner of right, title or interest whatsoever in or to the said lands described in the complaint, and every part and parcel thereof; and deny that they have been, during the past five years, or for any time, or that they are now or ever were wantonly or unlawfully cutting or destroying the natural timber on said lands, or that they or either or any of them ever did cut or destroy or in any manner molest any timber on said lands, without any license or authority or otherwise or at all.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Complainant,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, D. O. MILLS and GERRIT L. LANSING, Trustees, and the CITY BRICK COMPANY, THOMAS GOSS, EDWARD SIMMONS, and ALBERT A. HUBBARD, Respondents.

No. 177.

ANSWER OF THE RESPONDENTS TO THE FIRST AMENDED BILL.

Now come the respondents above named in the above entitled cause, and for answer to the first amended bill in equity filed herein and making answer to said bill and to so much thereof as they are advised is material and now and at all times hereafter saving and reserving unto themselves all benefit and advantages of exception which may be had or taken to the many errors, uncertainties and other imperfections in the said bill contained, for answer thereunto or to so much and such parts thereof as these respondents are advised is material or necessary for them to make answer unto, answering, say:

I.

The respondents allege that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents herein, is a corporation, organized and existing under the laws of the United States and the laws of the State of California.

II.

The respondents admit that the lands mentioned in said bill were acquired by the United States from the Republic of Mexico, about the year 1846, said lands now being described according to the United States surveys, as, all of sections 1, 11 and 13, township 3 north, range 15 west, S. B. M., and section 35, township 4 north, range 15 west, S. B. M., and that said lands were in the year 1848, public lands of the United States, not mineral.

III.

The respondents admit that by the act of Congress, approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," Congress incorporated the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and granted to said Company in aid of the construction of such railroad and upon the terms and conditions in said act expressed, but not otherwise, a large amount of lands, but respondents deny that by said act any grant of lands was made to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, which attached to the surface of the earth in the State of California or took any lands in the State of California from out the public domain.

IV.

The respondents admit that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company accepted said grant of July 27, 1866, within the time provided in said act, but the respondents deny that said company did designate the line of its route or did locate on the ground and designate upon a plat or map the whole of said line of railroad under said act; the respondents deny that the said company did locate on the ground or designate upon a plat or map the whole of said line of railroad under said act, from Springfield, Missouri, by way of the points or places named in said act or in the time and manner provided in said act, to the Pacific Ocean or to any points whatever; the respondents deny that said company ever lawfully located or designated any line of railroad in the State of California which it was authorized to locate, designate or construct; the respondents deny that the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company did on the ——— day of ———, 1866, or upon any date or dates, file such plat in the office of the commissioner of the general land office; the respondents deny that said designation or location was approved by the secretary of the interior at that time or at all; the respondents deny that all or any of the odd sections of public lands on each side of said route for thirty miles were thereupon withdrawn from market or reserved from sale in any way whatsoever.

V.

The respondents deny that the orders issued by the commissioner of the general land office on or about March 12, 1872, or April 22, 1872, for the withdrawal of lands on the line of the Atlantic & Pacific Raliroad, or any executive orders for withdrawal from market or reservation from sale of public lands for the benefit of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company or under its grant, included the lands involved in this action. Said lands had theretofore been withdrawn for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and neither said orders of March 12, 1872, or April 22, 1872, or any other executive orders for the benefit of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company took effect upon the lands herein claimed by the complainant or any part thereof, because said lands had, by previous executive orders, been withdrawn for the benefit of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents herein and were expressly excepted from withdrawal orders to be made for the benefit of the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and the respondents pray leave to refer to any executive order mentioned or referred to in the bill and the same may be produced herein for the precise purport and contents thereof. The respondents aver that the lands involved in this suit had previously, on the third of April, 1871, by the filing of the map of definite location of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents herein, been duly reserved from sale by and under the said twenty-third section of the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, and the sixth section of the act of Congress of July 27, 1866; and allege also that said lands have been duly withdrawn from market and appropriated for the use of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents herein, by the order of the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, issued April 21, 1871.

VI.

The respondents admit that by section 23 of an act of Congress, approved March 3, 1871, U. S. Statutes, volume 16, page 573, entitled, "An act to incorporate the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road and for other purposes," it was provided as follows:

"That for the purpose of connecting the Texas & Pacific Railroad, with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California) to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado river, with the same rights, grants and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions and conditions as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, by the act of July 27, 1866."

"Provided, however, That this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company." The respondents admit and allege that the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company which then existed, accepted said grant on April 3, 1871, and did designate the line of its said road by a plat thereof which it, on that day, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office.

VII.

The respondents further admit that by the act of Congress, approved July 6, 1886, entitled "An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast, and to restore the same to settlement and for other purposes" all the lands and rights to lands in California theretofore granted and conferred upon said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company were forfeited, resumed and restored to the public domain for non-completion of that portion of said railroad to have been completed in California, no part of said road having been constructed in California.

VIII.

The respondents admit that on December 2, 1865, a corporation was organized, under the laws of the State of California, by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and under a general law thereof, approved May 20, 1861, entitled, "An act to provide for the incorporation of railroad companies and the management of the affairs thereof and other matters relating thereto, with the corporate name of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company." Said act is printed in the statutes of California, 1861, at page 607; admit that said corporation was formed for the purpose and with the corporate power as stated in its articles of incorporation.

IX.

The respondents deny that on October 11, 1870, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, a railroad corporation then organized and existing under the laws of California, and the Santa Clara & Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, by virtue solely of the said general laws of the State of California, authorizing two or more railroad companies to consolidate and amalgamate in their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises, did without any authority from the United States, agree, by contract, in writing, to consolidate and amalgamate, their capital stock, debts, property, assets and franchises; deny that by so doing they made a different capital or issued new stock and created a new and different corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. The respondents allege that said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company and the Santa Clara and Pajaro Valley Railroad Company, did, on the eleventh of October, 1870, enter into articles of amalgamation and consolidation, a copy of which articles is hereto attached and made a part of this answer and marked "Respondent's Exhibit A"; the respondents allege that said amalgamation was made with ample authority, bath under the general and special laws of the State of California and under the sanction and authority and consent and ratification of the United States of America.

X.

Respondents deny that on the twelfth of August, 1873, or upon any other date, under or by virtue solely of the law of the State of California, of May 20, 1861, before referred to, authorizing amalgamation and consolidation of two or more railroad companies, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company pretended to be organized in 1870, as aforesaid, or the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company or either of them organized or then existing railroad companies under or by virtue of the laws of California, did, by a contract in writing, without authority from the United States agree to amalgamate or consolidate their capital stock or debts or property or assets or franchises, creating a new capital stock or issuing new certificates of stock or cancelling the old ones or creating a new or different corporation by the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; on the contrary, the respondents allege that on the twelfth day of August, 1873, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents and the Southern Pacific Branch Railroad Company did enter into articles of incorporation and consolidation, a copy of which is attached to the bill, and the respondents refer to said articles of consolidation and the contents thereof for a proof as to what was done on said day. The respondents allege that said contract and agreement and consolidation were with the authority, consent, ratification and approval of the United States of America and were within authority of law and were entered into by virtue of the general and special laws of the State of California in that behalf provided. The respondents admit that all of the articles of amalgamation and consolidation referred to in said bill of complaint were duly published and filed as required by the laws of the State of California.

XI.

The respondents allege that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, organized under the laws of the State of California, in 1865, is one of the respondents herein and is the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company as was mentioned in the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, above referred to, and is the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company as is mentioned in the articles of consolidation and amalgamation above referred to, dated, respectively, October 11, 1870, and August 12, 1873, and is the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company that is mentioned in the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, above referred to. The respondents allege that the United States of America by said acts of Congress, duly recognized the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the contracts of amalgamation and consolidation entered into as above recited and duly ratified the same; the respondents allege that the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company is the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company to-day now sued upon as one of the respondents in this action and is mentioned in all of the foregoing statutes and articles.

XII.

The respondents deny that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company "which was organized or created on August 12, 1873, by the said pretended articles of amalgamation and consolidation of said several railroad companies as heretofore set forth" did construct and complete a railroad from Tehachapa Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Colorado river in the manner and within the time prescribed in said act of Congress in which the Southern Pacific Railroad Company therein named was organized or empowered to do, and deny that there was not or is not now any railroad or part thereof, constructed or completed under said act or between said points otherwise than as aforesaid; the respondents allege that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents herein, which is the same Southern Pacific Railroad Company that is mentioned in the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, and the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, and the articles of association and consolidation herein set forth, did construct and complete a railroad from Tehachapa Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Colorado river in the manner and within the time prescribed in the said acts of Congress, and that the said railroad company has ever since been in running order and operating for the benefit of the United States and in accordance with all of the terms and conditions mentioned in said acts of Congress.

XIII.

The respondents deny that the general routes of the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and of the said Southern Pacific Company, under said act of March 31, 1871, as said routes were located as aforesaid, cross each other in the State of California in any way whatsoever or at all; the respondents deny that said lands in suit hereinbefore described are situated on the general line of the said designated route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company within any distance of said designated route or less than twenty miles therefrom; the respondents allege that the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company never did designate its route in the State of California and never located its line in the State of California, in any manner whatsoever, but, on the contrary, wholly failed to do so; the respondents allege that the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company filed certain fragmentary maps of proposed route within the State of California which are attached to this answer and made a part hereof and marked "Respondents' Exhibit C"; that said maps were filed on different dates and do not connect with each other and show an attempted location from the bay of San Francisco down the coast of California and thence through the State of California, as appears upon said maps to which reference is hereby made; that said maps were filed upon different dates in the interior department, towit, on March 12, 1872, and April 16, 1874, and do not constitute a map or plat of definite location in accordance with the terms of the act of Congress of July 27, 1866. Your respondents show that said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company was authorized to construct a road and to receive a grant in the State of California, from the Colorado river at or near the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude and thence by the most direct and eligible route to the Pacific Ocean; that said company never did locate its road in accordance with the terms of said act of Congress; that said maps heretofore mentioned, which were filed or attempted to be filed by said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in the office of the commissioner of the general land office were in direct violation of the terms of the act of Congress and in a direction opposite to said terms and upon the surface of the earth of a portion of California never intended by said act of Congress to be built upon or constructed for railroad purposes by said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

XIV.

The respondents admit that said lands are less than twenty miles from the designated route of said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, but deny that said lands are in any overlapping limits on the general route of the line of any other railroad company or of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. The respondents deny that there are any overlapping limits of any railroad company which affect said lands. The respondents allege that the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company never did locate or designate its line in the State of California or create, in any way, or have any limits for the line of its road in the State of California; the respondents admit that said lands have never been preempted or disposed of by the Mexican or Spanish governments or any other government or authority, but deny, that said lands have never been granted, sold, reserved or otherwise disposed of by the United States or any other government or authority, in whole or in part, or any estate or interest therein, otherwise than as set forth in the bill of complaint, but, on the contrary, allege that said lands were granted to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the respondents herein, by the act of Congress of March 3, 1871, and allege that upon the filing of the map of definite location on April 3, 1871, which was done on that day, said lands were shown to be within the granted or twenty-mile limits of said grant to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company and did become, on said day a part of the defined granted limits of said grant to said company, and the respondents further allege that the railroad opposite to said lands was duly constructed and in operation in the time required by law.

XV.

The respondents admit that said lands are not mineral lands but that the same are agricultural lands.

XVI.

The respondents deny that said Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to which corporation said grant was made by said act of Congress of March 3, 1871, did not build or construct any portion of said railroad, but, on the contrary, allege, that it did construct the same and the whole thereof and is the same corporation mentioned in said act of Congress.

XVII.

The respondents allege that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company fully constructed and completed its road, according to said acts of Congress and the construction thereof has been accepted and approved by the President of the United States; that the construction of the last mile of said road was accepted by President Hayes on the twenty-third of January, 1878; that commissioners duly appointed by the President made and filed their reports and the same were accepted by the secretary of the interior and the President of the United States, and this action of the secretary and President is binding upon the United States and its validity cannot be called in question in this cause.

XVIII.

The respondents allege that said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company's pretended line was not located or attempted to be located until long subsequent to April 3, 1871; that when sought or pretended to be located it was found to be on a wholly unauthorized route, not prescribed or permitted under any act of Congress in relation to or concerning said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

XIX.

The respondents the City Brick Company, Thomas Goss, Edward Simmons and Albert A. Hubbard allege that they purchased the land and premises involved in this cause from the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, paying a large sum of money therefor to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; that said purchase was made in due form by a contract and deed in writing; that the said respondents purchased said land after the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company had constructed its road opposite to said land and after said road had been accepted by the President of the United States as duly and properly completed; that said purchase was made in good faith and said respondents have and are relying upon the representations made by the United States and upon the conduct of the United States towards the respondent the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under said acts of Congress, and said respondents declare themselves to be innocent and bonafide purchasers of said land and premises.

XX.

The respondents deny that they at any time have or are now wantonly or unlawfully cutting or destroying the natural timber on said lands without any license or authority or to the plaintiff's great or irreparable injury or at all; the respondents deny that there is now on said lands a large amount of wood or any amount which the respondents have unlawfully chopped from off the trees on said lands; deny that at divers times or at all during the past five years or during any period of time that the respondents have unlawfully entered upon said lands or chopped down the timber or trees thereon which was the property of the complainant; deny that they have carried away such timber or used or converted the same to their own use; deny that they are now removing from said lands wood cut thereon or are threatening to chop down other trees on said land or to remove all of said wood; deny that unless enjoined they will do so to the great and irreparable injury of the complainant; on the contrary, the respondents allege that whatever they have done upon said lands and premises has been done by virtue of their ownership therein and with full power and right in the premises and lawful; the respondents admit that the subject matter in controversy in this action exceeds the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000), exclusive of interest and costs of suit.

XXI.

The respondents deny that by reason of the premises or at all they have surrendered or released to the United States any or all rights or franchises or lands granted to them by said acts of Congress aforesaid, and deny that the complainant has any right, of any nature, to the lands in suit herein that should be enforced.

XXII.

These respondents deny that the United States had or has power or authority to elect, has elected or does elect to hold, select, reserve or set apart the tracts of land in the bill described as part of any lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company by said act of Con-of July 27, 1866, and deny that said lands in the bill mentioned ever were or have been or can be, excluded or deducted from the lands granted to these respondents either on account of the grant of the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company or for any other cause. The respondents deny that the attorney-general of the United States or any other officer thereof has any right, power or authority for the United States or on its behalf to designate, select or claim said lands as lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

XXIII.

The respondents deny that the route of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, as designated by the plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, as aforesaid, and as located and constructed, is, and deny that it was necessary that it should be upon the same general line as that of the said Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, as designated by the plat thereof filed or alleged or pretended to have been filed by said company, as aforesaid; and deny that all or any of the lands in suit herein are situated opposite to any portion of said routes which are upon the same general line. The respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, shows that the law of its grant required that its road should commence at Tehachapa Pass and extend to the Texas Pacific Railroad near the Colorado river, and should go by way of Los Angeles; Tehachapa Pass is in township 11 north of range 12 west, San Bernardino meridian, and Los Angeles is in township 1 south, range 13 west, and the general course of the railroad from Te-hachapa Pass to Los Angeles is nearly in a direct line from north to south. The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, if it had been built, was to have extended from a crossing of the Colorado river near the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude to the Pacific Ocean. The point chosen for crossing the Colorado river by the Atlantic & Pacific Company is in latitude about 34 degrees 40 minutes north.

The proposed or suggested location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad opposite the land in controversy extended from a point on the west boundary of Los Angeles county in township 4 north, range 17 west, San Bernardino meridian, to a point in township 7 north, range 7 east, San Bernardino meridian, which is a line nearly east and west. The location of the Southern Pacific Railroad is made as the law requires from Tahachapa Pass to Los Angeles on a line directly north and south, and the two lines cross at right angles and are not on the same general route, and the land in controversy is not opposite a portion of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which is located upon the same general line as was proposed by the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

XXIV.

The respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, alleges that the land involved in this cause, viz: Sections 11 and 13, township 3 north, range 15 west, San Bernardino meridian, and section 35, township 4 north, range 15 west, San Bernardino meridian, lies within twenty miles of a part of the Southern Pacific Railroad, located under the grant to said company by act of March 3, 1871, that was completed and accepted by the President of the United States under said law on the second day of March, 1877, and that section 35, township 4 north, range 15 west, San Bernardino meridian, were located by this respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, per List No. 31, of the Los Angeles Land Office, as part of its grant under said Acts of Congress of March 3, 1871, and July 27, 1866, long before the institution of this suit; viz: on the twenty-eighth day of April, 1885, at the United States Land Office at Los Angeles; and that on the seventeenth day of April, 1885, the cost of surveying the plats on said list was paid into the treasury of the United States according to the provision of the Act of Congress of July 31, 1876, 19 Statutes, page 121, and on the twenty-eighth day of April, 1885, the location fees of the register and receiver were paid according to section 2238, Revised Statutes, and the said list No. 31, was transmitted by said officers to the commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington city, for a patent thereon to be issued to this respondent. On the nineteenth day of January, 1889, and prior to the institution of this suit the estimated cost of writing and recording the patent on said list was paid into the treasury of the United States, and that by reason of the grant of lands made by Congress to the respondent and the location of the route of its road, and the full completion of the said road as provided by law, and by reason of the location of the lands in contest at the local land office, and of the payments of fees and costs as above stated, the respondent, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, had become, and was the owner of the tracts located as aforesaid, and was and is entitled to a patent therefor from the United States, and that the United States had not any title or interest in said tracts at the time of the institution of this suit. The respondent has fulfilled all the conditions of its grant and all the laws and the regulations of the Department of the Interior prescribed as requirements antecedent to obtaining a patent. The register and receiver at Los Angeles were authorized by law to issue, and did, on the twenty-eighth day of April, 1885, issue, to the respondent, a patent certificate entitling the respondent to a patent of the United States for the lands described therein, and said certificate is now in full force and virtue. The respondent now produces and shows to the Court a copy of the same, certified by the commissioner of the General Land Office, and makes the same a part of this answer.

XXV.

The respondents deny that the lands described in the patent certificate issued April 28, 1885, by the register and receiver at Los Angeles, were accepted, reserved or excluded from the grant by Congress of lands to this respondent by the act above mentioned, approved March 3, 1871, and denies that they are still owned by the complainant in this suit, or that the respondents have not title or interest in or to said lands.

Respondents deny that they or either of them have unlawfully cut or destroyed or removed, or are unlawfully cutting down, destroying or removing or threatening so to do, any trees, wood or lumber, and deny having unlawfully committed or intended unlawfully to commit any injury whatsoever to said tracts.

XXVI.

The respondents deny all and all manner of unlawful combination and confederacy wherewith they are by the said bill charged, without this, that any other matter, cause or thing in the complainants' said bill of complaint contained, material or necessary for these respondents to make answer unto, and not herein and hereby well and sufficiently answered, confessed, traversed, avoided or denied is true to the knowledge or belief of these respondents; all of which matters and things these respondents are ready and willing to aver, maintain and prove as this Honorable Court shall direct, and pray to be hence dismissed with their reasonable costs and charges in this behalf most wrongfully sustained.

That whereas, the said party of the first part was heretofore, towit, on the eighteenth day of August, 1860, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of California, for the purpose of constructing, owning, maintaining and operating a railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the county of San Francisco, in said State, through said county and the counties of San Mateo and Santa Clara, to the city of San Jose, in said last named county, a distance of forty-eight miles.

And whereas, the said party of the second part, was heretofore, towit, on the second day of January, 1868, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State for the purpose of constructing, owning, maintaining and operating a railroad from a point at or near the city of San Jose, in the county of Santa Clara and State aforesaid, connecting at said point with the railroad of the said party of the first part, and to pass thence to a point at or near the town of New Gilroy, in the same county, a distance of thirty miles.

And whereas, the said party of the fourth part was heretofore, towit, on the twenty-second day of January, 1870, duly incorporated and organized under the laws of said State, for the purpose of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad from a point at or near the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara in said State, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and Monterey to a point at or near the town of Salinas City, in said last named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be.

And whereas, said parties believe a consolidation and amalgamation of their capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands and franchises will be mutually advantageous.

And whereas, more than three-fourths in value of all the stockholders in the interest of each of said parties have consented, in writing, to such amalgamation and consolidation upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

Now, therefore, under and by virtue of the statute of the State of California, in such cases made and provided, the said parties do hereby mutually covenant and agree, each with each, and all the others, to the following articles, towit:

Article 1. Said parties do hereby amalgamate and consolidate themselves into a new corporation under the name and style of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which new corporation shall continue in existence for the period of fifty years from the date of these articles; and they do further consolidate and amalgamate their several capital stocks, debts, properties, assets, roads, telegraphs, lands, franchises, rights, titles, privileges, claims and demands of every kind whatsoever as well in possession as in expectancy, at law or in equity, and do grant, convey and vest the same in said new corporation, as fully as the same are now severally held and enjoyed by them, or either of them, subject, however, to all conditions, obligations, stipulations, contracts, agreements, liens, mortgages, encumbrances, claims and charges thereon, or in any wise affecting the same.

Article 2. The object and purpose of said new corporation shall be to purchase, construct, own, maintain and operate a continuous line of railroad from the city of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the city and county of San Francisco, the counties of San Mateo, Santa Clara, Monterey, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Bernardino and San Diego, to some point on the Colorado river in the southeastern part of the State of California, a distance of seven hundred and twenty miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapah Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad, at or near the Colorado river, a distance of three hundred and twenty-four miles, as near as may be; also a line of railroad from the town of Gilroy in the county of Santa Clara, in said State, passing through said county, and the counties of Santa Cruz and Monterey to a point at or near Salinas City, in said last named county, a distance of forty-five miles, as near as may be; also such branches to said lines as the board of directors of said new corporation may hereafter consider advantageous to said corporation and direct to be established.

Article 3. The board of directors of said new corporation shall consist of seven persons; and the following named persons shall act as such directors until their successors shall have been duly elected, pursuant to the by-laws of said new corporation, hereafter to be adopted, viz: Lloyd Tevis, Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker, C. P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins, Charles Mayne, and Peter Donahue.

Article 4. The capital stock of said new corporation shall be seventy million dollars, consisting of seven hundred thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, that sum being the contemplated actual cost of said railroads, including telegraph lines, rolling stock, motive power, shops, depots, etc.

Article 5. Each stockholder of each of said party shall have the same number of shares of the capital stock of the new corporation which he now owns and holds of the capital stock of his respective company, upon the same terms and conditions, and shall be entitled to receive from said new corporation, certificates therefor, where the same has been fully paid up, upon the surrender of the certificates now held by him; and where the same has not been fully paid up, he shall receive such other evidence of his ownership as the board of directors of said new corporation shall direct, upon the surrender of such evidence of his ownership of such unpaid stock of his respective company as he may now hold.

Article 6. Said new corporation shall assume and perform all the contracts, agreements, covenants, duties and obligations of what kind soever, of each of said parties, and shall pay and discharge all debts, claims and demands existing against either and all of said parties; but nothing herein contained shall release the said parties or either of them, or their stockholders, or any of them, from any of their just liabilities.

In testimony whereof, the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company by its board of directors, has caused these articles to be signed and countersigned by its president and secretary, and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed on this the eleventh (11th) day of April, 1871.

THE UNITED STATES,

vs.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

OPINION.

These cases are similar in many respects to those of The United States vs. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al., just decided. The lands involved are within the granted limits of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and the indemnity limits of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and the contention on the part of the government is, that because they were within such indemnity limits they were not of the lands granted or intended to be granted to the Southern Pacific Company. In the first the defendants claim under the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and are charged to be committing trespasses upon the lands, and the relief sought is, as in the two prior cases, to quiet the title of the plaintiff and to restrain the trespasses. In the second a patent has been issued, and the legal title conveyed to the railroad company, and the relief sought is the cancellation of that patent, and a decree establishing the title of the government. In this case there is a further contention on the part of the government, and that is that the lands were sub judice at the time of the definite location of the Southern Pacific Company's road, inasmuch as they were within the exterior boundaries of a Mexican land grant known as the Rancho San Jose, as those boundaries were marked on the surface of the ground by one of two official surveys, the accuracy of neither of which had then been determined. Decrees were entered below in favor of the defendants, dismissing the bills; from which decrees the government has appealed to this Court. (See 39 Fed. Rep. 132; 40 Id. 611; 45 Id. 596; 46 Id. 683.)

Mr. Justice BREWER delivered the opinion of the Court.

The ordinary rule with respect to lands within indemnity limits is, that no title passes until selection. Where, as here, the deficiency within the granted limits is so great that all the indemnity lands will not make good the loss, it has been held, in a contest between two railroad companies, that no formal selection was necessary to give them to the one having the older grant, as against the other company. (St. Paul & Pacific R. R. Co. vs. Northern Pacific R. R. Co., 139 U. S. 1.) And if the Atlantic & Pacific Company had constructed its road, it would be difficult in the light of that decision to avoid the conclusion that all the lands within the indemnity limits passed to that company. But this case does not rest upon that proposition. One thing which distinguishes the grant of 1871 to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company from most, if not all other, land grants is the proviso somewhat considered in the opinion in the former cases, and which reads: "Provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company."

What is the significance of this proviso? Without it, certainly, The Southern Pacific, its grant being of later date, would be postponed to the Atlantic and Pacific; and on the filing by each company of a map of definite location, the title to the lands within the granted limits would vest in the Atlantic and Pacific Company, to the total and absolute exclusion of all claims on the part of the Southern Pacific. The proviso, therefore, was without significance, in respect to such lands. It in no manner strengthened the title of the Atlantic and Pacific, and took nothing away from the Southern Pacific. Yet it cannot be supposed that this proviso was meaningless, and that Congress intended nothing by it. Carefully inserted, in a way to distinguish this grant from ordinary later and conflicting grants, it must be held that Congress meant by it to impose limitations and restrictions different from those generally imposed in such cases, and it in substance declared that the Southern Pacific Company should not in any event take lands to which any other company had at the time a present or prospective right. As it could have no effect upon the lands within the granted limits, it must have been intended to have some effect upon those within the indemnity limits, they being the only lands upon which it could operate.

What were the prospective rights of the Atlantic & Pacific Company? Of course, it could not be known at the time of the passage of the later act exactly where the lines of the two companies would be located, and where the point of crossing would be. Neither could it then be known that there would be any deficiency in the granted lands at the point of crossing, or that, if such deficiency existed, it would require all the indemnity lands to make good the loss. It might well be assumed that very likely the Atlantic & Pacific Company would be called upon to select from the indemnity lands a portion sufficient to make good the deficiency in the granted limits. That right of selection was a prospective right, and if it was to be fully exercised, no adverse title could be created to any lands within the indemnity limits. Suppose, for instance, it should turn out that only half of the indemnity lands were necessary to make good the deficiency, and that one-half of such lands were well watered and valuable, while the remainder were arid and comparatively valueless, obviously the right of selection would be seriously impaired if it were limited to only the arid and valueless tracts. In fact, every withdrawal of lands from the aggregate of those from which selection could be made would more or less impair the value of the right of selection. The only way in which force can be given to this proviso is to hold that the indemnity lands of the Atlantic and Pacific were exempted from the grant to the Southern Pacific, for, if not exempted, the former company's prospective right of selection would be to that extent impaired. It must be borne in mind that these lands were in the granted limits of the Southern Pacific, and that they are not lands in respect to which that company would have a right of selection, and might defer the exercise of that right until such time as suited it. Being within the granted limits of the Southern Pacific, all its rights thereto vested at once, at the time of the filing of the map of definite location, and were not and could not be added to after that time; everything it could have in those lands, it had then, and at that time there was an existing prospective right on the part of the Atlantic & Pacific Company to make a selection. That prospective right would be impaired by the transfer of the title of a single tract to the Southern Pacific. Hence, it follows that the title to none of these indemnity lands passed or could pass to the Southern Pacific Company.

In this aspect of the case it becomes unnecessary to inquire whether the lands described in the second case were sub judice or not. If they were sub judice, they could not pass to either company; and if they were not, the Atlantic and Pacific's prospective right of selection prevented the passing of title to the Southern Pacific.

The decrees in both cases will be reversed, and the cases remanded with instructions to enter decrees in favor of the government for the relief sought.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, and OTHERS.

Nos. 921 and 922.

OPINION.

On July 27, 1866, Congress passed an act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast. (14 Stat. 292.) By the first section, a corporation to be known as the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company was created, and authorized to construct and operate a road from a point near the town of Springfield, in the State of Missouri, westward through Albuquerque, "and thence along the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude, as near as may be found most suitable for a railway route, to the Colorado river, at such point as may be selected by said company for crossing; thence by the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific." The third section making the land grant is, so far as touching any question in this case is concerned, as follows:

"Sec. 3: That there be, and hereby is, granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line to the Pacific Coast, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war, and public stores, over the route of said line of railway and its branches, every alternate section of public land not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State, and whenever, on the line thereof, the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from pre-emption or other claims or rights, at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office; and whenever, prior to said time, any of said sections or parts of sections shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or preempted, or otherwise disposed of, other lands shall be selected by said company in lieu thereof, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, in alternate sections, and designated by odd numbers, not more than ten miles beyond the limits of said alternate sections, and not including the reserved numbers. Provided, that if said route shall be found upon the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have been heretofore granted by the United States, so far as the routes are upon the same general line, the amount of land heretofore granted shall be deducted from the amount granted by this act"

The eighteenth section was in these words:

"Sec. 18. That the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, formed under this act, at such point, near the boundary line of the State of California as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road; and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

On March 3, 1871, Congress passed an act (16 Stat. 573) to incorporate the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road, the twenty-third section of which act reads:

"That for the purpose of connecting the Texas Pacific Railroad with the city of San Francisco, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California is hereby authorized (subject to the laws of California) to construct a line of railroad from a point at or near Tehachapa Pass, by way of Los Angeles, to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near Colorado river, with the same rights, grants, and privileges, and subject to the same limitations, restrictions, and conditions, as were granted to said Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California by the act of July 27, 1866. Provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prespective, of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company."

Under the act of July, 1866, the Atlantic & Pacific Company proceeded to construct a part of its road, but did no work west of the Colorado river, the east line of the State of California. It did, however, file maps of that which it claimed to be its line of definite location from the Colorado river to the Pacific Ocean, which, on April 11, 1872, and August 15, 1872, were accepted and approved by the secretary of the interior. On July 6, 1886, Congress passed this act of forfeiture:

"An act to forfeit the lands granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, etc.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled. That all the lands, excepting the right of way and the right, power, and authority given to said corporation to take from the public lands adjacent to the line of said road material of earth, stone, timber, and so forth, for the construction thereof, including all necessary grounds for station buildings, workshops, depots, machine shops, switches, side-tracks, turn-tables, and water stations, heretofore granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company by an act entitled 'An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast,' approved July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and subsequent acts and joint resolutions of Congress, which are adjacent to and coterminous with the uncompleted portions of the main line of said road, embraced within both the granted and indemnity limits, as contemplated to be constructed under and by the provisions of said act of July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and acts and joint resolutions subsequent thereto and relating to the construction of said road and telegraph, be and the same are hereby declared forfeited and restored to the public domain." (24 Stat. 123.)

On April 3, 1871, just a month after the passage of the act of March 3, the defendant, The Southern Pacific Company, filed a map of its route from Tehachapa Pass by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad, and proceeded to construct its road, and finished the entire construction some time during the year 1878. Its road crossed the line, as located, of the Atlantic & Pacific Company. The lands in controversy in these cases are within the granted or place limits of both the Atlantic & Pacific and The Southern Pacific Companies at the place where these lines cross. As The Atlantic & Pacific Company did not construct its line, and as its rights were subsequently forfeited by Congress, and as The Southern Pacific Company did construct its line, the latter claimed that by virtue of its grant and the construction of its road these lands became its property. It was to test this claim of title, and to restrain trespasses by the railroad company, and those claiming under it, on the lands, that these actions were brought in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of California. In that court the decisions were in favor of the defendants, and decrees entered dismissing the bills, from which decrees the government brought its appeal to this court. (See 39 Fed. Rep. 132; 40 Id. 611; 45 Id. 596; 46 Id. 683.)

Mr. Justice BREWER delivered the opinion of the court.

The question to be considered is not as to the validity of the grant to the Southern Pacific Company, but only as to its extent. It may be conceded that the company took title to lands generally along its line, from Tehachapa Pass to its junction with the Texas Pacific; and the contention of the government is here limited to those lands only which lie within the granted limits of both The Atlantic & Pacific and The Southern Pacific Companies, at the crossing of their lines, as definitely located. As it appears from the record that, at the time of the location of the former company's line, so many of the tracts within these overlapping limits had been taken up by preemption and homestead entries that the indemnity limits were not large enough to supply its deficiency, it is obvious that the land to be affected by this decision is of limited area in comparison with the large body of lands covered by the grant to The Southern Pacific.

The contention of the government is, that these lands were not included within the grant to The Southern Pacific. Such contention implies no want of good faith on its part. It is not attempting to take back or forfeit that which it has once granted. It is only seeking, a difference of opinion having arisen, an adjustment, a determination of the extent of its grant. Less than that could not be expected; more than that could not be asked of it.

The grants to both the Atlantic & Pacific and The Southern Pacific Companies were grants in praesenti. The language is, "there be, and hereby is, granted." The construction and effect of such words of grant have often been considered by this court. In the recent case of St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Company v. Northern Pacific Railroad Company, (139 U. S. 1, 5,) Mr. Justice Field, speaking for the court, said: "As seen by the terms of the third section of the act, the grant is one in praesenti; that is, it purports to pass a present title to the lands designated by alternate sections, subject to such exceptions and reservations as may arise from sale, grant, preemption, or other disposition previous to the time the definite route of the road is fixed. The language of the statute is, 'that there be, and hereby is, granted' to the company every alternate section of the lands designated, which implies that the property itself is passed, not any special or limited interest in it. The words also import a transfer of a present title, not a promise to transfer one in the future. The route not being at the time determined, the grant was in the nature of a float, and the title did not attach to any specific sections until they were capable of identification; but when once identified the title attached to them as of the date of the grant, except as to such sections as were specifically reserved. It is in this sense that the grant is termed one in praesenti; that is to say, it is of that character as to all lands within the terms of the grant, and not reserved from it at the time of the definite location of the route. This is the construction given to similar grants by this court, where the question has been often considered; indeed, it is so well settled as to be no longer open to discussion. (Schulenberg v. Harriman, 21 Wall. 44, 60; Leavenworth, Lawrence etc. Railroad Co. v. United States, 92 U. S. 733; Missouri, Kansas etc. Railroad Co. v. Kansas Pacific Railway Co., 97 U. S. 491; Railroad Co. v. Baldwin, 103 U. S. 426.) The terms of present grant are in some cases qualified by other portions of the granting act, as in the case of Rice v. Railroad Co. (1 Black, 358), but unless qualified they are to receive the interpretation mentioned."

In view of this late and clear declaration, it would be a waste of time to attempt a re-examination of the questions, or a restatement of the reasons which have established these as the settled rules of law in respect to land grants, and made it so that the old common law rule as to the necessity of identification to a conveyance has not been controlling in determining the scope and effect of a Congressional land grant. Yet reference may be had to the still later case of Bardon v. Northern Pacific R. R. Co. (145 U. S. 535), in which the doctrine that title passes by relation as of the date of the grant was held to exclude from a grant land which, at the date of the act, was held under a homestead claim, although the claim had been abandoned, and the land restored to the public domain before the filing of the map of definite location. It may also not be amiss to notice the case of Schulenberg v. Harriman (21 Wall. 44). In that case land had been granted to ... State of Wisconsin, to aid in the construction of a railroad. The language of the grant was like that in this: "There be, and is hereby, granted." A further provision was that if the road be not completed within ten years, "no further sales shall be made, and the lands unsold shall revert to the United States." The railroad was not completed within the time specified. Thereafter timber was cut and removed from these lands, and the question for consideration was as to the ownership of that timber. It was held that the timber was the property of the State; that by the grant, title to the land passed to the State upon the location of the route; and that, though the road was not completed within the time specified, and though there was the provision that the unsold lands should revert, yet the title still remained in the State, held under a condition subsequent, and held until the government should take some steps to assert a forfeiture.

Applying these well-settled rules to the cases at bar, there can be little difficulty in arriving at a conclusion. The grant to the Atlantic and Pacific was made in 1866; to the Southern Pacific in 1871. They were grants in praesenti. When maps of definite location were filed and approved, the grants severally took effect by relation as of the dates of the acts. The map of definite location of the Atlantic and Pacific Company's road along the lands in controversy was filed and approved on April 11, 1872. Then the specific tracts were designated, and to them the title of the Atlantic and Pacific attached as of July 27, 1866. If anything in the land laws of the United States can be considered as thoroughly settled by repeated decisions, it is this. It matters not when the map of definite location of the Southern Pacific was filed and approved, whether before or after April 11, 1872; for when filed the grant could take effect by relation only as of March 3, 1871, and at that time, and for nearly five years theretofore, the title to these lands had been in the Atlantic and Pacific. It matters not that the act of 1871 in terms purports to bestow the same rights, grants and privileges as were granted to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company by the act of 1866. That merely defines the extent of the grant and the character of the rights and privileges; it does not operate to make the latter grant take effect by relation as of the date of the prior grant, and thus subject the grants to the two companies to the rule controlling contemporaneous grants, as established by St. Paul etc. R. R. Co. v. Winona etc. R. R. Co. (117 U. S. 720), and Sioux City R. R. v. Chicago Ry. Co. (117 U. S. 406). Even if Congress had in terms expressed an intent to that effect in a subsequent act, it was not competent, by such legislation, to divest the rights already vested in the Atlantic and Pacific Company. So the case, in the best way of putting it for the defendant, is the case of two companies with conflicting grants, each of whose line of definite location has been approved by the Land Department. Unquestionably, the grant older in date takes the land.

Some stress seems to have been laid in the court below on the proviso to the act of 1871, which reads: "Provided, however, that this section shall in no way affect or impair the rights, present or prospective, of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, or any other railroad company." But the language of this proviso is negative and restrictive, and not affirmative and enlarging. It says substantially that nothing in the grant to the Southern Pacific shall affect or impair other grants. Surely the declaration that this grant does not affect some other grant does not make this grant any larger than it would have been without that declaration. It simply prevents it from having any effect, which, but for the declaration, it might be supposed to have on something else. If without those words it could take nothing granted to the Atlantic and Pacific, a fortiori with them it takes nothing.

But it is urged by counsel for defendant that no map of definite location of line between the Colorado River and the Pacific Ocean was ever filed by the Atlantic and Pacific or approved by the Secretary of the Interior. This contention is based upon these facts: The Atlantic and Pacific Company claimed that, under its charter, it was authorized to build a road from the Colorado River to the Pacific Ocean, and thence along the coast up to San Francisco; and it filed maps thereof in four sections. San Buenaventura was the point where the westward line first touched the Pacific Ocean. One of these maps was of that portion of the line extending from the western boundary of Los Angeles county, a point east of San Buenaventura, and through that place to San Miguel Mission, in the direction of San Francisco. In other words, San Buenaventura was not the terminus of any line of definite location from the Colorado River westward, whether shown by one or more maps, but only an intermediate point on one sectional map. When the four maps were filed, and in 1872, the Land Department, holding that the Atlantic and Pacific Company was authorized to build not only from the Colorado River directly to the Pacific Ocean, but also thence north to San Francisco, approved them as establishing the line of definite location. Subsequently, and when Mr. Justice Lamar was secretary of the interior, the matter was re-examined, and it was properly held that, under the act of 1866, the grant to the Atlantic and Pacific was exhausted when its line reached the Pacific Ocean. San Buenaventura was, therefore, held to be the western terminus, and the location of the line approved to that point. The fact that its line was located, and maps filed thereof in sections, is immaterial. (St. Paul & Pacific R. R. Co. v. Northern Pacific R. R. Co., 139 U. S. 1.) Indeed, all the transcontinental roads, it is believed, filed their maps of route in sections. So the question is whether the filing a map of definite location from the Colorado River through San Buenaventura to San Francisco, under a claim of right to construct a road the entire distance, is good as a map of definite location from the Colorado River to San Buenaventura, the latter point being the limit of the grant. We think, unquestionably, it is. Though a party claims more than he is legally entitled to, his claim ought not to be rejected for that to which he has a right. The purpose of filing a map of definite location is to enable the Land Department to designate the lands passing under the grant; and when a map of such a line is filed, full information is given, and, so far as that line may legally extend, the law perfects the title. It surely cannot be that a company must determine at its peril the extent to which its grant may go, or that a mistake in such determination works a forfeiture of all its rights to lands.

In this connection, reference may be had to the contention of the Southern Pacific Company, that it filed its map of definite location on April 3, 1871, more than a year before the filing of its map by the Atlantic and Pacific Company; that, therefore, its title then attached to these lands, the same as to any other lands along its line; and that, if such title was displaced by any subsequent filing of the Atlantic and Pacific Company's map, it was only conditionally displaced—that is, displaced on condition that the Atlantic and Pacific Company should by the final completion of its road, perfect its right thereto. But whatever title or right the Southern Pacific Company might acquire by a prior filing of its map was absolutely displaced when the Atlantic and Pacific Company's map was filed. Illy as it may accord with the common-law notions of identification of tracts as essential to a valid transfer of title, it is fully settled that we are to construe these acts of Congress as laws as well as grants; that Congress intends no scramble between companies for the grasping of titles by priority of location, but that it is to be regarded as though title passes as of the date of the act, and to the company having priority of grant, and, therefore, that in the eye of the law it is now as though there never was a period of time during which any title to these lands was in the Southern Pacific. As said in the case of Mo. etc. Ry. Co. v. Kan. Pac. Ry. Co. (97 U. S. 491, 497):

"It is always to be borne in mind, in construing a Congressional grant, that the act by which it is made is a law as well as a conveyance, and that such effect must be given to it as will carry out the intent of Congress. That intent should not be defeated by applying to the grant the rules of the common law, which are properly applicable only to transfers between private parties. To the validity of such transfers it may be admitted that there must exist a present power of identification of the land; and that where no such power exists, instruments, with words of present grant, are operative, if at all, only as contracts to convey. But the rules of the common law must yield in this, as in all other cases, to the legislative will."

So now, whatever may have been the dates of filing by the respective companies, the case stands as though the lands granted to the Atlantic and Pacific had been identified in 1866, and title had then passed, and there never was a title of any kind vested in the Southern Pacific Company.

And whatever of plausibility there might be in this suggestion of counsel, based upon the old common-law rules in respect to the effect of a lack of identification upon attempted conveyances between private parties, it fails entirely because its map of definite location was not filed by the Southern Pacific Company until long after the filing by the Atlantic and Pacific Company. It is true that the bills of complaint in these cases allege that "said Southern Pacific Railroad Company accepted said grant, and on April 3, 1871, did designate the line of its said road by a plat thereof, which it on that day filed in the office of the Commisioner of the General Land Office, and did construct and complete said road in the manner and within the time prescribed, except that it did not connect with the Texas and Pacific Railroad, and on April 3, 1871, the odd sections of public land for thirty miles in width on each side of said route, to which the United States had full title, not reserved, sold, granted, appropriated, and free from all claims and rights, were, by the Department of the Interior, ordered withdrawn from sale and entry and reserved."

This allegation apparently refers by its terms to the line of definite location, as provided for in section 3 of the act of July 27, 1866, inasmuch as it uses the words of that section, towit, "at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof." And if this were a matter vital to the case, it might be necessary to require that the bill be amended to conform to the proof, though it may be remarked that the allegation in the last part of the clause quoted, in respect to the withdrawal of lands, seems to indicate that the map of general route rather than that of general location was referred to.

The distinction between the line of definite location and the general route is well known. It was clearly pointed out in the case of Buttz v. Northern Pacific Railroad Co. (119 U. S. 55). The act under consideration in that case was that of July 2, 1864 (13 Stat. 365), making a grant to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. The third section of that act, as the third of this, made the grant, and provided for the line of definite location. Section 6 authorized the fixing of the general route, and its language in respect to that matter is the same as that of section 6 of the act before us. It reads: "That the President of the United States shall cause the lands to be surveyed for forty miles in width on both sides of the entire line of said road, after the general route shall be fixed, and as fast as may be required by the construction of said railroad; and the odd sections of land hereby granted shall not be liable to sale or entry," etc. Referring to this matter, it was said in the opinion in that case, on pages 71 and 72: "The act of Congress not only contemplates the filing by the company, in the office of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, of a map showing the definite location of the line of its road, and limits the grant to such alternate odd sections as have not, at that time, been reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and are free from pre-emption, grant, or other claims or rights; but it also contemplates a preliminary designation of the general route of the road, and the exclusion from sale, entry, or pre-emption of the adjoining odd sections within forty miles on each side, until the definite location is made. . . . . The general route may be considered as fixed when its general course and direction are determined after an actual examination of the country or from a knowledge of it, and is designated by a line on a map showing the general features of the adjacent country and the places through or by which it will pass. The officers of the Land Department are expected to exercise supervision over the matter so as to require good faith on the part of the company in designating the general route, and not to accept an arbitrary and capricious selection of the line irrespective of the character of the country through which the road is to be constructed. When the general route of the road is thus fixed in good faith, and information thereof given to the Land Department by filing the map thereof with the Commissioner of the General Land Office, or the Secretary of the Interior, the law withdraws from sale or pre-emption the odd sections to the extent of forty miles on each side. The object of the law in this particular is plain; it is to preserve the land for the company, to which, in aid of the construction of the road, it is granted. Although the act does not require the officers of the Land Department to give notice to the local land officers of the withdrawal of the odd sections from sale or pre-emption, it has been the practice of the department in such cases, to formally withdraw them."

As the act of July 27, 1866, the one before us, is in these respects exactly like that of the one before the court in that case, it must be held that here, as there, Congress provided for two separate matters; one the fixing of the general route, and the other the designation of the line of definite location; and an examination of the evidence shows that the map which was filed on April 3, 1871, was simply one of general route, and therefore did not work a designation of the tracts of land to which the Southern Pacific's grant attached. As the map was filed within one month after the grant, it might be inferred that there had not been sufficient time to fix the line of definite location, though, of course, it would be possible, as counsel suggests, that the company had surveyed the line in anticipation of the grant, and the matter of time would not be decisive. But turning to the map itself, a copy of which is in evidence, we find that this is the certificate made thereon by the Southern Pacific Company:

"To Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of the Interior, and Hon. Willis Drummond, Commissioner of the General Land Office:

"Please to take notice that this map is filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, of California, in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, in the department of the interior, for the purpose of designating by the heavy red line traced thereon the general route of the line of railroad, as near as may be, from a point at or near Tehachapa Pass, by way of Los Angeles to the Texas Pacific Railroad at or near the Colorado River, adopted by the said Southern Pacific Railroad Company in pursuance of the power and authority granted to said company by the twenty-third section of the act of Congress of the United States, entitled 'An act to incorporate the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and to aid in the construction of its road, and for other purposes,' approved March 3, 1871, and in pursuance of the provisions of the act of July 27, 1866, referred to in said twenty-third section, and for the purpose of obtaining the benefit of the provisions of said acts of Congress.

"CHAS. CROCKER,

"President, Southern Pacific Railroad Company."

Not only that, but upon the filing of the map, and on April 21, 1871, the commissioner of the general land office sent to the receiver at Los Angeles a letter making a direction of withdrawal, in which he says, referring to this matter: "The company having filed a diagram designating the general route of said road, I herewith transmit a map showing thereon the line of route, as also the 20 and 30-mile limits of the grant, to the line of withdrawal for the Southern Pacific Railroad under the act of 1866, and you are hereby directed to withhold from sale or location, pre-emption, or homestead entry all the odd-numbered sections falling within those limits."

Further, there is in evidence an exemplification of a diagram in the land office, showing the limits of the grant to the Atlantic & Pacific Company, with the intersecting limits of the grant to the Southern Pacific Company, on which diagram appears two lines, one traced in blue, and marked "branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad," and the other in red, somewhat divergent therefrom, marked "Southern Pacific Railroad, definite location." Still further on, the minutes of the proceedings of meetings of the directors of the Southern Pacific road, held on April 10, September 8, and October 1, 1874, appear resolutions similar in their character, but having reference to different parts of the line between Tehachapa Pass and the Texas Pacific Railroad.

The one passed at the meeting on April 10, 1874, is in these words:

"Resolved, That the line of railroad as it has been surveyed and laid out on map marked 'A A,' and described as follows: Commencing at a point in the northwest quarter (N.-W. ¼) of section ——— (3), township two (2) north, range (15) west, San Bernardino base and meridian, and running thence in a southeasterly direction to the city of Los Angeles, and thence in an easterly direction to a point in the northeasterly quarter (N.-E. ¼) of section twenty-seven (27), township one (1) south, range nine (9) west, San Bernardino base and meridian, being map and profile of section No. one, Southern Pacific Railroad and telegraph line authorized by the twenty-third section of the Texas Pacific Railroad act, approved March 3, 1871, be and the same is hereby, adopted as the route of said railroad between the points named.

"(Signed) J. L. WILLCUTT, Secty."

So, only at these late days was the line of definite location determined upon by the company. Of course, therefore, the map filed April 3, 1871, could not have been a map of that line, but was, as it states, only of the general route and there was then no designation of lands to which the Southern Pacific Company's title could attach.

On the other hand, the Atlantic & Pacific Company did file its maps of definite location. This appears from the certificates thereon. In the one covering the line along the lands in controversy, the chief engineer of the company certifies that E. N. Robinson was a deputy engineer, and that the latter, "as shown by his field notes, did actually survey and mark upon the ground, or cause to be surveyed and marked upon the ground, the line or route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad," etc., as delineated upon the map; and that his acts in the premises were duly approved and accepted on behalf of the company, by himself as chief engineer. And in the further official certificate of the company it is stated that the "map shows the line or route of the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad in the county . . . . being a part of the line or route of said railroad, as definitely fixed in compliance with said acts of Congress," etc. These maps were received and approved by the land department as maps of definite location. It follows that in fact the line of definite location of the Atlantic & Pacific was established, and maps thereof filed and approved before any action in that respect was taken by the Southern Pacific Company. There never was a time, therefore, at which the grant of the Southern Pacific could be said to have attached to these lands; and the plausible argument based thereon made by counsel in behalf of the Southern Pacific Company falls to the ground.

Again, it is urged that the grant to the Atlantic & Pacific having been forfeited, there is nothing now in the way of the Southern Pacific's grant attaching to these lands; that in the interpretation of rights under land grants, regard has always been had by this court to the intention of Congress; that it was the intention of Congress that these lands should pass to some company to aid in the construction of a railroad, either the Atlantic & Pacific or the Southern Pacific; that they cannot now be applied to aid in the construction of the former company's road; and that, therefore, to carry into effect the intent of Congress, they should be applied to aid in the construction of the latter company's line. We think this contention is erroneous, both as to the law and the intent of Congress. It was held in the case of Kansas Pacific Railway Company v. Dunmeyer (113 U. S. 629), that, where a homestead right had attached to a tract at the time of the definite location of the railway company's line, which homestead was afterwards abandoned, the tract was simply restored to the public domain, and did not pass to the railway company under its grant that the grant only attached to lands which were the subject of grant at the time; and that the company had no interest in the question as to what afterwards became of a tract which was not public land at the time its grant became fixed. On page 644 the court observed: "The right of the homestead having attached to the land, it was excepted out of the grant as much as if in a deed it had been excluded from the conveyance by metes and bounds." The same doctrine was affirmed in Hastings & Dakota R. R. Co. v. Whitney (132 U. S. 357), Sioux City etc. Land Company v. Griffey (143 U. S. 32), Bardon v. Northern Pacific R. R. Co. (145 U. S. 535).

Neither can it fairly be said that it was the intent of Congress that these lands should pass conditionally to the Southern Pacific Company. Good faith must be imputed to Congress. It cannot be supposed that Congress intended to give to the Southern Pacific Company that which it had already given to the Atlantic & Pacific Company. It knew that it had granted lands to the Atlantic & Pacific for a road to the Pacific Ocean, and that that company was then engaged in constructing its road, and proceeding with as much rapidity as other Pacific companies had done. Within little over a month from the date of this grant to the Southern Pacific Company, and on April 20, 1871, it gave to the Atlantic & Pacific Company authority to issue bonds secured by a mortgage on its road, equipment, lands, franchises, privileges, etc. (17 Stat. 19). Congress, therefore, was expecting that the Atlantic & Pacific Company would construct its road, and, with this expectation, had no thought of giving to the Southern Pacific Company that which it had already given to the Atlantic & Pacific Company.

Further, as indicating the intent of Congress, reference may be had to the first proviso to section 3 of the act of 1866, which, by the terms of section 18 of that act and the act of 1871, becomes one of the conditions of the grant to the Southern Pacific Company. That proviso is: "Provided, That if said route shall be found upon the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have been heretofore granted by the United States, as far as the routes are upon the same general line, the amount of land heretofore granted shall be deducted from the amount granted by this act." That proviso may not be technically and strictly applicable to this case, in that a road crossing another may perhaps not be said to be found upon the line of such other road, or to be upon the same general line, yet the import of this proviso is clear, to the effect that Congress was not only not intending to give to one company that which it had already given to another, but intended that lands previously granted should be definitely excepted from the later grant.

Not only that, but by section 9 of the original act it was provided "that if the Atlantic & Pacific make any breach of the conditions hereof, and allow the same to continue for upwards of one year, then, in such case, at any time hereafter, the United States may do any and all acts and things which may be needful and necessary to insure a speedy completion of the said road." In other words, the intent of Congress was that this road to the Pacific should be built; that if there was any delay on the part of the Atlantic & Pacific Company, it might itself take all needful and necessary measures to accomplish the building· and to that end, of course, use all the lands it proposed to grant therefor. Can it be supposed that this purpose of Congress was forgotten, or that its intent was changed when it made the grant to the Southern Pacific, or that it had anything in contemplation other than that after the completion of the Atlantic & Pacific road, and the appropriation of the lands along its line to aid in that construction, the Southern Pacific Company might, if it saw fit to build a road from Tehachapa Pass to the Texas & Pacific Railroad, obtain the remainder of the lands along that line?

Indeed, the intent of Congress in all railroad land grants, as has been understood and declared by this court again and again, is that such grant shall operate at a fixed time, and shall take only such lands as at that time are public lands, and, therefore, grantable by Congress, and is never to be taken as a floating authority to appropriate all tracts within the specified limits which at any subsequent time may become public lands. The question is asked, supposing the Atlantic & Pacific Company had never located its line west of the Colorado River, would not these lands have passed to the Southern Pacific Company under its grant? Very likely that may be so. The language of the Southern Pacific Company's grant is broad enough to include all lands along its line, and if the grant to the Atlantic & Pacific Company had never taken effect, it may be that there is nothing which would interfere with the passage of the title to the Southern Pacific Company.

But that is a matter of result from the happening of something neither intended nor expected. While it may have been within the knowledge of Congress as among the possibilities, that result was not the purpose sought to be accomplished by this legislation. If any other than the general rule as to land grants had been intended, it is to be expected that such intention would have been clearly expressed. So when intent is to be considered the question is whether Congress intended, the title having once vested in the Atlantic & Pacific, that the Southern Pacific Company should stand waiting to take the lands at some future time, however distant, when the Atlantic & Pacific Company's title should fail.

Again, there can be no question, under the authorities heretofore cited, that, if the act of forfeiture had not been passed by Congress, the Atlantic & Pacific could yet construct its road, and that, constructing it, its title to these lands would become perfect. No power but that of Congress could interfere with this right of the Atlantic & Pacific. No one but the grantor can raise the question of a breach of a condition subsequent. Congress, by the act of forfeiture of July 6, 1886, determined what should become of the lands forfeited. It enacted that they be restored to the public domain. The forfeiture was not for the benefit of the Southern Pacific; it was not to enlarge its grant as it stood prior to the act of forfeiture. It had given to the Southern Pacific all that it had agreed to in its original grant; and now finding that the Atlantic & Pacific was guilty of a breach of a condition subsequent, it elected to enforce a forfeiture for that breach, and a forfeiture for its own benefit.

Our conclusions, therefore, are, that a valid and sufficient map of definite location of its route from the Colorado River to the Pacific Ocean was filed by the Atlantic & Pacific Company, and approved by the Secretary of the Interior; that by such act the title to these lands passed, under the grant of 1866, to the Atlantic & Pacific Company, and remained held by it subject to a condition subsequent until the act of forfeiture of 1886; that by that act of forfeiture the title of the Atlantic & Pacific was retaken by the general government, and retaken for its own benefit, and not that of the Southern Pacific Company; and that the latter company has no title of any kind to these lands.

The decrees of the Circuit Court must be reversed, and the cases remanded with instructions to enter decrees for the plaintiff for the relief sought.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC R. R. Co.,

vs.

MILTON McWHARTER.

DECISION.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office:

Sir: I have considered the appeal by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company from your decision of May 1, 1891, reversing the action of the local officers in rejecting the final proof tendered by Milton McWharter upon his pre-emption filing covering the northeast one-quarter of section 17, township 17 south, range 16 east, Visalia land district, California, for conflict with the grant for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

On January 3, 1867, said company filed in your office a map showing the line of its proposed road, under the act of July 27, 1866 (14 Stats., 292), upon which a withdrawal was ordered March 22, 1867, of all the odd sections falling within both the primary and indemnity limits of the grant.

The third or granting section of the act of 1866 is as follows:

That there be, and hereby is, granted to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, its successors and assigns, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said railroad and telegraph line to the Pacific Coast, and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war, and public stores, over the route of said line of railway and its branches, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State, and whenever, on the line thereof, the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from pre-emption or other claims or rights, at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office; and whenever, prior to said time, any of said sections or parts of sections shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or pre-empted, or otherwise disposed of, other lands shall be selected by said company in lieu thereof, under the direction of the secretary of the interior, in alternate sections, and designated by odd numbers, not more than ten miles beyond the limits of said alternate sections, and not including the reserved numbers.

The 6th section provides:

That the President of the United States shall cause the lands to be surveyed for forty miles in width on both sides of the entire line of said road after the general route shall be fixed, and as fast as may be required by the construction of said railroad; and the odd sections of land hereby granted shall not be liable to sale or entry, or pre-emption, before or after they are surveyed, except by said company, as provided in this act; but the provisions of the act of September ——, eighteen hundred and forty-one, granting pre-emption rights, and the acts amendatory thereof and of the act entitled "An act to secure homesteads to actual settlers on the public domain," approved May, twenty, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, shall be, and the same are hereby extended to all other lands on the line of said road when surveyed, excepting those hereby granted to said company.

The location of 1867 was designated as a map of general route.

Some question having arisen as to whether this location satisfied the requirements of the act of July 27, 1866 (supra), the joint resolution of June 28, 1870 (16 Stat., 382), authorized said company to construct its road and receive patents along the designated route indicated by the map filed in the general land office, January 3, 1867.

Without discussing the effect of said joint resolution of 1870, upon the location of 1867, i. e., in the matter of making definite that which before was but a general route—no further action appears to have been taken by the company towards locating its road opposite this land, prior to August 15, 1887.

By departmental order of that date, the order of withdrawal on acount of this grant, so far as it related to indemnity lands, was revoked and the lands not embraced in pending or approved selections were restored to entry, after due notice by publication. No selection of this tract having been made, on January 16, 1888, one John H. Maxwell made homestead entry of the same, which entry he relinquished May 22, 1890, and same day Mc-

Wharter filed pre-emption declaratory statement for the land upon which he offered final proof, and upon the rejection of the same the present case arose.

On November 12, 1889, while this tract was covered by the entry by Maxwell, the company filed a map, showing the constructed line of its road opposite this tract.

This map was by you treated as the map of definite location, and the limits of the grant were readjusted thereto, the tract in question falling within the primary limits of the grant upon that adjustment.

The company in its appeal urges, under the authority of the decision in the case of the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Company v. Northern Pacific Railroad Company (139 U. S. 1) that the act making the grant withdrew the lands "in the forty mile limits," and that no selection was required to save the company's right of selection, it being shown that there was a deficiency in the grant.

If this be so, then there was no authority to revoke the indemnity withdrawal. The question as to the authority to revoke the withdrawal of indemnity lands on account of this grant and others of a like nature was thoroughly considered by this department prior to the revocation of such withdrawals, and rights of others attaching under such revocation have been repeatedly recognized by this department as against the claim of the company.

The matter would therefore seem to be stare decisis.

I deem it unnecessary to refer to the decision in the case of the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad v. Northern Pacific Railroad Company (supra), to which counsel refer, further than to say that it has no application to the facts of this case.

I might remark in passing that if the construction insisted upon by counsel be correct, then a reservation exists ten miles beyond the indemnity limits of this grant in the States as it is limited to thirty miles on each side of the road in the selection of its indemnity.

The withdrawal contemplated by the 6th section of this act has been uniformly construed to relate only to the primary or granted lands, and the validity of any further withdrawal upon the filing of said map rests entirely upon executive action.

In the case of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company v. Miller (7 L. D. 100), it was held that the 6th section of the act of July 2, 1864 (13 Stat. 365), similar to section 6 in the act under consideration was a mandate effectually prohibiting the exercise of the executive authority to withdraw indemnity lands.

It is unnecessary at this time to pass upon the correctness of that proposition, but, after the revocation of the indemnity withdrawal, the lands were surely subject to appropriation as other public lands, and the entry by Maxwell was properly allowed.

This being so, the land was excepted from the operation of the grant, as said entry was a valid, subsisting claim at the date of the definite location, November 12, 1889, and upon the cancellation of Maxwell's entry the land embraced therein was restored to the public domain, free from any claim under the railroad grant. Kansas Pacific Railway Company v. Dunmeyer, 113 U. S. 629.

Your decision is therefore affirmed and the record in the case is herewith returned.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. NOBLE,

Secretary. G. C.

WILLIAM C. MORGAN,

vs.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC R. R. CO.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office:

Sir: I have considered the appeal of William C. Morgan from the decision of your office of January 2, 1889, rejecting his application to make homestead entry of the east one-half of the northwest one-quarter, and west one-half of the northeast one-quarter of section 9, township 6 south, range 2 W., S. B. M., Los Angeles, California.

Morgan's application to make entry of this land bears date November 20, 1888, and was rejected by the local officers "as being in conflict with the grant to Southern Pacific Railroad Company March 3, 1871" (16 Stats., 579).

On appeal, your office affirmed their decision, and Morgan now appeals to to this department, alleging the following errors:

1. In refusing to allow said entry;
2. In rejecting said application; and
3. In holding that said land was reserved by reason of the application of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to select said land as a part of its primary grant, when it appears that the land is outside the primary limits.

The map of designated route was filed in your office April 3, 1871, in accordance with which lands were withdrawn by letter of April 21, 1871, which was received at the local office on the 10th of the following May. On the 24th of July, 1876, a duly certified map was filed in the general land office showing the definite location and construction of that part of the road opposite the land in contest, and the lands were again withdrawn for the benefit of said grant. According to the first map, this land is within the indemnity limits of the grant; but, according to the second map, it is within the granted limits. Both maps show it to be either within the primary or the indemnity limits, and it was "selected by the Southern and Pacific Railroad Company May 25, 1883, per list 11."

Morgan was advised that the said land was within this list and claimed by the railroad company at the time he made his application for a homestead entry of the same tract.

His application was rejected on the ground of the railroad company's claim. But he contends, through counsel, that the map of definite location filed July 24, 1876, is of no validity and that the land he claims is not within the primary limits of the grant.

The supreme court, in the case of Buttz v. Northern Pacific Railroad Company (119 U. S. 55-71), says, in effect, that the granting act not only contemplates a preliminary designation of the general route of the road, and the exclusion from sale, entry or pre-emption of the adjoining odd sections within forty miles on each side until the definite location is made, but it contemplates the filing by the company in the office of the commissioner of the general land office of a map showing the definite location of the line of its road, and limits the grant to such alternate odd sections as have not at that time been reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and are free from pre-emption, grant or other claims or rights.

The grants to the Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific are almost identical. Under the decision of the supreme court in the case above, the map of July 24, 1876, showing the definite location of the line on which the Southern Pacific Railroad opposite the land in contest was constructed, is fully authorized, and according to this map the land is within the primary limits of the grant to the said company.

The decision of your office is therefore affirmed, and the papers in the case are herewith returned.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. NOBLE,
Secretary.

Register and receiver Los Angeles County:

Gentlemen: I am in receipt of your letters of Nov. 16, 1875, and January 7, 1876, transmitting the application of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for the cancellation of certain State indemnity selections, and the proofs in the cases.

It appears that the claim of the State has been satisfied by the approval of other lands as "lieu lands," also that none of the tracts selected had been sold by the State prior to July 23, 1866.

I have, therefore, this day canceled the following indemnity selections, railroad No. 104, for southwest one-quarter of section 29, township 1 south, range 12 west.

Railroad No. 97 for east one-half and northeast one-quarter of section 29 and southwest one-quarter of section 20, township 1 south, range 12 west.

R. & R. No. 93 for south one-half of northeast one-quarter, and south one-half of northwest one-quarter, and northwest one-quarter of northwest one-quarter of section 8. Lots 2 and 3 of section 5. Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and southeast —— of southwest one-quarter of section 6. Lots 1 and 2 of east one-half of northwest one-quarter and northeast one-quarter of section 7, township 1 south, range 12 west.

Railroad No. 90 for northeast one-quarter of section 13, township 1 south, range 12 west.

R. & R. No. 119, for lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of east one-half of northeast one-quarter and east one-half of southeast one-quarter of section 25 of township 1 south, range 13 west.

Railroad No. 94, for lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 of east one-half of northwest one-quarter, east one-half of southwest one-quarter and east one-half of section 19, township 1 south, range 12 west, was canceled Jan. 22, 1876, as to the northeast one-quarter, south one-half of southeast one-quarter, and southeast one-quarter of southwest one-quarter and has this day been canceled as to the remaining tracts, viz., lots 1, 2, 3, 4 of the east one-half of northwest one-quarter northeast one-quarter of southwest one-quarter, and north one-half of southeast one-quarter.

The tracts in the odd numbered sections are within the limits of the grant for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and were withdrawn April 3, 1871, and the grant took effect May 11, 1874.

The records of this office show that Predro Archimo located Agl. Coll. Scrip railroad No. 31, March 25, 1871, for the east one-half of southwest one-quarter and southwest one-quarter of southwest one-quarter of section 29, township 1 south, range 12 west, alleging settlement upon the land December 1, 1868.

Thomas Morrow located Agl. Coll. Scrip railroad No. 29, March 13, 1871, for the northeast one-quarter of section 19, township 1 south, range 12 west, alleging settlement September 6, 1869.

Samuel Franklin located Agl. Coll. Scrip R. & R. No. 26, for northeast —— of northwest one-quarter of section 9, township 1 south, range 12 west, Jan. 30, 1871, alleging settlement December 15, 1869.

William A. Symmes located Agl. Coll. Scrip R. & R. No. 17, Oct. 8, 1870, for the south one-half of southeast one-quarter and south one-half of southwest one-quarter of section 19, township 1 south, range 12 west.

Ramon Herigoyer located Agl. Coll. Scrip R. & R. No. 15 for north one-half of southwest one-quarter, and south one-half of northwest one-quarter of section 19, township one south, range 12 west, September 28, 1870, alleging settlement July 1, 1868.

Teodors Gonzales filed declaratory statement May 7, 1870, alleging settlement April 6, 1869, upon the lots 1 and 2 and east one-half of northwest one-quarter of section 7, township 1 south, range 12 west, and located Agl. Coll. Scrip R. & R., No. 82, April 29, 1873.

John Franklin made cash entry No. 50, March 9, 1871, for the east one-half of southeast one-quarter and southeast one-quarter of northeast one-quarter of section 25, township 1 south, range 13 west.

The cash entry, and the location, with one exception, were made prior to the date of withdrawal, and in each case the settlement was made long prior to that date. They will therefore be held, subject to disposal upon their merits.

From the records, it appears that the remaining tracts in the odd-numbered sections are subject to selections by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, with the exception of the west one-half of northeast one-quarter of section 13, township 1 south, range 12 west, which has been awarded to Catherine E. Howard, and entered, as per cash entry No 298.

Natividа Ruiz filed declaratory statement for the north one-half of northwest one-quarter of section 19, township 1 south, range 12 west, March 15, alleging settlement March 7, 1870, and Benjamin F. Smith filed declaratory statement for the northeast one-quarter of section 13, township 1 south, range 12 west, March 10, 1870, alleging settlement December 31, 1868. In these two cases, the company must file, with its application to select, affidavits showing that the land was abandoned prior to the time the grant took effect.

You will note the cancellation of the indemnity selections upon your records, and notify the parties interested of this action.

Very respectfully,

L. K. LIPPINCOTT,
Acting Commissioner.

Washington, Oct. 18, 1877.

Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of the twentieth ultimo, transmitting the application of James F. Stuart, Esq., of San Francisco, California, for a restoration of the land in Southern California, withdrawn for the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, under instructions dated April 22, 1872, and November 23, 1874.

The grounds upon which Mr. Stuart bases his application are not specifically set forth in his letter, other than that the reservation is illegal, and in his printed argument he states: "There was no grant of Congress to this company of any lands through the State of California to base this reservation on."

Under dates of April 16, 1872, and April 16, 1874, my predecessor, Mr. Secretary Delano, approved the maps of definite location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad in California, filed by the officers of the company. The withdrawal above mentioned were based upon these maps.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California contested the right of the Atlantic & Pacific Company, claiming that the act of July 27, 1866, did not authorize the latter company to construct a road from the crossing of the Colorado river to San Francisco.

Mr. Secretary Delano referred the question at issue to the Hon. Walter H. Smith, assistant attorney general, for his opinion, which was submitted March 16, 1874.

In this opinion, wher the question was elaborately discussed, it was held nat the company had the right to go to San Francisco, and to receive such public lands along its route as may be found thereon of the character described in the third section of the act of July 27, 1866. It was also held that the withdrawal of lands was just and right.

Under date of April 16, 1874, my predecessor, Mr. Delano, decided the question in accordance with the views expressed in said opinion.

I am now asked to reverse that decision, and to declare that no grant was made by Congress, and to restore to market lands withdrawn by order of my predecessor.

In my letter of this date, in the matter of the grant of lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, I gave my reasons why I could not, consistently, reverse a decision of my predecessor, made after full consideration, in the absence of any new facts, or a different state of the law. The same principles apply to the proposition under consideration.

I do not consider it necessary, at this time, to discuss the question upon its merits, the action of my predecessor must be recognized as the rule of the department.

I cannot, however, yield assent to the proposition of the applicant, that it is my duty to restore these lands, even were I not restrained by the action of my predecessor.

Congress, in the exercise of its power, has made, in the judgement of the department, a grant of lands to a corporation, for a specific purpose. The action of the department has been merely to take the preliminary steps necessary to execute the law, and to protect all parties in the adjustment of the grant. Should Congress desire different action to be taken by the executive branch of the government, it is reasonable to presume it would indicate the same. No portion of the road has been constructed in California, and the time for the completion of the same expires within a few months, viz: July 4, 1878.

Therefore, in the absence of legislation, I must decline to take any action in the premises.

The papers are herewith returned.

Very respectfully,

C. SCHURZ,

Secretary.

Mrs. P. & M. N.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11, 1869.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the fifth instant, returning, at my request, my decision of the second instant, in the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and the accompanying map filed by the president of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, upon which he asks that the lands along the route shown upon the map (being the same as that of the Southern Pacific Railroad) may be reserved for his company.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company was organized by the adoption of articles of association, November 29, 1865, under the general law of the State of California, "approved May 20, 1861, and the several acts supplementary to and" amendatory thereof, for the "purpose of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obisbo, Tulare, Los Angeles and San Diego, to the town of San Diego in said State; thence eastward through the said county of San Diego to the eastern line of the State of California; thence to connect with the contemplated railroad from said eastern line of the State of California to the Mississippi river."

The eighteenth section of said State act of 1861, provides that "nothing in this act shall be construed —— as to confer any powers on such companies to so change their road as to avoid any point named in their articles of association, except as provided in section seventeen, subdivision seven, of this act." Subdivision seven provides, that the company "may change the line of its road, in whole or in part, whenever a majority of the directors shall so determine, as provided hereafter, but no such change shall vary the route of such road, as contemplated in the articles of association of such company."

This act prohibits the company organized under its provisions from making any material change in the line of their road. Consequently, the route upon which the withdrawal of 1867 was secured, not passing through several of the counties named in the articles of association, nor within one hundred and fifty miles of the town of San Diego, was in violation of the State law.

I am clearly of opinion that when there is a grant by Congress of land to a railway company organized under a State law, for the purpose of constructing a road, the lands can only be withdrawn upon the authorized route of such road. Congress did not assume to confer upon an existing company in California the right to construct a road not authorized by its articles of association, or to diverge from the route which they prescribe.

It would be a singular anomaly if Congress should empower a State corporation to do an act expressly forbidden by a law creating it, which the State had the constitutional power to enact. The withdrawal was, I am satisfied, not warranted by the act of July 27, 1866.

If it be conceded that the act gives them adequate authority to construct a branch by the most direct and practicable route from their own road to the point where the Atlantic & Pacific Road crosses the Colorado, still, any question in relation to it is essentially different from that presented for my consideration.

I now return my decision of the second instant, and you will instruct the local land officers to restore the lands withdrawn in 1867 to their former status after sixty days' public notice by advertisement.

I cannot recognize the claim of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to a reservation of lands upon the route in question. The act already cited, upon which they rely, does not, as I construe it, make them a grant of lands from the point at which the road shall strike the Colorado river, to San Francisco. As this is the only question before me, I forbear to express an opinion upon their right to construct a railroad in California, or upon their existing status under the eighth and other sections of the act. I return the map.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. D. COX,

Secretary.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith two diagrams, which show the completed limits of the grant, to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in your district, prepared from the maps of definite location of the road filed in the department August 15, 1872, and, although only recently accepted, the rights of the company must attach to the lands from that date.

You will, accordingly, withhold from sale or entry, all the odd-numbered sections within the thirty-mile limits shown on the diagrams, and hold the even sections within the twenty-mile limits at $2.50 per acre.

The even sections between the twenty and thirty-mile limits are not affected by the grant.

Be pleased to promptly acknowledge the receipt of this letter and diagrams.

Very respectfully,

S. S. BURDETTE,

Commissioner.

Land.

Department of the Interior.

Washington, August 2, 1878.

Sir:

I have considered the case of Samuel Tome et al. involving the right to enter lands in the Visalia land district, California.

The lands for which applications are made are within the limits of the grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company made by the act approved July 27, 1866, and are embraced within the limits of the withdrawal of March 22, 1867, which withdrawal was based upon the maps of the line of road filed by the company in this department January 3, 1867.

The homestead applications were made October 4 and 17, 1876, and the pre-emption filings were tendered October 11, 1876, alleging settlement July 18, 1876, except in the case of Samuel Doyle who alleges settlement October 1, 1871.

The local officers rejected all the applications for the reason that the lands were embraced within the limits of the withdrawal for the company.

You approved this action, which was in accordance with the decision of my predecessor, Mr. Secretary Delano, dated April 23, 1875, in the case of Alfred Queen, wherein it was held that the grant became effective at the date of filing the map of the line of road viz: January 3, 1867.

In view of the conflicting decisions of this department, relative to the question of the grant to said company, I submitted a statement of the facts to the attorney general in connection with certain questions. In his reply, a copy of which I herewith transmit, it will be observed, that he is of the opinion, that, although a grant of lands was made to the company by the act of July 27, 1866, the lands upon which it would operate were not identified until the date of the passage of the joint resolution of June 28, 1870, authorizing the company to construct its road upon the line designated on the map filed in this department January 3, 1867, and that the rights of all parties who were actual settlers at that date were saved. I concur in this opinion.

In the future adjudication of cases it becomes necessary to ascertain what effect is to be given to the joint resolution above mentioned, which reads as follows: "That the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California may construct its road and telegraph line, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the map filed by said company in the department of the interior on the third day of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven; and upon the construction of each section of said road, in the manner and within the time provided by law, and notice thereof being given by the company to the secretary of the interior he shall direct an examination of each such section by commissioners to be appointed by the President, as provided in the act making a grant of land to said company, approved July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and upon the report of the commissioners to the secretary of the interior that such section of said railroad and telegraph line has been constructed as required by law, it shall be the duty of the said secretary of the interior to cause patents to be issued to said company for the sections of land coterminous to each constructed section reported on as aforesaid, to the extent and amount granted to said company by the said act of July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, expressly saving and reserving all the rights of actual settlers, together with the other conditions and restrictions provided for in the third section of said act." (16 Statutes, 382.)

It will be observed that when a section of road has been completed as required by law, it shall be the duty of the secretary of the interior to cause patents to be issued to the company for the sections of land coterminous to said constructed sections of road "expressly saving and reserving all the rights of actual settlers, together with the other conditions and restrictions provided for in the third section of said act."

Among the conditions and restrictions contained in the said third section are the following: "That, there be and hereby is, granted . . . . every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the Territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State and whenever on the line thereof the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from preemption or other claims or rights, at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office; and whenever, prior to said time, any of said sections or parts of sections shall have been granted, sold, reserved, occupied by homestead settlers, or preempted or otherwise disposed of, other lands shall be selected by said company in lieu thereof.". . . .

While the joint resolution identifies the land upon which the grant was to operate, I am of the opinion, that the conditions of the grant remain the same as provided in the original act, except that the rights of all actual settlers at the date of its passage, are saved. In other words: the grant is to be adjusted in the same manner as though the filing of the map in this department on January 3, 1867, was an act authorized by law, except that the rights of persons who were actual settlers on the twenty-eighth of June, 1870, are to be protected. In my opinion this is the only consistent interpretation that can be given to the joint resolution.

Thereby settlers upon the public lands obtain their rights, and the company receives the benefit of its grant.

It would be impossible to adjust the grant under the provisions of the joint resolution without reference to the terms of the original act, and in my opinion all the provisions of the original act should be followed, as there is nothing in the terms of the joint resolution to indicate a variation in the conditions of the same, except so far as the protection of the rights of actual settlers is involved.

Cases which may arise in the future should be adjudicated in accordance with these principles, and the applications of parties who were actual settlers prior to June 28, 1870, and who were duly qualified to make entries of public lands under the laws of the United States, should be received and determined upon their merits.

In the case under consideration, settlement is not alleged by the respective claimants until after the date of the passage of the joint resolution, June 28, 1870, hence the applications must be rejected.

Should it appear, however, that any of the parties who apply to make homestead entries, were actual settlers at the date above mentioned, or that the land was covered by a valid claim at the date of filing the map, any subsequent application alleging such settlement or reservation, should be determined upon its merits. In this connection, I will state, that, as no right under the homestead law can be initiated prior to date of entry and as no homestead entry could be made by reason of the withdrawal, technically no one could obtain any right under the homestead law to lands within the limits of said withdrawal. In view of the proviso, however, to the joint resolution, saving the rights of all actual settlers, I am of the opinion that said settlers should be allowed to enter the lands under the homestead law, the entries, however, must date from the ——— of application, and the claimants must comply with the provisions of the law from said date.

The papers transmitted with your letter of October 4, 1877, are herewith returned.

Very respectfully,

C. SCHURZ,

Secretary.

Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Washington, July 16, 1878

Honorable Carl Schurz,
Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

It appears that by an act of Congress, approved July 27, 1866, entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast" (14 Stat. 292) certain persons therein named, and their successors were "created and erected into a body corporate and politic, in deed and in law, by the name, style and title of the "Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company." Said act further provided: "And said corporation is hereby authorized and empowered to lay out, locate and construct, furnish, maintain and enjoy, a continuous railroad and telegraph line, with the appurtenances, namely: Beginning at or near the town of Springfield, in the State of Missouri, thence to the western boundary line of said State, and thence by the most eligible railroad route as shall be determined by said company to a point on the Canadian river, thence to the town of Albuquerque, on the River Del Norte, and thence, by way of the Agua Frio, or other suitable pass, to the headwaters of the Colorado Chiquito, and thence along the thirty-fifth parallel of latitude, as near as may be found most suitable for a railway route, to the Colorado river, at such point as may be selected by said company for crossing; thence, by the most practicable and eligible route to the Pacific."

By the third section of said act there was granted to said company "every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of twenty alternate sections per mile, on each side of said railroad line, as said company may adopt, through the Territories of the United States, and ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said railroad whenever it passes through any State, and whenever, on the line thereof, the United States have full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from preemption, or other claims or rights, at the time the line of said road is designated by a plat thereof, filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office."

The eighteenth section of said act reads as follows:

"And be it further enacted, That the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, formed under this act, at such point, near the boundary line of the State of California, as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road; and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, herein provided for."

The Southern Pacific Railroad was a railroad incorporated by a general law of the State of California. By that law it was enacted that "Any number of persons, not less than ten, either in this State, or through any portion of the Territories of the United States contiguous to this State, being subscribers to the stock of any contemplated railroad, may be formed into a corporation for the purpose of constructing, owning and maintaining such railroad, by complying with the following requirements." Among other provisions in the details of the law, are the following, which become important in considering the questions submitted by you: "Section 2. The said articles of association shall set forth" . . . . "the place from and to which the proposed road is to be constructed, and the counties into and through which it is intended to pass, and its length, as near as may be."

Section 7 of said act, after conferring the power to select the most advantageous route for the railroad by subdivision second, confers also the power "to receive, hold, take, and convey, by deed or otherwise, the same as a natural person might or could do, such voluntary grants and donations of real estate and other property of every description as shall be made to it, to aid and encourage the construction, maintenance, and accommodation of such railroad.

By subdivision six authority is given "to cross, intersect, join, and unite its railroad with any other railroad, either before or after constructed, at any point upon its route, and upon the grounds of such other railroad company."

By subdivision seven, such company "may change the line of its road, in whole or in part, whenever a majority of the directors shall so determine, as is provided hereinafter; but no such change shall vary the general route of such road, as contemplated in the articles of association of such company."

The eighteenth section prescribes the mode in which such changes may be made, requires the filing of a map, and closes with this provision: "But nothing in this act shall be so construed as to confer any powers on such companies to so change their road as to avoid any point named in their articles of association, except as provided in section seventeen, subdivision seven of this act."

Section 43 requires each company "within a reasonable time after their road shall be finally located" to "cause to be made a map and profile thereof, and of the land taken and obtained for the use thereof, and the boundaries of the several counties through which said road may run, and file the same in the office of the secretary of state."

On the twenty-fifth of November, 1865, articles of association were entered into by T. G. Phelps and others, under the provisions of the foregoing law, forming a corporation to build a contemplated railroad, the terminal points of which are thus stated: "From some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Los Angeles, and San Diego, to the eastern line of said State of California, there to connect with a contemplated railroad from said eastern line of the State of California, to the Mississippi river."

Apparently all necessary steps were taken to give the Southern Pacific Railroad a corporate existence, and to entitle it to all the rights and franchises granted to it by the State of California and by the United States.

On January 3, 1867, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company filed a map with the commissioner of the general land office, showing the line of route adopted by said company for the construction of its road, which map locates the line of the road under the act of Congress through the counties of San Bernardino and Kern, two counties not named in the articles of association, and does not pass through the counties of San Diego, Los Angeles, and San Luis Obispo, nor touch the town of San Diego upon the Pacific Coast, counties and a town which are named as upon the route fixed in the articles of association. To extend the road to San Francisco, would also require it to pass through the county of San Mateo, not named in the articles of association.

On March nineteenth following the filing of said map, Mr. Secretary Browning directed the commissioner of the general land office to cause the necessary instructions to be issued to the local officers to withhold from sale or disposal the odd sections within the granted limits of twenty miles on each side of said road as shown on the map before mentioned, and also the odd sections outside of the twenty miles and within thirty miles on each side of said road from which indemnity for land disposed of by the government within the granted limits should be taken.

On July 14, 1868, said order of withdrawal was revoked, and the lands included therein were restored to market.

On August twentieth following, the latter order was suspended, so far as it related to lands south of San Jose.

On November 2 and 11, 1869, Mr. Secretary Cox issued instructions revoking the suspension made by Mr. Secretary Browning on August 20, 1868, aforesaid, and ordered the lands mentioned therein to be restored to market after sixty days' notice.

On December fifteenth following the order of restoration of the second and eleventh of the preceding month were suspended.

On July 25, 1868, the time for the construction of said road was extended by Congress. (15 Stat., 187.)

On June 28, 1870, a joint resolution of Congress was approved (16 Stat. 382), authorizing the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to construct its road on the route indicated by the map filed as aforesaid, January 3, 1867, and providing that upon proof being filed in the department of the interior of the construction of said road, in sections as therein mentioned, "it shall be the duty of the secretary of the interior to cause patents to be issued to said company for the sections of land coterminous to each constructed section reported as aforesaid, to the extent and amount granted to said company by the said act of July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, expressly saving and reserving all the rights of actual settlers, together with the other conditions and restrictions provided for in the third section of said act."

On July 26, 1870, Mr. Secretary Cox issued instructions that the reservation ordered on March 19, 1867, should be respected.

Two hundred and thirty miles of said road have been constructed and examined by commissioners appointed by the President, and their reports accepted.

On April 23, 1875, it was decided by Mr. Secretary Delano, then secretary of the interior, that the act of July 26, 1866, made a grant of lands to said company, to be afterwards located, and that the filing of the map of its route on January 3, 1867, gave it precision, so that it attached to particular tracts of land.

Notwithstanding said decision the matter has continued under discussion; and your letter proposes to me these three inquiries:

"First. Did the act of July 27, 1866, make a grant of lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

"Second. If so, was said company authorized to locate its road on the line designated on the map filed in this department January 3, 1867?

"Third. If not, what effect should be given to the joint resolution of Congress of June 28, 1870?"

In reply to the first inquiry I would say that in my opinion the act of July 27, 1866, did make a grant of lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad.

A grant of specific lands to a contemplated railroad would necessarily be a very unsatisfactory one, owing to the uncertainty as to the route which the road would take. This grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad was a grant of lands which were to depend for their situation upon the line of the road, and it would acquire precision only after a map had been filed and other proper steps taken, which steps, however, must have been taken within the limits of the grant as made. A grant to a railroad company of lands to be located upon a particular line or in a particular direction, cannot be construed as a grant which may be located upon a distinct line or in a different direction. It is in this respect not dissimilar to the Mexican grants which are known as "floats," where a right exists to lay out three leagues within certain exterior limits. This right, although it requires in order to give it precision, that it shall be placed upon three particular leagues, yet cannot be extended to any lands outside of the exterior limits.

It is therefore important to inquire in the present case, not only whether a grant of lands was made to the Southern Pacific Railroad, but whether the map filed by said road was upon a route which it had then a right to build and locate according to the laws of the State of California, under which it had its existence. Upon examining the map filed, and observing the fact that the law of California required that the contemplated railroad should pass through all the counties and towns named, and that it gave no authority to pass through counties not named in the articles of association, it must be held that the line adopted by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, according to the map, was a line which at the time it had no authority to adopt. To hold, therefore, that it was entitled to lands along this route would be to hold that Congress, by a grant to a railroad which had a legal existence only in one place and along one line, thereby granted lands to the same road when it transferred itself to another line upon which it had no lawful existence. It is not important that at a subsequent date, towit, on April 4, 1870, an act of the Legislature of California ratified the proceedings by which this railroad company undertook to transfer itself from one route to another. That act could have no effect upon transactions long previous, at least not where any other rights had intervened.

The act of July 27, 1866, which was the basis of all subsequent acts, did not create in the Southern Pacific Railroad Company a new corporation under national authority, nor assume to confer upon it additional or antagonistic powers to those conferred by the State of California.

In reply, then, to your first two inquiries, I would say that the act of July 27, 1866, did make a grant of lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, but gave it no authority to locate its road upon the line designated upon the map filed in the department January 3, 1867.

The next subject to be considered is as to the effect to be given to the resolution of Congress of June 28, 1870.

This resolution recognizes the act of July 27, 1866, as an act making a grant of lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and authorizes it to construct its road upon the route indicated by the map filed by the company January 3, 1867, and also directs that, upon proper reports, "it shall be the duty of the secretary of the interior to cause patents to be issued to said company for the sections of land coterminous to each constructed section reported as aforesaid, to the extent and amount granted to said company by the said act of July twenty-seven, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, expressly saving and reserving all the rights of actual settlers, together with the other conditions and restrictions provided for in the third section of said act." It therefore, enables the company, in placing their grant upon the land, to place it upon the line as indicated by the map; and as before this resolution they had no authority to locate upon this line, its effect would be virtually, although not technically or strictly, to constitute a grant along the line of the map.

In this connection it is proper to consider what effect is to be given, so far as persons claiming rights in the lands in question are concerned, to the various withdrawals which were made of them by the several secretaries of the interior, from the time when the map was filed, January 3, 1867, up to the passage of the resolution of June 28, 1870. These lands were withdrawn from the market substantially all the time. It is contended by the counsel for settlers that when thus withdrawn from the market by the secretaries of the interior, they were wrongfully withdrawn, by reason of an error in law upon their part. That being thus wrongfully withdrawn, it was in the power of all citizens of the United States to acquire the same rights in them which they might acquire in other public lands of the United States, and that these acts of the secretaries are to be treated as therefore entirely ineffective and nugatory.

Even if it be conceded that the acts of the secretaries in this respect were erroneous, in law, the consequence does not follow which is contended for on behalf of the adverse claimants to the land. They were in fact withdrawn by competent authority, and were thus placed in a state of reservation.

It must often happen, from the nature of the transactions connected with the public lands and the legislation affecting them, that the secretary of the interior is uncertain whether or not lands should be withdrawn, or whether a greater or less amount should be withdrawn, in order to protect grants or comply with other legislation of the United States, and it is often found that such withdrawals in the end have been unnecessary. But he has the authority to put them into a state of reservation so that all questions in reference to them may be properly considered, and when thus reserved it is not in the power of a party to acquire rights by treating such reservation as of no effect.

Wallcot vs. Des Moines Co., 5 Wall., 681.

Riley vs. Welles, No. 377, December term, 1869.

Williams vs. Baker, 17 Wall., 144.

Crilley vs. Burrows, 17 Wall., 167.

It is to be observed that the resolution of June 28, 1870, which is the authority by which the Southern Pacific Railroad locates its line along the route on the map, saves and reserves all rights of actual settlers, in addition to those contained in the act of July 27, 1866, which reserves the rights of all homestead and preemption claimants. It is therefore to be determined what is meant by this saving clause in the joint resolution.

It is a saving clause separate and distinct from the other reservations made in the third section of the act of July 27, 1866. It is to be inferred, therefore, that there was an object and a reason for this additional reservation. Congress must necessarily have been aware that during the differences of opinion and conflict of orders which had been given in regard to these lands much injury might be done to actual settlers upon them, and it is to be inferred that this clause was intended to protect those who had actually made settlements, and thus necessarily made improvements upon the land. The word "settler" might mean only a legal occupant of the public lands under the public land laws, but the use of the word "actual" by Congress indicates that the class for whom it was legislating in this saving clause is something different, and consists of those persons who had actually gone upon the land in the capacity of settlers. While those who actually settled could not gain legal rights as long as the lands were in reservation, and could not gain the inchoate rights of the preemptors or homesteaders, they had a strong claim upon the consideration of Congress when it finally determined to permit this railroad to locate its grant upon another line than that which it had originally intended. The words "actual settlers" must therefore receive an interpretation, and cannot be regarded as a mere meaningless phrase; and when found in this joint resolution it was intended by this saving clause that actual settlers in addition to those who were rightfully preemptors and homesteaders, should have their equitable rights respected, and should be allowed, upon making proper proof of their actual settlement, to obtain title to their lands under the general public laws of the United States.

The effect then to be given to the joint resolution of June 28, 1870, is that it permits the location by the Southern Pacific Railroad of its road according to the line of the map, but that the rights of actual settlers then upon the lands are to be saved, in addition to those provided for by the act of July 27, 1866.

Certain questions have been raised on behalf of settlers upon these lands as to whether the acceptances by the President of the various sections of the road as constructed were in legal form so that patents therefor could have properly been granted. I have not deemed it necessary to examine the question of whether such acceptance was in legal form, as I cannot perceive that it in any way affects the rights of any settler upon the land. Such an inquiry raises a question only between the railroad and the United States.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

Attorney-General.

MATTIE MOORE

vs. } Homestead.

NORMAN A. M. KELLOGG.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office:

Sir:

The record shows that Mattie Moore made homestead entry December 31, 1890, for the east one-half of the northwest one-quarter and lot 1, (southwest one-quarter of the northwest one-quarter) and lots 2 and 3 of section 29, township 4 north, range 19 west, S. B. M., Los Angeles land district, California.

On December 20, 1890, Norman A. M. Kellogg filed an application to purchase lot 1, the east one-half of the northwest one-quarter, northwest one-quarter of the northeast one-quarter of section 29, township 4 north, range 19 west, S. B. M., of the district aforesaid.

The land in controversy is within the twenty-mile limits of the grant to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and included in the indemnity limits of the Southern Pacific Company.

Kellogg made application for a hearing before the register and receiver to determine the conflicting claims of himself and Moore, and, on June 9, 1891, the local officers rendered their joint opinion holding for cancellation the homestead entry of Moore, and allowing Kellogg to purchase, under the act of Congress of January 13, 1881. (21 Stat. 315.)

On July 1, 1891, Moore appealed, and on May 16, 1892, your office decision was rendered affirming the finding below. July 18, 1892, Moore appealed to the department.

It is claimed that Kellogg had a right to purchase the land in controversy under the act of Congress, supra.

The act referred to is as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That all persons who shall have settled and made valuable and permanent improvements upon any odd numbered section of land within any railroad withdrawal in good faith and with the permission or license of the railroad company for whose benefit the same shall have been made, and with the expectation of purchasing of such company the land so settled upon, which land so settled upon and improved, may, for any cause, be restored to the public domain, and who, at the time of such restoration, may not be entitled to enter and acquire title to such land under the pre-emption, homestead, or timber culture acts of the United States, shall be permitted, at any time within three months after such restoration, and under such rules and regulations as the commissioner of the general land office may prescribe, to purchase not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres in extent of the same by legal sub-divisions, at the price of two dollars and fifty cents per acre, and to receive patents therefor."

But this land was within the primary limits of the grant to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company under the act of July 27, 1866 (14 Stat., 292), as shown by its map of definite route, filed March 12, 1872, and for this reason was not subject to selection as indemnity land for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, under its grant made by act of Congress of March 3, 1871 (16 Stat., 579).

In the case of the United States v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company (146 U. S. Reports, 570), the Supreme Court, speaking through Justice Brewer, says:

"Our conclusions, therefore, are, that a valid and sufficient map of definite location of its route from the Colorado River to the Pacific Ocean was filed by the Atlantic & Pacific Company, and approved by the secretary of the interior; that by such act the title to these lands passed, under the grant of 1866, to the Atlantic & Pacific Company and remained held by it subject to a condition subsequent until the act of forfeiture of 1886; that by that act of forfeiture the title of the Atlantic & Pacific was retaken by the general government, and retaken for its own benefit, and not that of the Southern Pacific Company, and that the latter company has no title of any kind to these lands."

It will thus be seen that the act forfeiting these lands of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company did not give the Southern Pacific Company any rights to the land within its indemnity limits, but the land reverted to the Federal Government, and after the said act was passed became open to settlement, and as the record shows that Mattie Moore made her application to file upon said land now in issue, together with other land, on August 10, 1888, at which time the land was opened to settlement, it follows that she has the prior right to it.

As the Southern Pacific Railroad Company had no legal rights in the land, Kellogg could acquire none by reason of his application to purchase from it.

The act of January 13, 1881, applies only to settlers upon lands of the railroad for whose benefit the land is withdrawn. In other words, if the land was not withdrawn for the Southern Pacific R. R. Co., it is evident that the settler could acquire no rights by reason of his application to purchase. Kellogg settled upon this land in August, 1887, but he acquired and could acquire no rights under his settlement, as he had exhausted his homestead, pre-emption and timber culture rights, and as regards the land in question, he was in the position of a mere squatter without legal rights or standing.

It thus follows that your office decision was in error and the same is hereby reversed. The entry of Moore will be allowed to remain intact and the application to purchase by Kellogg will be dismissed.

The papers transmitted by your office letter of November 10, 1892, are herewith returned.

Very respectfully,

WM. H. SIMS,
First Assistant Secretary.

Department of the Interior,
Washington, D. C., Nov. 2, 1869.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the 9th April last, recommending the restoration of certain lands which had been withdrawn on account of the Central Pacific Railroad of California, and the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Since the receipt of your letter, arguments and exhibits have been filed to show that the line upon which the withdrawal for the Southern Pacific Railroad was based, was not the line upon which Congress had made a grant of lands to aid in the construction of that road.

The Southern Pacific Railroad also filed arguments to sustain their right to a grant upon the line of withdrawal, with affidavits to show that the line upon which they have obtained the withdrawal was the only practicable route to make a connection with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

On the 14th July, 1868, my immediate predecessor made a decision upon this subject, revoking his order for a withdrawal of lands for the Southern Pacific Railroad, and directing you to "immediately issue instructions to the proper local officers in California restoring the lands to the status they held at the date of the withdrawals before mentioned." On the 20th August following, he suspended so much of his order as related to lands south of San Jose, in order to afford the company an opportunity to present evidence of the legality of their action under their charter in the location of their road.

I have carefully considered the papers filed by the company, and I can come to no other conclusion than that, in the location of their road, they entirely disregarded their charter from the State of California, which, in the act of Congress, is given as their authority to build a road in said State.

The withdrawal not being upon the route the company were authorized to construct a railroad, the suspension of Mr. Secretary Browning's order of August 20, 1868, is hereby revoked, and you will issue the necessary order for a restoration of the lands as directed by him on the 14th July, 1868.

I transmit herewith the papers in the case.

Gentlemen:

The secretary of the interior has transmitted to this office a map of the designated line of route of the Southern Pacific Railroad of California and directed the withdrawal of the lands granted thereto under the act of 27th July, 1866, pamphlet laws 1866, page 299. The grant to this road is found in the 18th section of the above act; by that section this company is granted every alternate or odd numbered section of public land for 10 sections in width on each side of the line of route, and indemnity for lands sold, reserved or otherwise appropriated within the grant from the alternate odd sections of unappropriated public land not "more than 10 miles beyond the limits of the granted sections." The limits of the grant, then, are 20 miles on each side of the road, and of the indemnity 30 miles on each side.

In compliance with the secretary's instructions, I herewith enclose a diagram map, having noted thereon that part of the line of route within the 20 and 30 mile limits which fall within the limits of your district, and you are hereby directed to withdraw from sale or location, preemption or homestead entry, all the odd sections within said limits, and no entries will be allowed thereon after the receipt of this order except where bona fide pre-emption claims have attached prior to that time.

The even sections within the 20 mile limits will, by virtue of the act of March 3, 1853, be increased to $2.50 per acre, and subject to the provisions of the pre-emption and homestead laws at that price except where pre-emption rights may have attached prior to this withdrawal; in such cases then parties may prove up and pay for their claims at the price they were held on the date of settlement. The even sections within the 20 miles will not be subject to private entry until duly offered at the increased price.

By the 6th section of the act, the provisions of which are extended to the Southern Pacific road by the 18th section, the unsurveyed lands within 40 miles on each side of the line of route are directed to be surveyed and the odd sections of lands granted by the act "shall not be liable to sale or entry" or pre-emption before or after they are surveyed, "except by said company as provided in this act"; therefore, as plats of surveys within the limits of the grants may be filed in your office you will immediately withdraw the odd sections from pre-emption or entry of any kind and hold the same for the benefit of the road.

This order will take effect from the date of its reception and you will please to acknowledge the date of its receipt by you.

First Letter.

Department of the Interior.

Washington, D. C., July 14, 1868.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the 18th ultimo, and accompanying papers, having reference to the withdrawal of certain land in California for railroad purposes.

It appears that Franklin Steele, Esq., on the 23d May last, asked that the lands situated between San Francisco and San Jose, in California, be restored to the condition they were in prior to the withdrawals made respectively in 1864 and 1867 for the Central Pacific Railroad Company of California and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Mr. Steele states that the existence of these withdrawals, which he claims were improvidently made, absolutely estop citizens from settling upon or locating the odd sections, and requires payment of double price for the even sections.

Referring to papers previously filed in your office, he asks that the matter be examined. The withdrawal in 1864 was made for the Central Pacific Railroad Company of California. The San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company, as assignees of that company, claimed the benefit of said withdrawal, under the acts of Congress of July 1, 1862, and July 2, 1864.

After the consideration of the claim of said company it was rejected on the 31st of October last, and you were so advised on the 12th of November following.

Consequently that withdrawal of itself will not stand in the way of a restoration.

The grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is by the 18th section of the act approved July 27, 1866 (14 Stat. 299), which provides that the company incorporated under the laws of the State of California is authorized to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, formed under the act, at such point as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, et cetera, and to aid in the construction makes similar grants of land, subject to the conditions, limitations, et cetera, imposed upon the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company.

The company claim that under the articles of association they have the option of locating the terminus of their road at any point on the bay of San Francisco, and that the act of Congress absolutely makes San Francisco the western terminus, and consequently their right to the land is as perfect between the points mentioned as it is between San Jose and the connecting point with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company having been recognized by Congress as a corporation formed under State laws, the question arises what was the location of their road as required by those laws?

From the papers it appears that under the general railroad law of the State, approved May 20, 1861, authority is given to any number of persons, not less than ten, being subscribers, et cetera, to adopt articles of association wherein they are required to state "the place from, and to which, the proposed road is to be constructed, and the counties into and through which it is intended to pass, and its length as near as may be," with authority to make a change in the general route, but not so as to avoid any point named in the articles of association.

The articles of association designate the route of the road as "from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Los Angeles and San Diego, to the town of San Diego, in said State, thence eastward through said county of San Diego to the eastern line of said State of California, there to connect with a contemplated railroad from said eastern line of the State of California to the Mississippi river."

The first county mentioned envelopes the lower portion of the bay of San Francisco.

To reach the city of San Francisco from there, the road would have to be constructed northward through the counties of San Mateo and San Francisco (counties not mentioned in the articles of association) a distance of near fifty miles, and alongside of or upon the railroad already constructed, and upon which the cars were and had been running for nearly two years prior to the adoption of said articles of association.

The State law required the corporations to fix the place from, and to which the proposed road was to be constructed, and the counties through which it was intended to pass. This was done.

The starting point being from some point on the bay of San Francisco, and the first county through which it was intended to pass is Santa Clara. No authority is conferred to construct the road through counties to the north of it, leaving out of view the fact that, at the date of corporation, a railroad company created by and under the same State law, had then a railroad constructed and in operation along the narrow peninsula which extends from San Jose to San Francisco.

Further than this, other portions of the route as designated do not conform to law. The line does not touch the counties of San Luis Obispo, Los Angeles and San Diego. In fact, the same does not go to within something like one hundred and fifty miles of the town of San Diego, a point at which the road is required to go, and from which it is to start for the eastern line of the State, there to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

The route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, through the Territories of the United States, to the eastern boundary of the State of California, has not been fixed, so far as this department is advised, and until that company fix the route of their road to that point, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company will be unable to meet and connect with it.

This designation of the general route of the Southern Pacific Railroad not conforming to law, my order of the 19th March, 1867, directing you to order a withdrawal of lands for said road is hereby revoked, and you will immediately issue instructions to the proper local officers in California restoring the lands to the status they held at the date of the withdrawals before mentioned.

Upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company designating the route of their road in conformity with law, and filing a map thereof in this department duly certified, such orders will be issued as may seem to be required to protect the rights of the company. I return the papers.

Very respectfully,

Your Obt. Servant,

O. H. BROWNING,

Secretary.

Hon. Jos. S. Wilson,

Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Sir:

A request having been made by General W. S. Rosecrans, on behalf of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, that an opportunity may be afforded to present evidence on the question of the legality of the action of the company under their charter in the location of their road, I have consented to suspend for the present so much of my order of the 14th ultimo as directed the restoration of lands situated south of San Jose.

So much of said order as directed a restoration of lands between San Francisco and San Jose will be carried into immediate effect, and you will issue the requisite instructions to the local land officers in California without delay.

Washington, D. C., November 2, 1869.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the 9th April last, recommending the restoration of certain lands which had been withdrawn on account of Central Pacific Railroad of California and the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Since the receipt of your letter, arguments and exhibits have been filed to show that the line upon which the withdrawal for the Southern Pacific Railroad was based was not the line upon which Congress had made a grant of lands to aid in the construction of that road.

The Southern Pacific Railroad also filed arguments to sustain their right to a grant upon the line of withdrawal, with affidavits to show that the line upon which they had obtained the withdrawal was the only practicable route to make a connection with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

On the 14th July, 1868, my immediate predecessor made a decision upon this subject, revoking his order for a withdrawal of lands for the Southern Pacific Railroad, and directing you to "immediately issue instructions to the proper local officers in California, restoring the lands to the status they held at the date of the withdrawals before mentioned." On the 20th August following he suspended so much of his order as related to lands south of San Jose, in order to afford the company an opportunity to present evidence of the legality of their action under their charter in the location of their road.

I have carefully considered the papers filed by the company, and I can come to no other conclusion than that, in the location of their road, they entirely disregarded their charter from the State of California, which, in the act of Congress, is given as their authority to build a road in said State.

The withdrawal not being upon the route the company were authorized to construct a railroad, the suspension of Mr. Secretary Browning's order of August 20, 1868, is hereby revoked; and you will issue the necessary orders for a restoration of the lands, as directed by him on the 14th July, 1868.

I transmit, herewith, the papers in the case.

First Letter.

Department of the Interior.

Washington, D. C., July 22, 1870.

Gentlemen:

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California having filed in this department the notice required by the resolution of Congress, approved June 28, 1870, that thirty miles of their road and telegraph line had been completed, commencing at San Jose, and terminating at Gilroy, you have been appointed by the President commissioners to examine and report upon the same. The appointment will take effect from and after its acceptance by you and your subscribing to the oath of office, form of which is herewith.

In case you accept the appointment, you will immediately advise this department, inclosing the oath of office, duly executed. It requires three commissioners to make the examination and sign the report, so that, if either of you should decline, the others will not be authorized to act until they are advised of the appointment of another commissioner to fill the vacancy.

The fifth section of the act of July 27, 1866, provides, that the "railroad shall be constructed in a substantial and workmanlike manner, with all the necessary draws, culverts, bridges, viaducts, crossings, turnouts, stations, and watering places, and all other appurtenances, including furniture and rolling stock, equal in all respects to railroads of the first class when prepared for business, with rails of the best quality, manufactured from American iron. And a uniform gauge shall be established throughout the entire length of the road. And there shall be constructed a telegraph line, of the most substantial and approved description, to be operated along the entire line."

The act of July 25, 1868, gave the company until the first day of July, 1870, for the construction of the first thirty miles.

The resolution before mentioned provides that said company "may construct its road and telegraph line, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the map filed by said company in the department of the interior on the third day of January, 1867."

I transmit herewith a form for your report, which indicates the points you are to examine and report upon. You will also report whether said thirty miles, or any part thereof, has been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States." With your report you will transmit a map and profile of the section. I also transmit a form of certificate to be made by the chief engineer of the company and attached to said map.

The said act of 1866 fixes your compensation at $10 per day for each and every day actually and necessarily employed, and ten cents per mile for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in discharging the duties required of you, which per diem and mileage shall be in full compensation of your services, and to be paid by the company. Duplicates of the receipts given by you to the company on payment thereof will be transmitted with your report.

Your report will be addressed to the secretary of the interior.

Very respectfully,
Your ob't servant,
J. D. COX,
Secretary.

Messrs. William Sherman, Thomas B. Shannon and Calvin Brown, Commissioners on the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, San Francisco, California.

Second Letter.

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C., November 25, 1870.

Gentlemen:

I have received through C. P. Huntington, Esq., vice president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, your report dated the 29th ultimo, on the first section of the Southern Pacific Railroad, commencing at a point in the city of San Jose and terminating at the end of the 30 26-100 mile, near the town of Gilroy, in the county of Santa Clara, Cal.

The eighteenth section of the act of July 27, 1866, authorizes the Southern Pacific Railroad to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, and extends to the former, to aid in its construction and to secure the safe and speedy transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war and public stores, "similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations as to time and manner with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad." The third and fourth sections of the act provide for the manner of construction, which is to be "equal to railroads of the first class, when prepared for business."

The act of July 25, 1868, gave to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company until the first day of July last in which to construct the first thirty miles. The joint resolution of June 28, 1870, further provides that said company may construct its road and telegraph line on the route indicated by the map filed in this department January 3, 1867; and, upon the construction of each section of said road, in the manner and within the time provided by law, and notice thereof being given by the company to the secretary of the interior, he shall direct an examination of each section by commissioners to be appointed by the President, as provided in the act making a grant of lands to said company, approved July 27, 1866.

This department, February 24, 1866, adopted a standard defining what should constitute a "first class railroad." The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company have constructed fifty miles of their road and telegraph line, and the report of the commissioners thereon showed it to have been constructed in conformity with that standard. That company have used rails weighing fifty-six pounds to the lineal yard, fastened with the fishjoint, and the gauge is four feet eight and a half inches, and the culverts and masonry abutments are of stone.

In your report, you state "that the rails weigh not less than fifty pounds per lineal yard," and the gauge is not stated. The culverts and bridge abutments are of wood, and there is no statement that the company will substitute stone when it can be had within a reasonable distance of the road.

I enclose herewith printed copies of the standard of construction, to which the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company have conformed, and desire a further report from you on the said 30 26-100 miles, made out as far as the facts will warrant, in conformity with said standard.

Very respectfully,
Your ob't servant,
C. DELANO,
Secretary.

William Sherman, Calvin Brown and Thomas B. Shannon, Commissioners on the Southern Pacific Rail-Road, San Francisco, California.

Report of the Commissioners.

Department of the Interior, Nov. 14, 1870.

Department of the Interior, Jan. 20, 1871.

San Francisco, California, October 29, 1870.

To the Hon. Jacob D. Cox, Secretary of the Interior of the United States of America.

We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States appointed to examine the first section of thirty and twenty-six one-hundredths (30 26-100) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at a point in the city of San Jose, in the county of Santa Clara, in the State of California, where the said railroad and telegraph line connects with the railroad formerly known as the "San Francisco & San José Railroad" (now consolidated with the Southern Pacific Railroad), and thence running southerly along the line of said Southern Pacific Railroad to the end of the thirtieth and twenty-sixth one-hundredth (30 26-100) mile from said point of commencement, said thirtieth and twenty-sixth one-hundredth mile being at or near the town of Gilroy, in the said county of Santa Clara, California, certify that we have carefully examined such section, and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the Government should accept as first class; that in this distance of thirty and twenty-six one-hundredth (30 26-100) miles there are—

13,765 feet of level line.
19,100 feet of grades, 0 to 5 feet per mile.
14,675 feet of grades, 5 to 10 feet per mile.
40,143 feet of grades, 10 to 15 feet per mile.
25,100 feet of grades, 15 to 20 feet per mile.
21,500 feet of grades, 20 to 25 feet per mile.
16,900 feet of grades, 25 to 30 feet per mile.
8,600 feet of grades, 30 to 31.68 feet per mile.

Total length, 159,783 feet, or 30 26-100 miles.

Maximum grade, 31.68 feet.

That also in this distance there are—

151,811.3 feet of straight lines.
3,957 feet of curves of 1 degree.
781.7 feet of curves of 2 degrees.
2,248 feet of curves of 3 degrees.
985 feet of curves of to 9° 11″ degrees.

Total length of 159,783 feet—30 26-100 miles.

Minimum radius, 624.6 feet, tangents and curves.

That all the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality; that the rails weigh not less than fifty pounds per lineal yard, and the joints are made with fish-plates, and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie.

That there are six sidings, having an aggregate length of 7,304 feet, connected with the main track at each end with good switches; that in addition to the foregoing there are four sidings and spur tracks, having an aggregate length of 2,850 feet, connected with the main track by means of a similar switch at one end only; that there are 2,400 ties per mile of redwood or red-cedar timber, 6 by 8 inches by 8 feet long; that the said section is ballasted with gravel to a depth of from 6 to 8 inches below the bottom of the ties.

That there are five bridges, as follows:

1 trestle bridge, 60 feet long, 5 spans, 12 feet each.
1 trestle bridge, 48 feet long, 4 spans, 12 feet each.

Total, 101 feet 9 spans, 12 feet each.

1 pile bridge 132 feet long, 11 spans, 12 feet each.
1 beam truss, 45 feet long, resting on timber abutments.
1 bridge across the Llagas creek, consisting of one span of Howe truss, 150 feet, resting on timber abutments.

That there are 25 culverts, as follows:

3 box culverts, 1 x1 feet, of redwood.
1 " " 1 x1½ feet, of redwood.
3 " " 1½x2 feet, of redwood.
1 " " 1¾x2¼ feet, of redwood.
7 " " 2 x3 feet, of redwood.
1 " " 2½x2½ feet, of redwood.
3 " " 2½x3½ feet, of redwood.
1 " " 2½x3 feet, of redwood.
4 open drains, 12 feet span, of redwood.
1 " " 24 feet span, of redwood.

25 culverts.

(No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten miles of the line of the railroad.)

That there are four water tanks of 45,000 gallons' capacity, as follows:

At San Jose,	1 t'k,	5,000 gals.,	supplied	by hydraulic ram.
" 12-mile House,	1 "	5,000 "	"	"	hand pump and wind-mill.
" Gilroy,	1 "	30,000 "	"	"	wind-mill.
" Gilroy,	1 "	5,000 "	"	"	hand pump.
		45,000

That there are no coal-houses; coal not being used for locomotive fuel, none are required.

There is one wood-house at Gilroy, 20x50 feet. Wood-houses have not yet been built at other points, trains at present taking wood from the places where the same is delivered along the line of the road. We have the assurance of the officers that suitable wood-houses will be built as soon as a sufficient length of road is completed to form an independent operating division, so that they can be located at proper points to accommodate through trains.

That no section-houses have been built, the hotels and farmhouses along the line of the road affording ample accommodation for all the workmen employed.

That there are station buildings for the accommodation of the passenger and freight business as follows:

At San Jose a passenger-house, 20x45 feet, built of wood, sided and fitted up with dressed lumber and covered with shingles.

Also one freight-house, built of brick, 40x350 feet, and covered with shingles. At the 12-mile house, 15-mile house, and 18-mile house there are extensive platforms, and buildings formerly used for hotels are being used for freight and passenger houses at those points.

At Gilroy a passenger-house, 20x80 feet, built of wood, sided with dressed lumber and covered with shingles.

At Gilroy one freight-house, built of wood, 40x350 feet, sided with dressed lumber and covered with shingles; also one freight-house, built of wood, 80x200 feet, sided with rough lumber and covered with shingles. These buildings are very superior.

The buildings, including the passenger and freight depots, etc., as heretofore described, are more than sufficient for the present requirements and business of the road. Should its future business require an extension of the present buildings or the erection of new ones, we have in this, also, the assurance of the officers that they will be supplied in proper time and place.

That there are one locomotive stall and one engine-house, of wood, 20x60 feet, at San Jose, and two locomotive stalls at Gilroy; that lately the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad was consolidated with the Southern Pacific Railroad, under the general name of "Southern Pacific Railroad," and the shops owned by the consolidated company are more than sufficient for the thorough repair of the locomotives and other rolling stock of the entire line of its railroad.

That there are two turntables—one at San Jose, with 250 feet of track, and one at Gilroy, with 195 feet of track.

That there are 4 locomotives, 4 passenger cars, 2 baggage cars, 26 box cars, 20 flat cars, 4 dump cars, and 1 hand car provided for in this section (30 26-100) miles); that these are in addition to 6 locomotives, 16 first-class passenger cars, 3 second-class passenger cars, 3 smoking cars, 1 first-class passenger and baggage car, 1 hunting car, 1 paymaster's car, 1 boarding-house construction car, 8 dump cars, 16 cattle cars, 69 flat cars, and 33 box cars used on the line, 50 miles between San Francisco and San Jose (lately consolidated with the Southern Pacific Railroad), and also used on this section when and as the necessities of commerce and travel require it; that all the material above described was procured for this road direct from the shops which formerly belonged to the San Francisco & San Jose Railroad Company in San Francisco (but now the property of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company), and from the shops of first-class eastern manufacturers.

That said thirty 26-100 miles of railroad and the telegraph line connected therewith are constructed, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the 3d of January, 1867.

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

And we do certify that this section (30 26-100 miles) of railroad was fully completed and equipped, as above stated, on or before the first day of May, 1869, and that the same was fully constructed, completed, and equipped within the time and in the manner required by law, and is first-class.

We also certify that the telegraph line (which was built simultaneously with the line of road) is constructed as follows:

Not less than 18 redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8x8 inches; at top, 4x4 inches; length, 26 feet; and they are set in the ground to a depth of four feet. Number 11 wire, American compound, steel core with copper covering, 113 pounds to the mile, is used, that being the most expensive wire and best adapted for telegraph lines in a country similar to that through which this road is located. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

And we do certify that it is first class.

That all the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the rails weigh fifty (50) pounds per lineal yard, and that the joints are made with fish plates, and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie.

We have been informed by the president and managers of the road that the iron above-mentioned was contracted for, shipped, paid for, and laid on the road-bed before the company or any of its agents had knowledge of the standard and rules for the construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad adopted by the department of the interior and before such rules and standard had been furnished them from any source; that there are now 3,000 tons of iron purchased, shipped, and on the way to this city, all of which is 56 pounds per lineal yard, and that all iron hereafter to be purchased will conform to that standard.

We are of opinion, in view of the fact that the country through which this section of the road passes is quite a level plain, that a fifty-pound rail is there as suitable, if not superior, for all practicable purposes of commerce to a 60-pound rail in a mountainous country, where heavy grades are a necessity and very heavy traction engines are required to be used.

There are six sidings, having an aggregate length of 7,304 feet, connected with the main track at each end with good switches; that in addition to the foregoing there are four sidings and spur tracks, having an aggregate length of 2,850 feet, connected with the main track by means of a similar switch at one end only; that there are 2,400 ties per mile, of redwood or red-cedar timber, 6 by 8 inches by 8 feet long; that the said section is ballasted with gravel to a depth of from six to eight inches below the bottom of the ties.

That there are five bridges, as follows:

1 pile bridge, 132 feet long, 11 spans, 12 feet each.
1 beam truss, 45 feet long, resting on abutments of timber.
1 bridge across the Llagas creek, consisting of one span of Howe truss, 150 feet, resting on abutments of timber.

That there are twenty-five culverts, as follows:

25 culverts.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten miles of the road. The material used in the construction of trestles, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties,) well known on the Pacific Coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance of decay. It can be seen in many old buildings in California, where for fifty and seventy-five years it withstood the ravages of time and the elements and is now as sound and strong as when first put in place. We have, however, the unqualified assurances of the president and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same becomes necessary and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That there are four water tanks of 45,000 gallons' capacity as follows:

At San Jose,	1 tank,	5,000	gallons,	supplied by hydraulic ram.
At 12-mile House,	1 "	5,000	"	"	" hand pump and wind-mill.
At Gilroy,	1 "	30,000	"	"	" wind-mill.
At Gilroy,	1 "	5,000	"	"	" hand pump.
Total,		45,000

That there are no coal-houses; coal not being used for locomotive fuel, none are required.

There is one wood-house at Gilroy, 20 x 50 feet. Wood-houses have not yet been built at other points, trains at present taking wood from the places where the same is delivered along the line of the road. The officers of the company assure us that suitable wood-houses will be built as soon as a sufficient length of road is completed to form an independent operating division, so that they can be located at proper points to accommodate through trains.

That no section-houses have been built, the hotels and farming-houses along the line of the road affording ample accommodations for all the workmen employed.

That there are station buildings for the accommodation of the passenger and freight business as follows:

At San Jose, a passenger-house, 20 x 45 feet, built of wood, sided and fitted up with dressed lumber and covered with shingles.

Also one freight house, built of brick, 40 by 350 feet, and covered with shingles. At 12-mile house, 15-mile house, and 18-mile house there are extensive platforms, and buildings formerly used for hotels are now used for freight and passenger-houses at those points.

At Gilroy, a passenger-house, 20x80 feet, built of wood, sided with dressed lumber, and covered with shingles.

At Gilroy, one freight house, built of wood, 40 by 350 feet, sided with dressed lumber and covered with shingles; also one freight house, built of wood, 80x200 feet, sided with rough lumber and covered with shingles. These buildings are very superior and would be considered on any railroad handsome and convenient structures and fully ample for all business purposes.

The buildings, including the passenger and freight depots, etc., as heretofore described, are more than sufficient for the present requirements and business of the road. Should its future business require an extension of the present buildings or the erection of new ones, we have in this, also, the assurance of the offices that they will be supplied in proper time and place.

That there are one locomotive stall and one engine-house of wood, 20x60 feet, at San Jose, and two locomotive stalls at Gilroy; that lately the "San Francisco and San Jose Railroad" was consolidated with the Southern Pacific Railroad," and the shops owned by the consolidated company are more than sufficient for the thorough repair of the locomotives and other rolling stock of the entire line of its railroad.

That there are two turntables—one at San Jose, with 250 feet of track, and one at Gilroy, with 195 feet of track.

That there are four locomotives, four passenger cars, two baggage cars, twenty-six box cars, twenty flat cars, four dump cars, and one hand car provided for this section (30 26-100 miles); that these are in addition to six locomotives, sixteen first-class passenger, three second-class passenger cars, three smoking cars, one first class passenger and baggage car, one hunting car, one paymaster's car, one boarding-house construction car, eight dump cars, sixteen cattle cars, sixty-nine flat cars, and thirty-three box cars used on the line (50 miles) between San Francisco and San Jose (lately consolidated with the Southern Pacific Railroad, and also used on this section when and as the necessities of commerce and travel require it; that all the material above described was procured for this road direct from the shops which formerly belonged to the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company in San Francisco (but now the property of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company), and from the shops of first-class eastern manufacturers.

That said thirty and twenty-six one-hundredths miles of railroad and telegraph line connected therewith are constructed, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the third of January, 1867.

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

And we do certify tht this section, thirty and twenty-six one hundredths miles of railroad and telegraph, was fully completed and equipped, as above stated, on or before the first day of May, 1869, and that the same was fully constructed, completed, and equipped within the time and in the manner required by law, and is first-class.

We also certify that the telegraph line (which was built simultaneously with the line of the road) was constructed as follows:

Not less than eighteen redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8x8 inches; at top, 4x4 inches; length, twenty-six feet; and they are set in the ground to a depth of four feet. Number eleven wire, American compound, steel core with copper covering, one hundred and thirteen pounds to the mile, is used, that being the most expensive wire and best adapted for telegraph lines in a country similar to that through which the road is located. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

And we do certify that it is first class.

In conclusion, we wish to state that in the building, equipment, and furnishing of the railroad and telegraph line the company seems to evince a sincere desire to construct a first-class road, and to conform in all things, as far as possible, to the spirit and intent of the law.

report on the first section of thirty and twenty-six one-hundredths miles of the road and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at a point in the city of San Jose, in the county of Santa Clara, in the State of California, when the said railroad and telegraph line connects with the railroad formerly known as the "San Francisco and San Jose Railroad," and thence running southerly along the line of the said Southern Pacific Railroad to the end of the thirty and twenty-six one-hundredths miles from said point of commencement, being at or near the town of Gilroy, in said county and State.

The commissioners in their reports represent that this section of road is completed and equipped as a first-class railroad, and that the telegraph line is completed for the same distance and is first-class. I therefore respectfully recommend the acceptance of the same and the issue to said company of patents for lands due on account of the construction thereof agreeably to the provisions of the act of Congress entitled, "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific coast," approved July 27, 1866, and the acts amendatory thereof, approved July 25, 1868, and June 28, 1870.

LETTERS OF INSTRUCTIONS.

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C.

3 August, 1871.

Gentlemen:

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California having filed in this department the notice required by the resolution of Congress, approved June 28, 1870, that the second section of twenty miles of their road and telegraph line had been completed, commencing at Gilroy, (end of first section of thirty and twenty-six one hundredths miles) and terminating at the fifty and twenty-six one-hundredths mile, you have been appointed by the president commissioners to examine and report upon the same. The appointment will take effect from and after its acceptance by you and your subscribing to the oath of office, form of which is herewith.

In case you accept the appointment, you will immediately advise this department, inclosing the oath of office duly executed. It requires three commissioners to make the examination and sign the report; so that, if either of you should decline, the others will not be authorized to act until they are advised of the appointment of another commissioner to fill the vacancy.

The fifth section of the act of July 27, 1866, provides that the "railroad shall be constructed in a substantial and workmanlike manner, with all necessary draws, culverts, bridges, viaducts, crossings, turnouts, stations, and watering-places, and all other appurtenances, including furniture and rolling stock, equal in all respects to railroads of the first-class when prepared for business, with rails of the best quality, manufactured from American iron. And a uniform gauge shall be established throughout the entire length of the road. And there shall be constructed a telegraph line, of the most substantial and approved description, to be operated along the entire line."

The act of July 25, 1868, gave the company until the first day of July, 1870, for the construction of the first thirty miles, and required them to construct at least twenty miles every year thereafter, and the whole line of their road within the time required by law.

The resolution before-mentioned provides that said company "may construct its road and telegraph line, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the map filed by said company in the department of the interior on the third day of January, 1867." You will be guided in the discharge of your duties as commissioners by the "circular of instructions for the examination of railroads," (copy herewith,) dated April 28, 1871. You will also report whether said twenty miles, or any part thereof, have been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866,) been granted by the United States." Your report must be verified under oath, which may be taken before a United States commissioner, a clerk of a court, or a notary public. With your report, you will forward a map and profile of the section; the map to be certified by the chief engineer of the company, as required on the first section.

said act of 1866 fixes your compensation at ten dollars per day for each and every day actually and necessarily employed, and ten cents for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in discharging the duties required of you, which per diem and mileage shall be in full compensation for your services, and to be paid by the company. Duplicates of the receipts given by you to the company on payment thereof will be transmitted with your report.

Your report will be addressed to the secretary of the interior.

The commissioners will meet at San Francisco, Cal., as soon after the receipt hereof and acceptance as may be convenient.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

B. R. COWEN,

Acting secretary.

To Hon. C. Delano, secretary of interior of the United States of America.

profile and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the government should accept as first-class.

That in this distance (20 miles) there are—

20,421 feet of level line.
4,000 feet of grades, 5 to 10 feet per mile.
30,367 feet of grades, 10 to 15 feet per mile.
6,600 feet of grades, 15 to 20 feet per mile.
24,700 feet of grades 20 to 25 feet per mile.

16,500 feet of grades, 65 to 70 feet per mile.

Total length 105,600 feet, or 20 miles.

Maximum grade, 66 feet.

That also in this distance of 20 miles there are—

88,194 feet of straight lines.
400 feet of curves, 0° 15′.
5,790 feet of curves, 0° 20′.
1,111 feet of curves, 0° 22½′.
5,000 feet of curves °.
1,960 feet of curves, 1° 20′.
1,130 feet of curves, 2°.
2,015 feet of curves, 3°.

Total length 105,600 feet, or 20 miles.

Minimum radius, 1,910 feet, tangents and curves.

(The following paragraph omitted by mistake from the body of this report.)

"The excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirement of law and the instructions."

GEO. OULTON,
GEORGE P. WILSON,
ROBERT LEE,
Railroad Commissioners.

September 12, 1871.

That all the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ inches); that the rails weigh not less than fifty-six (56) pounds per lineal yard, and the joints are made with fish-plates, and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are five sidings, having an aggregate length of 4,968 feet, connected with the main track at each end with good switches; that there are 2,450 ties per mile, of redwood or red cedar timber, in all cases at least six by eight inches by eight feet long (the cross-ties are, in the aggregate, over eight inches wide and make a bearing surface equal to at least 2640 ties per mile); that the said section is ballasted with gravel to a depth of six inches below the bottom of the ties.

That there are eight bridges, as follows:

1 trestle bridge, 30 feet long, 3 spans, 10 feet each
1 trestle bridge, 30 feet long, 3 spans, 10 feet each
1 trestle bridge, 80 feet long, 8 spans, 10 feet each
1 trestle bridge, 176 feet long, 11 spans, 16 feet each
1 pile bridge, crossing Pajaro river, 1,200 feet long, 75 spans, 16 feet each.
1 pile bridge, 40 feet long, 4 spans, 10 feet each
1 trestle bridge, 20 feet long, 2 spans, 10 feet each
1 trestle bridge, 30 feet long, 2 spans, 10 feet each

That there are 16 culverts, as follows:

5 box culverts, 2 x 2 feet of redwood.
1 box culvert, 2 x feet, of redwood.
2 box culverts, 3½ x 4 feet, of redwood.
2 box culverts, 4 x 5 feet, of redwood.
6 open drains, 10-feet span.

16 culverts.

No stone suitable for building purpose could be found within a distance of ten miles of the road. The material used in the construction of trestles, culverts, and bridge abutments of the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance of decay. It can be seen in many old buildings in California, where for fifty and for seventy-five years it withstood the ravages of time and the elements, and is now as sound and strong as when first put in place. We have, however, the unqualified assurances of the directors and managers that the culverts and bridge abutments will be rebuilt in stone when, and as the same becomes necessary and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That there are two water tanks of 3,000 gallons' capacity each, as follows:

At Hollister, two tanks of 3,000 gallons each, supplied from wells by windmill power.

That there are no coalhouses; coal not being used for locomotive fuel, none are required.

That there are no woodhouses, none being requisite on this section. Wood is obtained in sufficient quantities from the wood station at Gilroy. As soon as the road is extended further, so as to make an independent operating division, we are assured by the officers of the company that woodhouses will be built at proper intervals when it becomes necessary.

That no section-houses have been built, the hotels and farmhouses along the line of the road affording ample accommodation for all the workmen employed.

That there is one station for the accommodation of passenger and freight business as follows: At Hollister, 14 miles south of Gilroy, one freight and passenger house combined, built of wood, 32 feet wide by 130 feet long, sided with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles. On each side of the building there are platforms ten feet wide.

No water tanks or station buildings have been erected at the end of this section (an open plain and not a proper point for a station), the six miles of railroad from Hollister to the end of the fiftieth and twenty-six one-hundredths mile, although fully completed and equipped, not being yet opened for traffic.

That there is one turntable at Hollister, with 288 feet of track. It will not be necessary to construct other turntables until the road is extended further.

That there are no locomotive stalls or engine-houses, those constructed at other points on the road and heretofore reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

That three locomotives have been provided for this section, in addition to those already provided for the whole road and heretofore reported upon by William Sherman, Calvin Brown, and Thomas B. Shannon, United States railroad commissioners, on October 29, 1870, and on December 29, 1870. Said three locomotives were purchased at and procured from the shops of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

No passenger or other cars have been purchased by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company since the reports above referred to, those now on hand being more than enough to accommodate present travel and commerce. Should other cars be required, the officers of the company assure us that they will be bought when and as they are needed.

That said twenty miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed as near as may be on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, approved June 28, 1870, to-wit, "on the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the third of January, 1867."

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

That this section of railroad and telegraph line was completed and equipped on the thirtieth day of June, 1871, and that both are first-class.

That the telegraph line is constructed as follows: Not less than thirty redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8x8 inches; at top, 4x5 inches; length, 24 feet. Number 9 galvanized wire is used. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best manufacturers, and we do certify that it is first-class.

Respectfully submitted.

LETTER OF INSTRUCTIONS.

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C.,
Twenty-third July, 1872.

Gentlemen:

The president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California having filed in this department the notice required by the resolution of Congress, approved twenty-eighth June, 1870, that the third section of twenty miles of their road and telegraph line had been completed, (commencing "at the point of junction of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, said point being about seven miles west of the town of Visalia, in the county of Tulare, California, in section 19, township 18 south, range 24 east, M. D. B. & M., and distant 1000 feet in a southeasterly direction from the intersection of the west line of said section by the line of said San Joaquin valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, and running in a southeasterly direction, ends at the termination of the twentieth mile therefrom, in the northwest quarter of section 30, township 21 south, range 25 east, M. D. B. & M.), you have been appointed by the President, commissioners to examine and report upon the same.

This appointment is made upon the condition that you have neither directly, nor indirectly, any interest in this corporation, nor any connection with, or bias for or against it which would interfere with an impartial performance of all the duties imposed upon you as commissioner, and it (the appointment), will be effective from the date of its acceptance, and the subscribing to the oath of office—form herewith. In case you accept, you will be pleased to advise the department at once, inclosing the oath duly executed. I transmit herewith forms of certificates to be made by the chief engineer and president of the company, attached to the map and profile which you will be required to forward, with your report, to the "secretary of the interior."

The fifth section of the act of July 27, 1866, provides that the "railroad shall be constructed in a substantial and workmanlike manner, with all the necessary draws, culverts, bridges, viaducts, crossings, turn-outs, stations, and watering-places, and all other appurtenances, including furniture and rolling stock—equal in all respects to railroads of the first class when prepared for business, with rails of the best quality, manufactured from American iron. And a uniform gauge shall be established throughout the entire length of the road.

"And there shall be constructed a telegraph line, of the most substantial and approved description, to be operated along the entire line."

The act of twenty-fifth July, 1868, gave the company until the first day of July, 1870, for the construction of the first thirty miles and required them to construct at least twenty miles every year thereafter, and the whole line of their road as provided for in previous legislation.

The law states that said company "may construct its road and telegraph line, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the map filed by said company in the department of the interior, on the third day of January, 1867." You will be guided in the discharge of your duties by the "circular of instructions for the examination of railroads," (copy therewith) dated April 28, 1871. You will report whether said twenty miles, or any part thereof, have been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866), been granted by the United States." Your report must be verified under oath which may be taken before a United States commissioner, a clerk of a court, or a notary public. The said act of 1868 fixes your compensation at $10 per day for each day actually and necessarily employed, and ten cents per mile for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in discharging the duties required of you, which per diem and mileage shall be in full compensation for your services, and will be paid by the company. Duplicates of the receipts given by you to the company on payment thereof, will be transmitted with your report.

As soon as the department shall have received the acceptance of this appointment and the oaths of office from each of you, an order will at once be sent, directing procedure with the examination of the section.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
W. H. SMITH,
Acting secretary.

Report.

San Francisco, California,

September 14, 1872.

Department of the Interior, Sept. 27, 1872.

To Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of Interior of the United States of America.

Sir: We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States, appointed to examine the third section of twenty

(20) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at Goshen, the point of junction of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, said point being about seven (7) miles west of the town of Visalia, in the county of Tulare, California, in section nineteen (19), township eighteen (18) south, range twenty-four (24) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, and distant one thousand (1,000) feet in a southeasterly direction from the intersection of the west line of said section by the line of said San Joaquin valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, and running in a southeasterly direction to the termination of the twentieth (20th) mile therefrom, in the northwest quarter (N. W. ¼) of section thirty (30), township twenty-one (21) south, range twenty-five (25) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian.

Certify:

That we have carefully examined such section and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the government should accept as first class.

That in this distance (20 miles) there are:

21,500 feet of level line.

58,100 feet of grades 0 to 5 feet per mile.

26,000 feet of 5 28-100 feet per mile.

Total length 105,600 feet, or 20 miles.

Maximum grade 5 28-100 feet.

That, also, in this distance of twenty (20) miles, there are:

101,833 3-10 feet of straight lines.
3,566 7-10 feet of curves of 0° 30′.
200 feet of curves of 1°

Total length 105,600 feet, or 20 miles.

Minimum radius, 5,730 feet of tangents and curves.

That all of the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality; and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ inches); that the rails weigh not less than fifty-six (56) pounds per lineal yard and the joints are made with fish-plates and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are five (5) sidings, having an aggregate length of 6,700 feet, connected with the main track, at each end, with good switches, and one siding, 780 feet long, connected with the main track, at one end only, with a good switch; that there are 2,450 ties per mile, of redwood or red cedar timber, in all cases, at least, 6x8 inches by 8 feet long. (The cross-ties are, in the aggregate, over eight inches wide and make a bearing surface equal to at least 2,640 ties per mile.) That the said section is ballasted with sand, gravel and loam, of which the roadbed is composed, no other material being found within very many miles of the road. When other and more suitable material shall be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the railroad, we have the assurance of the officers that the road will be reballasted.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions:

That there are three hundred and seventeen bridges, as follows:

One truss beam bridge, sixty feet span, over Tule river, and built on piled foundations.

Two trestle bridges, twenty-four feet span, on piled foundations.

Two hundred and sixty-four trestle bridges, sixteen feet span, on piled foundations.

Four trestle bridges thirteen feet span, on piled foundations.

Thirty-four trestle bridges, twelve feet span, on piled foundations.

Twelve trestle bridges, ten feet span, on piled foundations.

Total three hundred and seventeen.

That there are no culverts, other than those already classed as bridges and mentioned above.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten (10) miles of the railroad. The material used in the construction of trestles, culverts and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood, or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific Coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance of decay. We have, however, the unqualified assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments will be rebuilt in stone when, and as the same becomes necessary, and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That there is one water tank of 53,000 gallons' capacity at Goshen, supplied from a well by a "Knowles steam pump."

That there are no wood-houses, coal being used.

That there is one coal platform at Tulare, 20x315 feet, built in a most substantial manner. The dryness of the atmosphere (there being but a very light rainfall in winter, with no rain in summer),and the extreme mildness of the climate render the use of covering for coal entirely unnecessary. The officers promise that coal-houses shall be constructed immediately, should they be found necessary.

There is one section-house near Tulare, 30x16 feet, with a wing 12x16 feet. Also, at the same place, a tool-house, 14x20 feet, and a house for Chinese laborers, 14x24 feet, all built of wood and covered with shingles. These buildings, together with farm-houses and hotels along the line of the road, afford ample accommodations for all the workmen employed.

That there are two station buildings for the accommodation of passenger and freight business, as follows:

At Goshen, a passenger and freight house combined, 130 feet long by 32 feet wide, sided with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles. On each side of the building there are platforms, at least, ten feet wide.

At Tulare, a passenger and freight house combined, similar in every respect to that above described.

(Note. The railroad has been built one and fourteen one hundredths miles south of the twenty mile stake, to "Tipton," the present terminus of the Visalia division of the Southern Pacific Railroad, where other buildings, fixtures, track, etc., have been finished and are now in actual use and operation in connection with this twenty mile section. They are as follows: A passenger and freight house, same in every respect as those at Goshen and Tulare. A turn-table, with 275 feet of track. A water tank, same in every respect as that at Goshen, and 4,600 feet of side track connected, at both ends, by good switches with the main track.)

That there is one turn-table at Tulare with 780 feet of track:

That, at Tulare, there are seven locomotive stalls, each of the size of fourteen feet front, twenty-one and two-twelfths feet in rear, and sixty-five feet deep, built of wood, and covered with a composition roof made of felt, tar, asphaltum and gravel, being similar in character to asphalt sidewalks, with a layer of felt underneath.

That there is one engine house at Tulare, size 98 feet front, by 148 feet in rear, and 65 feet deep, built of wood and covered with a composition roof, similar in all respects to that described above.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those constructed at other points on the road, and heretofore reported upon, being deemed amply sufficient to meet its present requirements. We are informed by the officers of the company that it is the intention, as soon as sufficient of the railroad shall be built from which to form a new and independent operating division of any considerable length, to construct permanent machine and repair shops in the most durable and substantial manner. And if, in the meanwhile, additional facilities should be required for repairs, or otherwise, arrangements are perfected to have them done, whenever needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, which connects at Goshen, aforesaid, with this section of railroad and telegraph line.

That the Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following rolling stock, which is used along the entire line of its railroad and is amply sufficient to accommodate present travel and commerce. We are, in this, also, assured by the officers of the company that whenever other rolling stock shall be required, it will be bought immediately.

To Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of Interior of the United States of America.

Sir: We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States appointed to examine the fourth (4th) section of twenty miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at a point at the end of the twentieth (20th) mile on the line of said railroad south from the intersection of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin Valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad (said point of commencement being in the northwest quarter (N. W. ¼) of section thirty (30), township twenty-one (21) south, range twenty-five (25) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian), running thence in a southeasterly direction and ending at the termination of the twentieth mile therefrom in the northwest quarter (N. 25,125 feet of level line.

45,300 feet of grades, 0 to 5 feet per mile.

3,500 feet of grades, 10.56 feet per mile.

Maximum grade, 10.56 feet per mile.

That also, in this distance of twenty miles, there are 105,600 feet, or 20 miles, of straight line. There are no curves.

That all the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet, eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the rails weigh not less than fifty-six pounds per lineal yard, and the joints are made with fish-plates, and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are three (3) sidings, having an aggregate length of 6,193 feet, connected with the main track at each end with good switches; that there is one turntable track 300 feet long, connected with the main track with a good switch; that there are 2,450 ties per mile of redwood or red-cedar timber, in all cases at least 6 x 8 inches by 8 feet long (the cross-ties are in the aggregate over eight inches wide and make a bearing surface equal to at least 2,640 ties per mile); that the said section is ballasted with sand, gravel, and loam, of which the roadbed is composed, no better material being found within many miles of the line of the railroad. When more suitable material shall be found within a reasonable distance, we have the assurance of the officers that the road will be reballasted.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions.

That there are 11 bridges, all built on piled foundations, as follows:

1 trestle bridge, 715.5 feet long, having 45 spans 15.9 feet each, crossing Deer creek.

1 trestle bridge, 63.6 feet long, having 4 spans 16 feet each.

1 trestle bridge, 48 feet long, having 3 spans 16 feet each.

6 trestle bridges, 32 feet long, having 2 spans 16 feet each.

2 trestle bridges, 16 feet long, having 1 span 16 feet each.

Total, 11 trestle bridges.

That there are 35 culverts, as follows:

1	box	culvert,	1½	x	2	feet,	of redwood.
9	"	"	2	x	2	" "	"
23	"	"	2	x	3	" "	"
1	"	"	3	x	4	" "	"
1	"	"	4	x	4	" "	"

Total, 35 culverts.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten (10) miles of the railroad. The material used in the construction of trestles, bridges, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance to decay. We have, however, the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same may become necessary and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That at Tipton there is one water tank of 53,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from a well by a "Knowles steam pump."

That there are no woodhouses.

That there is a coal-platform at Tipton, 16 x 100 feet, built in a most substantial manner. The dryness of the atmosphere, there being but a very light rainfall in winter, with no rain in summer, and the extreme mildness of the climate render the use of covering for coal entirely unnecessary. If, however, they should be found requisite the officers promise that coalhouses shall be constructed immediately.

That there is near Delano one sectionhouse in course of construction, 30 x 16 feet, with a wing of 12 x 16 feet, and a house for Chinese laborers, 14 x 24 feet, all to be built of wood and covered with shingles. These, when completed, will afford ample accommodations for all the workmen employed.

That on this section there is one station building at Tipton, being a passenger and freight house combined, 32 x 150 feet, sided with planed lumber, painted and covered with shingles. On each side of the building there are platforms ten (10) feet wide.

That there is one turntable at Tipton, with 300 feet of track.

That there is one large stock cattle-pen at Tipton.

That twelve miles southerly from Tipton there is a siding 1,593 feet long which is used for station purposes. There is no station building, none being required either for travel or commerce.

(Note.—The railroad has been built about 1⅔ miles south of the 20-miles stake to "Delano," the present terminus of the Visalia division of the Southern Pacific Railroad, where other buildings, fixtures, tracks, etc., have been finished and are now in actual use and operation in connection with this 20-mile section. They are as follows: A passenger and freight house, same as at Tipton; a turntable, with 450 feet of track; a water tank of 53,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from a well by a "Knowles steam pump"; sidetrack 2,085 feet long, connected at both ends with good switches to the main track; a stock cattle-pen.)

That there are no locomotive stalls or engine-houses, those constructed at Tulare and other points on the road already reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those constructed at other points on the road and heretofore reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements. We are informed by the officers of the company that it is the intention, as soon as sufficient of the railroad shall be built from which to form a new and independent operating division of any considerable length, to construct permanent machine and repair shops in the most durable and substantial manner, and if in the meanwhile additional facilities should be required for repairs or otherwise, arrangements are perfected to have them done, whenever needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin Valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, which connects at Goshen with this railroad and telegraph line.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following rolling stock, which is used on the entire line of its railroad, and is amply sufficient to accommodate present travel and commerce. We are in this also assured by the officers of the company that whenever other rolling stock shall be required it will be bought immediately.

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith for your action the report, dated twenty-third ult., of Messrs. Foulke, Brown, and Sullivan, appointed by you to examine and report upon the fourth section of twenty miles of the road and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, "commencing at a point at the end of the twentieth mile on the line of said railroad south from the intersection of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin Valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad (said point of commencement being in the northwest quarter of section 30, township 21 south, range 25 east, Mount Diablo base and meridian), running thence in a southeasterly direction and ending at the termination of the twentieth mile therefrom, in the northwest quarter of section two, township 25 south, range 25 east, Mount Diablo base and meridian."

The commissioners in their report represent (with a few defects which the co— promise to hereafter remedy) that this section of road is completed and equipped as a first-class railroad, and that the telegraph line is finished for the same distance and is first class. I therefore respectfully recommend the acceptance of the same and the issue to said company of patents for lands due on account of the construction thereof agreeably to the provisions of the act of Congress entitled "An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Coast," approved twenty-seventh of July, 1866, and the acts amendatory thereof, approved twenty-fifth of July, 1868, and twenty-eighth of June, 1870.

Report.

San Francisco, California,
September 19, 1874.

To Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of Interior of the United States of America.

Sir: We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States appointed to examine the fifth (5th) section of twenty (20) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at a point at the end of the fortieth (40th) mile on the line of said railroad south from the intersection of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin Valley Branch of the Central Pacific Railroad (said point of commencement being in the northwest quarter (N. W. ¼) of section two (2), township twenty-five (25) south, range twenty-five (25) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian), running thence in a southeasterly direction and ending at the termination of the twentieth (20th) mile therefrom, in the northeast quarter (N. E. ¼) of section nine (9), township twenty-eight (28) south, range twenty-six (26) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian,

certify:

That we have carefully examined such section, and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the government should accept as first class.

That in this distance (20 miles) there are:

4,386 feet of level line.
18,800 feet of grades, 0 to 5 feet per mile.
23,700 feet of grades, 5 to 10 feet per mile.
41,900 feet of grades, 10 to 15 feet per mile.
16,814 feet of grades, 15 to 18.48 feet per mile

Total length, 105,600 feet, or 20 miles.

Maximum grade, 18 48-100 feet per mile.

That also in this distance of 20 miles there are:

92,400 feet of straight line.
13,200 feet of curve, 0° 14′.

Total length of 105,600 feet or twenty miles, tangents and curve.

The radius of the curve is 24,555 feet.

That all the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the rails weigh not less than fifty-six (56) pounds per lineal yard, and the joints are made with fish-plates, and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie.

That there are three sidings, as follows:

One at Delano, connected at both ends with main track with good switches ..... 3,285 ft.
One at Delano, with turntable, connected with main track with a good switch..... 313 ft.
One at a point 11 8-10 miles south of Delano, with good switches at both ends..... 1,100 ft.

Total length of side-track ..... 4,698 ft.

That there are 2,450 ties per mile of redwood or red cedar timber, in all cases at least 6 by 8 inches by 8 feet long.

(The cross-ties are in the aggregate over eight inches wide and make a bearing surface equal to at least 2,640 ties per mile.)

That the said section is ballasted with a superior quality of sand, sandy loam, and gravel, of which the road-bed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

That the excavations and the embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions.

That there is one trestle bridge 416 feet long, having 26 spans of 16 feet each, on pile foundation, crossing Poso creek.

That there are seven (7) culverts, as follows:

1 Box culvert, 1½ x 2 feet, of redwood.
3 " " 2 x 2 " " "
3 " " 2 x 3 " " "

7 culverts.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten (10) miles of the railroad. The material used in the construction of the trestle bridge, the culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance of decay.

We have the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same becomes necessary and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

At Delano there is one water tank of 53,000 gallons capacity, supplied from a well by a "Knowles steam pump."

That there are no wood or coal houses, none being required. Fuel for locomotives is taken at fuel stations on the road outside of this twenty-mile section, which were heretofore reported upon. If fuel-houses shall be found necessary, the officers promise that they shall be built immediately.

That there are four section-houses at Delano, sizes—24 feet x 30 feet, 25 x 15 feet, 15 x 15 feet, and 12 x 12 feet.

That at Delano there is one passenger and freight house combined, 32 x 150 feet, sided with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles. On each side of the building there are platforms ten (10) feet wide.

That there is one turntable at Delano, with 313 feet of track; also one large cattle-pen.

(Note.—At Lerdo, 1 3-10 miles south from the end of this section, there is a siding 1,289 feet long, connected with the main track by means of good switches at both ends.

Workmen are now engaged in completing the road south 13 7-10 miles from the end of this section to Bakersfield, and it will soon be in operation to this point. The company will make here a regular station, as well as a temporary terminus, and with this intention is now building there a passenger and freight house combined, together with necessary locomotive stalls, turntables, sidetracks, water tanks, platforms, cattle-pens, coal platforms, &c., &c.)

That there are no locomotive stalls or engine-houses, those constructed at Tulare and other points on the road already reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those at other points upon the road and heretofore reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements. We are informed by the officers of the company that it is the intention, as soon as sufficient of the railroad shall be built from which to form a new and independent operating division of any considerable length, to construct permanent machine and repair shops in the most durable and substantial manner, and if in the meanwhile additional facilities shall be required for repairs or otherwise arrangements are perfected to have them made, when and as they may be needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin Valley Branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, which connects at Goshen with this railroad and telegraph line.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following locomotives and cars, which are used on the entire line of its railroad, viz:

Locomotives.

The above locomotives and cars are amply sufficient to accommodate present commerce and travel, as this section of twenty miles runs through an unsettled and undeveloped country, affording but little, if any, present additional business to the road. The officers of the company say that when other rolling stock shall be required it will be immediately procured.

That said twenty miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed as near as may be on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, approved June 28, 1870, towit, "On the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the third of January, 1867."

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

That this section of railroad and telegraph line was completed and equipped on the thirteenth day of June, 1874, and that both are first class.

That the telegraph line is constructed as follows: Not less than 30 redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8 x 8 inches; at top, 4 x 5 inches; length, 24 feet; they are set to a depth of four feet in the ground. Number 9 galvanized wire is used. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

Sir: I have the honor to submit for your action the report date nineteenth ult., of Messrs. Foulke, Brown, and Sullivan, appointed by you to examine and report upon the Southern Pacific Railroad & Telegraph line. They have examined an additional section of twenty miles "commencing at a point at the end of the fortieth mile on the line of said railroad south from the intersection of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin Valley

Report.

San Francisco, California, August 3, 1875.

To Hon. C. Delano, secretary of interior of the United States of America:

Sir: We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States appointed to examine the sixth (6th) section of twenty (20) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at a point at the end of the sixtieth (60th) mile on the line of said railroad south from the intersection of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad (said point of commencement being in the northeast quarter (N. E. ¼) of section nine (9), township twenty-eight (28) south, range twenty-six (26) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, running thence in a southeasterly direction and ending at the termination of the twentieth mile therefrom, in the northeast quarter (N. E. ¼) of section five (5), in township thirty (30) south, range twenty-nine (29) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, certify: That we have carefully examined such section, and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the government should accept as first class.

That in this distance (20 miles) there are:

14.414 5-10	feet of level line.
7.500	feet of grades, 0 to 5 ft. pr mile
29.800	feet of grades, 5 to 10 ft. pr mile
18.600	feet of grades 10 to 15 ft. pr mile
22.285 5-10	feet of grades, 15 to 20 ft. pr mile
1.500	feet of grades 20 to 25 ft. pr mile
1.500	feet of grades, 25 to 30 ft. pr mile
5.600	feet of grades, 35 to 40 ft. pr mile
3.400	feet of grades, 45 to 50 ft. pr mile
1.000	feet of grades, 55 to 60 ft. pr mile

Total lngth 105.600 feet, or 20 miles.
Maximum grade, 59.84 feet per mile.

That also in this distance of twenty (20) miles there are:

95.236 6-10	feet of straight line.
2.421 4-10	feet of curve, 0° 14′.
7.942	feet of curve, 0° 20′.

Total length of 105.600 feet, or twenty miles. Tangents and curves.
Minimum radius, 17.189 feet.

That all the iron is of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the rails weigh not less than fifty-six pounds per lineal yard, and the joints are made with fish-plates, and that all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are four sidings, having an aggregate length of 5,784½ feet, as follows, all being connected at both ends with main track with good switches, viz:

One at "Lerdo," 1.289 feet
One at "Sumner," 1.379 feet
One at "Sumner," 1.505½ feet
One at "Sumner," 1.611 feet

Total, 5.784½ feet of side track.

That there is one turntable track at Sumner 542½ feet long, connected with the main track by means of a good switch; that there are 2,430 ties per mile, of redwood or red-cedar timber, in all cases at least six by eight inches by eight feet long. (The cross-ties are in the aggregate over eight inches wide and make a bearing surface equal to at least 2,640 ties per mile.)

That said section is ballasted with a superior quality of sand, sandy loam, and gravel, of which the roadbed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of the law and the instructions.

That there are ten (10) bridges, as follows, viz:

One bridge across Kern river, consisting of fourteen spans, of straining beam truss of sixty feet each, resting on timber pile piers, with pile bridge approaches, (composed of one hundred and twenty spans of sixteen feet each) and having an aggregate length of 2,760 feet and being in every respect a first-class structure.

	Length.	No. of spans.	Width of span.
1 pile bridge.....	96 feet	6	16 feet
1 pile bridge.....	80 feet	5	16 feet
2 pile bridges.....	64 feet	4	16 feet
2 pile bridges.....	48 feet	3	16 feet
1 pile bridge.....	16 feet	1	16 feet
2 pile bridges.....	14 feet	1	14 feet

Total, 9 pile bridges.

That there are fifteen (15) culverts, as follows, viz

	ft.		ft.
2 box culverts,	1	x	1	, of redwood
1 box culvert,	1	x	1½	, of redwood
4 box culverts,	1½	x	1½	, of redwood
1 box culvert,	1½	x	2	, of redwood
7 box culverts,	2	x	2	, of redwood

15 box culverts.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten (10) miles of the railroad.

The material used in the construction of bridges, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific Coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance to decay.

We have the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same may become necessary, and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

At Sumner there is one water tank of 18,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from a well by a "Knowles steam pump."

That there are no wood or coal houses, none being required, the fuel for locomotives being taken on at points on the road outside of this twenty-mile section, and heretofore reported upon. If fuel-houses shall be found necessary, the officers promise that they shall be built immediately.

That there are section-houses for the accommodation of employees as follows, viz:

One at "Lerdo," size, 12 x 14; one 14 x 24; one 12 x 12, and one 12 x 14, for tools.

One at "Sumner," size, 14 x 24; one 12 x 12; one 14 x 24, for tools.

That for the accommodation of passenger and freight business there is a station building at Sumner (near Bakersfield) consisting of a passenger and freight-house combined, 138 feet by 32 feet, sided with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles. On three sides of the building there are platforms ten feet wide. On the fourth side the platform is twelve feet wide.

That there is at Sumner one large cattle-pen and a coal platform 214 feet long, with an average width of 20 feet.

That there are no locomotive stalls or engine-houses on this section, those constructed at Tulare and other points on the road already reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements. (At the date of our last report—September 19, 1874—it was contemplated to make Sumner a temporary terminal point and to erect locomotive stalls there, but the railroad having been extended a long way beyond, and the temporary terminus changed, and stalls not being necessary there at present, the railroad company deemed it best to postpone the building of them until they should be needed.)

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those at other points upon the road and heretofore reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements. We are informed by the officers of the company that it is the intention, as soon as sufficient of the railroad in this section of country shall be built from which to form a new and independent operating division of any considerable length, to construct permanent machine and repair shops in the most durable and substantial manner; and if in the meanwhile additional facilities shall be required for repairs or otherwise, arrangements are perfected to have them made, when and as they may be needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, which connects at Goshen with this railroad and telegraph line.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following locomotives and cars, which are used on the entire line of its railroad, viz:

Locomotives.

Cars.

27 passenger cars.
3 smoking cars.
1 passenger and baggage car.
6 baggage cars.
1 officers' car.
1 pay car.
1 hunting car.
199 box cars.
91 flat cars.
14 stock cars.
4 caboose cars
1 boarding car.
12 dump cars
1 wood car (4-wheel car).
9 stone cars (4-wheel cars).
25 hand cars.
31 push cars.

The above locomotives and cars are amply sufficient to accommodate present travel and commerce, as this section of twenty miles runs through a country almost unsettled and undeveloped (except at the small village of Bakersfield), affording but little, if any, present additional business to the road. The officers of the company say that when other rolling stock shall be required it will be immediately procured.

That said twenty miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed, as near as may be, on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, approved June 28, 1870, towit, "on the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the third of January, 1867."

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

That this section of railroad and telegraph line was completed and equipped on the tenth day of June, 1875, and that both are first class.

That the telegraph line is constructed as follows: Not less than thirty redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8 x 8 inches; at top, 4 x 5 inches; length, 24 feet. They are set to a depth of four feet in the ground. Number nine galvanized wire is used. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best mainufacturers.

That of this distance, twenty (20) miles, there are 16.85 miles laid with iron rails and 3.15 miles with steel rails; that all the iron and steel are of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the iron rails weigh not less than fifty-six (56) pounds per lineal yard, and the steel rails weigh fifty (50) pounds per lineal yard; that all the joints are made with fish-plates, and all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are five sidings, having an aggregate length of 6,227 feet, connected with the main track at each end with good switches, and one siding, 482 feet long, connected with the main track at one end with a good switch; that there is one turn-table track, 431½ feet long, connected with the main track with a good switch; that there is an average of 2,640 ties per mile, of redwood or red cedar timber, 6 by 8 inches by 8 feet long.

That said twenty-mile section is ballasted with a superior quality of sand and gravel, of which the road-bed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions.

That there are fifteen (15) bridges, as follows:

	Length.	No. of Spans.	Width of Span.
1 pile bridge....	144 feet.	9	16
3 pile bridges...	128 feet.	8	16
1 pile bridge....	127.6 feet.	8	16
1 pile bridge....	127.2 feet.	8	16
2 pile bridges...	126.4 feet.	8	16
2 pile bridges...	112 feet.	7	16
1 pile bridge....	110.6 feet.	7	16
1 pile bridge....	94.8 feet.	6	16
1 pile bridge....	65.5 feet.	4	16
With stone abutments.
1 pile bridge....	47.4 feet.	3	16
1 pile bridge....	12 feet.	1	12

Total, 15 pile bridges.

That there are twenty (20) culverts, as follows.

1 box culvert, 1 x1½ ft., of redwood.
1 box culvert, 1 x2 2-12 ft., of redwood.
1 box culvert, 1½x2 ft., of redwood.
8 box culverts, 1½x2½ ft., of redwood.
2 box culverts, 2 x2 ft., of redwood.
4 box culverts, 2 x3 ft., of redwood.

Total, 17 box culverts, of timber.

1 box culvert, 2 x3 ft., of stone.
1 box culvert, 2½x3 ft., of stone.
1 culvert of stone, 4 ft. semi-circular arch, sides to springing of arch, 3 ft. high.

Total, 3 culverts of stone.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found generally along the line of the road in places that were reasonably accessible. It would, in consequence of the rough and mountainous character of the country, require a haul by wagon of at least ten miles to get a proper quality of stone to the points on the road where it could have been used, although in some instances ledges of rock occurred where the distances in a direct line were much less. At one or two points enough of good stone was found with which to build three culverts and abutments for one bridge. The timber used in the construction of the bridges, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific Coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance to decay.

We have the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments now constructed of timber will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same may become necessary and suitable materials can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That in this section of twenty (20) miles there are two tunnels, having an aggregate length of 478 feet, viz:

Tunnel No. 1, situated 17¾ miles from the commencement of the section 245.8 feet in length, of which 62.2 feet are on a straight line and 179.6 feet on 10 deg. curve.

Tunnel No. 2, situated 18⅝ miles from the commencement of the section, 232.2 feet in length, all of which is on 10 deg. curve.

That these tunnels, being excavated through soft rock, required lining. They are well and substantially timbered throughout with the best quality of coast redwood or Puget Sound cedar, the arch ribs (10x14 inches) which support the sheeting being in no case more than five feet apart from center to center and being much nearer wherever the nature of the ground required it.

These tunnels inside the timbering have the following dimensions in the clear, viz:

Height from floor to soffit of arch	20 ft. 10 in.
Height from floor to springing line of arch	12 ft. 10 in.
Width at floor	14 ft. 00 in.
Width at springing line of arch	16 ft. 00 in.

That on 10 deg. curves the two latter dimensions are increased as follows, viz:

Width at floor .....15 ft. 00 in.
Width at springing line of arch.....17 ft. 00 in.

Suitable portals of timber, strongly framed, have been erected at the ends of each of the tunnels. Proper provision has also been made for the drainage of the tunnels.

At Pampa there is one water tank of 18,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from Walker's Basin creek by gravity.

Also, at Pampa, one siding 1,167 feet long, with good switches at each end.

At Caliente there is one water tank, 64,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from Tehachapi creek by gravity.

Also one siding, 5,060 feet long, with good switches at each end.

Also one siding 482 feet long, with a switch at one end only.

Also one turn-table, with 431½ feet of track.

That there are no wood or coal houses, none being required, the fuel for locomotives being taken on from a coal platform at Caliente, and also at other points on the road outside of this 20-mile section and heretofore reported upon. If fuel-houses shall be found necessary the officers promise that they shall be built immediately.

That there are section-houses for the accommodation of employés as follows:

One at Pampa, 16½ feet by 51 feet, and one hand-car house 14½x 20 feet, both built of rough lumber and covered with shingles.

One at Caliente, 20 feet by 29 feet, constructed of planed redwood and covered with shingles; also one 16 feet 5 inches by 30 feet 3 inches, with wing 13 feet by 16 feet 3 inches, sided with rough lumber and covered with shingles.

That for the accommodation of passenger and freight business there is a station building at Caliente, consisting of a passenger and freight house combined, 32 feet by 140 feet, made with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles. On three sides of the building there are platforms ten feet wide. On the fourth side the platform is 60 feet long and 52 feet wide.

That there are also at Caliente:

One shop for local repairs, 24½ feet by 30 feet, made with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles.

Two tool and hand-car houses, 10.5 feet by 14.4 feet, sided with rough lumber and covered with shingles.

One coal platform, 200 feet long, with a width of 24 feet, and having a wing 50 feet long, with an average width of 9½ feet.

That there are no locomotive stalls or engine-houses on this section, those constructed at Tulare and other points on the road, already reported upon, being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those at other points upon the road and heretofore reported upon being amply sufficient for the present requirements of this section. We are informed by the officers of the company that it is the intention, as soon as sufficient of the railroad in this section of country shall be built from which to form a new and independent operating division of any considerable length, to construct permanent machine and repair shops in the most durable and substantial manner, and if in the meanwhile additional facilities shall be required for repairs or otherwise, arrangements are perfected to have them made, when and as they may be needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin Valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad. which connects at Goshen with this railroad and telegraph line.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following locomotives and cars which are used on the entire line of its railroad which includes this 20-mile section, viz:

Locomotives.

Cars—

27 Passenger cars.
3 Smoking cars.
1 Passenger and baggage car.
6 Baggage cars.
1 Officers' car.
1 Pay car.
1 Hunting car.
199 Box cars.
141 Flat cars.
24 Stock cars.
4 Caboose cars.
1 Boarding car.
12 Dump cars.
9 Stone cars (4-wheel cars).
1 Wood car (4-wheel cars).
25 Hand cars.
31 Push cars.

The above locomotives and cars are amply sufficient to accommodate present commerce and travel, as this section of twenty miles runs through a country almost unsettled and undeveloped, affording but little, if any, present additional business to the road. The officers of the company say that when other rolling stock shall be required it will be immediately procured.

That said twenty miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed, as near as may be, on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, approved June 28, 1870, towit, on "the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior, on the 3d of January, 1867."

That said section of railroad and telegraph line, or any part thereof, has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore [prior to July 27, 1866] been granted by the United States."

That this section of railroad and telegraph line was completed and equipped on the thirteenth day of January, 1876, and that both are first-class.

That the telegraph line is constructed as follows: Not less than 30 redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8x8 inches; at top, 4x5 inches; length, 24 feet. They are set to a depth of four feet in the ground. Number 9 galvanized wire is used. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

Respectfully submitted.

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith for your consideration, and, if deemed proper, for your approval, the report, under date of the 27th ultimo, of Messrs. L. M. Foulke, Calvin Brown, and Eugene L. Sullivan, commissioners appointed by you to examine the Southern Pacific Railroad and telegraph line of California. They have examined an additional section of twenty miles (7th), beginning at a point at the end of the eightieth mile on the line of said railroad south from its intersection with the San Joaquin Valley branch of the Central Pacific Railroad (said point of beginning being in the northeast one-quarter of section 5, township 30 south, range 29 east, Mount Diablo base and meridian), running thence in a southeasterly direction and ending at the termination of the 20th mile therefrom in the southeast one-quarter of section 33, township 30 south, range 31 east, same base and meridian.

The commissioners report said section completed and equipped as a first-class railroad, and the telegraph line also completed and first-class. I therefore respectfully recommend the acceptance of said seventh section of twenty miles and the issuance to the company constructing it of patents for lands due on account of such construction, agreeably to the provisions of law.

Very respectfully,
Z. CHANDLER,
Secretary.

Report.

San Francisco, California, January 2, 1877.

To Hon. Zachariarh Chandler, Secretary of Interior of the United States of America.

Sir:

We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States, appointed to examine the eighth (8th) section of twenty (20) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at Goshen, at the initial point of section No. three (3) of the Southern Pacific Railroad, heretofore reported upon (said point of commencement being in the northwest quarter (N. W. ¼) of section nineteen (19), township eighteen (18) south, range twenty-four (24) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian), running thence in a westerly direction and ending at the termination of the twentieth (20th) mile therefrom in the northeast quarter (N. E. ¼) of section two (2), township nineteen (19) south, range twenty (20) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian,

Certify:

That we have carefully examined such section, and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the Government should accept as first class.

That in this distance of (twenty miles) there are—

47,000	ft. of level line.
17,900	ft. of grades, 0 to 5 ft. pr. mile.
21,200	ft. of grades, 5 to 10 ft. pr. mile.
10,485.5	ft. of grades, 10 to 15 ft. pr. mile.
7,514.5	ft. of grades, 15 to 20 ft. pr. mile.
1,500	ft. of grades, 20 to 20.41 ft. pr. mile.

Total length, 105,600 ft., or 20 miles.

Maximum grade, 20.41 feet per mile.

That also in this distance of twenty (20) miles there are—

99,093.5	ft. of straight line.
2,024.5	ft. of curve of 53 minutes.
3,692	ft. of curve of 1 degree.
790	ft. of curve of 2 degrees.

Total length, 105,600 ft., or 20 miles.

Minimum radius, 2,864.9 feet.

That this section of twenty (20) miles is laid with steel rails, all of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the rails weigh not less than fifty (50) pounds per lineal yard; that all the joints are made with fishplates, and all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there is one siding having a length of fifteen hundred feet, connected with the main track at each end with a good switch; that there is an average of two thousand six hundred and forty ties per mile, of redwood or red cedar timber, six by eight inches by eight feet long.

That said twenty-mile section is ballasted with a superior quality of sand and gravel, of which the roadbed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions.

That there are twenty-one (21) bridges, as follows:

	Length.	No. of Spans.	Width of Spans.
1 pile bridge....	272 feet	17	16 feet
1 pile bridge....	208 feet	13	16 feet
1 pile bridge....	112 feet	7	16 feet
2 pile bridges...	96 feet	6	16 feet
2 pile bridges...	64 feet	4	16 feet
2 pile bridges...	48 feet	3	16 feet
7 pile bridges...	32 feet	2	16 feet
5 pile bridges...	16 feet	1	16 feet

Total.....21 pile bridges.

That there are twenty-two (22) culverts, as follows:

1 eight-foot open culvert.
4 box culverts, 2 feet by 2 inches, of redwood.
13 box culverts, 2 feet by 3 inches, of redwood.
4 box culverts, 3 feet by 4 inches, of redwood.

Total.22 culverts.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten miles from the railroad.

The timber used for the construction of the bridges, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties), well known on the Pacific Coast, and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance to decay.

We have the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments now constructed of timber, will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same may become necessary and suitable materials can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That at Hanford there is one water tank of 18,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from a well by a pump.

That there are no wood or coal houses, none being required, the fuel for locomotives being taken on from coal platforms at other points on the road outside of this twenty-mile section, and heretofore reported upon. If fuelhouses shall be found necessary on this section, the officers promise that they shall be built immediately.

That sectionhouses are in course of erection, but are not yet completed.

That for the accommodation of passenger and freight business there is a station building at Hanford, consisting of a passenger and freight house combined, thirty-two feet by seventy-five feet, made with planed lumber, painted and covered with shingles, and having a platform ten feet wide on each side.

That there are no locomotive stalls or enginehouses on this section, those constructed at Tulare and other points on the road already reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those at other points upon the road and heretofore reported upon being amply sufficient for the present requirements of this section. We are informed by the officers of the company that if, in the meanwhile, additional facilities shall be required for repairs, or otherwise, arrangements are perfected to have them made, when and as the same made be needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin Valley Branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, which connects at Goshen with this railroad and telegraph line.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following locomotives and cars, which are used on the entire line of its railroad, which includes this twenty-mile section, viz

Report.

San Francisco, California,
February 9, 1877.

To Hon. Zachariah Chandler, Secretary of the Interior of the United States of America:

Sir: We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States appointed to examine the ninth (9th) section of twenty (20) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at the end of section number eight (8) of the Southern Pacific Railroad (said point of commencement being in the northeast quarter (N. E. ¼) of section two (2), township nineteen (19) south, range twenty (20) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian), running thence in a southwesterly direction and ending at the termination of the twentieth (20th) mile therefrom in the northwest quarter (N. W. ¼) of section eleven (11), township twenty (20) south, range seventeen (17) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, certify: That we have carefully examined such section, and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the government should accept as first class.

That in this distance (20 miles) there are:

18.272 feet of level line.
10.000 feet of grades, 0 to 5 feet per mile
35.200 feet of grades, 5 to 10 feet per mile.
23.314.5 feet of grades, 10 to 15 feet per mile.
12.713.5 feet of grades, 15 to 20 feet per mile.
3.300 feet of grades, 20 to 25 feet per mile.
2.200 feet of grades, 25 to 30 feet per mile.
600 feet of grades, 52 8-10 to feet per mile.

105.600 feet, or 20 miles, total length.

Maximum grade, 52 8-10 feet per mile.

That also in this distance of twenty (20) miles there are:

102,786.6 feet of straight line.
2,813.4 feet of curve 0° 30′.

Total length, 105.600 feet, or twenty (20) miles.

Minimum radius, 11,459.2 feet.

That this section of twenty miles is laid with steel rails, which are all of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 feet 8½ in.); that the rails weigh not less than fifty (50) pounds per lineal yard; that all the joints are made with fish-plates, and all the rails are fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are three (3) sidings, having an aggregate length of 4,121½ feet, connected with the main track at each end with good switches; that there is one turntable track 295 feet long, connected with the main track with a good switch; that there is an average of 2,640 ties per mile, of redwood or red cedar timber, 6x8 inches by 8 feet long.

That said twenty-mile section is ballasted with a superior quality of sand and gravel, of which the roadbed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions.

That there are seven (7) bridges, as follows:

	Length	No. of spans	Width of spans
1 pile bridge..	4,816 feet	301	16 feet.
3 pile bridge..	32 feet	2	16 feet.
2 pile bridge..	16 feet	1	16 feet.
1 pile bridge..	13 feet	1	13 feet.

Total, 7 pile bridges.

That there are three (3) culverts, as follows

	ft.
2 box culverts, 2x2 of redwood.
1 box culverts, 2x3, of redwood.

Total, 3 box culverts.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten (10) miles from the railroad.

The timber used in the construction of the bridges, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties) and well known on the Pacific Coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance to decay.

We have the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments now constructed of timber will be rebuilt in stone when and as the same may become necessary and suitable materials can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That at Kings river there is one water tank of 8,000 gallons' capacity, supplied from Kings river by a steam pump.

That there are no wood or coal houses, none being required, the fuel for locomotives being taken on from coal platforms at Huron and at other points on the road outside of this twenty-mile section and heretofore reported upon. If fuel houses shall be found necessary on this section the officers promise that they shall be built immediately.

That at Huron there is one coal platform 16 feet by 75 feet.

That there are section-houses for the accommodation of employees as follows:

Two at Lemoore, viz:

One 12 feet by 14 feet.

One 14 feet by 18 feet.

Two at Huron, viz:

One 12 feet by 14 feet.

One 14 feet by 18 feet.

These section-houses are sided with rough lumber, painted, and are covered with shingles.

That for the accommodation of passenger and freight business there is a station building at Lemoore, consisting of a freight and passenger-house combined, 32 feet by 82 feet, made with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles, and having on three sides of it platforms ten (10) feet wide, and on the fourth side a platform fifty (50) feet long by fifty-two (52) feet wide.

That there are also at Lemoore:

One stock-pen.

One siding 1,476 feet long, with good switch at each end.

That at a point 1 6-10 miles west from Lemoore there are:

One siding 1,054½ feet long, with a good switch at one end.

One stock-pen.

That at Huron there is a station building, consisting of a freight and passenger house combined, 18 feet by 40 feet, made with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles, and having on each side a platform ten (10) feet wide.

There are also at Huron:

One stock-pen.

One siding 1,502 feet long, with good switch at each end.

One turntable, with 295 feet of track.

That there are no locomotive stalls or engine-houses on this section, those constructed at Tulare and other points on the road already reported upon being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those at other points upon the road and heretofore reported upon affording full facilities for doing all such work as may be required on this section. We are informed by the officers of the company that if in the meanwhile additional facilities shall be necessary for repairs or otherwise, arrangements are perfected to have been made, when and as they may be needed, at the machine and repair shops of the San Joaquin Valley Branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, which connects at Goshen with this railroad and telegraph line.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following locomotives and cars which are used on the entire line of its railroad, which includes this this twenty-mile section, viz:

Report.

San Francisco, California,
January 30, 1878.

To Hon. Carl Schurz, Secretary of the Interior of the United States of America:

Sir: We, the undersigned, commissioners of the United States, appointed to examine the tenth (10th) section of forty-one 66-100 (41 66-100) miles of the railroad and telegraph line of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, commencing at a point at the end of the one-hundredth (100th) mile on the line of the said railroad south from intersection of the Southern Pacific Railroad with the San Joaquin Valley Branch of the Central Pacific Railroad, said point of commencement being in the southeast quarter (S. E. ¼) of section thirty-three (33), township thirty (30), south, range thirty-one (31) east, Mount Diablo base and meridian, running thence in a southeasterly direction, and ending at the termination of the forty-first 66-100 (41 66-100) mile therefrom in the northeast quarter (N. E. ¼) of section seventeen (17), township eleven (11) north, of range twelve (12) west, San Bernardino base and meridian, certify, That we have carefully examined such section, and that the alignment and grades are as represented on the accompanying map and profile, and are such as, in view of the capabilities of the ground, the government should accept as first class.

219,960.4 feet or 41 66-100 miles, total length.

Maximum grade, 116 16-100 feet per mile.

That, also, in this distance of forty-one 66-100 (41-66-100) miles, there are:

Total, 219,960.4 feet or forty-one 66-100 (41 66-100) miles.

Minimum radius, 573 69-100 feet.

That the whole of this distance of forty-one 66-100 (41-66-100) miles, is laid with steel rails; that the steel is of American manufacture and of the best quality, and that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½in.); that the rails weigh not less than fifty (50) pounds per lineal yard; that the joints are made with fish-plates, and all the rails fastened with four spikes to each tie; that there are twelve (12) sidings having an aggregate length of 16,289.4 feet, connected with the main track at each end with a good switch; that there is one siding 1,463 feet long, connected with the main track by a good switch at one end; that there are two turntable tracks having an aggregate length of 1,077 feet, connected with the main track by a good switch; that there is an average of 2,640 ties per mile, of redwood or red-cedar timber 6 by 8 inches by eight feet long.

That the said forty-one 66-100 mile section is ballasted with a superior quality of sand and gravel, of which the roadbed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

That the excavations and embankments are in strict conformity to the requirements of law and the instructions.

That there are seventeen (17) bridges, all built on pile foundation as follows, viz:

1 bridge over Tehachapi creek, 462 feet long, composed of three spans, 64 feet each, of straining-beam bridge and of 270 feet of piled approaches, consisting of 17 spans of 16 feet each.

1 bridge over Tehachapi creek, 345½ feet long, composed of three spans, 64 feet each of straining beam bridge and of 153½ feet of piled approaches, consisting of 10 spans of 15 1-3 feet each,

1 bridge over Tehachapi creek, 257 feet long, composed of one Howe's truss span of 53 feet, and of 204 feet of piling, consisting of 17 spans of 12 feet each.

1 bridge over Tehachapi creek, 202 feet long, composed of one span of 64 feet, of straining-beam bridge, and of 138 feet of piling, consisting of 9 spans of 15 1-3 feet each.

1 bridge over Tehachapi creek, consisting of one span of 64 feet, of straining-beam bridge.

1	" "	2½	x	3	" "

3 4 feet semicircular arched culverts of stone.
— sides, to springing line of arch, 3 feet high.

Total, 14 culverts of stone.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found, generally, along the line of the road, in places that were reasonably accessible. It would, in consequence of the rough and mountainous character of the country, require a haul by wagon of at least ten miles to get a proper quality of stone to the points on the road where it could have been used, although, in some instances, ledges of rock occurred where the distances, in a direct line, were much less. At one or two points enough of good stone was found for the construction of fourteen culverts.

The timber used in the construction of the bridges, culverts, and bridge abutments is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar (the same used for ties) well known on the Pacific coast and universally sought after on account of its great durability and resistance to decay.

We have the assurances of the managers and directors that the culverts and bridge abutments now constructed of timber, will be rebuilt in stone, when, and as the same may become necessary, and suitable material can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That in this section of forty-one 66-100 (41 66-100) miles, there are fifteen (15) tunnels having an aggregate length of 7,205.9 feet. viz:

Note. Tunnels Nos. 1 and 2 are situated in 20-mile section No. Seven (7), which immediately precedes this section, and which has been already reported upon.

Tunnel No. 3 Situated 1.6 miles from the commencement of this section. 707.7 feet in length, of which 541 feet are on tangent, 99 feet on 10° curve, and 67.7 feet on 7° curve.

Tunnel No. 4 Situated 1.8 miles from the commencement of this section. 257 feet in length,—all of which is on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 5 Situated 2.4 miles from commencement of this section. 1,156.3 feet in length, 913.9 of which is on tangent and 242.4 feet on 9° 20′ curve.

Tunnel No. 6 Situated 2.7 miles from the commencement of this section, 303.7 feet in length,—all of which is on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 7 Situated 4.5 miles from the commencement of this section, 532.7 feet in length,—all of which is on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 8 Situated 5 miles from the commencement of this section, 690 feet in length,—of which 530.1 feet are on tangent and 159.9 feet are on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 9 Situated 11.8 miles from the commencement of this section. 426.2 feet in length,—all of which is on 0° 20′ curve. Here occurs the curved pieceof line popularly known as the "Loop." The road, after leaving this tunnel, is constructed for 3,794 7-10 feet, on a spiral curved line of about 10°, and,on the crestof the ridge, crosses directly over the tunnel, at a perpendicular height of 77 46-100 feet above the roadbed beneath. By this arrangement, and by constructing 2 58-100 miles of road, at a maximum grade of 116 feet per mile, it was made possible to surmount an elevation of 281 48-100 feet between two points distant 0 83-100 mile from each other on an air line. The company was enabled thereby, to improve the location of its line between Caliente and this tunnel, and to construct the road on more favorable ground and at a cheaper rate than otherwise could have been done. Most of the rugged mountain spurs and deep canyons are avoided and the road is placed on the gentle slopes bordering the valleys, thereby greatly increasing its safety and making its repair less expensive.

Tunnel No. 10 Situated 13.1 miles from the commencement of this section — 306.6 feet in length—all of which is on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 11 Situated 13.8 miles from the commencement of this section—158.8 feet in length—of which 75 feet are on tangent and 83.8 feet are 4° curve.

Tunnel No. 12 Situated 15.8 miles from the commencement of this section—756.3 feet in length—all of which is on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 13 Situated 16 miles from the commencement of this section, 513.8 feet in length—all of which is on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 14 Situated 16.2 miles from the commencement of this section, 512.7 feet in length, 14 feet of which are on tangent and 498.7 feet are on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 15 Situated 16.5 miles from the commencement of this section, 360.7 feet in length,—of which 284.3 feet are on tangent and 76.4 feet are on 5° curve.

Tunnel No. 16 Situated 16.7 miles from the commencement of this section—262.5 feet in length,—of which 33.1 feet are on 30′ curve and 229.4 feet are on 10° curve.

Tunnel No. 17 Situated 16.8 miles from the commencement of this section,—260.9 feet in length,—of which 35.6 feet are on 0° 30′ and 225.3 feet are on 10° curves.

That tunnels numbers 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, and 17 were excavated thro' soft rock and required lining throughout their entire length. They are, consequently, well and substantially timbered with the best quality of coast redwood or Puget Sound cedar. The arch ribs (10 x 14 in.) which support the sheeting, being in no case more than 5 feet apart from center to center, but being placed much nearer wherever the nature of the ground required it, which was generally the case, causing the average distance between centers to be about 3½ feet.

That tunnels numbers 7, 8, 10, and 11 were excaved thro' a sounder quality of rock and required timbering for a part of their length only. Wherever, from the nature of the ground passed through, these tunnels required to be timbered, it was done in the same substantial manner as in the other tunnels above described.

That all these tunnels have the following dimensions in the clear, viz.

Height from floor to soffit of arch, 20 feet 10 inches.

Height from floor to springing line of arch 12 feet 10 inches.

Width at floor, 14 feet.

Width at springing line of arches 16 feet.

That on curves over 4° the two latter dimensions are increased as follows, viz.

Width at floor 15 feet.

Width at springing line of arch 17 feet.

Suitable portals of timber, strongly framed, have been erected at the ends of each of the tunnels (with the exception of the south end of tunnel No. 11.) Proper provision has, also, been made for the drainage of the tunnels.

That there are six (6) water tanks, each of 52,000 gallons capacity, supplied from springs by gravity. That these tanks are located as follows, viz.

One, each at Bealeville and Keane.

One at a point two miles west of Tehachapi Summit railroad station.

One, at Cameron and two, at Mojave.

That there are no wood or coal houses, none being required, the fuel for locomotives being taken on from coal platforms at Caliente and Mojave, and also at other points on the road outside of this 41 66-100 miles section and heretofore reported upon. If fuel-houses shall be found necessary on this section the officers promise that they will be built immediately.

That there are section-houses for the accommodation of employés, as follows, viz:

Three at Bealeville: One size 16 x 30, with wing 12 x 16 feet. One, size 14 x 20 feet. One, size 12 x 20 feet.

Three at Cameron: One, size 16 x 30, with wing 12 x 16 feet. One, size 18 x 21 feet. One, size 12 x 14 feet.

Four at Mojave: One, size 16 x 30, with wing 12 x 16 feet. One, size 14 x 22 feet. One, size 12 x 14 feet. One, size, 24 x 24 feet.

The section-house 24 x 24 feet at Mojave is made with planed lumber, while all the others are built of rough lumber, painted, and covered with shingles.

That there are six (6) hand car and tool houses along the line of the road, as follows, viz:

At Bealeville: One, size 14 x 20 feet.

At Keene: One, size 14 x 20 feet.

At a point two miles west of Tehachapi summit station: One, size 14 x 27 feet.

At Cameron: One, size 14 x 20 feet.

At Mojave: Two, size 12 x 16 feet each.

All these hand-car and tool houses are sided with rough lumber, painted, and covered with shingles.

That for the accommodation of passenger and freight business there isa station building at Keene,consisting of a passenger and freight house combined, 24 feet by 62 feet, made with planed lumber, painted, and covered with shingles and having platforms 10 feet wide on each side.

That there are also at Keene

One sand-house, size 12 x20 feet, built of rough lumber, painted and covered with shingles.

One siding, 1,186 feet long, with good switches at each end.

That there is a station building at Tehachapi summit, consisting of a passenger and freight house combined, 32 feet by 82 feet, built of planed lumber, covered with shingles and painted and having platforms 10 feet wide on each side.

One siding, 2,157.5 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 1,736.5 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One turntable with 305 feet of track.

That there is a station building at Mojave, 32 feet by 131.6 feet, built of planed lumber, painted and covered with shingles and having a platform 10 feet wide on three sides, and one 50 feet by 52 feet on the fourth side.

That there are, also, at Mojave:

One engine house of fifteen stalls, built of rough lumber, and painted and covered with sheet iron.

One office building 25 x 40 feet, built of planed lumber painted and covered with shingles.

One office building, 20 x 40 feet, built of rough lumber, painted and covered with shingles.

One sand-house, 24 x 30 feet.

One coal platform, 28 x 422 feet

One turn-table, with 772 feet of track.

One siding, 1,994.7 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 1,585.7 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 1,292 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 1,241 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 959 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 882 feet long, with good switches at each end.

One siding, 1,463 feet long, with a good switch at one end.

That, in addition to the sidings described above, at Keene, Tehachapi and Mojave, there are others situated as follows, viz:

One siding, at Bealeville 1,034 feet long, with good switch at each end.

One siding, at Girard, 970 feet long, with good switch at each end.

One siding, at Cameron, 1,251 feet long, with good switch at each end.

That no machine or repair shops have been built, those at other points upon the road and heretofore reported upon, being amply sufficient to meet its present requirements.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company owns the following locomotives and cars, which are used on the entire line of its railroad, which includes this forty-one and sixty-six one-hundredths miles section, viz:

The above locomotives and cars are more than sufficient for present business and requirements, and no more will be needed for some considerable time to come, as this section of forty-one and sixty-six one-hundredths miles runs through a country almost unsettled and undeveloped, affording but little, if any, present additional business to the road. The officers of the company say that when other rolling stock shall be required it will be immediately procured.

That said forty-one and sixty-six one-hundredths miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed as near as may be, on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, completed and equipped on the seventeenth day of De- by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad company in the department of the interior, on the third of January, 1867."

That said section of railroad and telegraph line, or any part thereof, has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which, lands have heretofore, (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

That this section of railroad and telegraph line was completed and equipped on the seveneenth day of December, 1877, and that both are first-class.

That the telegraph line is constructed as follows: Not less than 30 redwood poles to the mile; size at bottom, 8x8 inches; at top 4x5 inches; length 24 feet; they are set to a depth of four feet in the ground, number 9 galvanized wire is used. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

We recommend the acceptance by the governmnt, of the section forty-one sixty-six one-hundredths (41 66-100) miles of railroad and telegraph line, hereinbefore described.

Respectfully submitted,

Z. B. S.

Washington, 10 Dec. 1884.

Gentlemen:

Application having been made by C. P. Huntington, A. & A. of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, for the examination, by commissioners, of two hundred and forty-two and 507-1000 (242 507-1000) miles of the completed line of said company's road, commencing at Mohave Junction, California, and ending at the Needles, on the Colorado river, California, you have been appointed by the President of the United States, commissioners to examine and report upon the same.

The appointment is made upon condition that you have neither directly nor indirectly any interest in this corporation, nor any connection with or bias for or against it which would interfere with an impartial performance of the duties imposed upon you. Three commissioners are required to make the examination and sign the report; therefore, if either should decline, the others will not be authorized to act until they are advised of the appointment of another person to fill the vacancy.

A map and profile of the road examined will be transmitted with your report. I inclose herewith forms of certificates to be made on such map and profile by the president and chief engineer of the company.

You will be guided in the discharge of your duties by the "Circular of instructions for the examination of railroads," dated 28th April, 1871—copy herewith.

The president of the company will furnish you with his affidavit, showing the commencement, termination, and length of the road to be examined, and that it is completed as required by law and the instructions of this department. The affidavit will accompany your sworn report to the "secretary of the interior."

The twenty-first section of the act of 27th July, 1866 (14 Statutes, 299), fixes your compensation at ten dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily employed, and ten cents per mile for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in discharging the duties required of you, which per diem and mileage shall be in full compensation for your services, and must be paid by the company. Duplicates of the receipts given by you, on payment thereof, will be inclosed with the report.

Very respectfully,

M. L. JOSLYN,
Acting secretary.

The locomotives and cars enumerated above are sufficient for present business and requirements, as this division of two hundred and forty-two 507-1000 (242.507) miles runs thro' a country unsettled and undeveloped, affording but little, if any, present additional business to the road. It may be assumed that when additional rolling stock shall be required it will be immediately obtained.

That said two hundred and forty-two 507-1000 (242.507) miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed as near as may be on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, approved June 28, 1870, towit, "on the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the third of January, 1867."

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed "on the line of any other railroad route to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866) been granted by the United States."

That these sections of railroad and telegraph line were completed and equipped on the eighteenth day of April, A. D. 1883, and that both are first class.

That the telegraph line is constructed as follows: Not less than thirty redwood poles to the mile, size at bottom, 8 by 8 inches; at top, 4 by 5 inches, length, 24 feet; they are set to a depth of 4 feet in the ground. Number

9 galvanized iron wire is used. The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style, and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

We recommend the acceptance by the government of the foregoing sections, aggregating two hundred and forty-two 507-1000 (242.507) miles of railroad and telegraph line hereinbefore described.

Respectfully submitted.

For system of curves see map and appendix "A."

That all the rail is of American manufacture and of steel of the best quality; that the road is of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches (4 ft. 8½ in.); that the rails weigh not less than sixty (60) pounds per lineal yard and the joints are made with two angle plates each, and that the rails are fastened with at least four (4) spikes to each tie; that there is an average of two thousand, six hundred and forty (2,640) ties per mile of split redwood, six (6) by eight (8) inches by eight (8) feet long.

That these twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousands (20 559-1000) miles of railroad are ballasted with a superior quality of sand and gravel of which the road-bed is composed, no better material being found within very many miles of the line of the railroad.

All embankments are fourteen (14) feet wide at grade, with slopes of one and one-half base to one rise.

All excavations are sixteen (16) feet wide at grade with slopes from three-quarters (¾) of one to one and one-half base to one rise. All excavations are of earth or cemented material.

That there is one (1) wooden bridge, on this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one-thousands (20 559-1000) miles at Pos*ia* creek, three and six-tenths miles from the initial point of this section, consisting of two spans of eighty feet, each resting on piers of timber. This bridge has sixteen feet of trestle approach on the east end and one hundred and twelve feet of trestle approach on the west end.

There are also on this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles, twenty-six (26) trestles having an aggregate length of sixteen hundred and eighty (1,680) feet as follows:

	Length.	No. of spans.	Length of spans
1 pile trestle	.....320 feet	20	16 feet each
1 " "	.....256 "	16	16 " "
1 " "	.....192 "	12	16 " "

1 " "	.....112 "	7	16 " "
5 " "	..... 48 " each	3	16 " "
1 " "	..... 32 "	2	16 " "
14 " "	..... 16 "	1	16 " "

That there are upon this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles, forty (40) culverts as follows:

	Length.	No. of spans.	Length of span
1 pile culvert	.....40 feet	8	5 feet each
1 " "	.....20 "	4	5 " "
5 " "	.....15 " each	3	5 " "
1 " "	.....10 "	2	5 " "
2 " "	.....10 " "
30 " "	..... 5 " "

There are also twelve (12) surface box culverts built of pine and redwood timber.

No stone suitable for building purposes could be found within a distance of ten (10) miles from the railroad.

The timber used in the substructure of these trestles, culverts and bridge piers is the most durable the country can afford, being the black or coast redwood or red cedar, well known on the Pacific Coast as a wood of great durability and resistance to decay; the superstructure being in all cases of Oregon pine.

We are, however, assured by the directors that the culverts, bridge abutments and piers of timber will be built in stone when, and as the same may become necessary, and suitable materials can be found within a reasonable distance of the line of the road.

That there are on this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles, six (6) sidings having an aggregate length of 8,027 feet connected with the main track at each end with good switches and one (1) spur track having a total length of 340 feet, connected with the main track by a similar switch at one end only.

These sidetracks are situated as follows:

Two (2) side tracks at Dathol, 7 0-10 miles from the initial point of this section.

Lengths, 1,441 9-10 feet and 1,201 9-10 feet respectively.

Two (2) side tracks at Coalinga, 15 4-10 miles from the initial point of this section.

Lengths, 1,443 7-10 feet and 1,202 7-10 feet respectively.

Two (2) side tracks and one (1) spur track at Alcalde, 20 4-10 miles from the initial point of this section.

Lengths, 1,518 4-10 feet, 1,218 4-10 feet and 340 feet respectively.

Each of these side tracks is laid with steel rail, of American manufacture, of the best quality, the portion between switch and frog weighing not less than sixty (60) pounds per lineal yard, the remainder of the side track being laid with rail weighing not less than fifty (50) pounds per lineal yard.

That there are station buildings, turntables and corrals as follows:

At Alcalde.

One combination passenger and freight depot 25x90 feet. This building has platforms 14 feet wide in front, 8 feet wide in rear, 12 feet wide on passenger end and 36 feet wide on freight end.

One stock corral 47x103 feet.

One turntable (wood) 56 feet diameter.

That there are no wood or coal houses on this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles, the fuel for locomotives being taken on from coal platforms at Huron and at other points on the road outside of this section and heretofore reported upon.

That there are no engine house, machine or repair shops on this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles, none being required as those at Tulare and at other points on the line heretofore reported upon, are sufficient for present requirements. We are informed by the directors of the company that when additional accommodation in machine and repair shops shall be needed it shall be at once provided.

That there are section houses for the accommodation of employees as follows:

At Coalinga.

One section-house 16x24 feet, with addition 12x14 feet.

One sleeping-house 14x22 feet.

One cook-house 12x14 feet.

One tool-house 12x16 feet.

All the station and other buildings mentioned above have frames of Oregon pine, sided with redwood lumber and roofs covered with shingles.

The buildings on this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles are amply sufficient for the present business of the road. Should its future business require either an extension of the present buildings or the erection of new ones, the directors of the company assure us that they will be supplied in proper time and place.

That there are upon the Southern Pacific Railroad locomotives and cars as follows, viz:

223 locomotives.
234 passenger cars.
27 baggage cars.
25 baggage, mail and express cars.
2 officers' cars.
84 caboose cars.
328 fruit cars.
3,596 box freight cars.
1,083 flat cars.
4 pile-driving cars.
57 hand, section and push cars.

That no special assignment of rolling stock has been made to this section of twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles of said road, but there are in daily use upon said section locomotives and cars sufficient in number for the requirements of its business.

Whenever this section requires either for its commercial business, construction or repair work additional rolling stock it is immediately detailed for such purposes and sent to it from other divisions.

That all the rolling stock above described was procured for this road from the shops of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, in Sacramento, and from the shops of first-class Eastern builders.

That said twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles of railroad and telegraph line are constructed as near as may be on the line specified in the "joint resolution" concerning the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, approved June 28, 1870, to-wit: On the route indicated by the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the department of the interior on the third day of January, 1867.

That said section of railroad and telegraph line or any part thereof has not been constructed on the line of any other railroad route, to aid in the construction of which lands have heretofore (prior to July 27, 1866), been granted by the United States.

That the telegraph line is constructed, as follows and that it is first-class.

Not less than twenty-five (25) redwood poles to the mile, size at bottom 8x8 inches, at top 4x5 inches and twenty-five (25) feet in length; that they are set in the ground to an average depth of four (4) feet.

Number nine (9) galvanized iron wire is used with glass insulators on brackets.

The office instruments are of the very best quality, of the most improved style and are furnished by the best manufacturers.

And we do hereby certify that this section of said railroad and telegraph line was fully completed and equipped prior to the sixteenth day of July, A. D. 1888, and in the manner required by law and is first-class.

And we respectfully recommend the acceptance by the government of said twenty and five hundred and fifty-nine one thousandths (20 559-1000) miles.

Letter of the Secretary.

Department of the Interior.

Washington, October 23, 1889.

Sir:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the report of George W. Bird, Allan E. Morrison and Orlando O. Stealey, appointed by your predecessor on the twenty-eighth day of February, 1889, commissioners to examine and report upon a completed section of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, consisting of 20.55 miles.

The grant to this company is incorporated in that to the Atlantic & Pacific Railway Company, act of July 27, 1866 (14 Stats. 292), the eighteenth section of which provides:

"That the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, is hereby authorized to connect with the said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, formed under this act, at such point, near the boundary line of the State of California, as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and shall have a uniform gauge and rate of freight or fare with said road; and in consideration thereof, to aid in its construction, shall have similar grants of land, subject to all the conditions and limitations herein provided, and shall be required to construct its road on the like regulations, as to time and manner, with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad herein provided for."

This report is predicated upon the fourth section of said act, which reads:

"That whenever said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company shall have twenty-five consecutive miles of any portion of said railroad and telegraph line ready for the service contemplated, the President of the United States shall appoint three commissioners to examine the same, who shall be paid a reasonable compensation for their services by the company, to be determined by the secretary of the interior; and if it shall appear that twenty-five consecutive miles of said road and telegraph line have been completed in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner, as in all other respects required by this act, the commissioners shall so report, under oath, to the President of the United States, and patents of lands, as aforesaid, shall be issued to said company, confirming to said company the right and title to said lands situated opposite to and coterminous with said completed sections of said road. And from time to time, whenever twenty-five additional consecutive miles shall have been constructed, completed, and in readiness as aforesaid, and verified by said commissioners to the President of the United States, then patents shall be issued to said company conveying the additional sections of land as aforesaid and so on as fast as every twenty-five miles of said road is completed as aforesaid."

Said report appears to be conformable to said section, and therein said commissioners certify that said road, together with the telegraph line, was completed prior to the sixteenth day of July, 1883, in the manner required by law, and recommend the acceptance of the same by the government.

The grade for this section does not exceed the maximum provided for by the rule. As to the other objections, I can see no good reason for not adopting the language of Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar, in his report on the two sections of the California & Oregon Railroad, herewith submitted, and which is quoted in full in my letter relating thereto.

I have examined the report upon this section of the road and upon a fair consideration of the subject advise the acceptance of said section and that for the lands earned by the construction thereof patents be issued to said company, in compliance with the term of the grant thereto.

Your authority to act in the premises is derived from section 4 of the act, where it is provided:

"If it shall appear that twenty-five consecutive miles of said road and telegraph line have been completed in a good substantial and workmanlike manner, as in all other respects required by this act, the commissioners shall so report under oath to the President of the United States, and patents of land, as aforesaid, shall be issued to said company." Etc.

This would seem upon its face to allow the patents to issue upon the mere fact of the report being made; but the practice has always been that upon the report being made and recommended by the secretary, the President should act upon the same.

While the act provides that commissioners shall be appointed and report for each twenty-five consecutive miles, yet this provision of the statute heretofore has not been observed by former administrations, as there have been sixteen sections of this road already approved and in no instance has the mileage been exactly twenty-five miles. The sections heretofore approved vary from twenty to one hundred and eighteen and thirty-seven hundredths miles. It is therefore in accordance with this practice that I make this recommendation to you.

If you approve this, you will please so signify on the back of this communication, where the form is prepared.

Most respectfully.

Secretary.

Messrs. Sullivan, Bender & Sturgus,

Gentlemen:

Application having been made by the President of the Southern Pacific R. R. Co. for the examination by commissioners of one hundred and eighteen and 37-100 miles, of the completed line of said company's road, commencing at a point in the S. W. ¼ of sec. 24, T. 5 S., R. 7 E., San Bernardino base and meridian, and ending at a point in the S. The appointment is made upon condition that you have neither directly nor indirectly any interest in this corporation, nor any connection with or bias for or against it which would interfere with impartial performance of the duties imposed upon you. Be pleased to at once advise this department whether you accept or decline the position. If you accept, the enclosed blank oath must be duly executed and returned. Three commissioners are required to make the examination and sign the report; therefore, if either should decline, the others will not be authorized to act until they are advised of the appointment of another person to fill the vacancy.

A map and profile of the road examined will be transmitted with your report. I enclose herewith forms of certificates to be made on such map and profile by the President and chief engineer of the company.

You will be guided in the discharge of your duties by the "circular of instructions for the examination of railroads," dated 28th April, 1871—copy herewith.

The 21st section of the act of 27th July, 1866 (14 Statutes, 299), fixes your compensation at $10 per day for each day actually and necessarily employed, and 10 cents per mile for each mile actually and necessarily traveled in discharging the duties required of you, which per diem and mileage shall be in full compensation for your services, and must be paid by the company. Duplicates of the receipts given by you on payment thereof, will be inclosed with the report.

On the reception by the department of your letters of acceptance and oaths of office, you will be ordered to proceed with the examination.

A copy of the President's order appointing you commissioners is herewith enclosed.

President's Office, A. & P. R. R. Co.

Boston, April 6, 1872.

Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company has filed its maps delineating its route through the Indian territory, Northern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and portions of California to San Francisco. The company has requested you to order the lands to be withdrawn appurtenant to the line so far as the maps have been filed. Reiterating the request, I respectfully ask the department to inform me whether the line as filed is approved, and whether orders have been issued to withdraw such lands granted to the company under the provisions of the act of Congress relating to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, approved July 27, 1866.

I especially request you to decide whether the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company has not the right to construct its road on the line as filed to San Francisco, in view of the operations of the company requiring a large outlay of capital in the construction of its road in California which its stockholders would not wish to jeopardize.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

FRANCIS B. HAYES,

Pres't of Atlantic & Pacific R. R. Co.

Hon. C. Delano, Secretary of Interior,
Sir:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt, with request for report, of letter of Francis B. Hays, Esq., president of Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to the department relative to a withdrawal of lands for said railroad in California, and asking the decision of the department as to the right of the company to construct its road on the line as filed to San Francisco.

The act of incorporation passed July 27, 1866 (Stat., vol. 14, page 292), authorized the construction of the road from Springfield, Missouri, by the way of certain points to the Colorado river at such point as may be selected by said company for crossing "thence by the most practicable and eligible route, to the Pacific."

The lines of road, as filed by the company, with your letter of 7th ult., indicate the general direction of the line and show San Francisco as the objective point on the Pacific Coast, and from the general contour of the country, indicate the most practicable and eligible route to the principal commercial port of the Pacific.

Maps for the withdrawal of lands are being prepared and unless the secretary sees objections, the withdrawals will be directed so soon as the maps are completed.

I am, sir,

Very respectfully,

W. W. CURTIS,

I, Lewis A. Groff, commissioner of the general land office, do hereby certify that the annexed copy of letter, dated August 15, 1872, by N. L. Jeffries, filing certain maps of location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, is a true and literal exemplification of the same as it appears of record in this department.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name, and caused the seal of this office to be affixed, at the city of Washington, on the day and year above written.

LEWIS A. GROFF,
Commissioner of the General Land Office.

(Deposition of HARRISON W. GARDINER on behalf of complainants in the case of United States v. Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al., No. 184, before Asa P. French, notary public at Boston, Mass.)

Direct Examination by Mr. CALL.

Q. Have you in your possession and under your control as secretary of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company the record of meetings of the board of directors of that company and meetings of the executive committee and stockholders? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Is that contained in one volume or more?

A. It is contained in three separate volumes, numbered 1, 2 and 3.

Q. Does that record show the action of the board of directors of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and of the executive committee of that company concerning the maps filed by the company in the interior department in the year 1872.

A. There are certain votes in record book of that period as to the adoption and filing of such maps with the secretary of the interior.

Q. Will you produce the record referred to?

Witness produces record.

Q. Please read in evidence the record of the meeting held on February 1, 1872, concerning action of the board of directors upon the map to be filed by the company. What was the date of this meeting?

A. February 1, 1872.

(Objected to by Mr. Payson as not coming within the order of the Court under which permission was given to take this additional proof.)

"Mr. Blickensderfer, the chief engineer of the road, laid before the committee surveys of the proposed line of the road.

Resolved, That the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad between a point on the western boundary line of the county of Los Angeles and a point in township 7 (7) north and range seven (7) east of San Bernardino base and meridian, State of California, be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of J. Blickensderfer, Jr., this day presented to us for approval.

Also, that the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad between San Francisco and San Miguel Mission in the State of California, be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of said chief engineer, also presented to us this day for approval, and that the President be authorized to make the necessary certificates required by law to said plats and file the same with the secretary of the interior as the designation of the route of said company's road between the points mentioned."

Q. What date was the next vote of the company concerning the approval of maps in 1872?

A. At a meeting of the executive committee, July 18, 1872. "A plat of the line of the road between San Miguel Mission in the valley of the Salinas river in the county of San Luis Obispo and the boundary line between the counties of Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, was laid before the committee, and the following resolution presented:

Resolved, That the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad in the State of California, between the San Miguel Mission in the valley of the Salinas river in the county of San Luis Obispo and the boundary line between the counties of Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, in the valley of the Santa Clara river be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of J. Blickensderfer, Jr., chief engineer, this day presented to us for approval, and that the President be authorized to make the necessary certificates required by law to said plats and file the same with the secretary of the interior as a designation of the route of said company's road between the points mentioned.

The plat and resolution were referred to the President to ascertain if this route is the most desirable and acceptable to the people of California."

Q. What is the next meeting concerning that matter?

A. At a meeting of the executive committee, August 6, 1872.

"The following resolution presented at the meeting of the executive committee of July 18th, last, and then referred to the President was taken up and read:

Resolved, That the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad in the State of California between the San Miguel Mission in the valley of the Salinas river in the county of San Luis Obispo and the boundary line between the counties of Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, in the valley of the Santa Clara river, be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of J. Blickensderfer, Jr., chief engineer, this day presented to us for approval, and that the President be authorized to make the necessary certificates required by law to said plats, and file the same with the secretary of the interior as a designation of the route of said company's road between the points mentioned.

The President reported that he had ascertained that the route proposed was proper and should be adopted.

The resolution was adopted.

A plat of the route of this company's road through part of San Bernardino, California, and to the western bank of the Colorado river, Arizona, was presented, and it was Resolved, That the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad in the county of San Bernardino, State of California, and to the east side of the Colorado river in Arizona, being a part of the line or route of said railroad, be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of J. Blickensderfer, J., chief engineer, this day presented to us for approval, and that the President be authorized to make the necessary certificates required by law to said plat and file the same with the secretary of the interior as a designation of the route of this company's road between the points mentioned."

Q. Read the record concerning the action of the board of directors upon the adoption and filing of these maps.

A. At a meeting of the directors, March 4, 1872. "The record of the meetings of the directors of November 10, 1871, and of the executive committee of November 16th, 25th, December 14th, 20th, 22nd, January 17th, 27th, February 1st, 19th, and 27th last, were read approved and confirmed."

Q. Please turn to the next meeting of the board concerning the approval of these maps and of the action of the executive committee.

A. At a meeting of the directors, August 14, 1872. "The record of the directors of July 18th (two meetings on that day) and July 19th last, and of the executive committee of July 18th last and August 6th instant, was read."

Q. Are those records of July signed by the secretary?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Please read into the record the proceedings of the meeting held on November 25, 1871.

A. At a meeting of the executive committee, November 25, 1871. "The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad between the western boundary of the State of Missouri and the mouth of King Fisher creek in Indian Territory be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of J. Blickensderfer, Jr., chief engineer, this day presented to us for approval, and that the portion of this company's branch route between the western boundary of the State of Arkansas and a point in the valley of the Canadian river near ninety-sixth meridian be definitely fixed in accordance with survey and plat of said chief engineer also presented to us this day for approval, and that the president be authorized to make the necessary certificates required by law to said plats and file the same with the secretary of the interior, as a designation of the route of said company between the points mentioned."

Q. Is that record of that meeting duly attested by the secretary of the company? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Read the record of the meeting of January 17, 1872.

A. At a meeting of the executive committee, January 17, 1872:

"Resolved, That the main route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad between the mouth of King Fisher creek in the Indian Territory to the point where it crosses the eastern boundary line of the Territory of New Mexico be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of J. Blickensderfer, Jr., chief engineer, this day approved; and that the portion of the company's branch route from a point in the valley of the Canadian river near the ninety-sixth meridian in the Indian Territory to the intersection of said branch with the main line of said Atlantic & Pacific Railroad at a point in the valley of said Canadian river west of the Red Hills, be definitely fixed in accordance with the survey and plat of said chief engineer, also presented to us this day for approval, and that the president be authorized to make the necessary certificates required by law to said plats and file the same with the secretary of the interior as a designation of the route of said company's road between the points mentioned."

Q. Was Mr. J. Blickensderfer, Jr., the chief engineer of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company in June, 1871? A. I believe he was.

Q. Do you know how many engineers the company had in their employ in the year 1871?

A. I do not. I know that Mr. Robinson was from records that—I know in a general way that Mr. Robinson was an engineer in charge of surveys.

Q. Do the records show how many surveying parties the company had in the field at various times?

A. I believe not. It don't appear to have been made a matter of record in the proceedings of the board.

Q. Do the records of the company show any action of the board of directors concerning a map of general route or other route of any part of the line in California filed or to be offered to be filed in the interior department in the year 1869?

Objected to by Mr. Payson as incompetent under the order under which this evidence is permitted to be taken.

A. Not so far as I have found.

Q. Can you produce before the notary a record of any such meeting concerning that matter?

A. I don't know of any such record.

Q. Are you familiar with the records of the company during that period?

A. I cannot say that I am, not having been employed by the company at that time.

Q. Please examine the record of the proceedings of the company for the year 1869 and prior to that time, and state whether there is any record of any action by the company concerning a map of a line from Colorado river to the bay of San Francisco.

A. You mean the record of the proceedings of the board?

Q. Yes, sir.

A. I made an examination of the records yesterday with reference to this question and did not find any proceedings of the board relating to such map or maps.

Q. Do you know of your own knowledge whether any maps, reports of engineers and surveys belonging to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company are at this time in the custody of any other person? A. I do not.

HARRISON W. GARDINER.

The reservation of the right to object on the part of the defendant as to all questions of competency is understood to include the competency of the examination of Mr. Gardiner on the direct examination by Mr. Call as not coming within the order under which this testimony is being taken.

Plaintiff's Exhibit No. 66.

DEPOSITION.

THOMAS F. LAYCOCK, a witness produced on behalf of the complainant, being first duly cautioned and sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination.

By Mr. CALL.—Q. 1. What is your name?

A. Thomas F. Laycock.

Q. 2. What position do you hold in the United States land office at Los Angeles?

A. Clerk of the register, United States land office.

Q. 3. Have you produced the maps of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company requested? A. Yes, sir.

Q. 4. Have you got them now in your custody?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 5. I request that you will produce them before the examiner. A. (Maps produced by witness.)

Q. 6. Have you there a map of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad route from the west boundary line of Los Angeles county to a point in township seven north, range seven east?

Mr. REDDING.—Objected to as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant; calling for an opinion of the witness; and on the further ground that the testimony in this case does not show that the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company has made any route or located any line, or definitely fixed any line of road in the State of California. And the further objection that this is not proper evidence to be offered in rebuttal, but, if relevant at all, it should have been offered by the government on the direct testimony of the complainant. And the further ground that there has been no basis made for its introduction in rebuttal, on the ground that it could not have been introduced at the time the government endeavored to make out its direct case. And defendants hereby move to strike this testimony from the files as constituting an impertinence, and will bring on said motion for hearing as soon as counsel can be heard and after the taking of testimony in this case has been finally closed.

A. Yes, sir.

Q 7. (By Mr. CALL)—Does that show the twenty and thirty-mile withdrawal limits?

Mr. REDDING.—The same objections.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 8. (By Mr. CALL)—What endorsements are there upon that map made by the office?

A. They are pretty nearly obliterated. There are some on the bottom of it, endorsed on the back. The endorsement on the back is "Map of the A. & P. Railroad in California from range 8 east to 17 west, S. B. M., inclusive. Filed May 6, 1872. Of effect from March 12, 1872. Commissioner's letter of April 22, 1872. H. C. Austin, Register." I would state that this is a copy of the endorsement that is on the margin of this map, but it became almost obliterated and it was put on there.

Q. 9. How much can you read of the original endorsement on the map?

A. I can't read but very little of it without a glass.

Q. 10. I ask you to read what you can of it.

Mr. REDDING.—Note the same objections to each question, Mr. Reporter.

A. "May 6, 1872. Take effect from March 12, eighteen seventy"—something, "by commissioner's letter of April 22, 1872. H. C. Austin." The balance is torn off.

Q. 11. (By Mr. CALL)—Is that H. C. Austin's signature?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. This is his signature, yes, and it is all in his handwriting.

Q. 12. (By Mr. CALL)—Are you acquainted with his handwriting?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. I know it from seeing it in the office.

Q. 13. (By Mr. CALL)—Who was H. C. Austin?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. He was register at the time that this map was received in the office.

Q. 14. (By Mr. CALL)—In 1872?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. Register of the United States land office.

Q. 15. (By Mr. CALL)—I ask you to compare that map with map in evidence in this case marked Complainant's Exhibit 48, and state whether the one is a copy of the other.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. I would state that I have carefully examined both maps, and that up to the west line of range seven they are perfectly identical—the west line. Beyond that—that is as far as Los Angeles county goes. East of that there is a difference in the two maps. And then the difference here is—there is also this portion that goes outside of this Los Angeles land district.

Q. 16. (By Mr. CALL)—You are referring to the map in the Los Angeles land office?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. So far as the Los Angeles land district is concerned they coincide exactly—so far as it is in this county is concerned.

Q. 17. (By Mr. CALL)—Extending westward to the ocean, or how far?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. This one map—the two of them extend—this extends beyond Santa Barbara to the ocean. To the end of this land district. This piece is cut out.

Q. 18. (By Mr. CALL)—Wait a moment. I am not referring to that map yet. I ask you to produce, if you have it in your custody, map of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from the records of your office, showing the line from Los Angeles county by way of San Buenaventura and Santa Barbara.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections. Mr. Call, I understand it is agreeable to you that where I have used the words "same objections," or do use them, that it is considered to apply to the last stated objection as if it were repeated in detail.

Mr. CALL.—Yes, sir.

Q. 19. Have you the map there?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 20. (By Mr. CALL)—What endorsements are there, if any, on that map?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. There are some. "Filed December 10, 1874." These endorsements are in lead pencil—or rather blue and red pencil. "And withdrawal to take effect from April 15, 1872."

Q. 21. (By Mr. CALL)—I ask you to compare that map last referred to with the map in evidence in this case marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 49 and state whether they are copies or not.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection.

A. I would state I have carefully compared the two and find these two maps identical.

Q. 22. (By Mr. CALL)—Then the two maps on file in the United States land office, with the endorsements you have stated, are identical copies of the two maps marked Complainant's Exhibits No. 48 and 49, so far as the lands are involved in the United States land district, are they?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. In this Los Angeles land district, yes, sir.

Q. 23. (By Mr. CALL)—Have you produced before the examiner the letter called for by your subpoena, being the letter of the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office at Los Angeles, California, dated November 23, 1874, and also the letter from the commissioner of the general land office to said register and receiver, dated April 22, 1872?

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections.

A. Neither of those letters can be found in the United States land office. We have had a careful search for them both, by myself and others, and they cannot be found. They are missing, both of them. They are not in the office.

Q. 24. (By Mr. REDDING)—What letters are those?

A. Those two letters that transmitted these maps. April 22, one is, I think, and the other—

Mr. CALL.—That is all.

Cross-Examination.

By Mr. REDDING.—Q. 25. Have you been able to find any evidence of those letters of transmittal having been received by your office?

A. Nothing beyond the endorsements on the maps.

Q. 26. But the receipt of the letters themselves, have you been able to find proof of?

A. I cannot find anything, and we have searched the office through thoroughly.

Q. 27. Then, so far as you are aware or can fix from the records of your office, you have no evidence to show that the letters of transmittal with the instructions therein were ever received by the land office at Los Angeles? A. Beyond the endorsements on the maps.

Q. 28. Who made the endorsements on those maps, do you know?

A. The endorsement on the map is in the handwriting of the register, Mr. Austin, as I know his handwriting from other records in the office. It is written in pencil and it is written by him.

Q. 29. How long have you been in the office?

A. Been in the office four years.

Q. 30. When was he in the office, how long ago?

A. 1872.

Q. 31. When did he leave the office?

A. I don't just know when he did leave.

Q. Well, then, how do you happen to know his handwriting?

A. By the records of the office in his handwriting. That is all.

Q. 33. Did he ever tell you that any particular handwriting was his own handwriting?

A. No, he never told me himself; but I know his handwriting in the office; that is all.

Q. 34. Well, how do you know it?

A. Well, I know it from the others.

Q. 35. Other people have told you so?

A. Other people have told me so; that is all. I never saw his handwriting that I know of—oh, I have seen it, but I never compared it with that.

Q. 36. Well, then, as I understand, you yourself do not know of your own knowledge his handwriting?

Mr. CALL.—I object as being incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and because the witness has already stated that he knew it from other records in his office.

Q. 37. (By Mr. REDDING)—Now, answer my question.

A. I know it by other records that I know are in his handwriting. And the comparison, so far as that is concerned, I know his handwriting as well as I know any one's, of course, in that way.

Q. 38. Let me ask you how you know his handwriting except it is by what other people told you?

A. I have letters written by himself, and other records in the office.

Q. 39. How do you know that was his signature?

A. Well, I suppose so. It is like everything else in the office. It is part of the records of the office.

Q. 40. Did you ever see him write his signature?

A. I have seen him write his signature; yes, sir.

Q. 41. You have seen him?

A. Yes, sir; several times.

Q. 42. Where?

A. In the office, endorsing papers and other matters; but I don't know it—I must say that I don't know it from that, because I have never compared it. But I simply know it from the records of the office, as I know anything of that kind.

Q. 43. Somebody has told you that that is his signature to these records?

A. No, sir. It is official. There is nothing to tell. It is an official record of the office.

Q. 44. How long since you have seen this gentleman?

A. Mr. Austin?

Q. 45. Yes.

A. Oh, I don't know. I think I saw him a few days ago.

Q. 46. He is still in Los Angeles, is he?

A. Yes, sir; he is Justice of the Court here.

Q. 47. Could he be produced by the government in this case here to testify if they saw fit to produce him?

A. I don't know why not, because he is right here. He is Judge of the Police Court now, at the present time.

Mr. REDDING.—That is all.

(Signed) THOMAS F. LAYCOCK.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated March 9, 1872, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, being a tracing reproducing the original marks and lines of such letter; and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 50.

Mr. REDDING.—The defendants object to the introduction of this last exhibit as not being authorized by law, in that there is no provision for the land office to exemplify a tracing attempting to reproduce the character and marks of an original letter on file; that the Revised Statutes provide that the interior department may exemplify copies of documents, but not exemplify an alleged reproduction or fac simile of an original; that the same, therefore, is incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant. Defendants furthermore object to the same unless it is accompanied by the proper oral testimony or proper proofs of the character of the document sought to be reproduced, and herewith ask leave, if it become necessary, to have the necessary testimony taken for the purpose of having the Court informed as to the truth of the contents, form and character of the original letter of transmittal of March 9, 1872, herein sought to be reproduced, reproduced, or any other documents of like nature. Defendants furthermore object to the same, if it is introduced to show a copy of the said letter, as being an encumbrance to said record, in that there is a copy of the said letter already on file in this case; and the defendants give notice that they herewith move to strike the same from the files of this Court as an impertinence to the record, and will call on for hearing said motion when the testimony in this case has been finally closed.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated March 9, 1872, from the office of the secretary of the interior of the United States, being a copy of said letter as imprinted in the press copy book of said department; and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 51.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection, and further objected to as not forming and not being proper evidence, in that it is offered simply to show a supposed impression taken upon tissue paper of a letter which has been transmitted and is now on file in the office of the commissioner of the general land office; that the impression is not the best evidence, and is not competent, and is irrelevant and immaterial. And the same is further objected to as not being proper rebuttal testimony, but belongs to the direct case. And the defendants give notice that they herewith move to strike the same from the files of this Court as an impertinence to the record, and will call on for hearing said motion when the testimony this case has been finally closed.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated March 9, 1872, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, from the records of the office of the secretary of the interior, being a letter transmitting for appropriate action four maps showing the location of portions of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, and being the record of the letter before offered and marked Complainant's Exhibit

No. 51; and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 52.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection. And defendants respectfully call attention of the Court to the fact that this is offered as a copy of the records kept in the interior department, which records are written out in longhand, but is not the letter of transmittal itself, which is on file in the office of the commissioner of the general land office. They furthermore object that the same is not proper rebuttal testimony and give notice that they herewith move to strike the same from the files of this Court as an impertinence to the record, and will call on for hearing said motion when the testimony in this case has been finally closed.

Mr. REDDING.—I understand that this is not offered by you as an exemplified copy of the letter as transmitted, or rather as on file, but as an exemplified copy of the record of this letter kept in the interior department.

Mr. CALL.—It is offered as a record of the interior department and of the secretary of the interior.

I offer in evidence a letter dated November 23, 1874, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver of the United States land office, at Visalia, California, transmitting map of definite location of Atlantic & Pacific Railroad; and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 53.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objections. Same notice. And same motion.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated November 23, 1874, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver at San Francisco, California, transmitting a map of the definite location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

Mr. REDDING.—Between what points?

Mr. CALL.—It evidently refers, from the maps, from the western boundary line of Los Angeles county to San Miguel Mission by way of Santa Barbara and Ventura.

Mr. REDDING.—Does it so state in the letter?

Mr. CALL.—It does not state so in the letter, but I state that from other letters sent at the same time in reference to the same matter, in evidence in the case.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection. Defendants also object to the counsel for complainant using the term "definite location" in respect to these letters of transmittal. Same notice; same motion.

Mr. CALL.—I ask that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 54.

I now offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated April 22, 1872, from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver at San Francisco, California, transmitting map of definite location of Atlantic & Pacific Railroad from San Miguel Mission to San Francisco, and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 55.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection; same notice, and same motion.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated May 7, 1872, from H. C. Austin, register of the land office at Los Angeles, California, to the commissioner of the general land office, acknowledging the receipt of his letter of April 22, 1872, with the map therein enclosed; and ask that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 56.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection; same notice, and same motion.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of a letter dated October 18, 1877, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, relating to the maps of definite location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company and orders of withdrawal for said company, and refusing to set aside such withdrawal or restore the lands withdrawn for the benefit of said railroad company, and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 57.

Mr. REDDING.—Same objection; same notice, and same motion.

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence an exemplified copy of letters dated April 16, 1872, from the secretary of the interior to the commissioner of the general land office, and of April 11, 1872, from the secretary of the interior to Francis B. Department of the Interior,
Washington, D. C., March 19, 1867.

Sir:

Under date of January 3, 1867, a map showing the designated route of the Southern Pacific Railroad in California, filed under the act of Congress approved July 27, 1866, was sent to you for appropriate action. If a withdrawal of lands has not been ordered on account of said road, you will cause the necessary instructions to be issued to the local land officers to withhold the odd sections within the granted limits of twenty miles on each side of said road, as shown on the map before mentioned and also withdraw the odd sections outside of the twenty miles and within thirty miles on each side, from which the indemnity for lands disposed of within the granted limits is to be taken.

The even sections within the twenty-mile limits will, under the act 3d March, 1853, "An act to extend pre-emption rights to certain lands therein mentioned," be increased to $2.50 per acre and subject to the provisions of the pre-emption and homestead laws at that price.

Mineral lands other than coal and iron are excluded from this grant.

I do not think it necessary at this time to pass upon the question as to whether this railroad company have adopted the route of any other railroad. Any indemnity of grant arising out of conflict of location under the first proviso in the third section of the act will be reserved for future consideration.

The withdrawal will be ordered to take effect upon the receipt of your instructions at the local office.

Very respectfully,
Your obt. servant,
O. H. BROWNING,

LETTER.

Department of the Interior,
Washington, D. C., July 14, 1868.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the eighteenth ultimo and accompanying papers, having reference to the withdrawal of certain land in California for railroad purposes.

It appears that Franklin Steel, Esq., on the 23d of May last, asked that the lands situated between San Francisco and San Jose, in California, be restored to the condition they were in prior to the withdrawals made respectively in 1864 and 1867 for the Central Pacific Railroad Company of California and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Mr. Steele states that the existence of these withdrawals, which he claims were improvidently made, absolutely estop citizens from settling upon or locating the odd sections and requires payment of double price for the even sections.

Referring to papers previously filed in your office he asks that the matter be examined.

The withdrawal in 1864 was made for the Central Pacific Railroad Co. of California. The San Francisco and San Jose Railroad Company as assignees of that company claimed the benefit of said withdrawal under the acts of Congress of July 1, 1862, and July 2, 1864.

After the consideration of the claim of said company, it was rejected on the 31st of October last, and you were so advised on the 12th of November following. Consequently that withdrawal of itself will not stand in the way of a restoration.

The grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is by the 18th section of the act approved July 27, 1866 (14 Stat. 299), which provides that the company incorporated under the laws of the State of California is authorized to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, formed under the act, at such point as they shall deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, etc., and to aid in the construction makes similar grants of land, subject to the conditions, limitations, etc., imposed upon the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company.

The company claim that under the articles of association they have the option of locating the terminus of their road at any point on the bay of San Francisco, and that the act of Congress absolutely makes San Francisco the western terminus, and consequently their right to the land is a perfect between the points mentioned as it is between San Jose and the connecting points with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company having been recognized by Congress as a corporation formed under state laws, the question arises what was the location of their road as required by those laws?

From the papers it appears that under the general railroad law of the State, approved May 20, 1861, authority is given to any number of persons, not less than ten, being subscribers, etc., to adopt articles of association wherein they are required to state "the place from, and to which, the proposed road is to be constructed, and the counties into and through which it is intended to pass, and its length, as near as may be," with authority to make a change in the general route, but not so as to avoid any point named in the articles of association.

The articles of association designate the route of the road as "from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Los Angeles, and San Diego to the town of San Diego in said State, thence eastward through said county of San Diego to the eastern line of said State of California, there to connect with a contemplated railroad from said eastern line of the State of California to the Mississippi river."

The first county mentioned envelopes the lower portion of the bay of San Francisco. To reach the city of San Francisco from there, the road would have to be constructed northward through the counties of San Mateo and San Francisco (counties not mentioned in the articles of association), a distance of near fifty miles, and along side of or upon the railroad already constructed, and upon which the cars were and had been running for nearly two years prior to the adoption of said articles of association.

The State law requires the corporations to fix the place from, and to which, the proposed road was to be constructed, and the counties through which it was intended to pass. This was done.

The starting point being from some point on the bay of San Francisco, and the first county through which it was intended to pass is Santa Clara, no authority is conferred to construct the road through counties to the north of it, leaving out of view the fact that at the date of corporation a railroad company created by and under the same State law had then a railroad constructed and in operation along the narrow peninsula which extends from San Jose to San Francisco.

Further than this, other portions of the route as designated do not conform to law. The line does not touch the counties of San Luis Obispo, Los Angeles and San Diego. In fact, the same does not go to within something like 150 miles of the town of San Diego, a point at which the road is required to go, and from which it is to start for the eastern line of the State, there to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad.

The route of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad through the territories of the United States to the eastern boundary of the State of California has not been fixed so far as this department is advised, and until that company fix the route of their road to that point, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company will be unable to meet and connect with it.

This designation of the general route of the Southern Pacific Railroad not conforming to law, my order of the 19th March, 1867, directing you to order a withdrawal of lands for said road is hereby revoked, and you will immediately issue instructions to the proper local officers in California restoring the lands to the status they held at the date of the withdrawals before mentioned.

Upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company designating the route of ther road in conformity with law, and filing a map thereof in this department, duly certified, such orders will be issued as may seem to be required to protect the rights of the company. I return the papers.

Very respectfully,
Your ob't. servant,
O. H. BROWNING,
Secretary.

LETTER.

Department of the Interior,
Washington, D. C., February 21, 1870.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the nineteenth instant, inclosing an affidavit of Lloyd Tevis (president) and B. B. Minor (secretary) of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California, showing the completion of thirty miles of the road and telegraph line of said company, commencing at San Jose and terminating at Gilroy, and requesting the appointment of commissioners to examine and report upon the same. They state in their affidavit that said section of road has been constructed on and along the line of the road as designated on the plat thereof filed in the general land office January 3, 1867, and entirely within the limits of the public lands withdrawn by the order of the secretary of the interior, dated March 19, 1867.

In reply I state, that the route of the road as shown on the map referred to was found by my immediate predecessor and myself, after full and careful consideration, not to be designated in conformity with the charter of the company. Consequently, the order withdrawing the lands was revoked by this department; but afterwards the restoration of those lands was suspended to await the action of Congress.

I, therefore, cannot recognize any right in the company to lands, nor to have commissioners appointed to examine any portion of their road, until a map shall be filed and accepted by this department showing the line of the road to be located as required by their charter; or until Congress, by appropriate legislation, shall confer on the company a grant of lands on the route designated upon the map referred to in said affidavit.

LETTER.

Pac. R. Rds.

Department of the Interior,

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11, 1869.

Sir:

I have received your letter of the fifth instant, returning, at my request, my decision of the second instant, in the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and the accompanying map filed by the president of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, upon which he asks that the lands along the route shown upon the map (being the same as that of the Southern Pacific Railroad), may be reserved for his company.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company was organized by the adoption of articles of association, November 29, 1865, under the general law of the State of California, "approved May 20, 1861, and the several acts supplementary to and amendatory thereof, for the purpose of constructing, owning and maintaining a railroad from some point on the bay of San Francisco, in the State of California, and to pass through the counties of Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Los Angeles and San Diego, to the town of San Diego in said State; thence eastward through the said county of San Diego to the eastern line of the State of California; thence to connect with the contemplated railroad from said eastern line of the State of California to the Mississippi River."

The eighteenth section of said State act of 1861 provides that "nothing in this act shall be so construed as to confer any powers on such companies to so change their road as to avoid any point named in their articles of association, except as provided in section seventeen, subdivision seven, of the act." Subdivision seven provides that the company "may change the line of its road, in whole or in part, whenever a majority of the directors shall so determine, as provided hereafter, but no such change shall vary the route of such road, as contemplated in the articles of association of such company."

This act prohibits the company organized under its provisions from making any material change in the line of their road. Consequently the route upon which the withdrawal of 1867 was secured, not passing through several of the counties named in the articles of association, nor within 150 miles of the town of San Diego, was in violation of the State law.

I am clearly of opinion that when there is a grant by Congress of land to a railway company organized under a state law, for the purpose of constructing a road, the lands can only be withdrawn upon the authorized route of such road. Congress did not assume to confer upon an existing company in California the right to construct a road not authorized by its articles of association or to diverge from the route which they prescribe. It would be a singular anomaly if Congress should empower a State corporation to do an act expressly forbidden by a law creating it, which the state had the constitutional power to enact. The withdrawal was, I am satisfied, not warranted by the act of July 27, 1866.

If it be conceded that the act gives them adequate authority to construct a branch by the most direct and practicable route from their own road to the point where the Atlantic & Pacific road crosses the Colorado, still, any question in relation to it is essentially different from that presented for my consideration.

I now return my decision of the second instant, and you will instruct the local land officers to restore the lands withdrawn in 1867 to their former status after sixty days' public notice by advertisement.

I cannot recognize the claim of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to a reservation of lands upon the route in question. The act already cited, upon which they rely, does not, as I construe it, make them a grant of lands from the point at which the road shall strike the Colorado river, to San Francisco. As this is the only question before me, I forbear to express an opinion upon their right to construct a railroad in California or upon their existing status under the eighth and other sections of the act. I return the map.

J. D. COX,

Testimony.

Testimony on behalf of complainant, taken by consent before Leo Longley, Special Examiner of the United States Circuit Court in said cause, this eleventh day of August, A. D. 1896. Present: Joseph H. Call, Esq., spe-

Mr. CALL.—I offer in evidence a certified copy of the letter and decision of C. Delano, secretary of the interior, to Willis Drummond, commissioner of the general land office, dated May 9, 1873, refusing to patent certain lands to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under its so-called main line grant, upon the ground that such lands were reserved prior to the passage of the joint resolution of June 23, 1870, at which time and under which joint resolution the grant to said company was made; and request that the same be marked Complainant's Exhibit No. 78.

Mr. TRASK.—To which the defendants object, on the ground that it is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and not in rebuttal.

LETTER AND DECISION.

Department of the Interior.
Washington, D. C., 9th May, 1873.

Sir:

I have considered the question submitted for my opinion, presented by the application of James F. Stuart, to have certain lands, now withdrawn, restored to market, and the application of the Southern Pacific Railroad to have the same lands patented to said road.

The facts are these: January 30, 1865, lands were withdrawn for the Central Pacific Railroad, for twenty-five miles on each side of a designated route from Sacramento, via San Jose, to San Francisco, California, under the acts of July 1, 1862 (12 Stat. 489), and July 2, 1864 (13 Stat. 356). The rights conferred by these acts upon the Central Pacific, were assigned to the Western Pacific so far as they relate to the construction of the said road from San Jose to Sacramento, and this assignment was ratified by the act of March 3, 1865. (13 Stat. 504.)

By the act of July 27, 1866 (114 Stat. 292), the Southern Pacific Railroad, a company incorporated under the laws of the State of California, was authorized to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, at such point near the boundary line of the State of California as it should deem most suitable for a railroad line to San Francisco, and was granted, to aid in its construction, every alternate section of public land, not mineral, designated by odd numbers, to the amount of ten alternate sections per mile on each side of its road, to which the United States had full title, not reserved, sold, granted, or otherwise appropriated, and free from pre-emption or other claims or rights, at the time the line of the road should be designated by a plat thereof filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office, with the rights to indemnity within ten mile limits.

This Southern Pacific Company located its line and filed a map of the same in the interior department, Jan. 3, 1867, and thereupon, on the twenty-second day of March, 1867, a withdrawal was directed of the odd sections that would inure to the road. Subsequently it was shown to the satisfaction of Secretary Browning that the location made by the Southern Pacific was not in accordance with the law of California, under which the company was created, and he, on the fourteenth of July, 1868, revoked his former order of withdrawal and directed a restoration of the lands withdrawn.

Afterwards and on the twentieth of August, 1868, he suspended so much of his order of July 14th as related to the restoration of lands south of San Jose.

Mr. Secretary Cox, November 2, 1869, affirmed the decision of his predecessor that the Southern Pacific was improperly located, and revoked the order of August 20, 1868, and directed a restoration of the lands withdrawn south of San Jose. On the fifteenth of December, 1869, at the request of Senator Howard, chairman of the Senate committee on the Pacific Railroad, and upon a suggestion that legislation was contemplated, he suspended his order of restoration, made on the second of November, as aforesaid.

On the twenty-eighth of June, 1870, Congress passed the following joint resolution:

"Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled: That the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California may construct its road and telegraph line, as near as may be, on the route indicated by the map filed by said company in the department of the interior on the third day of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven; and upon the construction of each section of said road, in the manner and within the time provided by law, and notice thereof being given by the company to the secretary of the interior, he shall direct an examination of each such section by commissioners to be appointed by the President, as provided in the act making a grant of land to said company, approved July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and upon the report of the commissioners to the secretary of the interior that such section of said railroad and telegraph line has been constructed as required by law, it shall be the duty of the said secretary of the interior to cause patents to be issued to said company for the sections of land, coterminous to each constructed section reported on as aforesaid, to the extent and amount granted to said company by the said act of July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, expressly saving and reserving all the rights of actual settlers, together with the other conditions and restrictions provided for in the third section of said act. (16 Stat. 382.)"

This resolution adopts and makes legal the route which had been selected by the company, and which without such adoption was undoubtedly illegal. It operates as a grant, to the road, in presenti, and is the first authority given to the company to construct its road upon the line selected. It makes such grant to the same extent and for the same amount and subject to all the conditions and restrictions specified in the third section of the act of July 27, 1866.

One of those conditions is that the grant shall not operate upon any lands reserved at the time the line of the road was designated by a plat filed in the office of the commissioner of the general land office.

The lands that were withdrawn for the Central Pacific January 30, 1865, were, at the time such plat was filed in the office of the commissioner, and at the passage of the act and joint resolution, reserved within the meaning of that term.

Wolcott vs. Des Moines, 5 Wall. 681; Moeller vs. Southern Pacific Railroad, decided by Secretary Browning February 9, 1869. They therefore do not go to the railroad. under the grant, and patents should not issue therefor, but they are a part of the public domain, and should be restored to market, and you will take all steps necessary to accomplish that object.

Very respectfully,

C. DELANO,

Secretary.

Testimony for Defendant.

Pursuant to the above stipulation, there appeared before me, Joseph H. Call, Esq., solicitor and special United States attorney on behalf of complainants, and Joseph D. Redding, Esq., solicitor for defendants, this second day of July, A. D. 1895, at 10:30 o'clock, A. M., and in reference to the above-entitled cause, the following proceedings took place:

J. L. WILLCUTT, called as a witness on behalf of the defendants, being first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination.

Mr. REDDING.—Q. What is your name, residence, and occupation?

A. J. L. Willcutt, secretary of several corporations, among them the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of California; my residence is Oakland.

Q. Were you the secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the year 1866? A. No, sir.

Q. When did you assume the duties as secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. At the date of the consolidation, October, 1870.

Q. Since that time and up to the present, have you been the custodian of the official documents and records of that company? A. I have.

Q. Have you in your official custody the minutes of the meetings of that company, one of the defendants in this action, prior to 1870? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Have you such record and minutes during the year 1866? A. I have.

Q. And you do now produce this record before the examiner at this time? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Congress passed an act on July 27, 1866, which we will call the Atlantic & Pacific Act, but in it there is embraced a grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; will you please state whether the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants in this action, by any resolution of its board of directors, or otherwise, accepted the terms and conditions of this grant by Congress?

(Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial, irrelevant, and not the best evidence.)

A. Yes, sir, it did.

Q. Will you please read from the official records of this corporation, now produced by you before the examiner, the resolution accepting this grant and its terms?

(Same objection.)

A. At a meeting of the board of directors on November 24, 1866, the following record appeared: "On motion of Mr. Lathrop, it was unanimously resolved that this company will and does hereby accept the terms, conditions, and impositions of the act of the Congress of the United States entitled, 'An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the States of Missouri and Arkansas to the Pacific Ocean,' passed at the first session of the thirty-ninth Congress, and that a copy of this resolution of acceptance, certified under the seal of this company, and signed by the president and secretary, be forwarded to and filed with the secretary of the interior."

Mr. REDDING.—The defendants offer in evidence the resolution last read, by a certified copy thereof, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 1.

(Same objection.)

(A certified copy of this resolution is marked by the special examiner "Defendants' Exhibit No. 1, Stephen Potter, special examiner," and the same is annexed hereto.)

Q. Will you state from the records of this corporation, one of the defendants herein, whether any acknowledgment from the interior department of the receipt by it of a copy of this resolution was received and entered upon the files of the corporation defendant?

(Same objection.)

A. Yes, sir, there is such a record.

Q. You are still acting as the secretary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

(Same objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. For how many years have you been acting in that capacity?

(Same objection.)

A. Twenty-five years.

Cross-Examination.

Mr. CALL.—Is that the original record of the company containing the record of that meeting? A. Yes, sir.

J. H. WILLCUTT.

Mr. REDDING.—The defendants offer in evidence a certified copy of the letter to Hon. Joseph S. Wilson, commissioner of the general land office, dated San Francisco, September 28, 1866, signed by T. G. Phelps, president Southern Pacific Railroad Company, marked "Master's Exhibit 180" in case No. 68, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 2.

(Same objection.)

Mr. REDDING.—The defendants next offer in evidence in connection with the last exhibit, a map which accompanied said letter, showing the preliminary survey and general route of the line of proposed road of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, one of the defendants herein, from San Francisco, California, to the Colorado river, on the eastern boundary of said State, under the grant of July 27, 1866, marked "Master's Exhibit 179" in case No. 68, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 3.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant, and not the best evidence, and upon the further ground that the pretended map offered is not upon the line or any line contemplated or authorized by the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, nor upon a line authorized by the charter of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.)

Mr. REDDING.—With reference, Mr. Call, to the map offered not being the best evidence, I understand that there is an order of court, and also a stipulation between us that the exhibits out of former cases, which in the former cases were duly authenticated by the interior department, shall be introduced in this case with full force and effect as the originals, is that not so?

Mr. CALL.—Yes, that is my understanding, that that is the arrangement, without any objection from the fact that such exhibits had been offered in another case, and were part of the record in another case.

Mr. REDDING.—In connection with this last exhibit, I offer in evidence on behalf of defendants the certificate of the commissioner of the general land office of January 9, 1882, being a portion of Master's Exhibit 179 in case No. 68, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 4.

(Same objection.)

JEROME MADDEN, called as a witness on behalf of the defendants, being first duly sworn, testified as follows:

Direct Examination.

Mr. REDDING.—I offer in evidence on behalf of defendants certified copy of a letter from O. H. Browning, secretary of the interior, dated Washington, D. C., March 19, 1867, department of the interior, addressed to Hon. James S. Wilson, commissioner of the general land office, ordering a withdrawal of the lands on account or for the benefit of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, pursuant to the map filed by it on January 3, 1867, and ask that the same may be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 5.

(Same objection.)

Mr. REDDING.—I offer in evidence on behalf of the defendants certified copy of letter of the commissioner of the general land office, dated the twenty-second day of March, 1867, to the register and receiver of the land office at Visalia, California, transmitting a copy of the map filed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company on January 3, 1867, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 6.

(Same objection.)

Q. What is your name, residence, and occupation?

A. Jerome Madden; San Francisco; land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. How long have you been connected with the land department of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. Since about 1871, I think; I was in the employ of the railroad company before the land office of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company was regularly organized, and I attended to a great deal of the preliminary business; at that time Mr. B. B. Redding was the land agent, and it went along in that way until after the land office was regularly organized, and then Mr. Redding resigned and I was appointed, I think, on May 10, 1876.

Q. At present you are the land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

A. I am now, and have been ever since that time, land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. As such land agent, are you the official custodian of the documents, records, and papers of that department? A. I am.

Q. Were you ever employed in connection with the railroad commissioners appointed by the President to inspect and report upon the construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad under its grant of July 27, 1866?

A. I was never employed by the commissioners.

Q. Did you perform any duties in connection with the reports of said commissioners?

A. I was detailed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to act as secretary for the United States railroad commissiones, and as such I accompanied them and was present during the examinations and also at the execution of the reports that they made.

Mr. CALL.—I object to the question as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant, and to the answer as not responsive to the question, and move to strike out the answer.

Mr. REDDING.—Q. Did you perform any duties on behalf of the railroad commissioners, or for the railroad commissioners in connection with their labor?

(Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant.)

A. I did not.

Q. Did you accompany the railroad commissioners during their inspection of the road as constructed?

(Same objection.)

A. I did.

Q. Did you go over the road with them?

(Same objection.)

A. I did.

Q. Did you see them examining the road?

(Same objection.)

A. I did.

Q. Will you state who made out the reports of the railroad commissioners of the road as constructed?

(Same objection.)

A. In accordance with their directions and requests, I did.

Mr. REDDING.—Mr. Call, I desire to offer in evidence, on behalf of defendants, certified copies of the reports of the railroad commissioners upon the constructed line of railroad of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under its grant of July 27, 1866. Mr. Jerome Madden has in his custody duplicate originals of these reports. With your permission, I will offer certified copies of the originals by referring to the duplicate originals, have the duplicate originals copied, and send the same on to Washington, and have them certified as being exemplified copies of those on file, and have them, when so certified, returned to Mr. William M. Van Dyke, the clerk of this court; and I will ask whether introducing them in that way will be satisfactory to you, and if they will be deemed as introduced with the full force and effect as of this date of the originals?

Mr. CALL.—I make no objection to that offer of the certified copies at this time to be filed hereafter as of this date, but saving my other objections.

Mr. REDDING.—I offer on behalf of the defendants certified copy of the report of the railroad commissioners upon their examination of the first thirty miles of the railroad as constructed under the act of July 27, 1866, from San Jose to Gilroy, dated October 29, 1870, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 7.

(Objected to Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant, and not the best evidence of any definite location of the line therein designated, and upon the further ground that the line of route mentioned in the said report is upon a route not authorized or contemplated by the act of Congress of July 27, 1866, and not authorized by the articles of incorporation of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; and upon the further ground that no map of definite location of said railroad has been filed and approved by the interior department; and the further objection that it does not appear that the alleged commissioners were authorized to make any such examination or report.)

Mr. REDDING.—I will state, Mr. Call, that the maps of definite location and constructed route will be introduced after these reports. I am introducing these reports in connection with Mr. Madden's testimony at this time, in order to expedite the proceedings and to permit Mr. Madden to attend to his duties in connection with the land department without delay.

(Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and not the best evidence.)

A. When and as the commissioners were appointed, a form of report was transmitted by the department of the interior to them with their several appointments; they, the commissioners, not being good penmen, requested the directors of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to allow me to go with them and write the reports, which I accordingly did, at the request of the commissioners.

Mr. CALL.—I move to strike out the answer as not being responsive to the question, and as being an attempt to prove by parol a matter of public record.

Mr. REDDING.—I asked you the following question yesterday: "Mr. Redding.—Q. Did you perform any duties on behalf of the railroad commissioners, or for the railroad commissioners, in connection with their labor? (Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant.) A. I did not." Do you desire to correct that answer?

(Same objection.)

A. I do.

Q. What is your answer to the question, as you desire to correct it?

(Same objection.)

A. My correct answer is I did.

Mr. CALL.—Q. You were acting at the time for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, under their employment, were you not?

A. I was in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railroad, but I was acting for the commissioners at their request, and with the consent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Q. Did you receive any compensation from the United States? A. I did not.

Redirect Examination.

Mr. REDDING.—Q. The plaintiff in this case has alleged the fact, and attached to its bill of complaint a schedule of those lands involved in this action which have been patented by the government of the United States to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company; the answer of the defendant admits that a large number of acres of land involved in this cause have been patented, and admits that prior to the commencement of this suit patents were duly issued to the said company for 12,318.77 acres of the land described in Exhibit A, annexed to the plaintiff's bill of complaint; as land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, have you in your possession the original patents, or any of them, issued by the government of the United States to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for lands embraced within the grant of Congress to it of July 27, 1866? A. I have.

Q. Will you produce before the examiner such an original patent for lands within the place limits of that last-named grant?

(Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and not the best evidence.)

Mr. REDDING.—Mr. Call, will you stipulate that the examiner may make a certified copy of this patent and return the original to Mr. Madden for the use of his land department, and also that in making the copy he may eliminate the description of those lands which are not involved in this case?

Mr. CALL.—That is agreeable.

Mr. REDDING.—And that when so eliminated the patent shall stand with full force and effect?

Mr. CALL.—Yes, subject to objections made.

Q. Are these original patents from the government of the United States?

(Same objection.)

A. They are.

(Same objection.)

A. The form are the same; there may be some different verbiage in the granting clause; substantially, they are alike.

Mr. REDDING.—Mr. Call, I have introduced these patents for the purpose of having in evidence the preambles of the same, and also to exhibit to the Court the forms under which the government has patented the lands in controversy to the defendants. (Same objection.)

A. I follow the form of selection that is prescribed by the interior department, and all the selections I have made in this case were made in that manner.

Q. Have you had prepared from the records of your department, a statement setting forth accurately the selections in lists under the direction of the secretary of the interior of those lands involved in this case, upon which you have applied for patents?

(Same objection.)

A. I have; on December 8, 1894, I caused to be made a statement showing the lands involved in case 600, United States vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others, that have been selected by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and also all the lands patented to it, the surveying and conveying fees paid, et cetera.

Q. Can you produce this statement for introduction in evidence in this case?

(Same objection.)

A. There it is. (Producing.)

MR. REDDING.—Defendants offer in evidence a statement prepared by the land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company showing the lands involved in case No. 600, United States vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al., that have been selected by the company, also showing the lands that have been patented by the government to the company, and the fees paid in connection therewith, and ask that the same may be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 164; and furthermore ask that the land agent, Mr. Jerome Madden, may have an opportunity of making a copy of this exhibit for use on the files of his office.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and upon the further ground that the same is not an authenticated copy of any record authorized by law.)

(Statement prepared by the land agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company showing the lands involved in case 600, United States vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Company et al., that have been selected by the company, and also showing the lands that have been patented by the government to the company, and the fees paid in connection therewith, is marked by the special examiner, "Defendants' Exhibit No. 164, Stephen Potter, Special Examiner," and the same is attached hereto.)

Q. Does this statement correctly set forth the condition of the lands in controversy as they appear upon the books of the land department of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

(Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and not the best evidence.)

A. It does.

Q. Was it made under your supervision and your direction?

(Same objection.)

A. It was.

Q. By clerks in your office?

(Same objection.)

A. By two or three.

Q. State in what manner the registers' and receivers' fees are paid through your department?

(Same objection.)

A. The money is sent to them either by letter or by express.

Q. Is this sent under your personal direction?

A. It is.

Q. Do you know of your own knowledge that the sums set forth in this statement as having been paid for the fees of the register and receiver, and for surveying fees, have been paid as they appear in this statement?

(Same objection.)

A. They have.

(It is agreed between counsel that the signature of Jerome Madden to his deposition may be waived.)

MR. REDDING.—Defendants offer in evidence "Defendants' Exhibit A," heretofore attached and made a part of the answer of the defendants in this cause, and ask that the same may be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 165.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and upon the further ground that said exhibit is not an original, nor a copy of any record authorized by law.)

MR. REDDING.—Defendants next offer in evidence exemplified copy of letter of March 9, 1872, from C. Delano, secretary, to C. J. Hillyer, attorney of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company, being "Exhibit C" attached to the deposition of M. C. Pope, before Hugh M. Sterling, at Washington, in case No. 184, and ask that the same be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 166.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and upon the further ground that said pretended copy is a fraudulent alteration and mutilation of the record of the interior department.)

Mr. REDDING.—Defendants next offer in evidence exemplified copy of letter of March 8, 1872, from C. J. Hillyer, attorney of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company to the secretary of the interior, being "Exhibit A" attached to the deposition of M. C. MR. REDDING.—Defendants next offer in evidence exemplified copy of letter from the commissioner of the general land office to the register and receiver, of April 21, 1871, being Exhibit No. 36 before Examiner Potter in case No. 184, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 169.

MR. CALL.—I object to the introduction of this pretended map upon the following grounds:

First: Because the map itself is a false and garbled copy of the original map on file in the interior department, omitting from the original map in that department the following endorsement upon said map: "Map of definite location of the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad through the county of Los Angeles and part of San Bernardino, Cal., received at the G. L. O. with secretary's letter of March 9, 1872."

Second: Because the pretended certificate of authentication attached to said map is false and untrue in stating that said map was "Transmitted to this office by departmental letter dated March 9, 1872, and described therein as a map showing the preliminary location, et cetera," whereas, in truth, said map was transmitted as a map of definite location, and was filed and approved as such.

MR. REDDING.—Defendants next offer in evidence trust mortgage of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of 1875, being Exhibit No. 90 before Examiner Potter in case No. 184, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 171.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant.)

(The further hearing of the matter was then continued until Monday, July 8, 1895, at 10:15 A. M.)

San Francisco, July 8, 1895.

Mr. REDDING.—Defendants offer in evidence exemplified copy of map of the Southern Pacific Railroad branch line from Tehachapi via Los Angeles to the Colorado river, being Exhibit No. 35 before Examiner Potter in case No. 184, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 177.

A. There was a meeting both of stockholders and of the directors on April 11, 1871.

Q. What was the object of the meeting of the stockholders on that date as appears from your official record?

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and not the best evidence, and not the evidence of any requirement of the law.)

A. The object was to adopt an amended certificate of incorporation, so as to enable the company to accept the grant of March 3, 1871, and to provide means for the construction of the additional railroad.

REDDING.—Defendants offer in evidence certified copy of a resolution of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, accepting the terms and conditions of the grant of Congress to that company, of March 3, 1871, and instructing the secretary to send a copy of said resolution, certified under the seal of the company, to be filed with the secretary of the interior, and ask that it be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 178.

(Same objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Does this appear upon the files and records of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company?

J. L. WILLCUTT.

MR. REDDING.—Mr. Call, I have heretofore introduced in evidence patents issued to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for lands within the granted and indemnity limits of that company, under its grant of July 27, 1866, and under its grant of March 3, 1871, which were marked "Defendants' Exhibit No. 89," Defendants' Exhibit No. 90," "Defendants' Exhibit No. 91," and "Defendants' Exhibit No. 92." I did so for the purpose of presenting to the Court the forms of patents issued by the government to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for lands under its said grants. Mr. Jerome Madden has procured, and is now able to produce before the special examiner, the original patent and duplicate original lists of selections for the lands in controversy, so far as the same have been patented and selected in this action. The patents heretofore introduced, with the exception of one instance, do not include any of the lands in controversy. I therefore desire to withdraw those patents and now introduce the patents and selections aforesaid, which include lands in controversy.

MR. CALL.—No objection to withdrawing the patents heretofore offered, and they may be considered as withdrawn.

JEROME MADDEN.—(Re-re-recalled.)

MR. REDDING.—Q. Have you procured from the records of your office the original patents issued to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for lands within the granted and indemnity limits, of the grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of July 27, 1866, so far as the lands in controversy herein are concerned?

(Question objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant.)

A. I have.

Q. Do you now produce them before the special Examiner?

(Same objection.)

A. Here they are (producing.)

MR. REDDING.—Defendants offer in evidence Patent No. 22, Southern Pacific Railroad lands, primary limits, Los Angeles, Independence, San Francisco and Visalia land districts, showing what lands have been patented to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company under the grant of July 27, 1866, which are in controversy in this case, and ask that the same may be marked Defendants' Exhibit No. 179.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial and irrelevant, and upon the further ground that the lands described in said pretended patent were excepted out of the grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and were previously granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company; and upon the further ground that the issues in this case have been previously adjudicated.)

MR. REDDING.—Mr. Call, I would ask whether it will be agreeable to the plaintiff and yourself representing the plaintiff to allow the special examiner to make a copy of this patent, incorporating therein the entire exhibit, but excepting therefrom the lands not involved in this suit?

MR. CALL.—I will consent that the special examiner may make a certified copy of this patent, including the lands involved in this suit, and excluding the lands not involved in this suit, with the same effect as if the original patent were now filed in evidence, with the understanding and agreement that the original patent will be produced before the Court at any time when called for by government's counsel.

(Objected to by Mr. Call as incompetent, immaterial, and irrelevant; and upon the further ground that the lands described therein were excepted out of the grant to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and were previously granted to the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company; and upon the further ground that the issues in this case have been previously adjudicated; and the further objection that said pretended selection has not been approved by the commissioner of the general land office or secretary of the interior.)
